Whirlwind of fire consumes witchcraft brew of viruses

If the bermuda triangle was taken from the sea and placed on dry land or if dry land appeared from florida to the south east what would be the result? It would no longer have boats sinking, planes would no longer have confusion with water as their view. There wouldn't be any churning, spinning eddies of ocean vortices of the many currents in the gulf stream. Occasionally you have very high intense energy fields like in 1969-70 the sun ejecting most dramatic fields that caused not only the insanity leftists movements, but a flight in 1970 that lost time reference. It's the green haze you get from a active super thunderstorm, also originating from the earth at some points around the world getting electrified, some of it occurs on land. I am a nothing and glad to be a nothing because I don't like attention and the spotlight. Why would anyone want admiration from the world when it's a satanic cesspool of evil? I feel of myself lower than the bums on the street, only God makes me a something! Of coarse there is no climate change just reorienting atmospheric phenomenon. We know of some tampering with the weather flow as with heating up the atmosphere to direct systems. And yes there is a build up of tree debris from many years of not allowing it to burn naturally from lightning. The evil green new deal is already in affect with many solar panels, and wind turbines all over the place. This governor is really stuck up under, I guess the initial response is accurate. These are mindless morons mostly the evil democrat party who are playing dangerous games with our constitutional republic with lobsided policies that wreck people's lives. We know the election is also being tampered with obvious fraud, from the media biased debate to the stacking of democrat votes. Of coarse both parties are controlled by the catholic conspiracy which means things aren't really going to get better in the true sense. After all the satanic orders, the teaching in schools that witchcraft a twin of feminists is the better equalizer option between religion (catholic priest) and science (theory), are the byproducts. As both can be flawed, but here you play with the devil (voodoo pagan wicca) and are swept away into oblivion when the fire of judgement arrives, because God will not hear you at that time. God is fire, not the fire of earth but a blazing one, from the burning bush to mount sinai to the fire in the sky over Bethlehem. If christians didn't live at the coastal cities of America it would've been destroyed.
