Comments for Public Posting: Are you going to build more hospitals? Are you going to manufacture medicine, oxygen cannisters, vitamins? What are you doing to ensure all new residents will have enough medical supplies if required to goto city hospitals? When are you going to require homeless adults as well as LAUSD students, to take adulting 101 classes once every 6 months? Basic things like following laws, not littering, not jaywalking, wearing bright clothes when jaywalking at night,etc. food nutrition.

Comments for Public Posting: Re:proposed fee increases for both historic preservation. Having personally tried to preserve an historic house a number of times, I find the proposed fee increases punitive. 1) Preservation is already expensive, it costs about 3 times as much in labor and materials a regular renovation. 2) It is time consuming, to find missing bits and people prepared to do that sort of work. 3) The net outcome of raising the fees will drive renovation and preservation underground. Homeowners will not apply for permits. 4) They will use substandard non contractors, and destroy old historic preservation. 5) With this sort of fee increase they might just abandon all preservation work, resulting in the decay of Historic areas. That history will be lost forever. 6) We have watched as some of this has happened in Historic West Adams Avenues with decaying homes being demolished already. 7) Is this what this effort really wants to promote? Thank You,
