Comments for Public Posting: I am a Spanish teacher and I take my students to Olvera Street every year. Most all of the business there are small business and having been shut down for the past two months, they have been unable to make rent payments. I would hate for Los Angeles's very first street to have its vendors go out of business and have this important part of our history turn in to a ghost town. The proposed motion for rent forgiveness should be approved and hopefully soon Olvera Street and La Placita can re-open for business to fulfill their financial obligations.

Comments for Public Posting: When are you going to take measures to protect the residents of this city? We must cancel rent and mortgages immediately. Folks already live paycheck to paycheck here and now those paychecks have disappeared. In addition, when are you going to get people off of the streets? Houseless folks should have been brought inside on day 1 of the stay at home order. There are THOUSANDS more hotel rooms that can be occupied immediately. You must act now.
