Comments for Public Posting: You must stop the sweeps and provide the remainder of the Project Roomkey hotel rooms to folx on the street. Organizations are out in the community doing your jobs - you should be taking steps to fund these organizations @StreetWatchLA @KTown4all and @LACAN to name a few.

Comments for Public Posting: My hearty congratulations to the LA City Council for finally acknowledging that the public / private development model is not going to come close to providing enough housing in any reasonable time frame to get the homeless off the streets and keep the rent challenged in their homes. We – EndHomelessnessNowLA – have been shouting, coaxing, pleading, for you to go to public and social housing models that can be built by the City through expedited permit and planning processes and with whatever funding sources can be arranged to keep that housing in public hands and off the commodified private housing market. You are right Councilman Bonin! That is the only way that our society can even begin to play catch-up with the need for housing. We completely agree with Mr Bonin's analysis of the social housing model as the means to integrate housing economically which will lead to integrated housing racially and culturally. Don't waste a lot of time studying the matter, most of that has already been done internationally. Get going Los Angeles! Get of the bureaucratic roadblocks out of the way and Build it – Own it – Run it NOW!! Claudia Brick 1539 W 94th Pl, LA 90047 Council District 8
