Dear Los Angeles City Officials,

The collaboration between Los Angeles and SoCalGas involves our shared spaces, creating a partnership that should prioritize community benefits over corporate interests like Sempra's LNG exports. Recent audits highlight that these agreements are not automatic rights but conditional, with significant financial and environmental stakes.

With the shifting landscape of LNG pricing and contracts, Sempra's expansion could lead to stranded infrastructure costs burdening local families. I strongly encourage you to enforce stricter conditions on these franchises, critically assess SoCalGas' involvement in LNG projects, and invest in sustainable, union-secured employment that aligns with a green economy.

Best regards,

Vanessa Tortolano
