Comments for Public Posting: Dear City Council Member(s), My name is Anita Miklovicova, and I am the founder of AIM ATTITUDE, a movement dedicated to pioneering global transformation by guiding individuals toward self-empowerment, emotional intelligence, and purposeful living. Through AIM ATTITUDE, I strive to inspire people to take positive action, embrace their emotions, and cultivate a mindset that fuels personal and collective growth. We live in a time where the world is in dire need of conscious leadership, strong communities, and initiatives that genuinely support humanity's well-being. I would like to propose a collaboration between AIM ATTITUDE and the city council to implement programs that will elevate mental and emotional resilience, encourage creativity, and foster a sense of responsibility for the world we live in. Proposed Initiatives

1. Community Emotional and Mental Wellness Programs
 - Implement city-wide workshops on emotional intelligence, self-awareness, and mindfulness to help individuals develop resilience and a healthy mindset.
 - Establish community support spaces where people can share experiences, find guidance, and gain inspiration for personal growth.
2. Educational Programs for Schools and Youth
 - Integrate AIM ATTITUDE's core values into youth programs that focus on emotional education, self-expression, and leadership development.
 - Introduce mentorship initiatives that empower young individuals to develop confidence, discipline, and a strong sense of purpose.
3. Public Awareness Campaigns for Positive Action
 - Launch city-wide campaigns promoting the importance of self-respect, kindness, and accountability as key drivers of personal and societal success.
 - Encourage individuals to take responsibility for their actions and choices by fostering a culture of personal integrity and community engagement.
4. Sustainability and Social Responsibility Initiatives
 - Promote conscious decision-making in fashion, consumption, and daily habits that support both humanity and the environment.
 - Develop programs that educate the community on making sustainable choices while staying true to their identity and values.
5. Creating a City-Wide Collaboration for Change
 - Partner with businesses, schools, and organizations to bring AIM ATTITUDE's philosophy to different sectors of the community.
 - Organize city-wide events that highlight the power of intention, passion, and positive action in shaping a better world. This is more than a proposal; it is an opportunity to make a lasting impact. AIM ATTITUDE is not just a brand—it is a movement that awakens the mind, strengthens the spirit, and inspires purposeful action. By working together, we can set a new standard for how communities engage with emotional and mental well-being, creativity, and global responsibility. I would love the opportunity to discuss this proposal further and explore how we can bring this vision to life for the benefit of our city and the world. Please let me know a time when we can meet to explore the next steps. Thank you for your time and consideration. With Purpose and Determination, Anita Miklovicova Founder, AIM ATTITUDE www.aimattitude.com “I created The Human Light—a guiding force—and built a movement to deliver the message of life: I AM.”

Comments for Public Posting: Lynne Pope Coldwell Banker Realtor. Since 2003 I have been a realtor. Vote No on Allowing people to “self certify” they are affected by fires. The qualification needs to be more specific with evidence (easily available) it is for people that had homes properties that are not livable totally or partially. “It affected” many more that lost jobs but not housing. Be careful about a loosely worded and swift decision that could further hamper the fair honest hardship. The landlords homeowners LA are still recovering from COVID mandates. “Self certify” is not a solution but a danger and divide.
