Comments for Public Posting: As a Santa Monica resident who rides a bicycle daily, commutes mostly via bicycle and rides the Expo path regularly, the gap on the path often becomes the scariest part of commute when riding up the Expo. If we want to make our city safer, more sustainable, and more accessible, closing this gap should be a no-brainer. The Expo is the safest route from the West Side, and this gap ruins it. Come on, LA, you can (and need to) do better. Please let me get home safely and sustainably.
