Comments for Public Posting: I am concerned about something happening on our street median on Burton Way probably extending all the way down San Vicente Blvd. during the colder months the plants on the grass layer would grow very high it looked absolutely beautiful probably about a foot of grasses and weeds but it was green. Periodically they were cut and they came back. We just had them about a month or so ago trim again after again a beautifully green and lush field and now the grass looks burnt dry There is no green to be found hardly as of now. I don't understand especially with the pedestrians prohibited sign not to keep the grass long, long grass and weeds help retain water and give a beautiful green color instead of this brown driest color it also helps keep the area cooler... I am angered and everything seems hotter now that I miss my lush green median.
