Comments for Public Posting: Dear Councilmembers: I submit this comment as Vice President and Funding Chair of the City of Los Angeles Innovation Commission Our Commission is continually asked to fund digital overhauls of City Departments. The city is beset with legacy systems and coding issues that create inefficient City processes. The Controller's suggestion for a Digital Services Team should be taken very seriously with an eye towards effective, equitable access to City services. I find it all but impossible to attain improvements in digital services across City departments without such a team and current staffing in ITA and other departments either don't have the bandwidth or expertise to properly scope and execute these upgrades - they are so busy putting out the "emergencies" of today, they don't have time to 'future-proof' the City. Thank you, Shel Bisnoff
