REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE LOS ANGELES CITY COUNCIL REDISTRICTING COMMISSION

I. SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission (hereinafter the "Commission") was created by the voters of the City of Los Angeles (the "City") through the adoption of the Los Angeles City Charter ("Charter ") in 1999. The purpose of the Commission, according to Charter Section 204, is to advise the Los Angeles City Council ("City Council" or "Council") on the drawing of new Council District boundaries. On February 22, 2012, the Commission culminated over five months of work by adopting a proposed redistricting plan for consideration by the City Council. This report, including the Commission's adopted map of new Council District boundaries, is submitted in fulfillment of the Commission's responsibilities under the Charter.

In conducting its work, the Commission held its meetings in public in compliance with the California Ralph M. Brown Act, also known as the Open Meeting Law (Cal. Gov. Code§ 54950 et seq.). During these meetings, the Commission adopted its work plan, reviewed the applicable criteria for redistricting, received legal briefings from the Office of the Los Angeles City Attorney on legal issues pertaining to redistricting, developed data to be used with specialized software, and received analyses from noted experts in the field of demographics and population trend analysis, among other tasks.

As part of its expansive public outreach effort, the Commission also held 22 public testimony hearings across the City to receive public comments concerning redistricting. More than 5,000 people attended the Commission meetings and hearings and more than 6,551 pieces of written and verbal testimony were received by the Commission's staff. The Commission's very public and open process, as explained in greater detail in Appendix H, included extensive and unprecedented community outreach and participation, and the review by the Commission and/or its staff of numerous redistricting plans, options, adjustments, and maps submitted by Commissioners, interested organizations and individuals.

As a result of this process, and after careful consideration of voluminous public testimony and established legal requirements, the Commission is recommending that the current Council District boundaries be modified as described in this Report. In so recommending, the Commission has expressly found that the Recommended Plan provides fair and effective representation for all the people of the City of Los Angeles, enhances the opportunity for all voters to elect candidates of their choice, meets all requirements of federal and state law, and is fully compliant with Charter Section 204.

Additionally, the Recommended Plan accomplishes the following:

- Neighborhood Councils are more unified: Of the City's 95 Neighborhood Councils, the number that are divided between Council districts is reduced from 53 to 29, while the number of Neighborhood Councils split between three Council districts is reduced from thirteen to only three. Whereas Encino, Palms, and Lake Balboa are each currently split between three Council districts, each is united within single districts under the Recommended Plan. Overall, a total of 24 Neighborhood Councils that are currently split across multiple districts are united within single districts.

- Preserves communities as established by the Los Angeles City Council: The Recommended Plan identifies and preserves whole the following communities as identified by the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy, or grandfathered in from previous policies and actions of the City Council [See Appendix J]: Historic Filipinotown, Koreatown, Little Armenia, Little Bangladesh, Little Ethiopia, Little Tokyo, Rose Hill, Sherman Oaks, and Thai Town.

- The opportunities of all voters to elect candidates of their choice is maintained: The number of districts from which Latino communities have an equal opportunity to elect Latino candidates is maintained throughout the City with five majority Latino Citizen Voting Age Population districts and one coalition district. The voting strength of African-Americans has also been maintained in Council Districts 8, 9, and 10, with one majority Black Citizen Voting Age Population district and two coalition districts.

- Maintains an overall deviation of less than 5 percent: Based on the policy decision made by the Commission on February 15 to maintain a 5 percent overall deviation (+/- 2.5 percent) or lower across the City, the Recommended Plan, with an overall deviation of 4.96 percent, goes further than the current Council District boundaries enacted in 2002 which tolerated an overall deviation of 10 percent, a reduction of more that half in keeping with the one person, one vote principle.

Based on the Commission's conclusions, it now recommends that the Council take the following actions:

1. Approve and adopt this "Report and Recommendations of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission" (the "Report"),

2. Adopt as the City's Decennial Redistricting Plan, the Commission's Recommended Plan discussed in this Report,

3. Adopt an ordinance, as approved by the City Attorney, which establishes Council District boundaries in accordance with this Report.

II. THE CHARTER REQUIREMENTS AND THE FORMATION OF THE COMMISSION

Charter Section 204

The Charter directs that every ten years the City Council, based on recommendations from a Commission, shall redraw Council District lines by an ordinance to be adopted no later than July 1. Charter Section 204 governing redistricting mandates that new Council districts "shall each contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City as shown by the Federal Census immediately preceding the formation of districts." (See Appendix A: Charter Section 204). As will be more fully described below, Section 204 sets forth certain other criteria, firmly based in established legal precepts, to be used in the process of redistricting. The Charter also requires that the Commission "seek public input throughout the redistricting process."

The Commission's Formation

In October, 1999, the City Council adopted an ordinance, pursuant to Section 204, to create the Commission and establish March 1 as the deadline for the submission of the Commission's recommendation to the Council. In accordance with Section 204, the Commission was comprised of twenty-one (21) voting members appointed as follows: three by Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa, two by Council President Eric Garcetti, and one each by City Attorney Carmen Trutanich, Controller Wendy Greuel, and the remaining 14 members of the City Council. (See Appendix B: "List of Commissioners by Appointing Authority.")

The first meeting of the Commission was held on September 9, 2011. At that meeting, the Commission received information regarding rules and procedures, including the Brown Act and Robert's Rules of Order, and reviewed various legal issues concerning redistricting. Public comment was invited at the initial meeting and during all subsequent Commission meetings. At the Commission's second meeting on September 27, Arturo Vargas was elected Chair, and at the following meeting on October 12, Jacquelyn "Jackie" Dupont-Walker and Rob Kadota were elected Vice Chairs. The Commission also established three Ad Hoc committees to work with staff on certain tasks necessary to the execution of the Commission's work plan: Outreach, Communities of Interest, and Data.

The Commission's Staff

In accordance with the Charter, the Commission appointed an Executive Director and other staff to assist the Commission in the execution of its charge. At its November 9 meeting, the Commission selected a recognized redistricting expert, Andrew Westall, as Executive Director. Mr. Westall began his service on November 21. In the ensuing weeks, Mr. Westall hired Myriam Lopez as the Commission's Executive Assistant; Rani Woods as the Outreach Director; an Outreach Staff consisting of Lawrence Joe, Rashad Rucker-Trapp, Paulina Velasco, and Steven Wood; and Daniella Masterson as the Media Director. The Commission also hired Nicole Boyle as their Technical Director.

III. THE COMMISSION'S WORK PLAN

A Multi-Phased Approach

From the outset, as a methodological approach to conducting its work, the Commission and its staff contemplated a multi-phased process involving significant public participation. The first phase of the Commission's work would be aimed at fifteen public testimony hearings throughout the City of Los Angeles between December 2011 and January 2012. The second phase was for the Commission to tour the City of Los Angeles on January 14 in order to get a better understanding of where current Council Districts divided communities throughout the City, including: Downtown, Palms, Baldwin Hills, Leimert Park, Koreatown, Pacoima, Lake View Terrace, Sun Valley, North Hollywood, Studio City, Valley Village, Sherman Oaks, Encino, Lake Balboa, and Reseda. The third phase was to work in Ad Hoc Regional Line Drawing Committees to develop an initial Draft Map for public comment. During the third phase, a fourth phase was completed on January 18 in which the Commission solicited and received presentations from over 25 organizations and individuals who presented public map submissions. The result of these four phases of work was the Commission's adoption on January 25 of a Draft Map of proposed new Council Districts.

The fifth phase of the Commission's work began with the release of the Draft Map. During February, the Commission conducted seven regional public testimony hearings, averaging over 400 in attendance, to gain public reaction and identify opportunities to make improvements toward a final map. After the second round of public testimony hearings was completed, the sixth phase was begun with each Commissioner given an opportunity to make suggested adjustments to the Draft Map. On February 15, the Commission debated and approved possible adjustments, where 42 out of 80 suggested adjustments were approved. At the direction of the Commission, the Technical Director released an Adjusted Draft Map for public comment on February 17. The final phase of the process took place on February 22, where individual Commissioners proposed fourteen amendments to the Adjusted Draft Map, five of which were approved. At the end of the meeting, the Commission voted 16-5 on the Final Map Recommendation.

Ad Hoc Committees Lay the Groundwork

The Commission decided to organize its early efforts around developing a baseline understanding of three foundational elements stemming directly from Charter Section 204: communities of interest, data/technical issues, and public participation. It therefore established three working Ad Hoc committees to examine issues related to these three substantive areas. The three Ad Hoc committees were the Outreach, Communities of Interest, and Data committees.

Working with the Commission's Ad Hoc Committee on Outreach, staff developed an extensive and ambitious outreach program that centered on holding 22 public testimony hearings expressly for the purpose of gaining community input on how new districts should be designed and constituted. The various elements and results of the Commission's unprecedented outreach program are more fully detailed in Appendix H. The Commission knew from the beginning that a crucial element of its work would be to gain a comprehensive understanding of how Angelenos identify and define their communities, and how Neighborhood Councils, which came to fruition since the last redistricting, correlate to resident's understanding of communities. The Ad Hoc Committee on Communities of Interest reviewed numerous criteria and indicia of what constitutes a community and considered various types of geographic and socio-economic information that would be crucial in helping the Commission making its recommendations. The Ad Hoc Committee on Data took a similar approach regarding data elements that should be considered by the Commission and its staff in designing new Council Districts. The data elements described herein and relied on in designing the Recommended Plan are the direct result of the Ad Hoc Committees on Communities of Interest and Data work. The complete list of adopted data elements is attached as Appendix F.

IV. REVIEW OF REDISTRICTING CRITERIA AND LEGAL ISSUES

Introduction

As stated above, the Charter requires that new districts be as equal in population "as practicable." The Charter also specifies that all districts "shall be drawn in conformance with requirements of state and federal law and, to the extent feasible, shall keep neighborhoods and communities intact, utilize natural boundaries or street lines, and be geographically compact." The Charter-established criteria thus embrace the foundational elements of redistricting: population equality, legal compliance, physical compactness, contiguity, and a respect for communities of interest. From the outset of its work, the Commission has been keenly aware of the application of federal law, particularly the 14th Amendment, the Voting Rights Act (42 U.S.C. § 1971 et seq.) and related case law with regard to the manner in which City redistricting must be conducted.

The Commission considered all relevant provisions of law and carefully reviewed redistricting plans that were submitted in accordance with the public process outlined previously. This review resulted in a recommendation that the Council adopt the Commission's Final Map Recommendation which, in the Commission's determination, provides fair and effective representation for all the people of the City, enhances the opportunity for all voters to elect candidates of their choice, and otherwise meet all of the requirements of law. The following sections discuss some of the more relevant aspects of the legal issues surrounding the principles of population equality, the Voting Rights Act, and the proscription against the use of race as a predominant factor in redistricting. A more complete analysis of the legal issues pertaining to redistricting is attached as Appendix C: "Letter from the City Attorney to the Commission."

Population Equality

The Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution requires that electoral districts afford their residents equality of representation - the "one person, one vote" principle. However, in addition to weighting votes equally, equality of representation also means that each person in a given district (whether eligible to vote or not) must have the same opportunity to be represented by his or her elected official as each person in every other district. (See, Garza v. County of Los Angeles, 918 F.2d 763 (9th Cir. 1990) (total population - rather than voting age population, eligible voters, or registered voters- is an appropriate standard to measure equal representation)). This is achieved by providing that each district contains substantially the same number of people.

Decennial redistricting is required to equalize population. (Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. at 569 (plan must achieve "substantial equality of population among the various districts")). Slight deviation is permissible provided, however, that it is necessary in order to achieve a rational state policy.

Measuring Deviation

The most prevalent yardstick courts use to measure deviation is the total population deviation. The total population in the jurisdiction is divided by the number of districts in order to identify the "ideal" population number for each district. Expressed as a percent, this number indexes the difference between the district with the most population and the district with the least population based on the ideal per-district population. To determine the total deviation, the absolute value of the highest positive deviation from the ideal and lowest negative deviation from the ideal are aggregated.

As an example, in the case of the City, the official Census population figure for the City is 3,792,621, making the ideal population per Council District 252,841 (3,792,621 divided by 15). In the Recommended Plan, Council District 12 has a population of 259,073 (2.46%) and Council District 14 has a population of 246,509 (-2.50%), making the total population deviation for the City 4.96%. As more fully-described below, this deviation in the proposed plan is within a range determined by courts to qualify as being constitutional. Furthermore, based on the policy decision made by the Commission on February 15 to maintain a 5 percent overall deviation (+/- 2.5 percent) or lower across the City, the Recommended Plan goes further than the current Council District boundaries enacted in 2002 which tolerated an overall deviation of 10 percent, a reduction of more than half in keeping with the one person, one vote principle.

Different Deviation Standards for Congressional Redistricting and Their Application to Los Angeles City Redistricting

Article I, Section 2 of the United States Constitution requires that congressional representatives must be "apportioned among the several states … according to their numbers." In the landmark decision of Wesberry v. Sanders 376 U.S. 1 (1964), the United States Supreme Court interpreted this to require that the population of each congressional district within a state must be "as nearly equal in population as practicable." By virtue of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment, the "one person, one vote" principle is extended to state legislative and municipal districts. The strict standard applied to the equalization of population in congressional redistricting contrasts with the more lenient equal population standard that has been applied to other state legislative plans, including municipal redistricting plans.

In local plans, the requirement of equal representation has been interpreted by courts to require only substantial equality of population. Traditionally, courts have upheld redistricting plans with a maximum population deviation of less than 10%, considering such minor deviations insufficient to establish "a prima facie case of invidious discrimination under the Fourteenth Amendment." (Brown v. Thompson, 462 U.S. 835, 842 [quoting Gaffney v. Cummings, 412 U.S. 735, 745 (1973)].) More recently, however, the courts have clarified that plans with a population deviation under 10% do not enjoy a "safe harbor" from any and all constitutional challenges. (See Larios v. Cox, 300 F.Supp.2d 1320 (N.D. Ga. 2004), aff'd 504 U.S. 947 (2004) [affirming decision that state redistricting plan with deviation less than 10% violated equal population principle].)

Accordingly, while local districts need only be substantially equal in population, local redistricting plans should reflect a good faith effort to draw equipopulous districts with deviations from population equality supported by legitimate public policy rationales. (See Reynolds, supra, 377 U.S. at 579 ["So long as the divergences from a strict population are based on legitimate considerations incident to the effectuation of a rational state policy, some deviations from the equal-population principle are constitutionally permissible"]; Larios, supra, 300 F.Supp.2d at 1337-1338 [holding that population deviations must be supported by legitimate state interests].) Examples of legitimate public policy rationales that would justify minor population deviations include compliance with the Voting Rights Act and consideration of traditional redistricting criteria such as communities of interest, existing boundaries and geographic compactness.

Voting Rights Act

The Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended (42 U.S.C. § 1971 et seq.) seeks to provide assurance that all persons have equal voting opportunities. Specifically, it prohibits states and their political subdivisions from denying or abridging citizens' right to vote "on account of race or color" (42 U.S.C §§ 1973a, 1973c) or membership in a "language minority group" (42 U.S.C. § 1973b(f)(2)). Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, as amended, is applicable to the City's redistricting process and provides as follows:

"(a) No voting qualification or prerequisite to voting or standard, practice, or procedure shall be imposed or applied by any State or political subdivision in a manner which results in a denial or abridgement of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race or color, or in contravention of the guarantees set forth in section 1973b(f)(2) of this title, as provided in subsection (b) of this section.

"(b) A violation of subsection (a) of this section is established if, based on the totality of the circumstances, it is shown that the political processes leading to nomination or election in the State or political subdivision are not equally open to participation by members of a class of less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice. The extent to which members of a protected class have been elected to office in the State or political subdivision is one circumstance which may be considered: Provided, That nothing in this section establishes a right to have members of a protected class elected in numbers equal to their proportion in the population."
(42 U.S.C. § 1973.)

Thus, Section 2 prohibits any practice or procedure that, in the context of social and historical conditions, impairs the ability of a racial minority to elect candidates of choice on an equal basis with other voters. In interpreting Section 2, the United States Supreme Court has held that a plaintiff must satisfy three (3) preconditions before a court will undertake a detailed analysis of a challenged plan. (Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S.30 (1986)). A plaintiff must show that the minority group is sufficiently large and geographically compact to constitute a majority in a single-member district; that it is politically cohesive; and that, in the absence of special circumstances, bloc voting by the white majority usually defeats the minority's preferred candidate. (478 U.S at 50-51.)

If the preconditions are satisfied, a court will conduct a detailed and rigorous analysis of a challenged plan, factoring in the totality of the circumstances. (42 U.S. §1973(b); Thornburg v. Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 36-37.) This analysis looks to objective factors, including:

1. whether there is any history of official discrimination;

2. whether racially polarized voting exists;
3. whether voting practices exist that enhance opportunity for discrimination;
4. whether there is a denial of access to a candidate slating process;
5. whether members of a minority group bear lingering effects of discrimination in education, employment and health, which hinder effective participation;
6. whether political campaigns have been characterized by racial appeals;
7. the extent to which members of the protected class have been elected;
8. whether there is a significant lack of responsiveness by elected officials to the particularized needs of the group; and
9. whether the policy underlying the use of the voting qualification, standard, practice, or procedure is tenuous. (478 U.S. at 36-37.)

The Supreme Court has further explained how manipulation of district lines can dilute the voting strength of politically cohesive minority group members, whether by fragmenting the minority voters among several districts where a bloc-voting majority can routinely outvote them, or by packing them into one or a small number of districts to drawing, "cracking" or "packing," where its result, interacting with social and historical conditions, impairs the ability of a protected class to elect its candidate of choice on an equal basis with other voters. (See Johnson v. De Grandy, 512 U.S. 997, 1007 (1994)).

Cracking, fracturing, or fragmenting is defined as the dilution of the strength of minority voters by "dividing the minority group among various districts so that it is a majority in none[.]" (Voinovich v. Quilter, 507 U.S. 146, 153-154 (1993) [quoting Thornburg v. Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 46 n.11].) Packing is defined as the dilution of minority voters' strength by concentrating it "into districts where they constitute an excessive majority." (Voinovich, supra.)

Finally, it must be stressed that Section 2 does not require the creation of the maximum possible number of majority-minority districts. (Johnson v. DeGrandy, supra, 512 U.S. at 1017; 42 U.S.C. § 1973(b)). There exists no right to have members of a protected class elected in numbers equal to their proportion in the population. Rather, Section 2 prohibits adoption of a redistricting plan that, viewed in the totality of circumstances, would deny minority voters equal measure of political and electoral opportunity. (512 U.S. at 1013-1014.)

Shaw v. Reno

Since 1990, the United States Supreme Court has clarified that the use of race as a predominant factor is prohibitive absent special circumstances. The Court held that a violation of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution may exist where a legislature's boundary drawing, though "race neutral on its face," nonetheless can be understood only as an effort to "separate voters into different districts on the basis of race," and where the separation lacks sufficient justification. (Shaw v. Reno, 509 U.S. 630, 649 (1993).) Other cases have built upon Shaw in demonstrating the Court's willingness to invalidate redistricting plans as race gerrymandering where race is shown to be a predominant factor, and where no compelling justification for doing so is offered.

V. REVIEW OF THE COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDED PLAN

The Recommended Plan Satisfies the Equal Population Principle as Embodied in the United States Constitution

The total population of the City, according to the 2010 Census, is 3,792,621. Divided among the 15 Council districts, the ideal population for each district becomes 252,841. In the Recommended Plan, Council District 12 has a population of 259,073 (+2.46%) and Council District 14 has a population of 246,509 (-2.50%), making the total population deviation for the City 4.96%. Based on the policy decision made by the Commission on February 15 to maintain a 5 percent overall deviation (+/- 2.5 percent) or lower across the City, the Recommended Plan goes further than the current Council District boundaries enacted in 2002 which tolerated an overall deviation of 10 percent, a reduction of more than half in keeping with the one person, one vote principle. The Final Map Recommendation has made good faith efforts to draw equipopulous districts with slight deviations based on the public policy rationales of: keeping at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole, including minimizing splits between Council Districts to the extent possible; maintaining and respect communities and neighborhoods that had been identified by the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy, or grandfathered in from previous policies and actions of the City Council; and compliance with federal, state, and municipal law.

Communities are More Intact and Unified

The Recommended Plan is an important improvement on the existing Council boundaries by significantly reducing the number of Los Angeles Neighborhood Councils that are divided between multiple Council districts. The Commission's adopted database identifies 95 currently certified Neighborhood Councils across the City. Of these 95 Neighborhood Councils, 53 are currently divided across multiple Council districts: 40 split between two districts, and 13 split between three districts. The Final Map Recommendation reduces the number of split Neighborhood Councils from 53 to 29. The number of Neighborhood Councils split between two districts is reduced from 40 to 26, and the number of Neighborhood Councils divided between three districts is reduced from thirteen to three. Three communities that are currently split among three districts - Encino, Palms, and Lake Balboa - are completely united within single districts under the Recommended Plan.

Through its actions on February 15 and February 22, the Commission also made the de facto policy decision to maintain and respect communities and neighborhoods that had been identified by the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy, or grandfathered in from previous policies and actions of the City Council: Historic Filipinotown, Koreatown, Little Armenia, Little Bangladesh, Little Ethiopia, Little Tokyo, Rose Hill, Sherman Oaks, and Thai Town. [see Appendix J]

Neighborhood Councils Compels Respect for a New Community of Interest

The formation and certification of 95 Neighborhood Councils since the adoption of the Los Angeles City Charter in 1999 created a new opportunity and challenge for the Commission. During the 2001-02 Commission's work, less than 30 Neighborhood Councils were formed and were not considered a Community of Interest at the time of recommending new Council District boundaries. In 2011-12, that notion has changed dramatically. Throughout the process, the Commission received presentations from the Department of Neighborhood Empowerment and held discussions regarding the certification process of Neighborhood Councils. It must be noted that Neighborhood Councils vary widely in population, geographic boundaries, and demographics. As a result, a "one size fits all" approach to evaluating their weight and defining communities of interest could not apply to the Commission's Recommended Plan.

During the first fifteen public testimony hearings, the Commission received numerous public comments asking for Neighborhood Councils to be kept whole while drawing Council Districts. During that time, members of the public also submitted public map submissions attempting to keep all Neighborhood Councils whole in a single plan without complete success and without consideration of other redistricting factors. While Neighborhood Councils are now an identifiable Community of Interest throughout the City, the Commission realized the impracticability of keeping every Neighborhood Council whole in the City. With that in mind, the Commission adopted a policy decision on February 15 to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible.

Of these 95 Neighborhood Councils, 53 are currently divided across multiple Council districts: 40 split between two districts, and 13 split between three districts. The Final Map Recommendation reduces the number of split Neighborhood Councils from 53 to 29. The number of Neighborhood Councils split between two districts is reduced from 40 to 26, and the number of Neighborhood Councils divided between three districts is reduced from thirteen to three. Three communities that are currently split among three districts - Encino, Palms, and Lake Balboa -are completely united within single districts under the Recommended Plan.

The Recommended Plan Respects the Voting Rights Act Without Resorting to the Use of Race as a Predominant Factor

The Recommended Plan respects the increasing diversity of the City in a manner that is legally compliant.

The number of districts from which Latino communities have an equal opportunity to elect Latino candidates is maintained throughout the City with the same five majority Latino Citizen Voting Age Population districts and one coalition district. Of the five districts with both a Latino Citizen Voting Age Population (CVAP) above 50% and Latino registration above 35% (Districts 1, 6, 7, 9, and 14), all Districts, with the exception of District 9, see a slight reduction in both Latino CVAP and registration in order to accommodate the guiding policy decision of keeping at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole, and minimizing the number of splits between Council Districts.

The CVAP and registration reductions for District 6 and District 7 reflect the opportunity to keep two areas of the City whole in a particular Council District, Lake Balboa in District 6 and the Foothill communities of Sunland, Tujunga, Shadow Hills, and Lake View Terrace in District 7. While these reductions were a result of keeping Neighborhood Councils whole in this portion of the City, District 6 maintains a majority Latino citizen voting age population (52.2%) and registration (50.1%), while District 7 also maintains a majority Latino CVAP (54.4%) and just under a majority registration (49.4%). Thus, the Commission is confident that by respecting existing communities in the Northeast San Fernando Valley (e.g., Panorama City, Pacoima, Lake View Terrace, and the Foothill communities are unified in single districts), with a resulting reallocation of Latino voters and citizen voting-age residents between District 7, District 6, and District 2, the San Fernando Valley portion of the Recommended Plan successfully complies with the Voting Rights Act.

The Commission also strove to be mindful of the requirements of the Voting Rights Act with respect to Districts 1, 9, 13, and 14 in the south, east, and central parts of the City. Recommended Districts 1 and 14 continue to afford the Latino community an equal opportunity to elect candidates of their choice, as CVAP in each district remains above 50% and registration in each district remains above 50%. By keeping Neighborhood Councils whole in District 9, with the exception of the landmarks of the Convention Center, Staples Center, L.A. Live, the University of Southern California ("USC"), and adjacent properties, in addition to using the natural boundary of the I-110 Freeway south of USC, the population in District 9 led to a slight increase in Latino citizen voting age residents (50.5%) and registration (45.2%).

Council District 13 is the fifth existing district in which the Latino community has an equal opportunity to elect a candidate of its choice. Both CVAP and registration are maintained in District 13 under the Recommended Plan, as CVAP slightly decreases from 37.5% to 33.6% and Latino registration slightly decreases from 40.4% to 36.2%. The amazing cultural and ethnic diversity of District 13 presented a particular challenge to the Commission to balance the strictures of the Voting Rights Act with the interest in respecting the intactness of communities. The Commission is proud to recommend a plan that maintains both Latino VAP and registration in District 13 while keeping intact communities such as Little Armenia, Historic Filipinotown, and Thai Town and preserving the district's politically progressive character.

The voting strength of African-Americans has also been maintained in the same Districts, Council Districts 8, 9, and 10, with one majority Black Citizen Voting Age Population district and two coalition districts. Both African-American citizen voting age population and registration increase for Districts 9 and 10 under the Recommended Plan, while District 8 maintains majority African-American CVAP (59.2%) and registration numbers (63.8%).

It must be stressed that the Commission accomplished all of the foregoing without using race as a predominant factor in its process. The entirety of the record attendant to the Commission's process shows that various community-of-interest criteria and indicia were relied upon by the Commission in its deliberations. Among the race-neutral principles guiding the Commission's deliberations were the attempt to create districts that are compact and contiguous and that oblige the direction of the Charter to respect the intactness of communities and neighborhoods, and in particular Neighborhood Councils and communities identified through the City's legislative process, as much as possible. It should also be stressed that the Commission do not seek to "create" majority-minority Council Districts, but instead chose to not radically alter the current configuration of Council Districts to reduce such districts or create different ones. In this respect, the Recommended Plan simply reflects the ongoing demographics changes in the City. By limiting the demographic element of race to testing possible district designs to ensure no dilution of minority voting strength, the Commission has successfully balanced the strictures of the Voting Rights Act, the Equal Protection Clause, and the City Charter.

Administrative Recommendations

- In the 2021-22 FY Budget, provide for the following personnel resolutions and authorities for Commission personnel under the City Clerk's office: Executive Director (1), Commission Executive Assistant (1), Outreach Director (1), Technical Director (1), Media Director (1), Outreach Specialists (4-6). Furthermore, pay for the above listed positions should be commiserate with similar City personnel classifications and/or reflective of adjustments in inflation between 2011 and 2021.

- Permanently amend Section 2.21 of the Los Angeles Administrative Code to ensure that the first meeting of the Commission takes place no later than August 31, and the deadline for the proposal to be forwarded to the City Council moved to April 15, as opposed to the current deadline of March 1.

- The City Council should instruct the CLA to convene the first Commission meeting on a Saturday where time is scheduled for more interactive introductions among the members.

- The City Council should designate the Council Chambers as the regular location for Commission meetings so Commissioners and residents of the City can plan for arrangements for attendance and parking.

- Once a budget is adopted by the Commission, there should be policies established so the procurement of office space, capital equipment, telephone service, internet service, and supplies can be acquired in a timely manner.

- Upgrade the technical capabilities of the John Ferraro Council Chambers and the Van Nuys City Hall Council Chambers to allow for direct plugin of a laptop to the Councilmember computer screens and Channel 35 live feed. This would allow for interactive mapping during the Commission meetings.

- Provide a policy waiver for basic meals for members of the Commission when the Commission meets in the late afternoon/evenings requiring Commissioners to arrive immediately after the workday.

Recommendations for the 2021-22 Commission

- All staff should be in place to begin a robust outreach program by November 1, 2021

- Public Testimony hearings should not begin before January 1, 2022.

- Ensure that all comments, written testimony, COI statements, email, etc. are transmitted directly to the Commission versus requiring Commissioners to visit the Commission office to review the submitted testimony

- Don't waste time with regional work done in small, less than quorum groups. It is useless to draw maps for a piece of the City without seeing how it affects neighboring districts.

- Allow more time in preparation of the map. The rush heightened the tension and reduced time for cool deliberation.

- Make sure that an undercount study can be completed in time for inclusion in the Commission's deliberations.

- Allow two weeks for the staff to complete the Final Report and Recommendations after the vote on the Final Map Recommendation

- Adopt a set of binding Guidelines and Guiding Principles that prioritize the criteria to be used to develop an impartial and disinterested map

- Additional Outreach Recommendations Included in Appendix H

VII. DISCUSSION OF MAJOR ISSUES CONSIDERED BY THE COMMISSION

Koreatown

Perhaps the most vexing regional issue that the Commission dealt with had to do with the treatment of the Koreatown community and how its current fragmentation among three Council districts, and depending on the definition four districts, could be reduced. While several different boundaries defining Koreatown were reviewed by the Commission, including the Olympic Division LAPD boundaries and the Koreatown boundaries as identified by the L.A. Times L.A. Communities project, the two boundaries given the most emphasis and weight were the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council boundaries and the Koreatown boundaries as defined through the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy.

The demographics of these two designations are different. Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council boundaries contain a population of 95,324 residents (52.4% Latino; 35.4% Asian), the largest Neighborhood Council in the City of Los Angeles by more than 10,000 people. Under the current Council District boundaries, the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council is split between three Council Districts, District 4 (35,087 or 36.8%), District 10 (35,361 or 37.1%), and District 13 (24,876 or 26.1%).

Koreatown, as defined through the community renaming policy in 2010, has a smaller population of 53,155 residents (46.9% Latino; 40.0% Asian). The community renaming process for Koreatown, beginning in February 2009 and ending in August 2010, was the subject of much discussion and community input from the Korean-American, Latino, Bangladeshi, and Greater Wilshire Neighborhood Council communities. Under the current Council District boundaries, the Koreatown community is split between two Council Districts, District 4 (24,463 or 46.0%) and District 10 (28,692 or 54.0%). An analysis of ethnic population densities places the majority of Korean-American residents mostly in the City's Koreatown community definition versus the broader Neighborhood Council definition.

Most of the public testimony in the pre-draft map public hearings asked for Koreatown (in generic terms), the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council, or the Olympic Division LAPD boundaries to be kept whole in one Council District. After the initial draft map was released, the testimony clearly focused around two issues; keeping the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council whole in District 13, as supported by the majority of public comment during this time (primarily supported by the Korean-American community) or maintaining the initial draft map split of the Neighborhood Council at Third Street which included most of the Koreatown community boundaries as identified by the City of Los Angeles in District 10 (primarily supported by the Latino and Bangladeshi communities).

While Commissioners Kim and Ahn advocated that the Neighborhood Council boundaries should be kept whole in District 13, Commissioners Ellison and Dupont-Walker advocated that the Koreatown community boundaries be kept whole in Council District 10, where the plurality of the Neighborhood Council and Koreatown community population currently reside. As stated previously, the Commission adopted a policy decision on February 15 to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible. Through its actions on February 15 and February 22, the Commission also made the de facto policy decision to maintain and respect communities and neighborhoods that had been identified by the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy, or grandfathered in from previous policies and actions of the City Council.

The final decision by the Commission was to keep the Koreatown community boundaries (as defined by the City community renaming process) whole in District 10, maintaining 70.1% (66,777) of the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council boundaries in District 10, while the remaining 29.9% (28,546) of the population within the Neighborhood Council boundaries would be maintained in District 13, reducing the number of splits in the Neighborhood Council. As the largest Neighborhood Council in the City of Los Angeles, members of the Commission may not have found it practical or feasible to maintain the entire Neighborhood Council boundaries under one Council District without creating major disruptions to other communities and Council Districts throughout the City. In conformance with Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter, this decision ensures that for the first time in over forty years, the Koreatown community as defined by the City will be kept whole in one Council District, even though the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council will not.

South Los Angeles

Another area of major discussion by the Commission was the redrawing of Council District boundaries south of I-10 Freeway and west of the I-405 Freeway/City of Culver City/County of Los Angeles boundaries. This area of the City, currently represented by three African-American Councilmembers, received a lot of attention by the Commission due to many neighborhoods being split under the current Council District boundaries (e.g. Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw, Leimert Park, Crenshaw Manor, Vermont Square, Vermont-Slauson, Adams-Normandie, University Park, Vermont Vista, Broadway-Manchester, and Green Meadows). A lot of time and discussion was also given to the desire of the Councilmembers from District 8 and District 9 who advocated for their districts to stay exactly the same, or change as little as possible, a difficult task.

While the public testimony was mixed in this part of the City during the first round of Public Testimony hearings, with most supporting the status quo, the majority of support during the second round of regional hearings and after the release of the Adjusted Draft Map asked for Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw and Leimert Park to be kept whole in one Council District, either District 8 or District 10.

As stated previously, the Commission adopted a policy decision on February 15 to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible. With this action, the Commission respected the boundaries of Neighborhood Councils when drawing Districts 8, 9, 10, and 15, minimizing Neighborhood Council boundary splits throughout the four Districts south of the I-10 Freeway, only splitting Empowerment Congress Southeast, Empowerment Congress North (USC landmark), Westchester-Playa Del Rey (I-405 Freeway), and Downtown Los Angeles (Convention Center/Staples Center/L.A. Live landmark). As part of the final decision of the Commission, the Final Map Recommendation keeps the Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw and Leimert Park communities whole, along with the Empowerment Congress West Area Neighborhood Development Council, in District 10 in conformance with this guiding policy and Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter. This decision ensures that for the first time in over forty years, the Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw and Leimert Park communities will be kept whole in one Council District. It also ensures that the communities of Crenshaw Manor, Vermont Square, and Vermont-Slauson are also kept whole within a particular Council District.

Downtown Los Angeles

Another vexing regional issue for the Commission was the area of Downtown Los Angeles. Downtown Los Angeles has been split between District 1, District 9, and District 14 for twenty years, and during the 2001-02 Commission process, no decision could be made about how to fix the divided neighborhoods within Downtown Los Angeles.

One of the largest pressure points on the Commission was to equalize the population for Districts 1, 13, and 14, inevitably growing the size of each District south and west from the eastern boundary of the City of Los Angeles. These Districts needed to grow by 66,204 residents in order to achieve an ideal District population. With an average deviation of negative 8.7% among the three Districts, disruption of existing communities in 1, 13, and 14 needed to be minimized, while still meeting the goals of the Commission adopted policy decision to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible. An additional consideration that was weighed heavily was how to absorb the shifts from Districts 1, 13, and 14 to Districts 4, 8, 9, and 10, while meeting these policy goals and ensuring compliance with applicable federal, state, and municipal law.

During the public testimony of the pre-draft map public hearings, testimony was once again mixed with residents of District 9 asking to keep the status quo, residents of District 14 asking to keep the District as part of Downtown or include more of the neighborhoods, and other residents of Downtown Los Angeles asking for particular neighborhoods to be kept whole (e.g. Skid Row, Artist District, etc.), for the Downtown Los Angeles Neighborhood Council to be kept whole in one Council District, or for the area bounded by the 101 State Highway on the north, the Los Angeles River on the east, the I-10 Freeway on the south, and I-110 Freeway on the west to be kept whole in one District.

In the initial Draft Map, the Commission placed most of area within the Downtown Los Angeles community whole in District 14, with exception of splitting the Fashion District and South Park between District 9 and District 14. In order to balance population for the reasons stated above, the South Central Neighborhood Council and the Central Alameda Neighborhood Council were also split between District 9 and District 14.

During the public testimony of the pre-final map public hearings, testimony was again similar to those described in the first round. At the February 15 meeting of the Commission, two adjustments were made to the Draft Map to remove the Downtown Los Angeles Neighborhood Council from District 1 and to use the southern boundary of the Downtown Los Angeles Neighborhood Council (Washington Boulevard) as the boundary between District 9 and District 14, with the exception of the of the Convention Center/Staples Center/L.A. Live landmarks in CD 9.

The final decision by the Commission, reflecting the above adjustments with the exception of keeping the Vista Hermosa Park/Ed Roybal Learning Center landmarks in CD 1, is in conformance with Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter and in keeping with the policy decision to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible. This decision ensures that for the first time in twenty years, 98.2% of the Downtown Los Angeles Neighborhood Council, and all of the residents residing in between the three freeways and the Los Angeles River, will be kept whole in one Council District. This action also reunites the South Central Neighborhood Council and the Central Alameda Neighborhood Council and makes them whole in District 9.

Westchester and the Los Angeles International Airport (LAX)

During the pre-draft map public hearings, the Westchester community was not vocal in their concerns with the redistricting process. Few members of the community participated in the process due to the fact that District 11, which currently encompasses all of the Westchester-Playa Del Rey Neighborhood Council, in general uses the natural boundaries of Mulholland Drive to the north, the I-405 Freeway to the east, the City of El Segundo to the south, and the Pacific Ocean to the west. When the initial Draft Map was released on January 25, Westchester awoke.

Under the initial Draft Map, the Westchester community was split between District 11 and District 8, with the bulk of the population located in District 8 west of Lincoln Boulevard and north of Westchester Parkway. Both the community of Westchester and the Councilmembers from District 8 and District 11 were vocal about the splitting of the community and removing the bulk of the residents from the District in which the Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) was maintained, District 11. Over 700 people attended a pre-final map hearing on February 2 to express their anger and concerns over splitting the Westchester community and dividing the residents from the airport. Although the public testimony was virtually non-existent in the first round of hearings, the community was very vocal with regard to maintaining the natural boundaries of District 11 as had been the case since 2002.

During the Commission meeting on February 15, the Commission made the policy decision to use the Natural Boundaries of District 11; Mulholland Drive, I-405 Freeway, City boundary, and the Pacific Ocean; and if necessary split the Mar Vista Community Council at the I-405 Freeway. With the release of the Adjusted Draft Map on February 17, the revised District 11 followed the policy decision of the Commission by keeping all of the Neighborhood Councils whole within the District, with the exception of splitting the Westchester-Playa Del Rey Neighborhood Council at the I-405 Freeway.

The final decision by the Commission, reflecting the above adjustment, is in conformance with Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter and in keeping with the policy decision to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible.

The Foothill communities of the Northeast San Fernando Valley

A final difficult regional issue of the Commission was where to place the Foothill communities of Sunland, Tujunga, Shadow Hills, and Lake View Terrace. Under the current Council District boundaries, this region of the City had been in District 2 for the last ten years as a result of the creation of District 6 in 2002, in order to meet the requirements of the federal Voting Rights Act due to a historical pattern of racially polarized voting in the previous ten years.

During the pre-draft map public hearings, residents of the Foothill communities expressed their desire to remain whole in District 2 or District 7, and wanted to include the entire community of Lake View Terrace which had been split under the current boundaries. When the initial Draft Map was released on January 25, the Commission split the Foothill communities along the I-210 Freeway in order to keep Lake View Terrace, Sunland and Tujunga whole in District 7, as well as keep Shadow Hills and Sun Valley whole in District 6. This split along the natural boundary of the I-210 Freeway was unacceptable to most of the residents within the Foothill communities, and mistakenly did not recognize the split to Lake View Terrace.

As a result, the public testimony during the pre-final map public hearings centered around keeping all four of these communities whole within one Council District. Most of the testimony did not state a preference as to which District, just that the community be kept intact due to rural nature of this part of the City, truly an anomaly within the urban and suburban expanses of the City of Los Angeles.

With adjustments to be made at the February 15 Commission meeting, five Commissioners proposed adjustments to make the Foothill communities whole in District 7, the most out of any area in the City. The final decision by the Commission, reflecting the above adjustment, is in conformance with Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter and in keeping with the policy decision to keep at least two-thirds of the Neighborhood Councils whole and to minimize splits between Council Districts to the extent possible. The current configuration of District 7 keeps the Foothill Trails Neighborhood Council and the Sunland-Tujunga Neighborhood Council whole and together within one Council District.

Appendix A: Charter Section 204 and Administrative Code Sec. 2.21

Sec. 204. Election of City Council Members; Redistricting.

(a) Redistricting by Ordinance. Commencing in 2002, the Council shall by ordinance redraw district lines to be used for all elections of Council members, including their recall, and for filling any vacancy in the office of member of the Council, after the effective date of the redistricting ordinance. Districts so formed shall each contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City as shown by the Federal Census immediately preceding the formation of districts.

(b) Redistricting Commission. There shall be a Redistricting Commission to advise the Council on drawing of Council district lines. The Commission members shall be appointed in the following manner: one by each Council member except that the Council President shall appoint two members, three by the Mayor, one by the City Attorney, and one by the Controller. No City officer or employee shall be eligible to serve on the Commission. The Redistricting Commission shall appoint a director and other personnel, consistent with budgetary approval, which positions shall be exempt from the civil service provisions of the Charter.

(c) Redistricting Process. The Redistricting Commission shall be appointed no later than the date by which the Census Bureau is to release decennial census data. A new Commission shall be appointed to advise the Council prior to each subsequent redistricting. The Commission shall begin the redistricting process at any time after the necessary data are obtained from the most recent Federal Census, but no later than January 1, 2002, and each subsequent tenth anniversary of that date. The Commission shall seek public input throughout the redistricting process. The Commission shall present its proposal for redistricting to the Council no later than a date prescribed by ordinance.

The Council shall adopt a redistricting ordinance no later than July 1, 2002, and each subsequent tenth anniversary of that date. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the Council from redistricting with greater frequency provided that districts so formed each contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City as shown by the Federal Census immediately preceding the formation of districts or based upon other population reports or estimates determined by the Council to be substantially reliable.

(d) Criteria for Redistricting. All districts shall be drawn in conformance with requirements of state and federal law and, to the extent feasible, shall keep neighborhoods and communities intact, utilize natural boundaries or street lines, and be geographically compact.

(e) Effect of Redistricting on Incumbents. No change in the boundary or location of any district by redistricting shall operate to abolish or terminate the term of office of any member of the Council prior to expiration of the term of office for which the member was elected.

(f) Annexation or Consolidation. Any territory annexed to or consolidated with the City shall, prior to or concurrently with completion of the proceedings therefor, be added to an adjacent district or districts by the Council by ordinance, which addition shall be effective upon completion of the annexation or consolidation proceedings notwithstanding any other provision of the Charter to the contrary.

(g) Terms. The terms of office for those members of the Council elected from odd-numbered districts shall commence during each fourth anniversary of the year 1997 and for the members elected from even-numbered districts shall commence during each fourth anniversary of the year 1999.

(b) The Redistricting Commission established by Charter Section 802(b) and appointed for each decennial redistricting shall present its proposal to the City Council for redistricting the Board of Education on or before March 29, 2002, and, thereafter, every ten years after March 1, 2002.

(c) If the Council decides to consider redistricting the Council or the Board of Education districts, or both, sooner than the next decennial Census, it shall appoint a Redistricting Commission or Commissions for that purpose and shall adopt an ordinance establishing a date by which the relevant Redistricting Commission will be required to submit its redistricting proposal.

City Council Redistricting Commission of the City of Los Angeles
Room 275, City Hall
200 N. Spring Street
Los Angeles, CA 90012

Dear Commissioners:

This memorandum discusses the legal criteria applicable to the work of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission (the Commission) and expresses our views regarding the proposed City Council district map adopted as your Commission's recommendation to the City Council.

City Charter

The Los Angeles City Charter requires the City Council to redraw the lines for the City's fifteen Council Districts at least once every ten years. The Charter creates the City Council Redistricting Commission to advise the Council on the redrawing of Council District lines. The Charter requires the Redistricting Commission to obtain public input, prepare a redistricting proposal and present it to the City Council. The Charter provides that the City Council has the ultimate authority to adopt a redistricting plan, and must do so by ordinance. (See City Charter § 204.)

The Charter requires that Council Districts "contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City." (Charter § 204(a).) The Charter also specifies that Council Districts "shall be drawn in conformance with requirements of state and federal law and, to the extent feasible, shall keep neighborhoods and communities intact, utilize natural boundaries or street lines, and be geographically compact." (Charter § 204(d).) The Charter thus frames several key legal criteria and standards applicable to redistricting: the Equal Population Principle; consideration of Traditional Redistricting Criteria such as communities of interest, existing boundaries and geographical compactness; and compliance with the federal Equal Protection Clause and Voting Rights Act. We discuss each of these foundational elements of redistricting below.

Equal Population Principle

The Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution requires that electoral districts afford their residents equality of representation. This is embodied in the "one person, one vote" equal population principle. In keeping with this principle, the United States Supreme Court has held that redistricting plans for local legislative districts must achieve "substantial equality of population among the various districts." (Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. 533, 579 (1964).) The City Charter similarly provides that Council districts must be drawn with equal populations "as nearly as practicable." (Charter § 204(a).) State law also is in accord. (See Cal. Elections Code § 21620 [requiring city council districts "to be as nearly equal in population as may be"].)

The Supreme Court has held that local redistricting plans satisfy the equal population principle so long as there is "substantial equality" of population across the districts. (Reynolds, supra, 377 U.S. at 579.) That is, exact population equality is not a constitutional requirement for city council districts. Traditionally, courts have upheld redistricting plans with a maximum population deviation of less than 10%, considering such minor deviations insufficient to establish "a prima facie case of invidious discrimination under the Fourteenth Amendment." (Brown v. Thompson, 462 U.S. 835, 842 [quoting Gaffney v. Cummings, 412 U.S. 735, 745 (1973)].) More recently, however, the courts have clarified that plans with a population deviation under 10% do not enjoy a "safe harbor" from any and all constitutional challenges. (See Larios v. Cox, 300 F.Supp.2d 1320 (N.D. Ga. 2004), aff'd 504 U.S. 947 (2004) [affirming decision that state redistricting plan with deviation less than 10% violated equal population principle].)

Accordingly, while local districts need only be substantially equal in population, local redistricting plans should reflect a good faith effort to draw equipopulous districts with deviations from population equality supported by legitimate public policy rationales. (See Reynolds, supra, 377 U.S. at 579 ["So long as the divergences from a strict population are based on legitimate considerations incident to the effectuation of a rational state policy, some deviations from the equal-population principle are constitutionally permissible"]; Larios, supra, 300 F.Supp.2d at 1337-1338 [holding that population deviations must be supported by legitimate state interests].) Examples of legitimate public policy rationales that would justify minor population deviations include compliance with the Voting Rights Act and consideration of traditional redistricting criteria such as communities of interest, existing boundaries and geographic compactness (see below).

Courts will measure a redistricting plan's population deviation for purposes of complying with the equal population principle based on the total population of the City. Based on the 2010 census figures, the total population of the City is 3,792,621, and therefore the ideal population of each Council District is 252,841. A court would then determine the percent deviation from the ideal population for each district, expressed as a positive percentage for districts with total population greater than the ideal and a negative percentage for districts with total population less than the ideal. The overall population deviation is determined based on the difference between the districts with the greatest positive and greatest negative percent deviations.

Traditional Redistricting Criteria

Federal, state and city law have established several traditional redistricting criteria which should be considered by a redistricting body to the extent feasible when drawing district lines. (See City Charter § 204(d) [districts shall "to the extent feasible" keep "neighborhoods and communities intact, utilize natural boundaries or street lines, and be geographically compact"]; Cal. Elections Code § 21620 [city council "may give consideration to the following factors: (1) topography; (2) geography; (3) cohesiveness, contiguity, integrity, and compactness of territory; and (4) community of interest of the districts."].) The Supreme Court has held that focusing on traditional redistricting criteria is important to ensure that race is not the sole or predominant redistricting factor in violation of the Equal Protection Clause (Miller v. Johnson, supra, 515 U.S. at 916 [holding that race must not subordinate traditional redistricting principles "including but not limited to compactness, contiguity, and respect for political subdivisions or communities defined by actual shared interest"].)

Traditional redistricting criteria may be summarized as including, but not limited to, the following:

Contiguity – all parts of a district should connect

Compactness – districts should be geographically compact

Existing Boundaries – districting bodies should consider boundaries such as geographic, street and political boundaries

Communities of Interest – districts should preserve communities of people sharing common interests

Redistricting bodies must consider all of these factors to the extent feasible when drawing district lines.

The concept of preserving communities of interest involves drawing district lines in a manner that preserves communities that share common interests in a single district and/or minimizes their division to the extent feasible. Examples of common interests that may identify a community of interest include shared income levels, educational backgrounds, housing patterns (e.g., urban, rural, suburban, industrial), cultural and language characteristics, ethnicity, religion, employment and economic patters including transportation and work opportunities, health and environmental conditions, crime-related factors, schools and other common issues. (See Bush v. Vera, supra, 517 U.S. at 964; Miller, supra, 515 U.S. at 919-920.) The California Constitutional provision applicable to congressional and state legislative redistricting defines a "community of interest" as "a contiguous population which shares common social and economic interests that should be included within a single district for purposes of its effective and fair representation." (Cal. Const., Art. 21, § 2(d)(4).) Examples of shared common interests listed in the state constitutional provision include similar living standards, transportation facilities and work opportunities. (Id.)

Federal Voting Rights Act

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 (the VRA) seeks to provide assurance that all persons have equal voting opportunities. Section 2 of the VRA applies to the City's redistricting process and provides that no "standard, practice or procedure shall be imposed or applied ... in a manner which results in a denial or abridgement of the right of any citizen of the United States to vote on account of race or color" or language minority status. (42 U.S.C. §§ 1973(a), 1973b(f)(2).) Redistricting plans must be analyzed under Section 2 to ensure that minority voters are not deprived of an equal opportunity to elect representatives of their choice in violation of the VRA.[1] A violation of Section 2 is established if "based on the totality of circumstances, it is shown that the political processes leading to nomination or election ... are not equally open to participation by members of a class of citizens protected by [the VRA] in that its members have less opportunity than other members of the electorate to participate in the political process and to elect representatives of their choice." (42 U.S.C. § 1973(b).)

The VRA protects against vote dilution of covered minority constituencies. Vote dilution can occur when a redistricting plan minimizes or cancels the power of minority groups to elect representatives of their choice. Examples of vote dilution include "fracturing" and "packing." "Fracturing" can occur when a minority group is large enough to form the majority in a single, compact district but the redistricting plan disperses the minority group's voters into several different districts such that it is not a majority in any district. (See Voinovich v. Quilter, 507 U.S. 146, 153 (1993).) "Packing" can occur when a redistricting plan concentrates minority voters into a single or small number of districts thereby minimizing their influence in other districts. (See Voinovich, supra, 507 U.S. at 153.)

In Thornburg v. Gingles, 478 U.S. 30 (1986), the Supreme Court established a multi-part test to determine whether a redistricting plan violates Section 2 of the VRA.

[1] The City is not a covered jurisdiction under Section 5 of the federal Voting Rights Act and therefore is not required to seek Department of Justice preclearance of its redistricting plan. (See 42 U.S.C. § 1973c.)

The first part of the test requires a plaintiff to satisfy three preconditions, known as the "Gingles preconditions:"

1. The minority group must be sufficiently large and geographically compact to constitute a majority in a single-member district
2. The minority group must be politically cohesive
3. The majority votes sufficiently as a bloc to enable it usually to defeat the minority's preferred candidate

(Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 50-51; Growe v. Emison, 507 U.S. 25, 37-42 [applying Gingles test to single-member districts].)

With regard to the first Gingles precondition, the courts have held that a minority group is sufficiently large only if its citizen voting age population ("CVAP") in the proposed district is greater than 50 percent. (Romero v. City of Pomona, 883 F.2d 1418, 1426 (9th Cir. 1989) [holding that CVAP, rather than total population, is the appropriate measure of population under the Gingles test]; see also LULAC v. Perry, 548 U.S. 399, 429 [observing that citizen voting age population "fits the language of § 2 because only eligible voters affect a group's opportunity to elect candidates"].) Although the Supreme Court has held that a minority group cannot establish Section 2 liability if it is large enough to influence elections but not large enough to form a majority of a district (Bartlett v. Strickland, 129 S.Ct. 1231, 1246 (2009)), the Court also has stated that redistricting bodies are not prohibited from drawing such districts provided that race is not the predominant factor. (Id. at 1248.)

The second Gingles precondition requires evidence that "a significant number of minority group members usually vote for the same candidates" or otherwise share common political preferences. (Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 56.) The third Gingles precondition requires evidence showing that majority voters vote sufficiently as a bloc usually to defeat the minority group's preferred candidate. (Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 53-74.) Both of these factors require an examination of past election data and other evidence to show political cohesiveness and racially polarized voting in the area.

If all three Gingles preconditions are satisfied, a court will then move to the second part of the Gingles test to examine the totality of the circumstances to determine whether minority voters have been denied an equal opportunity to elect representatives of their choice. This analysis looks to objective factors, including the following:

1. The extent of any history of official discrimination that affected the right of minority group members to register, vote or otherwise participate in the democratic process;
2. The extent to which voting in elections is racially polarized;
3. The extent to which the jurisdiction has used voting practices or procedures that may enhance the opportunity for discrimination;

4. Whether minority group members have been denied access to candidate slating processes;
5. The extent to which minority group members bear the effects of discrimination in areas such as education, employment and health, which hinder their ability to participate effectively in the political process;
6. Whether political campaigns have been characterized by racial appeals;
7. The extent to which minority group members have been elected to public office;
8. Whether there is a significant lack of responsiveness on the part of elected officials to the particularized needs of the minority group; and
9. Whether the policy underlying the use of the voting qualification, standard, practice or procedure is tenuous.

(See Gingles, supra, 478 U.S. at 36-37.) Also relevant as part of the totality of circumstances portion of the analysis is the proportionality between the minority group's population in the jurisdiction and the number of districts in which the group forms an effective majority. (See Johnson v. DeGrandy, 512 U.S. 997, 1000 (1994).)

Notably, Section 2 of the VRA does not require the creation of the maximum possible number of majority-minority districts. (See Johnson v. DeGrandy, supra, 512 U.S. at 1017 [there is no requirement that members of a protected class be elected in numbers equal to their proportion of the population].) Rather, Section 2 prohibits adoption of a redistricting plan that, viewed in the totality of circumstances, would deny minority voters equal measure of political and electoral opportunity. (Id. at 1013-1014.)

Equal Protection Clause and Consideration of Race

The Supreme Court has held that the Equal Protection Clause generally prohibits the use of race as the sole or predominant factor in drawing district lines. (See Miller v. Johnson, 515 U.S. 900, 920 (1995); Shaw v. Reno, 509 U.S. 630 (1993).) If race is determined to be the sole or predominant factor in redistricting, the courts will apply "strict scrutiny" and invalidate the plan unless it is narrowly tailored to serve a compelling governmental interest.

The Supreme Court also has held, however, that the Equal Protection Clause does not prohibit all consideration of race in redistricting. The Court has acknowledged that redistricting bodies "almost always [will] be aware of racial demographics." (Miller, supra, 515 U.S. at 916; see Shaw v. Reno, supra, 509 U.S. at 646 [redistricting body is "aware of race when it draws district lines, just as it is aware of age, economic status, religious and political persuasion, and a variety of other demographic factors."].) Accordingly, the Supreme Court has held that race may be a factor in redistricting, and that strict scrutiny will not apply unless race is the sole or predominant factor. (See Bush v. Vera, 517 U.S. 952, 958-959 (1996) ["[s]trict scrutiny does not apply merely because redistricting is performed with consciousness of race."].) Thus, while redistricting bodies may consider race in a mix with other factors, it may not subordinate traditional redistricting principles to racial considerations. (See Miller, supra, 515 U.S. at 916.)

Courts have examined several different factors in determining whether race was the sole or predominant factor behind a redistricting plan. The shape of the districts is one such factor. (See Miller, supra, 515 U.S. at 913; see Shaw v. Reno, supra, 509 U.S. at 647 ["reapportionment is one area in which appearances do matter"].) Courts will also look to testimony and other evidence reflecting legislative motives. (See Miller, supra, 515 U.S. at 919; Bush, supra, 517 U.S. at 962.) Courts will also deem relevant the extent to which a redistricting body based its plan on traditional, race-neutral criteria such as preserving communities of interest, observing existing boundaries and geographic compactness.

Conclusion

We have reviewed the Commission's proposed map under the legal criteria described above. Our review is based on the information available to us, the justifications presented in the record of the Commission's proceedings as well as those that have been provided by the Commission in its report accompanying the proposed map. Based on these considerations, and in light of the inherent discretion the Commission has with regard to making policy recommendations pertaining to redistricting, we believe that the Commission's proposed map is legally defensible under the applicable redistricting law and criteria detailed above. Under applicable law, the analysis of any redistricting proposal is fact specific and, therefore, can be impacted by information not adduced at the time of its adoption. Of course, other options, including amended versions of the proposed map, also may be legally viable. We will be prepared to advise the City Council as it undertakes its review and deliberation of the Commission's proposed map.

Very truly yours,

Appendix G: Written Statements and Minority Reports Submitted by Commissioners

MINORITY REPORT BY COMMISSIONER DOWNEY

A. Needed Changes to the Commission's Recommended Map

When I was appointed to the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission (LACCRC) by the City Attorney, I was told by my appointing authority only two things: make the proposed map legally defensible and do the right thing. Based on what I know, I believe the map is defensible but I don't think we have done the right thing in several respects, the most troublesome of which follow, and only the City Council can correct our missteps.

1. The overwhelming weight of the testimony we heard suggested that Koreatown should be kept whole or largely whole in CD 13. At virtually every one of our 22 public hearings, we heard a repeated request from Korean Angelenos to be kept whole, almost always couched as whole in CD13. Even if it may not be feasible to keep the entire Wilshire Center/Koreatown Neighborhood Council of nearly 100,000 people in a single district, we should have deferred to the huge presence and common chorus of the Korean voices at every step in our process. Those residents want to be in CD13 where other Asian immigrants live and where their common social services needs can be better served.

2. We heard from hundreds of stakeholders from CD9, in writing and in person, on the several occasions we met in City Hall. The vast majority of voices spoke in favor of keeping the boundaries largely intact. In the last ten years downtown Los Angeles has enjoyed a remarkable and exciting renaissance. That has been due in large part to a synergy between private developers and the City. This public private partnership has brought us the boom in commercial and residential growth downtown we have witnessed in the last decade. It is the combination of energy from big business at the Staples Center together with the Bank District's loft conversions using the City's adaptive reuse program that explains the impressive success story of CD9. We heard from people as diverse as the leadership at the Music Center, the Museum of Contemporary Art, the LA Opera, The Bank District and homeless service providers- all asking for the same thing- "keep downtown in CD9." If it's not feasible to keep all of downtown together in CD9, at least make a more equitable and reasonable split between CD 9 to the south and CD14 to the northeast. Our proposed map moves virtually all of downtown to the northeast into CD 14 to the detriment of CD9. The turnaround in downtown under CD9 is one of our City's greatest success stories. Why alter a working formula?

3. The hearings at the Expo Center on January 10 and at West Angeles Church on February 11 gave a forum for hundreds of voices in CD8 to state their wishes about their district. The vast majority asked that CD8's boundaries be kept intact. That would not include USC, as proposed, but would include Leimert Park whole and the redeveloping Baldwin Hills Shopping Center. Even the current representative of CD9 objected to moving USC, as proposed, out of CD8 and into CD9. CD8 was badly disserved in this process, for no apparent reason.

It is clear that we could not draw a perfect map meeting all the demands of all the communities in our huge city and still complying with all requirements of law. But we could have drawn a better map and done the right thing more often than we did. We certainly could have drawn one that minimizes the risk of litigation, instead of increasing that risk. Of course, anyone can sue anytime, with or without likelihood of success. But even if the City can prevail in court, why provoke costly and wasteful litigation, especially in times when public funds are in such short supply? If we are more responsive to some of the most reasonable requests of the public, more compromising on contested boundaries and more equitable in distribution of assets, we might avert costly litigation.

B. Needed Changes to the Redistricting Process

Redistricting has always been a purely political process under which elected officials worked with or against each other or horse traded with each other in the drawing of their own district lines. Reform of redistricting under section 204 of the Charter was intended to make the process driven less by the political self interest of incumbents, more openly and impartially for the benefit of the entire city.

Sad to say, but not surprisingly, when the vast majority of the "independent" Commission is appointed by sitting officials often with their own political futures at stake, the independence of the Commission is compromised. For this reason, The City should consider alternatives. One is the model used by the State of California in which we have a balanced and diverse group from different parts of town with no particular affiliation with local elected officials selected by a disinterested body. And that commission, most importantly, draws the final map. Of course one of the problems is finding such disinterested persons who are satisfactory to the affected parties and still willing and able to volunteer the hours to undertake the complex job of drawing the map. One of the issues from the outset of our process in hiring staff was that almost anyone with the knowledge and interest in the rather arcane exercise of local political mapping was already likely to be rooted in local politics

Alternatively, we could return to the previous City system and most jurisdictions nationwide of having the elected officials draw their own maps. The politicians would then answer directly to their constituents for their mapping decisions.

Other jurisdictions have tried other formats such as establishing a panel of judges or some other group to make the mapping decisions, presumably a group totally disinterested in the outcome of the mapping decision.

If by choice or inertia we retain something like the current hybrid "independent/politically appointed" system, we need to allow more time for public input and thoughtful deliberation than was given in this mad dash from September to February. We also need to do all our line drawing as a total group, in public under the Brown Act, so that we can see the citywide impacts on the whole of any proposed boundary in any one district. The work of the regional sub quorum groups had to be scrapped and largely redone. And, of course, we need a set of clear and binding principles and restrictions to inform our work.

Fortunately we have ten years to learn from our mistakes.

Minority Report and Recommendations of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission

Submitted by:

Commissioner Robert Ahn, Esq.
Commissioner Bobbie Jean Anderson
Commissioner Helen B. Kim, Esq.
Commissioner David Roberts

The purpose of this Minority Report is to discuss issues that the City Council should consider in reviewing the Commission's Final Map Recommendation and Final Report. With very few exceptions, the universal request heard by the Commission throughout the redistricting process was to keep neighborhoods and communities intact and, where presently split, to unite them in single Council Districts. Although the Final Map Recommendation unites many communities of interest that were previously split under the boundaries drawn in 2001, we respectfully submit that the Final Map Recommendation does not respect substantial public input from certain communities of interest – communities which the Commission could have kept intact, in conformance with Section 204(d) of the Los Angeles City Charter.

This Minority Report also discusses the Commission's decision to draw the boundaries for numerous Council Districts on the basis of race, in possible violation of the Voting Rights Act and the Equal Protection Clause. We also discuss possible violations of the Brown Act and Section 204(c), the lack of guiding principles or other criteria to ensure a consistent reason or rationale for the Commission's decision-making, as well as other procedural irregularities and errors that marred the Commission's redistricting process.

While this Minority Report does not purport to include an exhaustive list, we believe that these material failures have exposed the City to a significant risk of litigation or other efforts to remedy the deficiencies of the Commission's Final Map. We therefore urge the City Council to consider amendments to the Final Map Recommendation that would minimize the substantial costs and burdens that litigation would impose on the City should the Council approve the Commission's Final Map.

I. With Respect to Certain Communities, the Final Map Recommendation Fails to Respect the Public Input It Received or to Keep Communities Intact, In Conformance with Section 204 of the Los Angeles City Charter

A. The Final Map Recommendation Fails to Respect Public Input from Five Neighborhood Councils, Which Easily Could Have Been Kept Intact, In Conformance with Section 204(d)

The Commission failed to respect or give appropriate weight to the public input it received from the Neighborhood Council of Westchester Playa, the three Neighborhood Councils in Hollywood and the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council, all of which asked the Commission to keep their respective Neighborhood Councils intact in single Council Districts:

- Hundreds of stakeholders from the Neighborhood Council of Westchester/Playa asked that the portion east of the 405 Fwy be united with the rest of Westchester/Playa in CD11; there was no contrary testimony requesting a split of Westchester/Playa.

- Hundreds of stakeholders from Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council ("WCKNC") asked that their boundaries be kept intact in a single Council District and placed in CD13; there was no contrary testimony requesting a split of WCKNC. Only four individuals asked that Koreatown be placed in CD10 – individuals who were given special access to the Council Chambers through the rear entrance in order to testify at the February 22 Commission meeting.

- Numerous stakeholders from San Fernando Valley, including the Valley Industry & Commerce Association and the Sherman Oaks Homeowners Association (SOHA), asked the Commission to include only one "cross-over" district or, alternatively, a sixth Council District that was more than 50% in the Valley. SOHA was so strongly in support of such a request that it was even willing to tolerate a small split of the Sherman Oaks Neighborhood Council in order to create a sixth majority Valley Council District. Yet, on February 22, 2012, the Commission refused even to consider the merits of Amendment N, which would have moved the vast bulk of Sherman Oaks NC from CD04 to CD05 and thereby make CD05 a sixth Council District with a majority in the Valley.

- Numerous stakeholders from Hollywood asked that Hollywood not be "carved up"; yet, that is precisely what the Final Map Recommendation does. The Final Map Recommendation ignored this public input and splits three different Hollywood Neighborhood Councils between CD04 and CD13.

While we understand that it may not always be feasible to respect public input, stakeholders from the aforementioned communities came out in overwhelming numbers in favor of keeping their respective communities intact. Although the maps received by the Commission and proposed by various Commissioners demonstrated that it was, in fact, feasible to keep all of these communities intact, the Commission failed to unify these communities. The Commission failed to do so, even as it acknowledged keeping other communities of interest intact in conformance with Section 204(d).

Not only does the Final Map Recommendation fail to respect the input from these communities, the Final Report even distorts the record on the public input from these communities. For example, the Commission's February 23, 2012 Press Release and the Final Report proclaim that the Final Map Recommendation "makes Koreatown whole in CD10 for the first time in 40 years." (See Feb. 23, 2012 Press Release; Final Report at 17-18). This claim uses the most restrictive Koreatown boundaries used in the City's community renaming process and was seemingly made for the sole purpose of touting the so-called "unification of Koreatown" as one of the major achievements of this Commission and its Final Map Recommendation.

In truth, however, this Commission failed to unite WCKNC in a single Council District, despite the overwhelming testimony from the Korean-American community and stakeholders of WCKNC, requesting that the Commission honor the boundaries of WCKNC, which are also identical to the White House "Preserve America" boundaries for Koreatown. The community's request to keep WCKNC intact in CD13 was reflected in all of the map submissions by the Asian American community, including the Asian Pacific American Legal Center and the Korean American Coalition, maps submitted by Commissioners Ahn and Kim, as well as petitions submitted by 3056 residents and stakeholders of WCKNC. Moreover, as reported in numerous articles in the press, support for the Koreatown community's request for the WCKNC/Preserve America boundaries to be kept intact in CD13 was overwhelming and made not only by ethnic Koreans, but also ethnic Bangladeshis, Mongolians and Latinos in that community. E.g., http://www.labeez.org/2012/02/koreatown-activists-continue-fight-for-political-future.php http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/lanow/2012/02/city-council-redistricting.html. Although the Final Report claims that the Bangladeshi and Latino communities requested WCKNC to be in CD10 (Final Report at 16), the record shows that the Bangladeshi community simply wanted to be kept intact regardless of Council District. See http://ens.lacity.org/cla/minutesrc/claminutesrc319775750_02112012.pdf at pp. 30-31 And one public speaker, who purported to speak on behalf of the entire Central American community in support of the draft boundaries for CD10, could not even identify the location of any Central American communities within the boundaries of CD10. Id. at pp. 77-80.

Even the closing comments by Commissioners at the Commission's February 22, 2012 meeting made clear that splitting WCKNC was not a "win" for the Korean-American community. As Commissioner David Roberti acknowledged, Koreatown "lost" in the Commission's Final Map Recommendation, because the Commission ignored the overwhelming input from that community to respect their Neighborhood Council and national "Preserve America" boundaries. See audio podcast of February 22, 2012 Commission meeting.

Although the Final Report attempts to justify the use of the most restrictive definition of Koreatown on the ground that the Commission "made a de facto policy decision to maintain and respect communities ... that had been identified by the City of Los Angeles' community renaming policy" (Final Report at 17), that statement is plainly false. As the Commission's treatment of Historic Filipinotown demonstrates, the Commission did not adopt any "de facto policy" to use the City's community renaming process to determine a community's boundaries. Indeed, with respect to Historic Filipinotown, the Final Map Recommendation adopted the community's testimony that its southern boundary is 3rd Street, not Beverly, and kept intact the community's definition of Historic Filipinotown, even though the community's definition is approximately double the size of Historic Filipinotown using the City's community renaming process. See Amendment B adopted at Commission's February 22, 2012 meeting.

The Final Report also distorts the record with respect to the split of the Neighborhood Council of Westchester Playa. The Final Report states that such a split was necessary because the Commission made a "policy decision" to use the 405 Freeway as a "natural boundary" for CD11. (Final Report at 19-20). The Commission adopted no such policy . Indeed, CD 11 in the Final Map Recommendation includes Mar Vista Neighborhood Council, which extends east of the 405 Freeway. Moreover, as the audio podcast of the Commission meeting on February 15, 2012 demonstrates, the Commission merely agreed that CD11 must include the population west of the 405 Freeway. The Commission then "received and filed" other proposed adjustments that would have required portions east of the 405 Freeway to be in CD11, thereby tabling and preserving that issue for later discussion. See February 15, 2012 audio podcast, http://redistricting2011.lacity.org/LACITY/audioVideo.html at 2:33:50 - 2:40.

We note that, when some stakeholders of Neighborhood Councils made specific requests of the Commission, those requests were adopted in the Final Map Recommendation. For example, when Toluca Lake asked to be moved from CD02 to CD04, that request was adopted in the Final Map Recommendation. When Watts asked to be moved from CD09 to CD15, that request was adopted in the Final Map Recommendation. When the Sunland Tujunga and other foothill communities asked to be united with the communities of Shadow Hills, Lakeview Terrace and Hansen Dam, that request was adopted in the Final Map Recommendation. When the Neighborhood Council of Westchester/Playa complained of being split from LAX, the Commission announced, without even a Commission vote, that that split was an "inadvertent error" and reunited the majority (but not all) of Westchester/Playa with LAX in CD11 in its Final Draft Map. When Greater Wilshire Neighborhood Council asked to kept whole, the Commission placed them intact in CD05 in its initial draft map; but when they came back and complained that they didn't want to be whole in CD05, because their mission of preservation was incompatible with other voices in CD05, the Commission agreed to place the Orthodox Jewish community in CD05, and the rest of Greater Wilshire Neighborhood Council in CD04.

Yet, when the stakeholders of Neighborhood Council of Westchester Playa, Hollywood Hills West NC, Central Hollywood NC, Hollywood United NC and the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council made similar requests to be kept intact in single Council Districts, the Commission did not implement those requests or keep those communities intact, in conformance with Section 204(d), even though it could easily have been accomplished.

Accordingly, we request that the Council consider and respect the public input from the stakeholders of Neighborhood Council of Westchester Playa, Hollywood Hills West NC, Central Hollywood NC, Hollywood United NC and the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council, and to make the adjustments necessary to the Final Map Recommendation to keep those communities intact, including but not limited to the changes suggested by Amendment N submitted to the Commission on February 22, 2012.

B. The Final Map Recommendation Fails to Respect Public Input from the Vast Majority of Stakeholders in Council District 09

The Commission also did not respect or give appropriate weight to the public input from the numerous communities and neighborhoods in Council District 09, which requested that the Commission keep their boundaries intact to the extent feasible.

Hundreds of stakeholders from CD09 asked that the 2001 boundaries of CD09 be kept intact, other than minor changes to account for slight population shifts. Stakeholders from Little Tokyo, Skid Row and senior executives from numerous major Downtown landmark institutions, including the Music Center, the Museum of Contemporary Art, the Cathedral of Our Lady of Angels were uniform not only in their request to remain in CD09, but the need to remain in CD09 in order to maintain the cultural, educational and economic partnerships between Downtown and South Los Angeles. The testimony included petitions and map submissions that demonstrated precisely how CD09 and CD14 could continue to share the Downtown territory and account for the population needs of CD14. .

Although there was significant public testimony requesting that Downtown be united in a single Council District, the vast majority of that testimony came from current residents of CD14, not from residents of CD09. We note that, under the 2001 boundaries, approximately 75% of the 40,000 residents living in Downtown now reside in CD09, while only 25% of the Downtown population resides in CD14.

The Commission's failure to give proper weight to public input can be attributable, in part, to the Commission Staff's failure and refusal to circulate or otherwise make readily available to Commissioners the written submissions of testimony and related evidence from the public. In sharp contrast to the publicly submitted maps, which were posted on the Commission's website, the public comment cards, community of interest forms and other written submissions received by Commission Staff were not posted on the Commission's website or made readily available to Commissioners. Commission Staff did not produce any significant analysis of the public's written and verbal testimony until it was too late. As a result, during key votes to amend the Commission's draft map on February 15, 2012, Commissioners were urged to rely primarily on their recollection of the public's verbal testimony. And when the Commission Staff finally prepared summaries of the public's written and verbal testimony, they were often inaccurate and did not fairly reflect the testimony received. For example, petitions submitted by hundreds of residents and stakeholders requesting that CD09's boundaries remain intact apparently were not included in Commission Staff's summaries and "fact sheets."

The Commission's apparent failure to respect the public input from CD09 stakeholders has not gone unnoticed. After the Commission released its Final Map Recommendation, even those who had initially called for a united Downtown have reversed their position. As the Downtown News summarized in its February 24, 2012 editorial:

> We now believe Downtown should be divided more cleanly between the Ninth and 14th districts. It is not a decision we come to lightly or happily. Early in the redistricting process we called for a unified Downtown, noting that concentrating the community in a single district would be consistent with the letter and spirit of the requirement to keep communities of interest together. We still believe that, but it's not worth further harming poverty-stricken areas for our minimal gains — not only would the Ninth suffer in the current proposal, but Bernard Parks' Eighth District would also lose its economic engines . . . This proposal will not please everyone, but the mapmakers, and some of the politicians guiding them, have made this necessary with their back-door dealing, potential Brown Act violations, power grabbing and land grabbing.

See http://www.ladowntownnews.com/opinion/redistricting-solution-for-a-unified-city-divide-downtown/article_1f241058-5f3a-11e1-a680-0019bb2963f4.html

Accordingly, we urge the City Council to consider a more equitable division of Downtown between CD09 and CD14.

C. The Final Map Recommendation Fails to Respect Public Input from the Vast Majority of Stakeholders in Council District 8

Hundreds of stakeholders from CD08 asked that the 2001 boundaries of CD08 be kept intact, both at the pre-map hearings and the post-map hearings. As with CD 09, this district also required only minimal alterations in order to satisfy even the most stringent population deviation standards. The Commission received a submission showing precisely how this goal could be accomplished.

In fact, 74% of the public input received at the Commission's February 11, 2012 regional public hearing at West Angeles Church in South Central Los Angeles spoke in favor of keeping the current boundaries of CD08 intact. The review of the record shows that the written testimony regarding the communities of Baldwin Hills, Leimert Park and Westchester was split, which is contrary to the opinion offered by the Executive Director "that the strong weight of the testimony favored being kept whole and moved to CD 10," at the Commission meeting on February 22, 2012.

We note here that CD08 is the city's single African American majority CVAP district. The communities and neighborhoods that have formed the core of this district for more than four decades include the residential areas of Baldwin Hills, Baldwin Vista, Leimert Park, and a significant portion of the Crenshaw corridor. These areas represent an important component of the district's economic base; it also includes several landmark institutions including the Baldwin Hills Mall, USC, and First AME Church. No one doubts that CD08 serves as the main hub of activity of African American political and social activity in Los Angeles.

Notwithstanding the public testimony, the Commission stripped CD08 of USC, Exposition Park, the "Dons" portion of Baldwin Hills, and Leimert Park, most of which had been in CD08 under the 2001 boundaries.

The Commission's Final Map Recommendation failed to respect the substantial public input, requesting that CD08's boundaries remain intact. Accordingly, we urge the City Council to consider revisions to the Final Map Recommendation that would substantially restore CD08 to its 2001 boundaries, including Amendment M.

II The Boundaries of Certain Council Districts May Have Been Illegally Drawn, Due to the Predominant Use of Race in Drawing Their Boundaries

As a preliminary matter, we note that Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act requires three specific findings in order to purposefully construct a majority non-white district: (1) a sufficiently large and geographically compact minority population, (2) that is politically cohesive community of voters, and (3) white voters vote sufficiently as a bloc so as to usually be able to defeat the minority group's preferred candidate. Without such findings, dividing voters into districts on the basis of race may run afoul of the Equal Protection Clause, which prohibits racial gerrymandering.

Without evidence of racially polarized voting, and without any analysis or consideration of polarized voting prepared by, or submitted to, the Commission, the Commission nevertheless set out to draw majority-minority districts in Council Districts 1, 6, 7, 9, 10, and 14, purportedly to comply with Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act. This threshold decision to draw district lines on the basis of race had significant adverse effects on keeping communities intact in, and boundaries for, Council Districts 8, 9, 11 and 13. Because the Commission did not have the benefit of any of the studies or analyses that would justify drawing districts on the basis of race, we have serious questions about the legality of the heavy reliance on race as a basis for drawing boundaries for those Council Districts, as demonstrated in the record.

A. The Boundaries of CD 10 May Have Been Improperly Drawn Due to the Improper Use of Race in Drawing Its Boundaries

The boundaries of CD10 were originally drawn by the West/South Ad Hoc Regional Line Drawing Committee on Friday, January 20, 2012. During that meeting, Commissioner Ellison, the appointee from CD10, announced that his goal was to increase African-American registered voters in CD10 to over 50% from its 2001 level of 43.2%. Likewise, under the Final Map Recommendation, CD10's African-American CVAP has been increased from 36.8% to 41.8%.

After announcing that his goal was to increase African-American registered voters in CD10, he directed the Commission's Technical Director, Nicole Boyle, to show the African-American demographics and then added every contiguous census tract with a majority African-American population to CD10, including Leimert Park and other heavily-African-American neighborhoods and communities, until African-American registered voters represented over 50% of CD10's voters.

Commissioner Ellison also acknowledged his goal of focusing on race in his written, post-meeting assessment of his proposed map. As Commissioner Ellison stated in an email to the members of the West/South Ad Hoc Line Drawing Committee:

> Being a historical African American opportunity district, we found it necessary to increase the AA population. We attempted to protect the historical African American incumbents in this district by increasing the black voter registration percentage and CVAP #s accordingly. As you can discern on the attachment, we were able to increase the numbers to 50.12% and 42.8%, respectively. This was a significant increase in the black voters in CD 10 which would protect and assist in keeping CD 10 a predominantly African-American opportunity district.

(See email thread, dated Jan. 20-22, 2012, from Commissioner Ellison to Commissioners Anderson, Downey, Kadota, Kim, McKean, Roberti, Vargas, attached as Exhibit A, at p.6.)

The heavy emphasis on race in drawing the boundaries of CD10 is particularly problematic, because it appears to place a priority on bolstering the African-American population in CD10, a historically African-American influence district that has always relied on cross-racial alliances with other similarly-sized groups, with little apparent regard to the impact on CD08, the City's only Council District with a majority African-American CVAP. Moreover, the significant increase in CD10's African-American registered voters (from 43.2% to 50.6%) and African American CVAP (from 36.8% to 43.1%) was accomplished almost entirely by taking African-American voters from CD08, possibly diluting African-American voting power in CD08 over the next decade.

B. The Boundaries of CD08 and CD11 May Have Been Improperly Drawn Due to the Improper Use of Race

Another area in which race may have been improperly used in drawing Council District boundaries was the split of the Neighborhood Council of Westchester/Playa between CD08 and CD11. The testimony from hundreds of stakeholders of the Neighborhood Council of Westchester/Playa was uniform in requesting that their Neighborhood Council remain intact and in CD11. There was no testimony requesting a split of that Neighborhood Council.

Notwithstanding that uniform testimony, however, the Commission nevertheless treated the section of Westchester/Playa east of the 405 Fwy different from the remainder of Westchester/Playa located west of the 405 Fwy. The different treatment appeared to be based on the fact that the portion of Westchester/Playa east of the 405 Fwy has a significant African-American population and therefore could be used to bolster the African-American population in CD08 as remediation for other African-American communities that were moved from CD08 to CD10. Again, this raises troubling questions, which may needlessly expose the City of Los Angeles to the risk of significant and substantial litigation.

C. The Boundaries Deprive Asian Americans of Any Reasonable Possibility of Representation on the City Council

Last but not least, although the Commission was presented with several alternative maps from the Asian Pacific American Legal Center, the Korean American Coalition and Commissioner Helen B. Kim, each of which created an Asian influence district with Asian CVAPs ranging from 31% to 36%, the Final Map Recommendation adopts the opposite approach and effectively splits the densely-populated Korean-American community into three Council Districts (CD04, CD10 and CD13), and places the majority of Korean-Americans in CD10. The Final Map Recommendation's configuration of CD10 makes the Korean-American community a captive minority, with an Asian voter registration of only 9.2%, as compared to an African-American voter registration of 50.6%.

Given the significant increase of Asian Americans, as reflected in the 2010 Census, this raises troubling issues that may expose the City of Los Angeles to the risk of significant and substantial litigation.

III Procedural Irregularities that Marred the Commission's Redistricting Process

A. The Initial Draft Map Was Drawn Behind Closed Doors And Without Public Input, Raising Concerns About Potential Violations Of The Brown Act and Section 204(c) of the City Charter

At the beginning of the Commission's work, and in conformance with Section 204(c), which requires the Commission to seek public input "throughout the redistricting process," the Commission promised in several public meetings and press conferences that the Commission would conduct "an open and transparent" redistricting process.

But on January 11, 2012, the Commission adopted procedures for developing a draft Council District Boundaries Map that affirmatively prevented public input in the drafting process for the Commission's initial draft map. Importantly, during the critical period of January 11, 2012 and January 25, 2012 – when the Commission drew the boundaries for its initial draft map – all decisions were made behind closed doors and without public input, resulting in numerous procedural irregularities and flaws that infected the Commission's initial draft map.

Specifically, under the January 11-adopted procedures, the Commission was divided into three Ad Hoc Regional Line Drawing Committees, each comprised of seven Commissioners. As confirmed by the City Attorney's Office at the Commission's January 11, 2012 meeting, this was done expressly to attempt to avoid triggering the Brown Act and thereby prevent the public from giving public input during the initial line-drawing process. Thus, all discussions among Commissioners regarding regional line drawing were held behind closed doors, and the Commission prevented public input in this phase of the redistricting process in apparent contravention of Section 204(c) of the City Charter.

To make matters worse, the Ad Hoc Regional Line Drawing Committees were prevented from communicating with each other – again, in order to attempt to avoid triggering the Brown Act and thereby prevent the public from giving public input during this phase of the redistricting process. Because Commission-wide discussion was not conducted, there were important decisions made and driven by one Regional Line Drawing Committee, that, in turn, tied the hands of the other Regional Line Drawing Committees who met subsequently. For example, the seven members of the Ad Hoc Valley Regional Line Drawing Committee met first and decided that the Valley would contain five whole Council Districts and only one cross-over district. Because they were scheduled by Commission Staff to meet first, that Regional Committee's decisions then bound the other two Regional Line Drawing Committees who met later.

Under the January 11-adopted procedures, after the three Line Drawing Committees made decisions about their own regions, there were two Dispute Resolution Committees – the Valley/West Resolution Committee and the East/West Resolution Committee – each comprised of 10 members, who were tasked with "stitching together" the various maps from the Ad Hoc Regional Line Drawing Committee. Again, the structure of the two Resolution Committees was designed to attempt to avoid triggering the Brown Act and to prevent public input during this phase of the redistricting process.

The Valley/West Resolution Committee met first. Because they met first and "locked in" their decisions, the East/West Resolution Committee could not touch the boundaries or decisions made by the Valley/West Resolution Committee. The Valley Regional Line Drawing Committee decided, among other things, to include all of South Robertson NC in CD05; that decision, alone, unilaterally cut through the area that had connected Palms to CD10 in the West/South Regional Line Drawing Committee's maps. As a result, in the East/West Resolution Committee meeting, CD11 had no choice but to take Palms and to shift most of Westchester/Playa out of CD11 in order for CD11 to comply with the Equal Population Principle. We understand this to be the "inadvertent error" referred to by Chair Vargas at the February 2, 2012 public hearing in Westchester; but, in fact, the split of Westchester/Playa was not "inadvertent." It was the direct result of the Commission's January 11-adopted procedures, which did not permit the two Resolution Committees to confer or meet or to allow public input during this phase of the redistricting process.

The errors produced by the closed-door line-drawing sessions were significant, because the opportunities to correct those errors were limited. At its meeting on February 15, 2012, the Commission was forced to address over 80 adjustments requested by various Commissioners in a marathon session lasting over 9 hours. Due to the large number of adjustments, discussion of each adjustment was limited to just 10 minutes, regardless of the size or impact of the adjustment or the desire by Commissioners to continue discussion. Thus, the initial closed-door line drawing sessions had a significant adverse impact on the overall redistricting process.

B. The Lack of Guiding Principles or Other Criteria to Guide the Commission's Decision-Making Process

In sharp contrast to the redistricting process at the State level, the Commission never developed or adopted any guiding principles or other criteria to guide Commission decision-making. On January 11, 2012, the Chair and Co-Chairs proposed a set of Guiding Principles for discussion and approval by the Commission; those Guiding Principles were rejected.

At the January 11, 2012 Commission meeting, the Chair appointed an Ad Hoc Committee, comprised of the Chair, Co-Chairs Kadota and Dupont-Walker, and Commissioners Cornejo, Gaines and Kim, to revise the draft Guiding Principles. That Ad Hoc Committee was never convened. Commissioner Kim, at the request of Co-Chair Kadota, drafted a revised set of Guiding Principles, which were presented to the Commission for approval on February 4, 2012. But those revised Guiding Principles were never adopted by the Commission, nor were any other Guiding Principles prepared.

The Commission's failure to adopt or agree upon a set of Guiding Principles prevented the Commission from providing any consistent reason or rationale for its decisions or for any significant changes to the Commission's draft maps. As a result, public input from communities and neighborhoods was not treated consistently or in a fair or equal manner, and justifications for the Commission's decisions were developed post hoc.

C. Suppression of the Kim Map.

In the West/South Ad Hoc Regional Committee, two maps were created: one by Commissioners Ellison and McKean and one by Commissioner Kim. The Ellison/McKean map split WCKNC and put the south half of WCKNC in CD10; the Kim map did not include any portion of WCKNC in CD10, thereby leaving WCKNC to be kept intact in CD13. Since both maps received votes of 3-4 and neither received a majority of votes, the Committee decided to put both maps forward for consideration by the Valley/West Resolution Committee. (See Exhibit A at p.1). But the Valley/West Resolution Committee was never informed of the Kim map and therefore it was never reviewed by that Committee. This was a significant procedural error, because at the January 25, 2012 Commission meeting, several Commissioners were under the impression that the Ellison/McKean map (Map 1) was the only map to have "gone through the proper process" and that the Kim map (Map 2) had "not gone through the process" when, in fact, the Kim map was improperly prevented from consideration by the Valley/West Resolution Committee.

D. Presentation of the Initial Draft Map for Public Release, Despite the Lack of Approval by the Dispute Resolution Committee

Yet another procedural irregularity was the decision to present the initial draft map (Map 1) to the Commission for public release on January 25, 2012, even though that initial draft map failed to obtain a majority of votes in committee. The Ellison/McKean map was considered by the East/West Resolution Committee, which was comprised of 10 members. But the East/West Resolution Committee's vote on that map was 5-5, meaning that the Ellison/McKean map failed to obtain a majority of votes. Notwithstanding the failure to get a majority of votes, the Ellison/McKean map was placed on the agenda for the Commission meeting on January 25, 2012 for public release by the Commission. The public was never informed that the initial draft map had failed to obtain a majority of votes in the East/West Resolution Committee.

E. Unequal Treatment of Written Public Submissions.

For the most part, only written submissions by public members who brought sufficient hard copies to the Commission meetings were circulated to the Commission. Most written public submissions were not circulated to the Commission electronically, even though various Commissioners repeatedly requested electronic circulation of written submissions. But when it came to Toluca Lake's emails requesting inclusion in CD04, not CD02, those email submissions were circulated electronically to every member of the Ad Hoc Line Drawing Committee responsible for drafting the initial boundaries for CD04. The Commission's Executive Director, Andrew• Westall, is President of the Greater Toluca Lake Neighborhood Council.

The foregoing does not attempt to be an exhaustive list of the problems, deficiencies and errors that marred the Commission's redistricting process. However, we raise some of the most significant issues that the City Council can and should address in reviewing the Commission's Final Map Recommendation and Report.

We urge the City Council to consider amendments to the Final Map Recommendation, including but not limited to, Amendments K, M and N that were on the Commission's agenda for February 22, 2012, in order to minimize the likelihood of litigation and the substantial costs and burdens that such litigation would impose on the City.

Helen,
I generally agree with your e-mail presentation reflecting the Committee except (1) I feel that we left the meeting Friday with the agreement that the Committee present two maps as reflecting the Committee. The position that the vote was 3-4 would seem that the Committee ended up with no map at all. Not so, we left with the understanding after the 3-4 votes that two maps be presented as the position of the Committee, one preferred by 3 Commisioners and the other preferred by the other three commissioners. The Committee did agree to do something and (2) the split in the Neighborhoods in South Robertson, Mid-City and Pico were designed to connect the 5th district so that the heart of the entire Jewish community be included in and connected to its traditional 5th district not only the Orthodox Jews. Only the split of the Greater Wilshire Neighborhood Council between Highland and La Brea was accomplished to accomodate the Orthodox Jewish Community specifically.

I also think that not all NC's are equal, because some are active and participated in our public hearing process, while others did not and apparently exist in name only. My reference to NC's in my "pros and cons" was simply a shorthand to refer to the communities in those areas, because our printouts from Thursday and Friday have NC boundaries on it.

Commissioners:

My concern is that the common thread in both of these plans is that they award all of Baldwin Hills and Leimert Park to CD10. The descriptions seem to be discounting my input about the proposed map and dismissing my opinion in the debate between the two districts.

My position is that NEITHER of the plans addresses the fact that the borders between CD8 and 10 combine the neighborhoods that have expressly argued that they want to remain in the 8th. Unlike Chris' characterization, I did Not say that you should keep CD8 exactly the same ... the CFR (Coalition for Fair Redistricting) proposal DOES make changes to the CD8/10 border, though it does not radically shift the lines as the other plans would suggest.

I agree with Helen that there is no legal requirement to radically shift the black cvap in CD 10 toward the 50% mark ... historically, CD10 has had black preferred candidates at levels less than that. CD 8, by contrast, has been a majority black district and radically reducing its population (despite its clear growth) raises serious questions about the long term effects on political power in this community.

But unlike Helen's approach, there is no requirement in the city charter or in the Commission's rules that states that lines for neighborhood councils are sacrosanct. It is therefore wrong to prioritize this consideration over others, such as hearing input and evidence. These lines can be instructive for the commission to consider conception of a community interest, but the expressed public statements of voters on the hearings about what their communities of interest are at least just as relevant to deciding how the commission should draw lines.

Since it appears that NO PLAN received the requisite number of votes, I feel the resolution committee should consider my plan as well.

Subject: RE: Ad Hoc Re-districting-West and South Los Angeles Follow Up - KIM SUMMARY - CONFIDENTIAL

Commissioners,

Here are my "pros" and "cons" concerning the 2 maps. I have deleted Andrew Westall from the email distribution, because my understanding from the rules adopted at our January 11, 2012 Commission meeting is that the only staff member permitted to participate in our Committee discussions is the line drawer, Nicole Boyle.

Both maps received 3-4 votes, even if we were to permit McKean to vote by proxy. Map 1, proposed by Commissioners Ellison and McKean, with input from the group on Thursday, got 3 yes votes (Ellison, McKean, Roberti); 4 no votes (Anderson, Downey, Kadota, Kim). Map 2, proposed by me, with input from the group on Friday got 3 yes votes (Downey, Kadota, Kim); 4 no votes (Anderson, Ellison, McKean, Roberti). Since each Committee member was permitted to take a printout of only 1 Council District, I don't have the entire regional map in my possession, so please forgive me if my memory is inaccurate regarding the details of the maps. There were so many changes made during both sessions; it's difficult to remember exactly where both maps ended up.

Pros and Cons of Map 1 (Ellison/McKean):

CD5: Keeps the Orthodox Jewish community largely whole. Sen. Roberti agreed to give up the "flag" portion of Valley Village in the existing CD5, as it looked too much like a gerrymander. McKean agreed to give CD5 the Orthodox Jewish community in Hancock Park (Highland betw Romaine & 3rd Street). This CD5 splits the Encino NC and Sherman Oaks NC at the 101 Fwy, but keeps Bel Air/Beverly Crest NC, Westwood NC, and Westside NC whole. It splits Palms NC, South Robertson NC, Pico NC, MidCity West NC and Greater Wilshire NC. Some of those splits were necessitated by the need to link the Orthodox Jewish communities together, while other splits were made to conform to the Equal Population principle.

CD4: Keeps Griffith Park. Keeps Studio City NC, Toluca Lake NC, Hollywood Hills West NC, Hollywood United NC, Greater Griffith Park NC and Los Felix NC whole, but splits Central Hollywood NC into 3 Council Districts. Also, North Hollywood NC, Silver Lake NC, Greater Wilshire NC and Mid City West NC are split.

CD11: Keeps LAX. Keeps Brentwood NC, Pacific Palisades NC, West Los Angeles NC, Mar Vista NC, Venice NC, Del Rey NC whole. Splits Palms NC and Westchester NC.

CD8: Retains USC/Exposition Park, but loses Leimert Park and most of Baldwin Hills (except for the sliver necessary to access Councilman Parks' home on Don Milagro), over Bobbie Jean's objections. This map also has CD8 dipping into Westchester NC, taking portions east of Airport Blvd, which Bobbie Jean did not want.

CD10: I was very uncomfortable with this portion of our meeting on Thursday. As Chris candidly acknowledges in his summary, his goal was to raise Black registered votes to over 50%, even though the current CD10 has a much lower Black registered voter percentage. During this section of the meeting, race was the sole factor in determining the boundaries of CD10, in possible violation of the Voting Rights Act. Chris asked Nicole to show the black demographics to be shown and then "picked off" census tracts with high Black CVAP, without regard to neighborhood, NC or other community of interest boundaries. Chris stated that another goal of his was to ensure 3 African-American seats on the City Council, but I question whether Map 1 accomplishes that goal because it appears that, in pushing CD8 to take predominantly African-American communities away from CD9, Map 1 reduces the likelihood of CD9 remaining an African-American Council seat; however it was not possible for me to assess that because we were not allowed to view the impact on CD9, which is outside of our Committee's region. In addition, although Chris stated that his intent was to unify the NC's in this area, only Mid City, Arlington Hts, Jefferson Park and West Adams NC are kept whole. South Robertson NC, PICO NC, Olympic Park, Wilshire Center Koreatown NC, Empowerment Congress West and Empowerment Congress North are all split. Another significant problem with CD10 in Map 1 is the inclusion of only 1/2 of the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council (split at 3rd Street). During our discussions, I requested that WCKNC be kept whole, but Chris refused to take WCKNC whole in CD10. This portion of Map 1 is a clear gerrymander, because Map 1 cuts through Olympic Park NC just to access Wilshire Center Koreatown NC. Also, the inclusion of half of WCKNC was counterproductive to the goal of raising CD10's BCVAP, since WCKNC has a very low African-American population and therefore impedes the goal of raising BCVAP. Finally, another "con" of this proposed CD10 is that it attempts to link Koreatown with South Los Angeles, even though the 2 communities have little in common. WCKNC is a high immigrant, Limited English Proficiency community that shares common cultural and languages. South Los Angeles has no such traits.

Pros and Cons of Map 2 (Kim):

CD5: Keeps the Orthodox Jewish community largely whole. This portion of the map is largely similar to Map 1. Thus, it excludes the "flag" portion of Valley Village in the existing CD5, as it looked too much like a gerrymander and includes the Orthodox Jewish community in Hancock Park (Highland betw Romaine & 3rd Street). This CD5 splits the Encino NC and Sherman Oaks NC at Moorpark, but keeps Bel Air/Beverly Crest NC, Westwood NC, and Westside NC whole. It does not take any portion of Palms NC, as in Map 1. It splits South Robertson NC, Pico NC, MidCity West NC and Greater Wilshire NC. Some of those splits were necessitated by the need to link the Orthodox Jewish communities together, while other splits were made to conform to the Equal Population principle.

CD4: Retains many of the same neighborhoods in the metro and Valley area. Unifies the LBGT community of interest in Studio City, Hollywood and Silver Lake (at least it did when we started our meeting on Friday; not sure where we ended up). Keeps Studio City NC, Toluca Lake NC, Hollywood Hills West NC, Hollywood United NC, Central Hollywood NC, Greater Griffith Park NC and Los Felix NC whole, but splits North Hollywood NC, Silver Lake NC, and Greater Wilshire NC.

CD11: Keeps LAX. Keeps Brentwood NC, Pacific Palisades NC, West Los Angeles NC, Mar Vista NC, Venice NC, Del Rey NC and Westchester NC whole. My recollection is that none of the NC's in CD11 in Map 2 are split.

CD8: CD8 remains a majority African American CVAP district, reflecting historical population patterns. The initial draft of Map 2 gave USC/Exposition Park to CD10, but when Bobbie Jean objected, the group put USC/Exposition Park back into CD8. This map keeps Baldwin Hills Crenshaw Plaza in CD8, but gives up Leimert Park and most of Baldwin Hills (except for the sliver necessary to access Councilman Parks' home on Don Milagro). This was done to meet enable CD10 to grow and meet the Equal Population principle. Retains many of the same communities as the current CD8, except Leimert Park and most of Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw, though it retains Baldwin Hills Crenshaw Plaza.

CD10: This district includes the communities adjacent to the 10 Freeway, including the historically substantial African American population residing in this area. This district retains many of its neighborhoods but now includes Leimert Park, the cultural and political heart of the African-American community. Also acquires most of Baldwin Hills, except for the sliver necessary for Councilman Parks to access his home on Don Milagro). Mid City NC, Arlington Hts NC, Jefferson Park NC, West Adams NC, Harvard Heights NC, Mid-City NC, Olympic Park NC and Palms NC (and Adams Normandie?) are all kept whole. South Robertson NC and PICO NC were split to enable CD5 to keep the Orthodox Jewish community continuous. Empowerment Congress West is split solely to accommodate Councilman Parks' home on Don Milagro. Empowerment Congress North NC is split, but this NC is also split in Map 1. This map does not include any portion of Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council. Although BCVAP isn't has high in this map, as compared to Map 1, it is several percentage points higher than the current CD10's BCVAP.

Overall, the biggest deficiency in Map 2 is the division of "jewels" in the South LA community. As I stated on Friday, I believe that CD8 and CD10 should agree between themselves on an equitable distribution of the African American communities in South Los Angeles, including the "jewels" of Leimert Park, USC/Exposition Park, Baldwin Hills Crenshaw Plaza and any other significant cultural and community assets, while leaving a sufficient African-American community to maintain an African-American influence district in CD9. As I mentioned above, the initial draft of Map 2 put USC/Exposition Park to CD10, but it was moved back when Bobbie Jean objected; even with moving USC/Exposition Park back into CD8, however, Bobbie Jean still voted against Map 2.

The biggest strength of Map 2 is that it is better than Map 1 in maintaining the integrity of neighborhoods, Neighborhood Councils and communities of interest. There are few blatant gerrymanders, other than to connect the Orthodox Jewish communities in CD5 and to carve out Councilman Parks' home in Baldwin Hills, both of which exist in Map 1, as well.

Commissioners

Pursuant to our meetings over the last two days, and at the request of Commissioner Kadota, I am submitting this email to express the pros and cons of the maps. However, I am only in possession of CD 10 portions of the map. We took into account the total population variances. All variances were well below 5%, which the highest variance being approximately 3%. We took into account all the laws, rule, and ethical considerations necessary when redistricting. I believe Map 1 is a fair and accurate representation of districts of West and South LA. Additionally, Map 1 was originally voted on by a 4-2 margin and then 3-3 when Commissioner Kadota voted for Map 2. Map 2 was voted on by a 3-4 margin, clearly making it the minority report map, and should be presented as such. See below.

Day 1-

Map 1, This Map was originated by Commissioner McKean, input from: Senator Roberti, Commissioner Kadota, Commissioner Anderson and Commissioner Ellison. Commissioner Downey was not present during the drafting of this map. I do not recall if Commissioner Kim had input regarding this map. Commissioner Anderson was not in agreement with most of the map (if I am correct). The vote for this map was 4-2 (pro-Ellison, Roberti, McKean and Kadota) (con-Kim and Anderson). (On Day 2, Commissioner Kadota voted for Map 2, as such, Map 1 votes would be 3-3).

At the end of the day, Commissioner McKean expressly, and in front of all the commissioners (excluding commissioner Downey who was not present), gave Commissioner Ellison his proxy to cast his vote for Day 2. As such, Commissioner Ellison had authority to cast Commissioner McKean's vote in accordance with his own vote on Day 2. There were not protests to this at the end of Day 1.

Re CD 10-

CD 10 was deficient in population approximately 12,000 people. Obviously CD 10 needed to increase population. Being a historical African American opportunity district, we found it necessary to increase the AA population. We attempted to protect the historical African American incumbents in this district by increasing the black voter registration percentage and CVAP #s accordingly. As you can discern on the attachment, we were able to increase the numbers to 50.12% and 42.8%, respectively. This was a significant increase in the black voters in CD 10 which would protect and assist in keeping CD 10 a predominantly African-American opportunity district. In doing so, CD 10 was forced to push South into CD 8. Specifically, CD 10 would take Baldwin Hills (the Dons, excluding Councilman Parks house), and Leimert Park. Moving 1-2blocks south of Vernon, 1-2blocks East of Arlington. This area is densely populated with African-American citizens and voters. This move would split the southern-most portion of the Empowerment Congress West because councilman Parks lives in this area.

We agreed to move the western portion of CD 10 (Palms) into CD 5 and 11. This area is approximately 50% white voter registration or CVAP, 20% Latino CVAP and approximately 11% AA Black voter registration. This move would allow CD 10 to divest itself of this diverse populated area, and increase the AA population to the South.

To the East the line would be very similar to the existing line with an increase to the East to include all of Harvard Heights. This move would split the Empowerment Congress North

The North East portion of CD 10 would still include Koreatown and move its Northern border to 3rd street and Vermont to include the boundary of Koreatown which was agreed upon by City, including Grace Yoo, and other Korean activist and Latino activist. (Please see attached city document). Moreover, the Asian population North of 3rd street is very little, with most of the population being Latino. Koreatown is kept together, as well as the Latinos in this community. Koreatown NC is split.

Additionally, CD 10 would decrease its Northern border and give this area to CD 4- this would remove the Greater Wilshire NC from CD 10 and make it whole, as requested.

Pico NC would be split between 10th and 5th to maintain link in CD 5 to Fairfax orthodox Jewish corridor.

Day 2

Map 2, This map was originated and drawn by Commissioner Kim. I had some major concerns with Map 2 and how it pertained to CD 10. First, it completely put Koreatown in CD 13. As such, there was no discussion regarding Koreatown borders. Next, it put the Crenshaw Mall in CD 8 (as it currently stands, as well as the Expo Center and USC). It also, kept Palms in CD 10. The vote for Map 2 was 3-4 (pro: Kim, Kadota, Downey) (con: Ellison, Roberti, Anderson and McKean-by proxy). (Although Commissioner Kim vehemently suggests that Commissioner McKean could not allow me vote is in proxy against Map 2). This clearly makes Map 2 the minority map and it should be presented as such.

Map 2 takes every economic producing area out of CD 10. CD 10 is merely left with the south side of Wilshire Blvd as an economic producing area for its community.

Map 2 does not increase the African American population enough to keep it a AA opportunity district (see Map 2 for percentages). As Map 2 stands there will be only 1 African-American opportunity council district.

Map 2 gives CD 10 the "scraps" from the rest of the council districts, which I feel is disrespectful to the council president.

Map 2 purports to keep certain NC councils intact while clearly not caring about other NC, which I find is arbitrary and self interested. Greater Wilshire NC is split into 3-districts. Empowerment Congress North is split in 2-districts. Empowerment Congress West is split in 2-districts. Pico NC is in 2-districts. But Palms NC is in 1-district (10) and Koreatown NC is 1-district.

We took into consideration neighborhood councils, however, the NC boundaries were not the only determining factor. I am of the opinion that NC are important however, NC do not take into consideration the renters who live in these areas, are gerrymandered and not necessarily a true representation of all the people who live in the entire area. Lastly, I don't think a NC should have control or dictate to council districts or council members. Therefore, splitting a NC into 2-districts was ok with me.

I am sure I will have additional comments at later date, but this is what I can remember. Thank You

Chris

Los Angeles City Citizens Redistricting Commission

Colleagues:

With the filing of the Final Report of the Commission, I stand by my vote of February 22, 2012 in favor of the redistricting plan being submitted to the Los Angeles City Council today. However, the Final Report of the Commission deals with the criteria and processes used to arrive at the final redistricting maps. I believe those criteria and processes deserve some comment as to their efficacy and as to the manner they were enforced.

The Commission set forth criteria including that as much as possible the boundaries of Neighborhood Councils should be adhered to. This requirement alone sublimated other concerns which also should have guided us at least equally such as the proper concentration of renters in any one Council district. Neighborhood Council lines and Neighborhood Council concerns are not necessarily the same as those of renters.

Except for comment made by the representative of the Asian community at the Los Angeles City Hall hearing where the public presented its own proposals and one other defensive response to a query about the lack of renter participation in Neighborhood Councils, I do not recall any other instance where the word “renter” or the word “tenant” was uttered at any meeting or throughout this entire process especially from the representatives of Neighborhood Councils who presumably should be all inclusive in their representation. We heard about the size, beauty, property valuations, and exclusivity of home owning areas, but nary a word about renters or their concentrations. Neighborhood Councils are very important, but they are city institutions that have developed as primarily advocates for homeowners. If Neighborhood Councils demand as they did plenary and primary consideration in the drafting of district lines, then they must show at a minimum some greater outreach to renters than their testimony during this redistricting process would have indicated.

However, there was one area where the Commission could have been consistent with its stated goal of giving special consideration to Neighborhood Council lines and yet consolidate its boundaries for maximum inclusion and participation of renters in the establishment of districts. This would have been in the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council area. This particular neighborhood has the greatest concentration of renters in the city. It is one of the densest populated areas in the nation. Concentration and inclusion here would have assuaged the Korean community. Yet this did not happen, leaving the Korean community aggrieved.

I was a member of the Redistricting Commission ten years ago in 2002. The issue of Koreatown was raised then too. The issues were much the same. There was a strong push to consolidate the Asian community in general and the Korean population in particular better than had happened in 1992. The Koran population had been split in 1992 into four districts. The community in 2002 demanded more integration. But the Korean community after the 2002 redistricting yet remained badly split. Sadly, our result in 2012 is once again roughly the same as it was in 2002. We are speaking here of thirty years of frustration for the Korean community 1992, 2002, 2012 and beyond until this redistricting is superseded by the next one. When does how long become too long?

We could have adhered to our goal of following Neighborhood Council lines, strengthened renter rights and protected the Korean population. We did not do this when we could have in the Wilshire Center Koreatown area.

Redistricting is never a popular exercise. Imperfect compromises must be made. Divergent priorities are brought to the table. There are inevitably winners and losers. The Commission has passed a map in an open process that meets the bulk of the City's needs. The Final Report speaks for me where these needs have been met. But there are mistakes which I feel I must address here. We could have done better.

Sincerely,

David A. Roberti

1. INTRODUCTION

Today, it is often said that we live in a time marked by dwindling civic engagement, rampant distrust and skepticism of government and increasingly greater cynicism about civic leaders and their motives.

Ironically, redistricting, arguably, the most political process aside from campaigning for office, has provided a new platform for the public to participate in the democratic process and hopefully, in the long-run, offers the first step towards regaining faith in civic leadership.

The redistricting process, where every 10 years political district boundaries are adjusted to reflect the changes captured in the U.S. Census, has rarely been transparent until last year. This time around, the process provided an opportunity for the public to have meaningful impact even before votes are cast at the ballot box.

At the State level, as part of two voter approved propositions, 11 and 20, for the first time in California's history, an independent Statewide citizens commission was assembled and tasked with redrawing the 177 political districts for the U.S. Congress, the State legislature, and the Board of Equalization. This process shut down the smoke-filled backrooms and displaced even legendary political negotiators.

Overnight, members of the public became major advocates for their communities. With one-ninth of the U.S. Congressional delegation hailing from California, the potential for impact on the political process was more significant than ever before.

More recently, at a local level, the Los Angeles City Council's Redistricting Commission, comprised of 21 appointed community members, completed their map drawing process. In spite of negative articles in the press arguing the process was being controlled by insiders, the level of civic engagement demonstrated otherwise.

In the City of Los Angeles, one of the most richly diverse in the country, between December 2011 and March 2012, more than 4,500 Angelenos shared the story of their community with the Commission. In 10 weeks, more than 6,000 pieces of testimony were submitted in support of the neighborhoods and communities where the people live, work, and identify as home.

The report provides an outline of the Commission's community engagement strategies and programming and is divided into 15 sections concluding with recommendations for the next Commission.

The calls also provided an opportunity for the Commission leadership and the Committee to provide guidance on programming efforts. In partnership with Chair Gaines, an outreach plan which integrated Commissioners and the Ad-Hoc Committee on Outreach members was developed.

Committee Reports

The Ad-Hoc Committee on Outreach provided reports to the full Commission at five business meetings between November 2011 and March 2012. The meeting dates and agenda items are listed below.

- November 9, 2011, Agenda item #3
- November 28, 2011, Agenda item #1
- December 14, 2011, Agenda item #2
- January 11, 2011, Agenda item #3
- February 29, 2011, Agenda item #3

5. STRATEGY FOR OUTREACH

The Outreach Program was managed by the Outreach Director with leadership from a number of key staff including: five Outreach Specialists and a Media Director, collectively the Outreach Team. On average, the Outreach Team logged 80 hours weekly including weekends for public hearings and community events held throughout the City. Below is a list of the target Communities of Interest for public participation and the methodology behind relationship building.

Target Communities of Interest

The guiding document for enhanced public participation was the 20 Key Areas of Outreach. This document was utilized to more effectively target key communities for turnout by the Outreach Team, community partners, and Council Staff.

The 20 key areas included (number of contacts):

Neighborhood Councils (95)

Neighborhood Council Alliances (6)

Homeowners and Tenants Associations (50)

Labor Unions and Locals (36)

Chambers of Commerce and Business Alliances (72)

Business Improvement Districts (20)

Higher Education Institutions (13)

High Schools (33)

Vocational Learning Centers (6)

Places of Worship (125)

Governmental Affairs and Relations (14)

Historical Societies (13)

Local Political Activists (73)

Recreation Centers and Parks (43)

Senior Centers (29)

Youth and Family Centers (18)

Community Service Centers (66)

Community-Based Organizations (130)

Organizations Exhibiting Leadership in the State Redistricting Process

Organizations Exhibiting Leadership in County Redistricting Process

The majority of participation came from members of the public with ties to community-based organizations which were either issues-based, partisan political, racial or ethnic and often had existing relationships with sitting Council Members. Public awareness of the redistricting process from the independent Statewide Citizens Commission and the Board of Supervisors Commission process also strengthened educational programming led by the Outreach Team.

Methodology

The Outreach Team developed relationships with the community through in-person meetings and appearances as well as phone and email correspondence. Outreach Specialists frequently spent time in the field providing education on redistricting principles and training for community members interested in providing verbal or written testimony to the Commission. In preparation for the Second Round of hearings, a series of mapping trainings were held both at the Commission Office and the Healthy City location. Numerous workshops were also held throughout the community to increase public education about the draft map.

Additionally, each Outreach Specialist was assigned target Council Districts, and by design the districts were spread throughout the City to expand their understanding of the regional challenges and issues facing the community. The regional approach enabled Outreach Specialists to develop greater breadth of knowledge and better prepare for the Second Round of public hearings.

Efforts of the Outreach Team were supplemented by partnerships with community-based organizations, consultants, and local activists. Commissioners also took an active interest in attending community events in particular with local Neighborhood Councils and Neighborhood Council Alliances. An important note is that the 95 Neighborhood Councils and their respective Alliances were not in existence during the previous redistricting process in 2001-02.

In total, it is estimated, the Outreach Team and community partners participated in more than 300 community events between December 2011 and March 2012.

Senior centers, homeowners and tenants associations, and local political activists were most effective in mobilizing the community to participate in the process.

6. OUTREACH TOOLS

In partnership with the Ad-Hoc Outreach Committee, a number of tools were assembled for Commissioners, Council Staff and community partners to engage the public.

Community of Interest Documentation

Two specific Community of Interest (COI) documents were created for the public to provide testimony. During the first round, an initial COI document was created to help prepare individuals to identify their COI. The later document in the Second Round is an updated collection document that allowed the public to better address their comments on the draft map with either verbal or written comment. Both documents are included on page 24.

Mapping Resources: Maptitude, ReDrawLA

Providing access to mapping was a top priority for the Commission. To enhance the public's understanding of the mapping, two online platforms were promoted: Maptitude by Caliper and RedrawLA, a project of HealthyCity, a local community-based organization. Both programs enabled the public to draw their preferred district and overlay relevant data both social and economic. The Outreach Team held a series of trainings for the public and a specific hearing for map submissions was held on Jan 18th where 26 maps were presented. More information on the mapping platforms is available on page 25.

Everybody Counts Newsletter

Weekly newsletters were circulated to members of the public announcing upcoming hearings, community and media events, and deadlines of map submissions and public comment. Frequently briefs in the newsletters were re-circulated by community members and the online community of blogs and Patches as well as individuals posting to Facebook and Twitter. Newsletters are included between pages 26-31.

Online Community Survey

An online survey was created with survey monkey to capture the public's response to the draft map proposals. A copy of this survey is included on page 32.

Website

The website (http://www.redistricting2011.lacity.org/) served as the online portal for all Commission events, publications, and resources. The website included listing of all meetings with agendas, transcripts and videos when available, as well as business meetings and hearing documents. Maps of existing Council Districts and proposed districts were also made readily available. The full website is included on page 44.

Public Service Announcements

PSAs were created in five languages (Spanish, Korean, Filipino, Armenian, and English) to reach the less civically engaged communities and were focused to specific public hearings. Rather than dubbing the English version of the PSA, the PSA included community members who could provide authentic representation. All PSAs were available on YouTube. The English language PSA ran on LA Cityview Channel 35 and the four others on KSCI Thai News, Horizon, The Wave radio, KMEX and TVK, respectively.

The Script for the 30 second PSA is included below.

Between December 5, 2011 and February 11, 2012, the Commission held 22 public hearings throughout the City of Los Angeles.

Prior to the release of a draft map, the Commission held 15 public hearings (First Round). The hearings were held in each of the 15 districts to encourage diverse public engagement. During the two-week period, more than 1800 attended public hearings with 500 providing verbal comment. On average, 122 community members were in attendance.

The later portion of public hearings began on February 1, 2012 following the release of the Commission's draft map. The seven post-map hearings were set in each of the seven regions of the City: Central, Western, West Valley, East, Downtown, East Valley and South. On average, 409 community members were in attendance.

Please note: totals in attendance were drawn from Commission sign-in sheets, therefore turnout numbers were likely to have been significantly higher than recorded.

13. CONCLUSION

In the process of redistricting the City of Los Angeles, more than 4,500 members of the public became engaged in advocating for their communities and neighborhoods. In spite of strong media messaging characterizing this process as government as usual, an impassioned public emerged and mobilized at the 22 public hearings held by the Commission.

When the process began in early December attendance at public hearings was on average 122 people with testimony often vague in terms of the actions requested by the Commission. Once draft maps were released in late January, a better-informed and more deeply engaged public reappeared to make their case. In the Second Round, more than 2,800 members of the public attended hearings with on average 409 people in attendance. The majority of meetings spanned at least five hours in length.

The 20 key areas strategy combined with a pre and post-draft map regional approach supplemented by community partnerships and budding Council staff relationships accounted for the exceedingly high level of public participation.

More than 6,000 pieces of public testimony were provided to the Commission. The most effective mobilization was implemented by the community of Neighborhood Council members and leadership. In the Final Map Recommendation, more than two-thirds of the City's 95 Neighborhood Councils were kept whole. Additionally, these boundaries were used to delineate district lines and were frequently referenced by the Commissioners when discussing and voting on boundaries. The Neighborhood Councils also benefited from the growing number of advocates amongst Commissioners throughout the process.

Although some communities argued their voices went unheard, the vast majority of conflicts brought to the attention as part of public comment were addressed in the Final Map Recommendation. Two Council Members and a handful of community groups remained critical of the process itself, but the majority were pleased with the outcome.

The test of the redistricting process as a platform to improve public trust of government remains for the next Commission to validate and in the more immediate short-term, for the City Council as of March 1st.

Everybody Counts

The Los Angeles City Charter requires that the City be redistricted at least once every 10 years. It calls for creation of a twenty-one member Redistricting Commission, which has the authority to make recommendations on a redistricting plan to the City Council that sets boundaries for City Council districts. The testimony and input of Los Angeles residents is critical to creating a redistricting plan that provides fair and effective representation for all citizens of the City. Learn how to get involved.

He earned the respect of veteran members of Congress, including U.S. Rep. Howard Berman and U.S. Rep. Anthony C. Beilenson (Ret.), the later of whom he worked for as senior political aide from 1982 to 1994. In that capacity, Miller worked on Valley congressional redistricting issues in the 1980's and 90's. Since launching his company in 1985, Miller and MZA Events have produced, consulted on, or contributed to hundreds of major fundraising and awareness campaigns confronting the HIV epidemic, as well as events promoting LGBT equality, breast cancer awareness, and humane treatment of animals, among other issues. Miller remains active in Washington, D.C., where he is currently working on legislation with U.S. Rep. Linda Sanchez, the LA Gay & Lesbian Center, and AIDS Community Action Foundation to provide equal Social Security benefits for LGBT Americans.

FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions

What is redistricting?
Every 10 years, City Council district boundaries are re-drawn to account for population changes. The Redistricting Commission makes recommendations to the City Council on adoption of the City's redistricting plan that sets the boundaries of City Council districts.

Why is it important?
How and where districts are drawn can shape communities' ability to elect the representatives of their choice. Districts must be made as equal in population as possible and practicable so that communities have equal access to political representation.

Who are the Commissioners and how were they selected?
Information on the twenty-one (21) Commissioners and their duties, appointment, and term can be found on our website.

How will the Commission encourage public input?
The Commission welcomes comments at any of our public meetings, as well as by telephone, letter, or email. In addition to regular meetings, at least 20 public hearings will be held throughout the redistricting process. At least one public hearing will be held in each current Council district. The public comment form for written comments can be found on our website.

When and where will public hearings be held?
Public hearings will be held November through December 2011 in anticipation of adopting a draft plan in January 2012. Public hearings will again be held January through February 2012 in anticipation of adopting a final plan by March 1, 2012. The current schedule is available on our website. Suggestions for facilities locations are welcomed and encouraged.

How can my community stay informed and get involved?
We encourage you to request a community presentation, attend a meeting, public hearing, submit comments, and contact us anytime throughout this process. More information on how to get involved is available on our website.

Map Presentations by Individuals or Organized Groups

The Commission has established rules and procedures for the presentation of maps by individuals or organized groups at the Tuesday January 17, 2012 and Wednesday January 18, 2012 regular Commission meetings.

- Rules and Procedures

Commission meetings for the presentation of citywide and regional plans have been scheduled for Tuesday January 17, 2012 at Van Nuys City Hall and Wednesday January 18, 2012 at Los Angeles City Hall. While Individuals or groups may present plans at these Commission meetings, proposed maps, suggestions, and comments can be submitted to the Commission for its consideration without requiring the submitter to make an oral presentation. If an individual or group submits proposed maps that are smaller than a Council District (e.g. Neighborhood Council, neighborhood, other communities of interest), these proposals will not be considered for an oral presentation. Individuals or groups planning to offer highlights of their plans at one of the above-referenced Commission meetings should present a request to the Commission no later than seventy-two (72) hours prior to the meetings. The request should identify the name of the individual or group presenting the plan, the types of plans being submitted (citywide, regional, single district), and the amount of time requested to present highlights to the Commission, subject to the limitations set out below. Requests should be sent to: redistricting.lacity@lacity.org

The Commission will provide one time slot per group or individual, with preference given to the Commission meeting closest to their place of residence or business. The Commission will provide no more than ten (10) minutes for regional plans and twenty (20) minutes for citywide plans for representatives to provide highlights of their proposed plans and to answer questions from the Commission and its staff and consultants. Depending on the number of submissions and requests to testify at the public hearings, this allocation of time may be reduced, but in no case will it be less than five (5) minutes. Presenters should provide key highlights of the plans and are urged to budget sufficient time within their total time allocation for questions and answers.

Presenters who wish to use PowerPoint or any other presentation software to highlight their plans should submit an electronic copy of their presentation at least 48 hours prior to the Commission meeting. Presentations should be sent to redistricting.lacity@lacity.org

- Submission Format

The Commission strongly encourages developers of plans to submit copies of their plans well in advance of the January 17th and January 18th meetings. The following guidelines should be followed in submitting citywide or multiple district plans:

A version of the plan(s) should be submitted using the Maptitude for Redistricting online software package available on the Commission's website. As an alternative, an electronic version of the plan(s) contained on a CD, DVD, or USB drive should be submitted. Maps should be submitted in PDF format or in a commonly used graphics file format. Accompanying reports should be submitted in PDF or Microsoft Word format. Block equivalency files compatible with the Maptitude for Redistricting software package should be submitted along with the maps and accompanying reports. Equivalency files may be submitted in .dat, .dbf, or .txt format. Additional .shp files may also be included.

Printed copies of maps and accompanying reports are not required, but may be included in the submissions.

All materials should be sent to the following address:

ATTN: Citywide/Regional Plan Submissions
Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission
200 N. Spring Street, Room 275

- General Map Criteria and Guidelines

It is suggested that maps submitted by the public for Citywide and multiple Council District plans should contain a map or set of maps accompanied by a report that provides a description of the proposed district boundaries and the justifications for those boundaries. The accompanying report should confirm that the proposed districts are consistent with the legal requirements of the Los Angeles City Charter, as well as applicable municipal, state, and federal law. Presentations of maps to the Commission and posting of maps on the Redistricting Commission website does not in any way imply endorsement or support by the Redistricting Commission. Posting is provided only as a service to the public to maximize access to Redistricting Commission proceedings.

These requirements include the following criteria:

1. Equal Population Principle – Council districts must contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City. This principle is established in the City Charter and also in the United State Supreme Court's "One-Person, One-Vote" decisions;

2. U.S. Constitution's Equal Protection Clause – The United States Supreme Court has held that race cannot be used as the predominant factor in drawing district lines such that traditional redistricting criteria are subordinated to considerations of race;

3. Voting Rights Act of 1965 – The Voting Rights Act prohibits voting practices which result in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote on account of race, color or language minority status. Redistricting plans must be analyzed under the Voting Rights Act to ensure they do not deprive minority voters of an equal opportunity to elect representatives of their choice in violation of the Act;

4. Traditional Redistricting Criteria – Federal, state and city law have established several traditional redistricting criteria all of which shall be considered to the extent feasible when drawing district lines:

- Contiguity – all parts of a district should connect
- Compactness – districts should be geographically compact
- Existing Boundaries – districts should consider boundaries such as geographic, street and political boundaries
- Communities of Interest – districts should preserve communities of people sharing common interests;

5. Council Districts should have an ideal population of 252,847; and,

6. If your proposal deviates from the ideal population a Council District as listed above, you must include a written explanation and justification of such deviations.

Redistricting Meetings

VAN NUYS- Currently, the 21-member citizens commission charged with drawing new boundaries for each of the city's 15 council districts is holding a series of meetings throughout Los Angeles eliciting your feedback on how the lines should be drawn.

The commission recently met in Van Nuys, where stakeholders from throughout the district offered testimony. Some spoke of their desire to keep the boundaries of Council District 2 as they are currently outlined, while others said changes need to be made to ensure communities are kept intact. Currently, virtually every community in CD2, and the neighborhood council districts defining them, are spread across multiple council districts. Sherman Oaks, North Hollywood, Studio City, Van Nuys, Valley Village, Sun Valley, Lakeview Terrace and other portions of the district are parts of CD2 that are shared with other council districts.

"Whatever happens when the new lines are drawn," Councilmember Krekorian said, "it's important that residents, business owners and others are heard in the process."

"This is a rare opportunity we have to actually empower communities," he said during the commission meeting Monday night. "Full participation of the public in this process is important to ensure that it is not overwhelmed by personal political considerations. I believe that our representative democracy depends on ensuring that voters select their elected officials instead of elected officials choosing their voters."

Public hearings were held from November to January in anticipation of adopting a draft plan toward the end of this month. Public hearings will again be held January through February 2012 in anticipation of adopting a final plan by March 1, 2012.

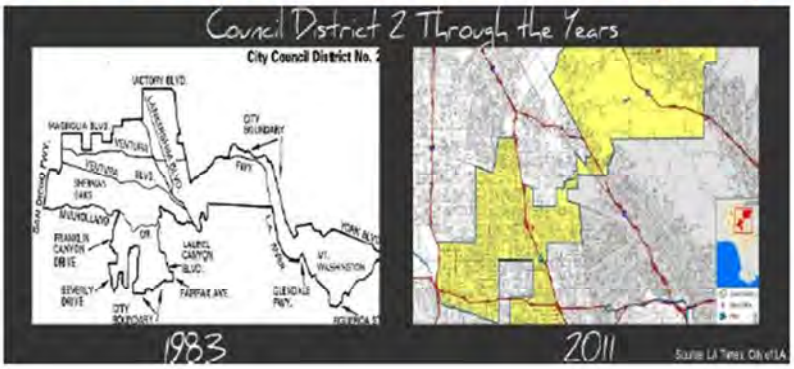
Redistricting Commission Submits Draft Map



LOS ANGELES - The 21-member Redistricting Commission, charged with drawing new voting boundaries for the city's council districts, submitted its proposed maps for public consideration.

The maps follow the commission's receipt of testimony and input from Los Angeles residents during months of public hearings held across the city, and in every council district. Hundreds of public commenters provided feedback at the meetings, as well as by phone, email and letters to the commission.

Based on the current drafts, Council District 2 would swing south and east, based mostly on the 14 other council districts and a shifting population of millions of Angelenos.

The proposed map of CD2 (see the draft map here) includes the entire communities of Studio City, Valley Glen, North Hollywood, Toluca Lake and most of Valley Village. The draft map would leave the district without the north Valley communities of Sunland, Tujunga, Shadow Hills, Sun Valley and Lake View Terrace.

"I have great affection and concern for every block of my district, but population increases require that Council District 2 shrink," Councilmember Paul Krekorian said. "Under any scenario, I will be required to give up some neighborhoods that I care about very much.

"The Citizen's Commission still has more work to do and more public input will be required before the proposal is even considered by the City Council. Regardless of how the political lines are ultimately drawn, I will always stand with the residents from throughout the Foothills and the rest of the San Fernando Valley to fight for issues important to us, including protecting open space, preserving community character and quality of life, creating jobs and opportunity, and making our community stronger."

CD2 now includes portions of 11 different communities and only two are entirely within the district - all of the other communities are arbitrarily divided by the current political boundaries of the district. One of the clearest sentiments expressed during public comment was the strong desire by stakeholders to unite communities that had been arbitrarily divided. The proposed map for CD2 would unite four significant communities.

For some perspective, consider the historical boundaries of Council District 2:

The city's second council district first included parts of the San Fernando Valley in 1944, when CD2 was extended north from Hollywood to include Studio City. In 1955, the district boundaries changed to include a chunk of the Valley generally south Ventura Boulevard and parts of Encino.

In the 60's and 70's, the second district boundaries moved north and west, losing Hollywood and including more of the Valley, including Sherman Oaks, Van Nuys and North Hollywood.

After the death of Councilmember Howard Finn in 1986, the First District that he represented moved from the northeast Valley to neighborhoods near Downtown, and Districts 2 and 7 took over greater portions of his former region.

In 2001, CD2 was gerrymandered to include its current communities of Sunland, Tujunga, Shadow Hills, La Tuna Canyon, Sun Valley, North Hollywood, Lake View Terrace, Valley Village, Studio City and Van Nuys.

Public hearings of the Commission will continue through February in anticipation of adopting a series of newly drawn maps by March 1. The City Council is required to adopt the redistricting ordinance by July 1 and the new council districts become effective upon adoption of the ordinance describing those districts.

Redistricting Draft Maps of City Council Districts released

Councilman LaBonge reacted with disappointment on the draft redistricting maps released on January 25th by the Redistricting Commission.

"In the interest of the city as a whole, I'm very disappointed in the draft-map released by the Redistricting Commission," said Councilman LaBonge. "The people of the 4th District participated in the public hearings on redistricting, stating loud and clear the importance of neighborhood integrity, the balance of diversity and the political representation of communities of interest in Council District 4. This draft redistricting map weakens the political representation of the Santa Monica Mountains, fractures the community of Hollywood among three Council districts and dissolves the historic core of Council District 4 – the greater Wilshire area, including the Miracle Mile, Larchmont Village, Windsor Square, Pan Pacific Park and Park La Brea. What disappoints me most is that the will of the people of the 4th district was seemingly ignored by this important process. "I therefore encourage all interested residents and community leaders of the 4th District to attend the upcoming public meetings on redistricting and make their voices heard unequivocally on keeping their neighborhoods and communities of interest together."

The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission is holding seven public input hearings prior to releasing the final maps. FIVE of these hearings have already taken place. Before new City Council maps are finalized for the next 10 years, make your voice heard by attending one of this week's hearings.

The Los Angeles City Charter requires that the City be redistricted every ten years. 21 members are appointed to a Redistricting Commission which has the authority to recommend a redistricting plan to the City Council that sets boundaries for City Council districts. The testimony and input of Los Angeles residents is critical to creating a redistricting plan that provides effective and fair representation for all citizens of the City.

I hope you will take advantage of the opportunity to participate in this very important process.

Dear Constituent,

As many of you know, every 10 years, the city charter requires the 18 elected officials of Los Angeles (Mayor, 15 Councilmembers, City Attorney and City Controller) to appoint a redistricting commission to advise the Council on drawing of Council district lines.

The districts must contain "equal portions of the total population of the City as shown by the Federal Census immediately preceding the formation of districts"

In addition "all districts shall be drawn in conformance with requirements of state and federal law and, to the extent feasible, shall keep neighborhoods and communities intact, utilize natural boundaries or street lines, and be geographically compact."

Although this may seem like a pretty straightforward task, there are always many special interests that try to influence the process and attempt to gain power and control over elections and public policy, usually at the expense of YOU, the resident. It's often said that there is "strength in numbers," and the special interests know this, which is why they will try to "divide and conquer."

The USC / Annenberg School has put together a very informative website - RedistrictingGame.org - to help the public understand the process and its importance.

If you care about parks, police, fire and rescue, transportation, jobs, and the overall quality of your neighborhood and community, come let the Redistricting Commission know what's important to you.

Dear Constituent,

I'm pissed, and, you should be to.

I'm sure many of you have never heard me use such strong language, as Fox 11's Hal Eisner noted when I spoke to him last night outside of the Redistricting Commission meeting, but sometimes it's necessary in order to convey the magnitude and seriousness of a situation.

The City of Los Angeles has a population of 3.8 million, who are represented on a City Council of only 15 members. That means each member represents and advocates for about 250,000 people, or a population roughly equivalent to Orlando, FL, Norfolk, VA or Baton Rouge, LA. Los Angeles is also one of the most diverse cities in the world with a population containing numerous races, ethnicities, nationalities, languages, religions, and income levels. This makes it even more imperative that the once-a-decade process of drawing the geographic boundaries for the city council districts be inclusive, fair, transparent and in compliance with the law.

Unfortunately, it has been just the opposite.

From the failure to select an impartial Executive Director, to holding secret sub-committee meetings where maps were drawn outside the public's view, to blatant gerrymandering of districts based solely on race (and in violation of the Voting Rights Act of 1965), to an arrogant disregard for wishes of residents expressed during public comment, this process has been a farce from day one, intended only to give the illusion that the public has any say in the outcome.

Of course, I'm not exactly unbiased, since I represent, along with Councilwoman Jan Perry, one of the two districts the Commission strategically drew to include only the poorest of the poor, and exclude any thriving business centers or economic engines that a Councilmember could leverage to improve the plight of those that live in desperation.

I encourage you to read what the Los Angeles Times, Downtown News, LA Weekly, KCET, former Daily News editor Ron Kaye, have written about the process.

The final meeting of the redistricting commission will take place next Wednesday, February 29th - 4PM, at Van Nuys City Hall,14410 Sylvan Street, Van Nuys, CA 9140. I encourage you to attend, even though the Commission has shown you - the public - such disregard and demonstrated an unwillingness to listen. It will help bolseter the case of any future lawsuits that challenge this obviously flawed process.

After the Commission finalizes their proposal next week, their recommendations will then be sent to the City Council for modification and/or approval.

While the Commissioners were appointed, Councilmembers were elected, and it's up to you the voter to hold them accountable. Each councilmember will have to go on record and show - through their vote - where they stand, and whether or not they are willing to rubber-stamp the Commission's actions, condemning South LA - in the words of my colleague Councilwoman Jan Perry - to "economic apartheid."

URGENT: Keep the Ninth District United!

Dear Friends,

Last Friday, the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission released their latest draft map of the proposed new city council districts.

The new proposed maps further disenfranchise the people of the Great 9th District. They do not reflect public testimony nor do they respect historic boundaries, coalition building, or common sense. Instead, specific plans have been cut in half, the fashion district has been severed from the manufacturing sector along the Alameda Corridor, the Figueroa corridor has been bisected, and the people of South Los Angeles have been left isolated and removed from the very economic engine that has helped to attract investment for the revitalization of South Los Angeles communities.

With the new map released Friday, there is no doubt that the Commission is ignoring the will of the people, and also violating the principles that they adopted to incorporate public testimony, respect communities of interest, and do no harm.

I encourage you to stand up for honest and open respect your wishes.

TOMORROW, February 22nd, the Redistricting Commission will hold what could be their final meeting, and they are expected to vote on the proposed maps. This may be your last chance to let them know what you think.

We want to keep Council District 9 united. Please attend!

Wednesday, February 22 – 4 PM
Los Angeles City Hall
200 N. Spring St.
Council Chamber – Room 340
Los Angeles, CA 90012

Comments can also be emailed to the commission at redistricting.LACity@lacity.org

Sincerely,

Councilwoman Jan Perry

Dear Friends,

If you're proud of the sense of community we have on the Westside, and don't want anyone to mess with that, we need to mobilize and stop an outrageous case of gerrymandering that threatens our council district!

Later today, the Los Angeles City Redistricting Commission is poised to publish a draft proposal for redrawing of council district lines, lopping most of Westchester and part of Playa Vista from the Eleventh District and putting it in another council district.

I won't stand for that - and I hope you won't either.

Please join me in urging the Redistricting Commission to reject that plan and keep our Westside, coastal district whole. Please sign this petition now, and attend a public hearing 6:30 p.m., Thursday, February 2, at Westchester Senior Citizen Center, 8740 Lincoln Blvd., Westchester, CA 90045 to let your voice be heard.

Here is the background: Every ten years, following the decennial census, the City needs to redraw its City Council boundaries so that the districts have equal population. Our district has 10,000 or so too many residents, so we need to trim a little and redistribute some our territory.

That seems fair enough. And it should be easy enough, given that we are a coastal district, with natural or sensible boundaries (the Santa Monica Mountains to the north, the City limits to the south, and the 405 Freeway on the east.)

But instead of trimming along the edges, the commission is considering amputating the bulk of Westchester and part of Playa Vista from the rest of our district. Doing so would divide communities that share a neighborhood council, a chamber of commerce, and a community plan area. And it makes no sense to tear Westchester from Los Angeles International Airport, which dramatically impacts its quality of life and economic activity. Moreover, the proposed boundaries would shatter the wonderful partnership we have forged over the past seven years with the wonderful communities and organizations in CD11.

Don't let that happen. Sign the petition and agree to attend next week's hearing.

If you want to see the map being considered by the commission, you can take a look right here.

How do we stop them from dividing our community? Let your voice be heard. Stand up for our neighborhoods. Defend the 11th District. Sign this petition and attend the public hearing next week. Also, please be sure to share this message with your friends and neighbors. Every voice counts.

We need to stop this proposal in its tracks. Thanks for your support.

BILL

Dear Friends,

I want to thank you for sending a strong and clear message to the Los Angeles City Redistricting Commission: Don't Divide the 11th Council District!

Because of you, we have gathered more than 1300 signatures for our petition, urging the commission to keep Westchester in the 11th District. In addition to signing the petition, I urge you to attend the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission meeting which will take place in our district on Thursday, February 2nd, 6:30 p.m., at the Westchester Recreation Center, 7000 West Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, 90045 (directions).

Why is this important?

The 11th City Council District of Los Angeles is a unified, compact district with natural and sensible boundaries. It makes no sense to divide its communities, rip apart neighborhoods, and destroy the strong partnerships shared by the Westside and coastal communities.

If you believe in the sense of community in our coastal district, then sign the petition.

It is particularly disturbing to tear Westchester and Playa Vista , dividing them from Los Angeles International Airport and Playa del Rey. Westchester, Playa del Rey, Playa Vista, and LAX are inextricably linked, sharing a neighborhood council, a community plan area, and a chamber of commerce. We need to keep the 11th District whole and intact! If you feel strongly about the sense of community in our district, then please sign the petition.

We are in this together, and I want to continue to fight for our district and represent you on the issues that are important to our Westside community: easing gridlock on our roads, modernizing the airport, and advocating for a transparent government.

PARKS, ROSENDAHL RALLY CONSTITUENTS TO OBJECT TO FLAWED REDISTRICTING PROPOSAL

Councilmembers Call for Westchester to Stay in the 11th District

WESTCHESTER- Today(February 2, 2012), Councilmembers Bernard C. Parks and Bill Rosendahl and hundreds of residents from both of their districts are calling on the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission to scuttle a flawed plan that divides Westchester between the 8th and 11th Council Districts.

In a morning news conference at the Westchester Recreation Center, the two councilmembers insisted that redistricting officials not amputate 80% of Westchester from LAX and Loyola Marymount University in Rosendahl's Westside district and place it in Parks' Baldwin Hills-South Los Angeles district.

"The first mandate of the commission should be to honor existing communities of interest," Rosendahl said. "Westchester should not be divided into two districts. It is a solid, compact unified community that is inextricably linked to LAX, LMU, Playa del Rey, Playa Vista and the rest of the Westside."

"The Commission's decision to separate Westchester from LAX and other coastal communities of the 11th District makes as little sense as splitting up the Baldwin Hills and Leimert Park communities in the Eighth District," said Parks. "I don't see how this is anything but a blatant violation of the City Charter requirement to 'keep neighborhoods and communities intact

Last week, in a surpise move, the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission made dramatic changes to the districts represented by Parks and Rosendahl. In Council District 8, the Baldwin Vista and Village Green neighborhoods were split off from the rest of Baldwin Hills, and placed in the 10th District, and the residential portions of Leimert Park were separated from the businesses and park, and also placed in the 10th Distirct.

The proposed changes caused a huge uproar in both districts. More than 2000 people have signed a Change.org petition circulated by Rosendahl, calling for Westchester to stay in CD11. On Saturday, hundreds of angry residents packed a meeting of the Baldwin Hills Estates Homeowners Association to protest the proposed split between the 8th and 10th Districts.

Residents of both districts noted that census figures do not dictate dramatic changes in either district. Parks' district grew by only 1.5%, which would usually call for relatively small changes to his boundaries as opposed to the drastic neighborhood grabs proposed by the commission.

Parks and Rosendahl plan to testify along with their constituents at a public hearing being held at 6:30 p.m. February 2nd, at the Westchester Recreation Center, 7000 Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, 90045.

GARCETTI ADDRESSES REDISTRICTING COMMISSION PUBLIC HEARING

Los Angeles City Councilmember Eric Garcetti addressed a public hearing held in Council District 13 by the City Redistricting Commission.

"Your input is crucial to ensuring we get the best outcome," Councilmember Garcetti told the more than 100 attendees. "District boundaries can impact how our voices are heard, what resources our neighborhoods get, and more."

The City Redistricting Commission held public hearings in each of the 15 city council districts to gather public input before it drafts any maps. The commission is expected to review maps and vote on a first draft on January 25. It expects to submit a map to the City Council for review by the end of February.

The commission will meet next Tuesday, January 17, to hear presentations from community organizations. If your organization is interested in presenting a draft map to the commission, please contact Redistricting Commission Outreach Director Rani Woods at rani.woods@gmail.com.

Redistricting Commission Releases Draft Map For All 15 Los Angeles City Council Districts

Los Angeles (January 27, 2012) – The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission (LACCRC) has released a new draft map of the 15 council districts that include street details and Neighborhood Council boundaries. The new draft is available for review on the LACCRC website www.redistricting2011.lacity.org.

The first draft of a new map was released Wednesday. The Commission had voted to approve the draft at a meeting held at Van Nuys City Hall. While the Commissioners voted to adopt the map for public input, they cited that this initial map is a "rough draft."

The LACCRC will hold seven additional public hearings from February 1-11 to obtain feedback on the new draft map. At the conclusion of the public hearings, the LACCRC will make changes required by redistricting law and based on public input before forwarding their final map recommendation to the Los Angeles City Council on March 1, 2012. The City Council will have until July 2012 to make a final map.

More than 2,000 members of the public, including residents, business owners, community activists and other stakeholders, gave testimony at public hearings held in each of the 15 council districts between December 5 and January 11. The Commission utilized this information to draw maps that were responsive to the public and upheld traditional Redistricting criteria including the Voting Rights Act.

"The LACCRC also made proposed changes that reflected the legal criteria governed by the redistricting process of the Equal Population Principle, the 1965 Voting Rights Act and the U.S. Constitution's Equal Protection Clause," said Arturo Vargas, the LACCRC chair

"The Commission was charged with developing district maps that reflect the city," said Vargas. "With careful review of new trends in the voting age population, we knew that our draft map would require significant changes to the 15 council districts; however, this is a very rough draft of the map and the Commission will have time to fine-tune the final map."

The LACCRC will hold two media roundtables, one for the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender (LGBT) community and one for the Latino community next week. Space is limited. RSVP required. Please contact the LACCRC Media Director Daniella Masterson at (213) 922-7740 or email media.lacityredistricting@gmail.com.

LOS ANGELES CITY COMMISSION
REDISTRICTING COMMISSION

RULES ON PUBLIC COMMENT FOR PUBLIC HEARINGS

1. The Agenda for each public hearing meeting of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission ("Commission") shall be posted at least 72 hours before the meeting. It shall contain a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting.

2. Public Testimony Agenda Item. The Commission shall provide an opportunity in open meetings for the public to address the Commission on the Agenda item known as "Public Testimony" for a total of up to two (2) minutes per speaker, not including interruptions for non-English translation. The Presiding Officer may grant or deny speakers additional time, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission. Speakers shall limit their comments to matters relevant to providing the Commission input on the drafting of new Council District boundaries. The Presiding Officer may rule that the speaker is out of order if the comments are not germane to public testimony. The Presiding Officer shall have the sole authority to grant a speaker's request to loan, cede, defer or yield time to another speaker. (The public-comment procedures set forth in this rule are in addition to any other hearing requirement specifically imposed by law.)

3. Other Agenda Items. The Commission shall provide an opportunity in open meetings for the public to address the Commission on each Agenda item, other than the Public Testimony agenda item discussed above, for a cumulative total of up to five (5) minutes for each item. The Presiding Officer may grant or deny speakers additional time, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission. Speakers shall limit their comments to matters relevant to the item on the agenda. The Presiding Officer may rule that the speaker is out of order if the comments are not germane to the item under consideration. If multiple speaker cards are submitted on one agenda item, preference will be granted to members of the public who have not spoken previously during the meeting, either during public testimony or on another agenda item. A member of the public wishing to speak on more than one agenda item at a single meeting shall limit his or her remarks to a total of five (5) minutes per meeting. A member of the public may allocate time between items in one minute increments per item. The Presiding Officer, in his or her discretion, may allow a speaker to combine remarks on multiple items so as to speak to them during one appearance at the podium. The Presiding Officer shall have the sole authority to grant a speaker's request to loan, cede, defer or yield time to another speaker. (The public-comment procedures set forth in this rule are in addition to any other hearing requirement specifically imposed by law.)

4. General Public Comment. The Brown Act requires the Commission to provide an opportunity in regular meetings for members of the public to address it on any non-agenda item generally considered to be a Commission affair and within the subject matter jurisdiction of the Commission. This shall be referred to as "general public comment." Only items not on the agenda may be addressed during this period. The Commission has determined that a reasonable amount of time for general public comment shall be a cumulative total of up to fifteen (15) minutes. The Presiding Officer may exercise his or her discretion, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission, in conducting the public comment period, including, but not limited to: re-ordering the order of business; determining an equitable amount of time that each member of the public may speak; granting or denying speakers additional time to speak, individually or collectively. If multiple speaker cards are submitted for general public comment, the speakers shall be called in the order submitted by the Commission Executive Assistant, or designee, to the Presiding Officer. However, preference shall be granted to members of the public who have not spoken previously either during public testimony or on agenda items at the immediately preceding two regular meetings. The Commission shall not discuss or take action relative to any public comment, including public testimony, unless authorized by Section 54954.2(b) of the Government Code.

5. No person shall be permitted to interrupt Commissioners, Commission staff, or City staff during a Commission Meeting.

6. No person, other than Commissioners and Commission staff, shall be admitted into the Commission business area while the Commission is meeting except upon the request of a Commissioner and consent of the Presiding Officer.

7. To facilitate the orderly process of general public comment and agenda-item public comment, members of the public who wish to address the Commission shall hand a speaker card, which includes the speaker's name, or other identifying designation, to the Commission Executive Assistant, or designee, prior to the start of the particular comment period. Members of the public shall speak from the podium in the center aisle, or where such podium is situated in the meeting room. Each speaker shall promptly conclude all comments when his or her time to speak has expired. Except at hearings expressly required by law, speakers' comments shall be limited in time as determined by the Presiding Officer. The Presiding Officer may exercise discretion in determining the duration of speakers' comments based upon factors such as the length of the agenda or substance of the agenda items, the number of public comment speaker cards submitted, the need for the Commission to conclude its business as expeditiously as is practicable, and whether the Commission is in danger of losing a quorum.

8. Rules of Decorum:

a. Rules of Decorum. During a meeting of the Commission, there is the need for civility and expedition in the carrying out of public business in order to ensure that the public has a full opportunity to be heard and that the Commission has an opportunity for its deliberative process. While any meeting of the Commission is in session, the following rules of decorum shall be observed. All remarks shall be addressed to the Commission as a whole and not to any single Commissioner, unless in response to a question from a Commissioner. Persons addressing the Commission shall not make personal, impertinent, unduly repetitive, slanderous or profane remarks to the Commission, any Commissioner, Commission staff, City staff, or general public, nor utter loud, threatening, personal or abusive language, nor engage in any other disorderly conduct that disrupts, disturbs or otherwise impedes the orderly conduct of any Commission meeting. No person in the audience at a Commission meeting shall engage in disorderly or boisterous conduct, including the utterance of loud, threatening or abusive language, whistling, stamping of feet or other acts which disturb, disrupt or otherwise impede the orderly conduct of any Commission meeting. Signs, placards, banners, or similar items shall not be permitted at any time at a Commission meeting. Unless addressing the Commission or entering or leaving the Commission meeting room, all persons in the audience shall remain sitting in the seats provided. No person shall stand or sit in the center aisle, nor shall the doorways be blocked. The Presiding Officer of the Commission, with the assistance of the Sergeant-at-Arms, shall be responsible for maintaining the order and decorum of meetings, as set forth more fully below.

b. Enforcement of Decorum. At the discretion of the Presiding Officer or upon a majority vote of the Commission, the Presiding Officer may order removed from the Commission meeting room any person who fails to observe these rules of decorum, including committing any of the following acts of disruptive conduct in respect to a regular, adjourned regular or special meeting of the Commission. Disorderly, contemptuous or insolent behavior toward the Commission, any Commissioner thereof, or Commission staff, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting; A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct or violent disturbance, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting; Disobedience of any lawful order of the Presiding Officer, which shall include an order to be seated or to refrain from addressing the Commission; and any other unlawful interference with the due and orderly course of said meeting; and any person so removed shall be excluded from further attendance at the meeting from which he/she has been removed, unless permission to attend is granted upon motion adopted by a majority vote of the Commission, and such exclusion shall be executed by the Sergeant-at-Arms upon being so directed by the Presiding Officer. These enforcement provisions are in addition to the authority held by the Sergeant-at-Arms to maintain order and pursuant to his or her lawful authority as a peace officer.

c. Penalties. Any person who has been ordered removed from a meeting may be charged with a violation of Penal Code Section 403, or other appropriate Penal Code or Los Angeles Municipal Code sections.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is redistricting?

Every 10 years, City Council district boundaries are re-drawn to account for population changes. The Redistricting Commission makes recommendations to the City Council on adoption of the City's redistricting plan that sets the boundaries of City Council districts.

Why is it important?

How and where districts are drawn can shape communities' ability to elect the representatives of their choice. Districts must be made as equal in population as possible and practicable so that communities have equal access to political representation.

Who are the Commissioners and how were they selected?

Information on the twenty-one (21) Commissioners and their duties, appointment, and term can be found on our website.

How will the Commission encourage public input?

The Commission welcomes comments at any of our public meetings, as well as by telephone, letter, or email. In addition to regular meetings, at least 20 public hearings will be held throughout the redistricting process. At least one public hearing will be held in each current Council district. The public comment form for written comments can be found on our website.

When and where will public hearings be held?

Public hearings will be held November through December 2011 in anticipation of adopting a draft plan in January 2012. Public hearings will again be held January through February 2012 in anticipation of adopting a final plan by March 1, 2012. The current schedule is available on our website. Suggestions for facilities locations are welcomed and encouraged.

How can my community stay informed and get involved?

We encourage you to request a community presentation, attend a meeting, public hearing, submit comments, and contact us anytime throughout this process. More information on how to get involved is available on our website.

常見問題解答

每隔10年需要對市議會區邊界進行一次重新劃分，以反映人口變化。重劃選區委員會就採納本市重劃選區計劃、確定市議會區的邊界而向市議會提供建議。

為何這很重要？

如何及在何處劃分選區將決定社區選舉其所選代表的能力。在可行的情況下，各選區的人口應儘量均等，以使所有社區都能平等享有政治代表權。

委員會有哪些委員，而且如何選出這些委員？

有關委員會二十一(21)名委員及其職責、委任及任期的資訊登載於我們的網站上。

委員會將如何鼓勵公眾發表意見？

委員會歡迎公眾透過公眾會議、電話、信件或電郵發表評論。除定期會議以外，還將在重劃選區的整個過程中至少舉行20次公共聽證會。每個現有市議會區都將至少舉行一次公共聽證會。用來發表書面意見的公眾評論表格登載於我們的網站上。

公共聽證會將在何時及何地舉行？

公共聽證會將在2011年11月至12月期間舉行，以便在2012年1月採納一項計畫草案。2012年1月至2月期間將再次舉行公共聽證會，以便於2012年3月1日前採納計畫定稿。目前的時間安排表登載於我們的網站上。歡迎並鼓勵您對舉行聽證會的地點提出建議。

我所在社區如何隨時獲悉進展情況並參與其中？

我們鼓勵您在此過程中隨時提出舉辦社區講座的請求、參加會議及公共聽證會、提交意見並聯絡我們。有關如何參與的詳細資訊，請瀏覽我們的網站。

再区画とは何ですか？

人口の変化に伴い市議会区境界線を10年ごとに再調整します。再区画委員会は、市議会に市議会区の境界線を引く再区画計画の推奨案を提出します。

なぜそれが重要なのですか？

どのようにどこに区の境界線を引くかによって、代表を選出するコミュニティの選出力の度合いが決まります。コミュニティが政治代表者を平等に利用できるように、区はできる限り人口が均等であり実用的でなければなりません。

誰が委員で、どのように選出されたのですか？

二十一（21）名の委員、義務、専任、および期間はウェブサイトをご覧ください。

委員会が市民に意見を出すよう奨励する方法は何ですか？

委員会の公的なミーティングや電話、書状、Eメールで意見を伺います。定例会議に加えて再区画プロセスにおいて最低でも20の公聴会を開きます。現行の各市議会区で最低でも一回は公聴会が開かれます。意見を書く市民意見用紙はウェブサイトから入手できます。

2012年1月には計画の下書きが作成されることを想定して、公聴会は2011年11月から12月に開かれます。2012年3月1日には最終計画が作成されることを想定して、公聴会は2012年1月と2月にも開かれます。現在の日程はウェブサイトをご覧ください。施設の場所についてのご提案をお願いいたします。

自分のコミュニティが情報に通じて関与するにはどうしたらいいですか？

コミュニティプレゼンテーションを要請し、ミーティングや公聴会に参加し、意見を提出し、このプロセス中にいつでも委員会にご連絡ください。どのように関与するかの詳細はウェブサイトをご覧ください。

Preguntas Frecuentes

¿Qué es la redistribución de distritos?

Cada 10 años, se vuelve a realizar el trazado de los límites del distrito del Concejo Municipal de la ciudad en respuesta a los cambios poblacionales. La Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos recomienda al Concejo Municipal en la adopción del plan de redistribución de la ciudad, el cual fija los límites de los distritos del Concejo Municipal.

¿Por qué es importante?

La forma y el lugar en que se trazan los distritos puede dar forma a la capacidad de las comunidades para elegir representantes. Los distritos deben tener, en lo posible, igual cantidad de población para que las comunidades tengan el mismo acceso a la representación política.

¿Quiénes son los Comisionados y cómo fueron elegidos?

Se puede obtener información sobre los veintiún (21) Comisionados y sus funciones, nombramiento y período en el cargo en nuestro sitio web.

¿De qué manera la Comisión incentivará la opinión pública?

La Comisión acoge los comentarios en todas las reuniones públicas, así como también por teléfono, carta o correo electrónico. Además de las reuniones regulares, se llevarán a cabo al menos 20 audiencias públicas a lo largo del proceso de redistribución de distritos. Se llevará a cabo al menos una audiencia pública en cada distrito actual del Concejo municipal. Se puede encontrar el formulario de comentarios públicos en nuestro sitio web.

¿Cuándo y dónde se llevarán a cabo las audiencias públicas?

Las audiencias públicas se llevarán a cabo de noviembre a diciembre de 2011 en antelación a la adopción de un plan borrador en enero de 2012. Las audiencias públicas se llevarán a cabo nuevamente de enero a febrero de 2012 en antelación a la adopción del plan final el 1 de marzo de 2012. El cronograma actual está disponible en nuestro sitio web. Se incentiva a que se realicen sugerencias sobre lugares para establecimientos y éstas son bienvenidas.

¿De qué manera puede mantenerse informada e involucrada mi comunidad?

Lo incentivamos a que solicite una presentación de comunidad, asista a una reunión, audiencia pública, envíe comentarios y se ponga en contacto con nosotros en cualquier momento durante este proceso. Hay más información disponible sobre la manera de involucrarse en nuestro sitio web.

Mga Madalas Itanong

Ano ang muling pagdistrito?

Tuwing 10 taon, ang mga hangganan ng distrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod ay muling iginuguhit upang isaalang-alang ang mga pagbabago sa populasyon. Ang Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ay gumagawa ng mga rekomendasyon sa Konseho ng Lunsod sa pagpapatibay ng plano sa muling pagdistrito ng Lunsod na nagtatatag ng mga hangganan ng mga distrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod.

Bakit mahalaga ito?

Kung paano at saan iginuguhit ang mga distrito ay makahuhubog ng kakayahan ng mga komunidad na maghalal ng mga kinatawang pinili nila. Ang mga distrito ay dapat gawing pantay sa populasyon hanggang posible at makakaya upang ang mga komunidad ay magkaroon ng pantay na daan sa pagkatawang pampulitika.

Sinu-sino ang mga Komisyonado at paano sila pinili?

Ang impormasyon tungkol sa dalawampu't-isang (21) Komisyonado at sa kanilang mga tungkulin, paghirang, at takdang panahon sa panunungkulan ay matatagpuan sa aming lugar ng web.

Paano hihimukin ng Komisyon ang kontribusyon ng publiko?

Malugod na tinatanggap ng Komisyon ang mga puna sa alinman sa aming mga pampublikong pulong, gayon din sa pamamagitan ng telepono, liham, o email. Bilang karagdagan sa mga regular na pulong, hindi kukulangin sa 20 pampublikong pagdinig ang gaganapin sa buong proseso ng muling pagdistrito. Isa o higit na pampublikong pagdinig ang gaganapin sa bawat kasalukuyang distrito ng Konseho. Ang pormularyo para sa puna ng publiko para sa mga nakasulat na puna ay matatagpuan sa aming lugar ng web.

Kailan at saan gaganapin ang mga pampublikong pagdinig?

Ang mga pampublikong pagdinig ay gaganapin sa Nobyembre hanggang Disyembre 2011 bilang pag-asa sa pagpapatibay ng isang borador na plano sa Enero 2012. Ang mga pampublikong pagdinig ay muling gaganapin sa Enero hanggang Pebrero 2012 bilang pag-asa sa pagpapatibay ng isang panghuling plano sa ika-1 ng Marso, 2012. Standard Statement of the Chair – Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission Public Hearings

Welcome to this hearing of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission. Let me first ask my colleagues to introduce themselves and to state by whom they were appointed to serve on this Commission.

Thank you. The full Commission has 21 members: 14 appointed by each member of the City Council, the City Controller, and the City Attorney; two by the Council President; and three by the Mayor. We have elected Mr. Arturo Vargas as Chairman, and Ms. Jackie Dupont Walker and Mr. Robert Kadota as Vice Chairs. To date we have had XX meetings to organize ourselves, establish our procedures and processes, and hire staff.

This hearing is part of the first phase of soliciting public input in our work. There will be many other opportunities. We are committed to providing the residents of our City with full opportunity to participate in this process. We are holding at least one hearing in each Council District prior to the development of any maps. We have divided ourselves into three teams of seven so that we can hold these 15 hearings. After this first round of hearings, the full Commission will tour the City to observe firsthand the issues that you have presented before us. Once we develop an initial map public, the full Commission will hold a second round of hearings early next year to receive your further input. Our final map must be completed by March 1, 2012. Our map will then go to the City Council which has until July 1, 2012 to adopt the final map.

We are making redistricting software and data to the public so that you may submit your own recommended maps. We also are making the information we gather available online through our Commission website as well as providing the public the opportunity to submit testimony, comments and maps online.

Before we begin receiving your comments, the City Attorney will provide a brief overview of the redistricting law and criteria that we are obligated to follow. That presentation will be followed by a member of our Communities of Interest Committee who will explain the concept of "Communities of Interest" and how this information is crucial to the success of our work.

Antes de desarrollar los mapas, estamos llevando a cabo al menos una audiencia en cada distrito del Concejo Municipal. Nos hemos dividido en tres equipos de siete personas para poder llevar a cabo las 15 audiencias. Luego de esta primera ronda de audiencias, toda la Comisión recorrerá la ciudad para observar por sí misma los asuntos que le fueron presentados. Una vez que desarrollemos un mapa público inicial, toda la Comisión llevará a cabo una segunda ronda de audiencias a principios del año que viene para recibir más opiniones. El mapa final debe completarse hasta el 1 de marzo de 2012. Luego se lo enviará al Concejo Municipal, el cual tendrá hasta el 1 de julio de 2012 para adoptar el mapa final.

Estamos creando un software de redistribución de distritos y datos para el público para que éste pueda enviar sus propios mapas que desee recomendar. También estamos poniendo a disposición en línea la información que reunimos a través del sitio web de la Comisión y dándole al público la oportunidad de enviar testimonios, comentarios y mapas a través de Internet.

Antes de comenzar a recibir sus comentarios, el Abogado Municipal dará una breve perspectiva general de las leyes de redistribución de distritos y los criterios que debemos seguir. Luego de la presentación, un miembro del Comité de Comunidades de Interés explicará el concepto de "Comunidades de Interés" y de qué manera es decisiva esta información para que nuestro trabajo tenga éxito.

Standard Statement of the City Attorney's Office – Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission Public Hearings

On behalf of the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office, we welcome you to this public hearing of the Los Angeles City Redistricting Commission. Our Office's role is to provide legal advice to the City, including this Commission, throughout the redistricting process. We would like to take this opportunity to discuss several important laws and legal principles that apply to redistricting.

The Los Angeles City Charter requires the City Council to redraw the lines for the City's 15 Council districts at least once every 10 years. The Charter creates this Redistricting Commission to advise the City Council on the drawing of the Council district lines. The Charter requires the Redistricting Commission to obtain public input, prepare a redistricting proposal and present the proposal to the City Council by March 1, 2012.

Several important legal criteria govern the redistricting process:

Equal Population Principle – Council districts must contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City. This principle is established in the City Charter and also in the United State Supreme Court's "One-Person, One-Vote" decisions.

U.S. Constitution's Equal Protection Clause – The United States Supreme Court has held that race cannot be used as the predominant factor in drawing district lines such that traditional redistricting criteria are subordinated to considerations of race.

Voting Rights Act of 1965 – The Voting Rights Act prohibits voting practices which result in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote on account of race, color or language minority status. Redistricting plans must be analyzed under the Voting Rights Act to ensure they do not deprive minority voters of an equal opportunity to elect representatives of their choice in violation of the Act.

Traditional Redistricting Criteria – Federal, state and city law have established several traditional redistricting criteria all of which shall be considered to the extent feasible when drawing district lines:

Contiguity – all parts of a district should connect
Compactness – districts should be geographically compact
Existing Boundaries – districts should consider boundaries such as geographic, street and political boundaries
Communities of Interest – districts should preserve communities of people sharing common interests

More information regarding the laws governing the City's redistricting process are available on the Redistricting Commission's website: www.redistricting2011.lacity.org. Thank you.

市檢察官辦公室的標準聲明 – Los Angeles 市市議會重劃選區委員會公共聽證會

我們代表 Los Angeles 市檢察官辦公室歡迎您參加 Los Angeles 市重劃選區委員會的本次公共聽證會。本辦公室的作用是在整個重劃選區的過程中向市府提供法律建議。我們願意藉此機會討論適用於重劃選區的若干重要法律及法律原則。

Los Angeles 市憲章要求市議會至少每隔 10 年將本市 15 個市議會區的邊界重新劃分一次。本重劃選區委員會係依據市憲章的規定成立，旨在向市議會提供有關劃分市議會區邊界的建議。市憲章要求重劃選區委員會於 2012 年 3 月 1 日前徵求公眾意見、擬定重劃選區的提議，並向市議會呈遞該提議。

重劃選區的過程受若干重要法律標準的管限：

人口均等原則 – 在可行的情況下，各個市議會區的人口必須儘量均等。市憲章及美國最高法院在「一人一票」之裁定中規定了這一原則。

美國憲法的平等保護條款 – 美國最高法院已經裁定，不能把種族作為劃分選區邊界的主要因素，例如傳統的重劃選區標準服從於關於種族的考慮。

1965 年投票權法案 – 投票權法案禁止以種族、膚色或語言少數族群身份為由而否決或剝奪投票權的投票做法。必須依據投票權法案而分析重劃選區的計畫，以確保這些計畫不會違反該法案，剝奪少數族群選民按照自己的意願選舉其代表者的平等機會。

傳統的重劃選區標準 – 聯邦、州及市法律都規定了若干傳統的重劃選區標準。在可行的前提下，劃分選區邊界時應考慮這些標準：

連綿性 – 一個選區的所有部份應彼此連接
緊湊性 – 各選區均應具備地理方面的緊湊性
現有邊界 – 選區應考慮現有邊界，例如地理邊界、街道及政治邊界等
共同利益社區 – 選區應保全擁有共同利益的社區

有關適用於本市重劃選區過程法律的詳盡資訊，請瀏覽重劃選區委員會網站：www.redistricting2011.lacity.org。謝謝。

市法務官事務局からのお知らせ – Los Angeles 市市議会再区画委員会公聴会

Los Angeles 市再区画委員会公聴会にご出席いただき、Los Angeles 市法務官事務局になり代わりお礼申し上げます。当事務局の役割は、本委員会を含め再区画のプロセスにおいて法的な助言を市に提供することです。この場をお借りして再区画に関する重要な法律や法的事項について説明させていただきたいと思います。

Los Angeles 市憲章は 15 の市議会区の境界線を最低でも 10 年ごとに再区画することを市議会に要請します。憲章により市議会再区画の境界線を助言する再区画委員会が創設されます。憲章に準拠し、再区画委員会は市民の意見を聞き、再区画提案を作成し、2012 年 3 月 1 日までに提案を市議会に提出します。

再区画プロセスにおける重要な法的基準：

均等人口の原則 – 市議会区の人口比率は、可能な限り、市の合計人口と均等な比率であること。本原則は市憲章に制定されており、かつ米国最高裁判所の「一人一票」の判決に基づきます。

アメリカ合衆国憲法均等保護条項 – 米国最高裁判所は境界線を引く上で人種が支配要因であってはならないとしており、人種に関しては従来型の再区画基準は従属的である。

従来型再区画基準 – 連邦法、州法、市法は区の境界線を引く上で適当であるとする以下の従来型の再区画基準を制定しました。

隣接 – 区の全ての箇所は隣接していなければならない
小規模 – 区は地理的に小規模であること
既存の境界 – 区は地理的、街路、政治的境界を考慮しなければならない
利害の共通 – 区は市民共通の利害を保護しなければならない

市の再区画プロセスに関する法律の詳細は再区画委員会ウェブサイト www.redistricting2011.lacity.org をご覧ください。よろしくお願いいたします。

Los Angeles 시 헌장은 시의회로 하여금 매 10년마다 최소한 한번 시의 15개 시의회 지구 경계를 재설정하도록 요구하고 있습니다. 본 헌장은 시의회 지구 경계 설정에 대해 시의회에 자문을 제공하도록 지구 재설정 위원회를 창설하고 있습니다. 본 헌장은 지구 재설정 위원회로 하여금 2012년 3월 1일까지 일반 의견을 수렴하여, 지구 재설정 제안서를 준비하고 본 제안서를 시의회에 제출하도록 요구하고 있습니다.

여러 주요 법적 기준이 지구 재설정 과정에 적용됩니다:

인구 균등 원칙 – 시의회 지구에는, 실질적으로 근사하게, 시 전체 인구의 동일한 숫자가 포함되어야 합니다. 이 원칙은 시 헌장에 또한 미 연방 대법원의 "일인 일표" 결정에 수립되어 있습니다.

미 헌법의 균등 보호 조항 – 미 대법원에서는 지구 경계 설정에 인종이 주요 요소로 사용될 수 없음을 명시하였으며 따라서 전통적인 지구 재설정 기준은 인종을 고려하는 것에 종속됩니다.

전통적인 지구 재설정 기준 – 연방, 주, 시 법은 전통적인 지구 재설정 기준을 여러가지 제정하였으며 이 모든 법은 지구 경계 설정시 적용가능 한도까지 고려되어야 합니다:

인접성 – 지구의 모든 부분은 붙어 있어야 합니다
밀집성 – 지구는 지리적으로 밀집되어 있어야 합니다
기존의 경계 – 지구는 지리적, 도로상 및 정치적인 경계선을 고려해야 합니다
이해관계 커뮤니티 – 지구는 공통된 이해를 갖고 있는 주민 사회를 보존해야 합니다

시의 지구 재설정 과정에 적용되는 법에 대한 추가 정보는 지구 재설정 위원회의 다음 웹사이트에 나와 있습니다: www.redistricting2011.lacity.org. 감사합니다.

Declaración estándar de la Oficina del Abogado Municipal – Audiencias Públicas de la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos del Concejo Municipal de Los Ángeles

En representación de la Oficina del Abogado Municipal de Los Ángeles, le damos la bienvenida a esta audiencia pública de la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos de la Ciudad de Los Ángeles. La función de nuestra oficina es asesorar legalmente a la ciudad, incluso a esta Comisión, a lo largo del proceso de redistribución de distritos. Queremos aprovechar esta oportunidad para hablar sobre varias leyes y principios legales importantes que se aplican a la redistribución de distritos.

En la Carta Constitutiva de la Ciudad de Los Ángeles se exige que, por lo menos una vez cada 10 años, el Concejo Municipal vuelva a realizar el trazado de líneas de los 15 distritos del Concejo Municipal de la Ciudad. La Carta crea esta Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos, cuyo fin es asesorar al Concejo Municipal en relación con el trazado de las líneas del distrito del Concejo Municipal. En la Carta se exige a la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos que obtenga la opinión pública, prepare una propuesta de redistribución de distritos y la presente ante el Concejo Municipal hasta el 1 de marzo de 2012.

En el proceso de redistribución de distritos rigen varios criterios legales de importancia:

Principio de Igualdad de Población – En la medida de lo posible, los distritos del Concejo Municipal deben tener porciones iguales del total de población de la ciudad. Este principio está establecido en la Carta Constitutiva y en las decisiones de la Corte Suprema de los Estados Unidos que se basan en el principio "Una persona, un voto".

Cláusula de Protección Igualitaria de la Constitución de los EE. UU. – La Corte Suprema de los Estados Unidos sostiene que la raza no puede ser el factor predominante durante el trazado de las líneas de los distritos, de tal forma que los criterios tradicionales de redistribución de distritos están subordinados a consideraciones de raza.

Ley de Derecho al Voto de 1965 – La Ley de Derecho al Voto prohíbe las prácticas electorales que tengan como resultado la negación o reducción del derecho al voto según la situación de las minorías en cuanto a raza, color o idioma. Los planes para la redistribución de distritos deben analizarse conforme a la Ley de Derecho al Voto con el fin de asegurarse de que los votantes que pertenecen a las minorías no sean privados de la igualdad de oportunidades para elegir a sus representantes y de que no se viole la Ley.

Criterios Tradicionales de Redistribución – Las leyes federales, estatales y municipales establecieron varios criterios tradicionales de redistribución que, en la medida de lo posible, deben considerarse para el trazado de las líneas de los distritos:

Contigüidad – todas las partes de un distrito deben conectarse
Compactibilidad – los distritos deben ser geográficamente compactos
Límites Existentes – los distritos deben tener en cuenta los límites, como límites geográficos, de calles y políticos
Comunidades de Interés – los distritos deben preservar las comunidades de personas que tienen intereses en común

Pangkaraniwang Pahayag ng Opisina ng Abugado ng Lunsod – Mga Pampublikong Pagdinig ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles

Sa ngalan ng Opisina ng Abugado ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles, malugod naming tinatanggap kayo sa pampublikong pagdinig na ito ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles. Ang tungkulin ng aming Opisina ay magkaloob ng payong pambatas sa Lunsod, kabilang ang Komisyong ito, sa buong proseso ng muling pagdistrito. Gusto naming samantalahin ang pagkakataong ito upang talakayin ang ilang mahahalagang batas at mga prinsipyong pambatas na angkop sa muling pagdistrito.

Ang Saligang-Batas ng Los Angeles ay nag-aatas sa Konseho ng Lunsod na muling iguhit ang mga linya para sa 15 distrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod kahit minsan tuwing 10 taon. Nililikha ng Saligang-Batas itong Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito upang payuhan ang Konseho ng Lunsod sa pagguhit ng mga linya ng distrito ng Konseho. Ang Saligang-Batas ay nag-aatas sa Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito na kumuha ng kontribusyon ng publiko, maghanda ng isang mungkahi sa muling pagdistrito at iharap ang mungkahi sa Konseho ng Lunsod bago lumampas ang ika-1 ng Marso, 2012.

Ilang mahahalagang pamantayang pambatas ang namamahala sa proseso ng muling pagdistrito:

Prinsipyo ng Pantay na Populasyon – Ang mga distrito ng konseho ay dapat magtaglay, hanggang sa pinakamalapit na makakaya, ng magkakapantay na bahagi ng kabuuang populasyon ng Lunsod. Ang prinsipyong ito ay itinatag sa Saligang-Batas ng Lunsod at gayon din sa mga desisyong “Isang-Tao, Isang-Boto” ng Korte Suprema ng Estados Unidos.

Sugnay na Pantay na Proteksiyon ng Saligang-Batas ng Estados Unidos – Ang Korte Suprema ng Estados Unidos ay nagpasiya na ang lahi ay hindi magagamit bilang pangunahing dahilan sa pagguhit ng mga linya ng distrito upang ang naturang tradisyunal na pamantayan sa muling pagdistrito ay mapailalim sa mga pagsasaalang-alang sa lahi.

Batas ng 1965 sa mga Karapatan sa Pagboto – Ang Batas sa mga Karapatan sa Pagboto ay nagbabawal sa mga gawaing pagboto na nagreresulta sa pagkakait o pagkaputol ng karapatang bumoto dahil sa katayuan bilang minorya batay sa lahi, kulay o wika. Ang mga plano sa muling pagdistrito ay dapat suriin sa ilalim ng Batas sa mga Karapatan sa Pagboto upang matiyak na ang mga ito ay hindi labag sa Batas na nagkakait sa mga minoryang botante ng pantay na pagkakataong maghalal ng mga kinatawang pinili nila.

Mga Pamantayan sa Tradisyunal na Muling Pagdistrito – Ang pederal, pang-estado at panlunsod na batas ay nagtatag ng ilang tradisyunal na pamantayan sa muling pagdistrito na dapat isaalang-alang lahat hanggang magagawa kapag gumuguhit ng mga linya ng distrito:

Pagkamagkaratig – lahat ng mga bahagi ng isang distrito ay dapat magkakarugtong
Pagkasiksik – ang mga distrito ay dapat na siksik sa heograpiya
Mga Umiiral na Hangganan – dapat isaalang-alang ng mga distrito ang mga hangganang tulad ng mga hangganang pangheograpiya, pangkalye at pampulitika
Mga Komunidad ng Interes – dapat pangalagaan ng mga distrito ang mga komunidad ng mga taong may mga magkakatulad na interes

Ang karagdagang impormasyon tungkol sa mga batas na namamahala sa proseso ng muling pagdistrito ng Lunsod ay makukuha sa lugar ng web ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito: www.redistricting2011.lacity.org. Salamat po.

Vai trò của Văn Phòng chúng tôi là đưa ra sự cố vấn pháp lý cho Thành Phố, trong đó có Ủy Ban này, trong suốt tiến trình tái phân chia khu. Chúng tôi muốn nhân dịp này thảo luận một số điều luật và nguyên tắc pháp lý quan trọng sẽ áp dụng trong việc tái phân chia khu.

Hiến Chương Thành Phố Los Angeles đòi hỏi Hội Đồng Thành Phố phải vẽ lại ranh giới của 15 khu Hội Đồng Thành Phố ít nhất là mỗi 10 năm một lần. Hiến Chương lập ra Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu này để cố vấn cho Hội Đồng Thành Phố việc vẽ lại lằn ranh giới của các khu Hội Đồng. Điều Khoản Bảo Vệ Sự Bình Đẳng Trong Hiến Pháp Hoa Kỳ – Tối Cao Pháp Viện Hoa Kỳ đã phán quyết rằng chủng tộc không thể được dùng làm yếu tố chính trong việc vẽ đường ranh giới khu theo như tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu truyền thống phụ thuộc vào sự xem xét về chủng tộc.

Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử Năm 1965 – Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử cấm những nguyên tắc bầu cử đưa đến sự phủ nhận hay hạn chế quyền bầu cử do tình trạng thiểu số về chủng tộc, màu da hoặc ngôn ngữ. Kế hoạch tái phân chia khu phải được phân tích chiếu theo Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử để bảo đảm là chúng không tước đi của các cử tri thiểu số cơ hội bình đẳng để bầu chọn những người đại diện cho họ theo cách vi phạm Đạo Luật này.

Tiêu Chuẩn Tái Phân Chia Khu Theo Truyền Thống – Luật liên bang, tiểu bang và thành phố đã quy định một số tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu theo truyền thống mà tất cả những tiêu chuẩn đó sẽ phải được xem xét trong trường hợp khả thi khi vẽ các đường ranh giới khu:

Standard Statement of the Communities of Interest Committee – Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission Public Hearings

Good evening, Ladies and Gentlemen. The City Attorney has just provided a brief overview of the redistricting law and criteria that the Commission is obligated to follow in the redistricting process. As a member of the Commission's Ad Hoc Committee on Communities of Interest, I will now address the concept of "Communities of Interest" and how this information is crucial to the success of the Commission's work.

As the City Attorney mentioned, traditional redistricting criteria consists of: maintaining compact districts, drawing contiguous districts, observing natural boundaries and respecting communities of interest. While the first three are easily identifiable, protecting Communities of Interest is typically the most subjective and controversial of the traditional redistricting criteria.

The concept of protecting communities of interest is to draw boundaries in a manner that preserves communities that share common interests. There are many types of common interests that may identify a community of interest. For example, communities may share common housing patterns: urban, rural or suburban. Communities may share a common culture or language. Communities may be defined by their neighborhood, their neighborhood council, or by the location of cultural, religious or educational institutions. Communities may also be defined by the location of geographic boundaries or features, such as parks, lakes, mountains or freeways. Certain public services, like public schools, public transit, the Los Angeles Police Department or the Los Angeles Fire Department, may also help define a community.

The Commission will be using a wide range of information, including Census data on income level, educational background, housing patterns, same-sex households, cultural and language characteristics, employment and economic patterns, health and environmental conditions, crime, schools and other common issues. The Commission will also consider City planning maps, school zone maps of the Los Angeles Unified School District, transit maps of the Los Angeles Metro, and division maps of the Los Angeles Police Department and Los Angeles Fire Department, as well as other maps and geographic information.

While all of this written information is critical to the Commission's work, so is input from the public. The Commission has prepared a Public Comment Form on Communities of Interest. If you would like the Commission to consider a particular Community of Interest, we invite you to complete and submit a Public Comment Form, to speak at this public hearing or to submit your written comments to the Commission.

Thank you.

共同利益社區委員會標準聲明 – Los Angeles 市市議會重劃選區委員會公共聽證會

女士們、先生們，晚上好。市檢察官剛才簡要介紹了委員會在重劃選區過程中必須遵循的重劃選區法律及標準。身為委員會的共同利益社區專門委員會成員，我現在要談談「共同利益社區」概念，以及這一資訊對委員會工作的成敗具有何種關鍵作用。

市檢察官剛才提到，傳統的重劃選區標準包括：保持選區緊湊、劃分連綿選區、遵循自然邊界，並尊重共同利益社區。前三條很容易辨識，但保護共同利益社區通常是傳統重劃選區標準中最主觀且最有爭議的一條。

保護共同利益社區的概念係指劃分邊界時要保全擁有共同利益的社區。有許多共同利益類型可用來辨識共同利益社區。例如，可以用共同的住房類型來辨識社區：都市、鄉村或郊區。可以用共同的文化或語言來辨識社區。可以按照居民區、居民區委員會或者文化機構、宗教機構或教育機構所處的位置來界定社區。也可以按照地理邊界或特徵界定社區，例如公園、湖泊、山脈或高速公路等。某些公共服務，例如公立學校、公共交通、Los Angeles 警察局或 Los Angeles 消防局等，也有助於界定一個社區。

委員會將運用廣泛資訊，包括有關收入水準的人口普查資料、學歷、住房類型、同性家庭、文化和語言特點、就業和經濟類型、健康和環境條件、犯罪、學校及其他共同問題。委員會還將考慮本市的規劃地圖、Los Angeles 聯合學區的學校區域地圖、Los Angeles 捷運局的交通地圖、Los Angeles 警察局和 Los Angeles 消防局的區域地圖以及其他地圖和地理資訊。

儘管所有這些書面資訊對委員會的工作都至關重要，但公眾的意見也具有同樣的重要意義。委員會已經編制了一份共同利益社區公眾評論表格。如果您希望委員會考慮某個特定的共同利益社區，我們邀請您填寫並提交公眾評論表格，在此公共聽證會上發言，或者向委員會提交您的書面意見。

謝謝。

利害の共通委員会からのお知らせ – Los Angeles 市市議会再区画委員会公聴会

市民の皆さま、こんばんは。委員会が再区画のプロセスにおいて準拠しなければならない再区画法および基準の概要を市法務官が提示しました。利害の共通特別委員会委員として、「利害の共通」の概念および委員会の任務を成就する上でこの情報がいかに重要かを申し上げます。

市法務官が述べたように、従来型の再区画基準は小規模であり、区は隣接しており、自然な境界を守り、利害の共通性を配慮します。はじめの 3 件は識別しやすいですが、利害の共通性を維持することは、一般的に言って極めて主観的であり、かつ従来型の再区画基準に物議を醸しだします。

委員会は国勢調査に基づく所得層、学歴、住居、同性住居人、文化、言語、雇用状況や、経済形態、健康および環境状況、犯罪、学校、その他の共通する課題など、広域に渡る情報を使用します。委員会はまた市計画地図、Los Angeles 統一学区の学区地図、Los Angeles メトロの交通地図、Los Angeles 警察および Los Angeles 消防署の分署地図、およびその他の地図や地理的情報を考慮します。

이해관계 커뮤니티 위원회의 표준 성명서 – Los Angeles 시의회 지구 재설정 위원회 청문회

시 법무관이 언급한 바대로, 전통적인 지구 재설정 기준은 다음과 같이 구성되어 있습니다: 밀집된 지구 유지, 인접한 지구 경계선, 자연적인 경계 준수 및 이해관계 커뮤니티에 대한 존중. 처음 세가지는 쉽게 알아볼 수 있는 반면, 이해관계 커뮤니티를 보존하는 것은 보통 가장 주관적이며 전통적인 지구 재설정 기준에 논쟁거리입니다.

Declaración Estándar del Comité de Comunidades de Interés – Audiencias Públicas de la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos del Concejo Municipal de Los Ángeles

Buenas noches, damas y caballeros. El Abogado Municipal acaba de darnos una breve perspectiva general sobre la ley de redistribución de distritos y los criterios que debe seguir la Comisión durante el proceso de redistribución de distritos. Como miembro del Comité de comunidades de interés Ad Hoc de la Comisión, abordaré ahora el concepto de "Comunidades de Interés" y la forma en que esta información es decisiva para que el trabajo de la Comisión tenga éxito.

Tal como lo mencionó el Abogado Municipal, los criterios tradicionales de redistribución de distritos consisten en lo siguiente: mantener distritos compactos, trazar distritos contiguos, respetar los límites naturales y las comunidades de interés. Los tres primeros criterios pueden identificarse con facilidad. No obstante, el criterio de protección de las Comunidades de Interés es típicamente el más subjetivo y controversial entre los criterios tradicionales de redistribución de distritos.

El concepto de proteger a las comunidades de interés implica trazar límites de tal forma que se preserven las comunidades que tienen intereses en común. Existen numerosos tipos de intereses comunes que pueden identificar a una comunidad de interés. Por ejemplo, las comunidades pueden tener diseños de vivienda en común: urbanos, rurales o suburbanos. Las comunidades pueden tener en común una cultura o idioma. Las comunidades pueden definirse según el vecindario, su consejo vecinal o por la ubicación de instituciones educativas, religiosas o culturales. Las comunidades también pueden definirse según la ubicación de límites geográficos o características, como parques, lagos, montañas o autopistas. Algunos servicios públicos también pueden ayudar a definir una comunidad, como escuelas públicas, transporte público, el Departamento de Policía de Los Ángeles o el Departamento de Bomberos de Los Ángeles.

La Comisión utilizará una amplia gama de información, como datos obtenidos en los Censos en relación con el nivel de ingresos, antecedentes educativos, diseños de vivienda, habitantes de un hogar del mismo sexo, características relacionadas con el idioma y la cultura, patrones económicos y de empleo, condiciones ambientales y de salud, delito, escuelas y otros asuntos comunes. Además, la Comisión considerará los mapas de planificación municipal, mapas de zonas escolares del Distrito Escolar Unificado de Los Ángeles, mapas de transporte de Los Ángeles Metro y mapas divisorios del Departamento de Policía de Los Ángeles y el Departamento de Bomberos de Los Ángeles, así como también otros mapas e información geográfica.

Si bien toda esta información escrita es decisiva para el trabajo de la Comisión, también lo es la opinión del público. La Comisión ha preparado un Formulario de Comentarios Públicos sobre las Comunidades de Interés. Si desea que la Comisión considere una Comunidad de Interés en particular, lo invitamos a que complete y envíe un Formulario de Comentarios Públicos, hable ante esta audiencia pública o envíe sus comentarios por escrito a la Comisión.

Gracias.

Pangkaraniwang Pahayag ng Komite sa mga Komunidad ng Interes – Mga Pampublikong Pagdinig ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles

Magandang gabi, mga Binibini, Ginang at Ginoo. Ang Abugado ng Lunsod ay nagbigay ng isang maikling pangkalahatang-tanaw sa batas at mga pamantayan sa muling pagdistrito na dapat sundin ng Komisyon sa proseso ng muling pagdistrito. Bilang isang miyembro ng Nakatutok sa Isang Layunin na Komite sa mga Komunidad ng Interes ng Komisyon, tutugunan ko ngayon ang konsepto ng "Mga Komunidad ng Interes" at kung paano ang impormasyong ito ay napakahalaga sa tagumpay ng gawain ng Komisyon.

Tulad ng binanggit ng Abugado ng Lunsod, ang mga pamantayan sa tradisyunal na muling pagdistrito ay binubuo ng: pagpapanatili ng mga siksik na distrito, pagguhit ng mga magkakaratig na distrito, pagsunod sa mga likas na hangganan at paggalang sa mga komunidad ng interes. Habang ang unang tatlo ay madaling matukoy, ang pangangalaga sa mga Komunidad ng Interes ay pangkaraniwang ang pinakapansarili at mapagtatalunan sa mga pamantayan sa tradisyunal na muling pagdistrito.

Ang konsepto ng pangangalaga ng mga komunidad ng interes ay upang gumuhit ng mga hangganan sa isang paraan na nagpapanatili ng mga komunidad na may mga magkakatulad na interes. Maraming uri ng mga magkakatulad na interes na maaaring tumukoy sa isang komunidad ng interes. Halimbawa, ang mga komunidad ay maaaring may mga magkakatulad na katangiang may kaugnayan sa bahay: panlunsod, pangnayon o panlabas ng lunsod. Ang mga komunidad ay maaaring may mga magkakatulad na kultura o wika. Ang mga komunidad ay maaaring ilarawan batay sa kanilang kapitbahayan, kanilang konseho ng kapitbahayan, o sa pamamagitan ng kinalalagyan ng mga institusyong pangkultura, panrelihiyon o pang-edukasyon. Ang mga komunidad ay maaari ring ilarawan batay sa kinalalagyan ng mga hangganang pangheograpiya o mga itinatampok, tulad ng mga parke, lawa, bundok o priwey. Ang mga partikular na pampublikong serbisyo, tulad ng mga pampublikong paaralan, pampublikong transportasyon, ng Kagawaran ng Pulisya ng Los Angeles o ng Kagawaran ng Bumbero ng Los Angeles, ay maaari ring makatulong na ilarawan ang isang komunidad.

Ang Komisyon ay gagamit ng maraming impormasyon, kabilang ang mga datos ng Sensus sa antas ng kita, karanasang pang-edukasyon, mga katangiang may kaugnayan sa bahay, mga sambahayan ng magkatulad na kasarian, mga katangiang pangkultura at pangwika, mga nagaganap na pantrabaho at pangkabuhayan, mga kondisyong pangkalusugan at pangkapaligiran, krimen, mga paaralan at ibang mga karaniwang isyu. Isasaalang-alang din ng Komisyon ang mga mapa sa pagpaplano ng Lunsod, mga mapa ng sona ng paaralan ng Distrito ng Pinag-isang Paaralan ng Los Angeles, mga mapa ng transportasyon ng Los Angeles Metro, at mga mapa ng dibisyon ng Kagawaran ng Pulisya ng Los Angeles at Kagawaran ng Bumbero ng Los Angeles, gayon din ng ibang mga mapa at impormasyon sa heograpiya.

Kung ang lahat ng mga nakasulat na impormasyong ito ay napakahalaga sa gawain ng Komisyon, gayon din ang kontribusyon mula sa publiko. Ang Komisyon ay naghanda ng isang Pormularyo para sa Puna ng Publiko sa mga Komunidad ng Interes. Kung gusto ninyong isaalang-alang ng Komisyon ang isang partikular na Komunidad ng Interes, iniimbitahan namin kayo na kumpletuhin at isumite ang isang Pormularyo para sa Puna ng Publiko, upang magsalita sa pampublikong pagdinig na ito o upang isumite ang inyong mga nakasulat na puna sa Komisyon.

แถลงการณ์ของคณะกรรมการด้านความสนใจร่วมกันของชุมชน – ประชาพิจารณ์ของคณะกรรมการการจัดแบ่งเขตเลือกตั้งใหม่ของสภาเทศบาลนครลอสแองเจลลิส

Tuyên Ngôn Tiêu Chuẩn của Ủy Ban Quyền Lợi Cộng Đồng – Trưng Cầu Dân Ý của Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu Hội Đồng Thành Phố Los Angeles

Kính chào Quý Ông Bà. Luật Sư Thành Phố vừa cho chúng ta biết những thông tin tổng quát ngắn gọn về điều luật và tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu mà Ủy Ban có bổn phận phải tuân theo trong tiến trình tái phân chia khu. Là ủy viên của Ủy Ban Đặc Trách Quyền Lợi Cộng Đồng trong Ủy Ban, giờ đây tôi sẽ giải thích về khái niệm "Quyền Lợi của Cộng Đồng" và lý do tại sao thông tin này rất quan trọng đối với sự thành công trong công việc của Ủy Ban.

Như Luật Sư Thành Phố đã đề cập, tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu theo truyền thống bao gồm: duy trì sự thu gọn của các khu, vẽ các khu sát cạnh nhau, quan sát những ranh giới thiên nhiên và tôn trọng quyền lợi của cộng đồng. Mặc dù ba tiêu chuẩn đầu có thể xác định dễ dàng, việc bảo vệ Quyền Lợi của Cộng Đồng thường là tiêu chuẩn có tính cách chủ quan và dễ gây mâu thuẫn nhất trong tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu theo truyền thống.

Khái niệm bảo vệ quyền lợi của cộng đồng là vẽ những đường ranh giới theo cách duy trì được cộng đồng có sự chia sẻ những quyền lợi chung. Có nhiều loại quyền lợi chung có thể xác định được quyền lợi của cộng đồng. Thí dụ, các cộng đồng có thể chia sẻ cùng một kiểu nhà ở: thành thị, nông thôn hoặc ngoại ô. Các cộng đồng có thể chia sẻ cùng một nền văn hóa hoặc ngôn ngữ. Các cộng đồng có thể được xác định bởi khu phố của họ, hội đồng khu phố của họ, hay bởi địa điểm của những cơ sở văn hóa, tôn giáo hoặc giáo dục. Các cộng đồng cũng có thể được xác định bởi địa điểm của những ranh giới hoặc hình thể địa lý, thí dụ như công viên, hồ, núi hay xa lộ. Một số dịch vụ công cộng, như trường công lập, giao thông công cộng, Sở Cảnh Sát Los Angeles hoặc Sở Cứu Hỏa Los Angeles, cũng có thể giúp xác định cộng đồng.

Ủy Ban sẽ dùng nhiều thông tin đa dạng, kể cả dữ kiện Thống Kê Dân Số về mức lợi tức, quá trình học vấn, kiểu mẫu nhà ở, gia đình có vợ chồng cùng phái, những đặc điểm về văn hóa và ngôn ngữ, kiểu mẫu về việc làm và kinh tế, điều kiện y tế và môi sinh, tội phạm, trường học và những vấn đề thông thường khác. Ủy Ban cũng sẽ xem xét bản đồ kế hoạch của Thành Phố, bản đồ vùng trường học của Khu Học Chánh Los Angeles Unified, bản đồ giao thông của Los Angeles Metro, và các bản đồ phân khu của Sở Cảnh Sát Los Angeles và Sở Cứu Hỏa Los Angeles, cũng như những bản đồ và thông tin khác về địa lý.

Trong khi tất cả những thông tin nêu trong văn bản này rất quan trọng đối với công việc của Ủy Ban, do đó những ý kiến đóng góp từ công chúng cũng quan trọng không kém. Ủy Ban đã soạn thảo sẵn Bản Góp Ý của Công Chúng về Quyền Lợi Cộng Đồng. Nếu quý vị muốn Ủy Ban xem xét cụ thể về Quyền Lợi của Cộng Đồng, chúng tôi mời quý vị điền và gửi lại Bản Góp Ý của Công Chúng này, trình bày bằng lời nói tại buổi trưng cầu dân ý hoặc gửi thư góp ý đến Ủy Ban.

REDISTRICTING COMMISSION

RULES ON PUBLIC COMMENT FOR PUBLIC HEARINGS

1. The Agenda for each public hearing meeting of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission ("Commission") shall be posted at least 72 hours before the meeting. It shall contain a brief general description of each item of business to be transacted or discussed at the meeting.

2. Public Testimony Agenda Item. The Commission shall provide an opportunity in open meetings for the public to address the Commission on the Agenda item known as "Public Testimony" for a total of up to two (2) minutes per speaker, not including interruptions for non-English translation. The Presiding Officer may grant or deny speakers additional time, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission. Speakers shall limit their comments to matters relevant to providing the Commission input on the drafting of new Council District boundaries. The Presiding Officer may rule that the speaker is out of order if the comments are not germane to public testimony. The Presiding Officer shall have the sole authority to grant a speaker's request to loan, cede, defer or yield time to another speaker. (The public-comment procedures set forth in this rule are in addition to any other hearing requirement specifically imposed by law.)

3. Other Agenda Items. The Commission shall provide an opportunity in open meetings for the public to address the Commission on each Agenda item, other than the Public Testimony agenda item discussed above, for a cumulative total of up to five (5) minutes for each item. The Presiding Officer may grant or deny speakers additional time, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission. Speakers shall limit their comments to matters relevant to the item on the agenda. The Presiding Officer may rule that the speaker is out of order if the comments are not germane to the item under consideration. If multiple speaker cards are submitted on one agenda item, preference will be granted to members of the public who have not spoken previously during the meeting, either during public testimony or on another agenda item. A member of the public wishing to speak on more than one agenda item at a single meeting shall limit his or her remarks to a total of five (5) minutes per meeting. A member of the public may allocate time between items in one minute increments per item. The Presiding Officer, in his or her discretion, may allow a speaker to combine remarks on multiple items so as to speak to them during one appearance at the podium. The Presiding Officer shall have the sole authority to grant a speaker's request to loan, cede, defer or yield time to another speaker. (The public-comment procedures set forth in this rule are in addition to any other hearing requirement specifically imposed by law.)

4. General Public Comment. The Brown Act requires the Commission to provide an opportunity in regular meetings for members of the public to address it on any non-agenda item generally considered to be a Commission affair and within the subject matter jurisdiction of the Commission. This shall be referred to as "general public comment." Only items not on the agenda may be addressed during this period. The Commission has determined that a reasonable amount of time for general public comment shall be a cumulative total of up to fifteen (15) minutes. The Presiding Officer may exercise his or her discretion, subject to reversal by a majority of the Commission, in conducting the public comment period, including, but not limited to: re-ordering the order of business; determining an equitable amount of time that each member of the public may speak; granting or denying speakers additional time to speak, individually or collectively. If multiple speaker cards are submitted for general public comment, the speakers shall be called in the order submitted by the Commission Executive Assistant, or designee, to the Presiding Officer. However, preference shall be granted to members of the public who have not spoken previously either during public testimony or on agenda items at the immediately preceding two regular meetings. The Commission shall not discuss or take action relative to any public comment, including public testimony, unless authorized by Section 54954.2(b) of the Government Code.

5. No person shall be permitted to interrupt Commissioners, Commission staff, or City staff during a Commission Meeting.

6. No person, other than Commissioners and Commission staff, shall be admitted into the Commission business area while the Commission is meeting except upon the request of a Commissioner and consent of the Presiding Officer.

7. To facilitate the orderly process of general public comment and agenda-item public comment, members of the public who wish to address the Commission shall hand a speaker card, which includes the speaker's name, or other identifying designation, to the Commission Executive Assistant, or designee, prior to the start of the particular comment period. Members of the public shall speak from the podium in the center aisle, or where such podium is situated in the meeting room. Each speaker shall promptly conclude all comments when his or her time to speak has expired. Except at hearings expressly required by law, speakers' comments shall be limited in time as determined by the Presiding Officer. The Presiding Officer may exercise discretion in determining the duration of speakers' comments based upon factors such as the length of the agenda or substance of the agenda items, the number of public comment speaker cards submitted, the need for the Commission to conclude its business as expeditiously as is practicable, and whether the Commission is in danger of losing a quorum.

8. Rules of Decorum:

a. Rules of Decorum. During a meeting of the Commission, there is the need for civility and expedition in the carrying out of public business in order to ensure that the public has a full opportunity to be heard and that the Commission has an opportunity for its deliberative process. While any meeting of the Commission is in session, the following rules of decorum shall be observed. All remarks shall be addressed to the Commission as a whole and not to any single Commissioner, unless in response to a question from a Commissioner. Persons addressing the Commission shall not make personal, impertinent, unduly repetitive, slanderous or profane remarks to the Commission, any Commissioner, Commission staff, City staff, or general public, nor utter loud, threatening, personal or abusive language, nor engage in any other disorderly conduct that disrupts, disturbs or otherwise impedes the orderly conduct of any Commission meeting. No person in the audience at a Commission meeting shall engage in disorderly or boisterous conduct, including the utterance of loud, threatening or abusive language, whistling, stamping of feet or other acts which disturb, disrupt or otherwise impede the orderly conduct of any Commission meeting. Signs, placards, banners, or similar items shall not be permitted at any time at a Commission meeting. Unless addressing the Commission or entering or leaving the Commission meeting room, all persons in the audience shall remain sitting in the seats provided. No person shall stand or sit in the center aisle, nor shall the doorways be blocked. The Presiding Officer of the Commission, with the assistance of the Sergeant-at-Arms, shall be responsible for maintaining the order and decorum of meetings, as set forth more fully below.

b. Enforcement of Decorum. At the discretion of the Presiding Officer or upon a majority vote of the Commission, the Presiding Officer may order removed from the Commission meeting room any person who fails to observe these rules of decorum, including committing any of the following acts of disruptive conduct in respect to a regular, adjourned regular or special meeting of the Commission. Disorderly, contemptuous or insolent behavior toward the Commission, any Commissioner thereof, or Commission staff, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting; A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct or violent disturbance, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting; Disobedience of any lawful order of the Presiding Officer, which shall include an order to be seated or to refrain from addressing the Commission; and any other unlawful interference with the due and orderly course of said meeting; and any person so removed shall be excluded from further attendance at the meeting from which he/she has been removed, unless permission to attend is granted upon motion adopted by a majority vote of the Commission, and such exclusion shall be executed by the Sergeant-at-Arms upon being so directed by the Presiding Officer. These enforcement provisions are in addition to the authority held by the Sergeant-at-Arms to maintain order and pursuant to his or her lawful authority as a peace officer.

c. Penalties. Any person who has been ordered removed from a meeting may be charged with a violation of Penal Code Section 403, or other appropriate Penal Code or Los Angeles Municipal Code sections.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is redistricting?

Every 10 years, City Council district boundaries are re-drawn to account for population changes. The Redistricting Commission makes recommendations to the City Council on adoption of the City's redistricting plan that sets the boundaries of City Council districts.

Why is it important?

How and where districts are drawn can shape communities' ability to elect the representatives of their choice. Districts must be made as equal in population as possible and practicable so that communities have equal access to political representation.

Who are the Commissioners and how were they selected?

Information on the twenty-one (21) Commissioners and their duties, appointment, and term can be found on our website.

How will the Commission encourage public input?

The Commission welcomes comments at any of our public meetings, as well as by telephone, letter, or email. In addition to regular meetings, at least 20 public hearings will be held throughout the redistricting process. At least one public hearing will be held in each current Council district. The public comment form for written comments can be found on our website.

When and where will public hearings be held?

Public hearings will be held November through December 2011 in anticipation of adopting a draft plan in January 2012. Public hearings will again be held January through February 2012 in anticipation of adopting a final plan by March 1, 2012. The current schedule is available on our website. Suggestions for facilities locations are welcomed and encouraged.

How can my community stay informed and get involved?

We encourage you to request a community presentation, attend a meeting, public hearing, submit comments, and contact us anytime throughout this process. More information on how to get involved is available on our website.

常見問題解答

何謂重劃選區？

每隔10年需要對市議會區邊界進行一次重新劃分，以反映人口變化。重劃選區委員會就採納本市重劃選區計劃、確定市議會區的邊界而向市議會提供建議。

為何這很重要？

如何及在何處劃分選區將決定社區選舉其所選代表的能力。在可行的情況下，各選區的人口應儘量均等，以使所有社區都能平等享有政治代表權。

委員會有哪些委員，而且如何選出這些委員？

有關委員會二十一(21)名委員及其職責、委任及任期的資訊登載於我們的網站上。

委員會將如何鼓勵公眾發表意見？

委員會歡迎公眾透過公眾會議、電話、信件或電郵發表評論。除定期會議以外，還將在重劃選區的整個過程中至少舉行20次公共聽證會。每個現有市議會區都將至少舉行一次公共聽證會。用來發表書面意見的公眾評論表格登載於我們的網站上。

公共聽證會將在何時及何地舉行？

公共聽證會將在2011年11月至12月期間舉行，以便在2012年1月採納一項計畫草案。2012年1月至2月期間將再次舉行公共聽證會，以便於2012年3月1日前採納計畫定稿。目前的時間安排表登載於我們的網站上。歡迎並鼓勵您對舉行聽證會的地點提出建議。

我所在社區如何隨時獲悉進展情況並參與其中？

我們鼓勵您在此過程中隨時提出舉辦社區講座的請求、參加會議及公共聽證會、提交意見並聯絡我們。有關如何參與的詳細資訊，請瀏覽我們的網站。

Preguntas Frecuentes

¿Qué es la redistribución de distritos?

Cada 10 años, se vuelve a realizar el trazado de los límites del distrito del Concejo Municipal de la ciudad en respuesta a los cambios poblacionales. La Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos recomienda al Concejo Municipal en la adopción del plan de redistribución de la ciudad, el cual fija los límites de los distritos del Concejo Municipal.

¿Por qué es importante?

La forma y el lugar en que se trazan los distritos puede dar forma a la capacidad de las comunidades para elegir representantes. Los distritos deben tener, en lo posible, igual cantidad de población para que las comunidades tengan el mismo acceso a la representación política.

¿Quiénes son los Comisionados y cómo fueron elegidos?

¿De qué manera la Comisión incentivará la opinión pública?

La Comisión acoge los comentarios en todas las reuniones públicas, así como también por teléfono, carta o correo electrónico. Además de las reuniones regulares, se llevarán a cabo al menos 20 audiencias públicas a lo largo del proceso de redistribución de distritos. Se llevará a cabo al menos una audiencia pública en cada distrito actual del Concejo municipal. Se puede encontrar el formulario de comentarios públicos en nuestro sitio web.

¿Cuándo y dónde se llevarán a cabo las audiencias públicas?

Las audiencias públicas se llevarán a cabo de noviembre a diciembre de 2011 en antelación a la adopción de un plan borrador en enero de 2012. Las audiencias públicas se llevarán a cabo nuevamente de enero a febrero de 2012 en antelación a la adopción del plan final el 1 de marzo de 2012. El cronograma actual está disponible en nuestro sitio web. Se incentiva a que se realicen sugerencias sobre lugares para establecimientos y éstas son bienvenidas.

Lo incentivamos a que solicite una presentación de comunidad, asista a una reunión, audiencia pública, envíe comentarios y se ponga en contacto con nosotros en cualquier momento durante este proceso. Hay más información disponible sobre la manera de involucrarse en nuestro sitio web.

We are committed to providing the residents of our City with full opportunity to participate in this process. We are holding seven public hearings in each region of the City on the Draft Map Proposal prior to the adoption of a Final Recommendation to the City Council. Our final map must be completed by March 1, 2012. Our map will then go to the City Council which has until July 1, 2012 to adopt the final map.

We have made redistricting software and data available to the public so that you may submit your own recommended maps, as well as posted our Draft Map Proposal with maps covering Neighborhood Councils, LA Times Communities, and Streets on our website. We have two types of software available … Maptitude on the Commission website and through our partners The Advancement Project, WEDRAWLA.ORG. We are also making the information we gather available online through our Commission website as well as providing the public the opportunity to submit testimony, comments and maps online. Our website address again is REDISTRICTING.2011.LACITY.ORG

In this second phase of public hearings, we will be grouping speakers by geographic topic. As you fill out your public comment cards, please indicate if you are in favor or against the draft map, as well as indicate the community or Council District you would like to talk about. Commissioners will also be allowed to ask clarifying questions from the public, so please stick around until your geographic area of interest is completed in case a Commissioner may want to ask you a question. Members of the public will be given two minutes to speak before the Commission.

In this region of the City, I want to give you a basic rationale for how the Commission developed the Draft Map Proposal. In terms of …

- Council District 4 – Changed based on the public testimony to have only one Council District straddle Mulholland Drive. Loses Hancock Park, Larchmont Village, and the Miracle Mile. Gains Beverly Crest, Sherman Oaks, Encino, some of Van Nuys, and some of Lake Balboa

- Council District 5 –Changed based on the public testimony to have only one Council District straddle Mulholland Drive. Loses everything north of Mulholland Drive and Beverly Crest. Picks up Miracle Mile, Hancock Park, Larchmont Village, and some of Hollywood.

- Council District 10 – Maintains most of the same neighborhoods it has currently. Loses Palms, Windsor Village, Wilshire Park, and a portion of the Miracle Mile. Picks up most of the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council, a portion of Exposition Park, Baldwin Vista, and most of Leimert Park.

- Council District 13 – Maintains most of the same neighborhoods it has currently. Loses a portion of Hollywood, and picks up all of Rampart Village, all of Atwater Village, the Wilshire Center-Koreatown Neighborhood Council north of Third Street, and most of Glassell Park.

Before we begin receiving your comments, the City Attorney will provide a brief overview of the redistricting law and criteria that we are obligated to follow.

Standard Statement of the City Attorney's Office – Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission Public Hearings

On behalf of the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office, we welcome you to this public hearing of the Los Angeles City Redistricting Commission. Our Office's role is to provide legal advice to the City, including this Commission, throughout the redistricting process. We would like to take this opportunity to discuss several important laws and legal principles that apply to redistricting.

The Los Angeles City Charter requires the City Council to redraw the lines for the City's 15 Council districts at least once every 10 years. The Charter creates this Redistricting Commission to advise the City Council on the drawing of the Council district lines. The Charter requires the Redistricting Commission to obtain public input, prepare a redistricting proposal and present the proposal to the City Council by March 1, 2012.

Several important legal criteria govern the redistricting process:

Equal Population Principle – Council districts must contain, as nearly as practicable, equal portions of the total population of the City. This principle is established in the City Charter and also in the United State Supreme Court's "One-Person, One-Vote" decisions.

U.S. Constitution's Equal Protection Clause – The United States Supreme Court has held that race cannot be used as the predominant factor in drawing district lines such that traditional redistricting criteria are subordinated to considerations of race.

Voting Rights Act of 1965 – The Voting Rights Act prohibits voting practices which result in a denial or abridgement of the right to vote on account of race, color or language minority status. Redistricting plans must be analyzed under the Voting Rights Act to ensure they do not deprive minority voters of an equal opportunity to elect representatives of their choice in violation of the Act.

Traditional Redistricting Criteria – Federal, state and city law have established several traditional redistricting criteria all of which shall be considered to the extent feasible when drawing district lines:

Contiguity – all parts of a district should connect
Compactness – districts should be geographically compact
Existing Boundaries – districts should consider boundaries such as geographic, street and political boundaries
Communities of Interest – districts should preserve communities of people sharing common interests

More information regarding the laws governing the City's redistricting process are available on the Redistricting Commission's website: www.redistricting2011.lacity.org. Thank you.

市檢察官辦公室的標準聲明 – Los Angeles 市市議會重劃選區委員會公共聽證會

我們代表 Los Angeles 市檢察官辦公室歡迎您參加 Los Angeles 市重劃選區委員會的本次公共聽證會。本辦公室的作用是在整個重劃選區的過程中向市府提供法律建議。我們願意藉此機會討論適用於重劃選區的若干重要法律及法律原則。

Los Angeles 市憲章要求市議會至少每隔 10 年將本市 15 個市議會區的邊界重新劃分一次。本重劃選區委員會係依據市憲章的規定成立，旨在向市議會提供有關劃分市議會區邊界的建議。市憲章要求重劃選區委員會於 2012 年 3 月 1 日前徵求公眾意見、擬定重劃選區的提議，並向市議會呈遞該提議。

重劃選區的過程受若干重要法律標準的管限：

人口均等原則 – 在可行的情況下，各個市議會區的人口必須儘量均等。市憲章及美國最高法院在「一人一票」之裁定中規定了這一原則。

美國憲法的平等保護條款 – 美國最高法院已經裁定，不能把種族作為劃分選區邊界的主要因素，例如傳統的重劃選區標準服從於關於種族的考慮。

1965 年投票權法案 – 投票權法案禁止以種族、膚色或語言少數族群身份為由而否決或剝奪投票權的投票做法。必須依據投票權法案而分析重劃選區的計畫，以確保這些計畫不會違反該法案，剝奪少數族群選民按照自己的意願選舉其代表者的平等機會。

連綿性 – 一個選區的所有部份應彼此連接
緊湊性 – 各選區均應具備地理方面的緊湊性
現有邊界 – 選區應考慮現有邊界，例如地理邊界、街道及政治邊界等
共同利益社區 – 選區應保全擁有共同利益的社區

有關適用於本市重劃選區過程法律的詳盡資訊，請瀏覽重劃選區委員會網站：www.redistricting2011.lacity.org。謝謝。

市法務官事務局からのお知らせ – Los Angeles 市市議会再区画委員会公聴会

Los Angeles 市再区画委員会公聴会にご出席いただき、Los Angeles 市法務官事務局になり代わりお礼申し上げます。当事務局の役割は、本委員会を含め再区画のプロセスにおいて法的な助言を市に提供することです。この場をお借りして再区画に関する重要な法律や法的事項について説明させていただきたいと思います。

Los Angeles 市憲章は 15 の市議会区の境界線を最低でも 10 年ごとに再区画することを市議会に要請します。憲章により市議会再区画の境界線を助言する再区画委員会が創設されます。憲章に準拠し、再区画委員会は市民の意見を聞き、再区画提案を作成し、2012 年 3 月 1 日までに提案を市議会に提出します。

再区画プロセスにおける重要な法的基準：

均等人口の原則 – 市議会区の人口比率は、可能な限り、市の合計人口と均等な比率であること。本原則は市憲章に制定されており、かつ米国最高裁判所の「一人一票」の判決に基づきます。

アメリカ合衆国憲法均等保護条項 – 米国最高裁判所は境界線を引く上で人種が支配要因であってはならないとしており、人種に関しては従来型の再区画基準は従属的である。

従来型再区画基準 – 連邦法、州法、市法は区の境界線を引く上で適当であるとする以下の従来型の再区画基準を制定しました。

隣接 – 区の全ての箇所は隣接していなければならない
小規模 – 区は地理的に小規模であること
既存の境界 – 区は地理的、街路、政治的境界を考慮しなければならない
利害の共通 – 区は市民共通の利害を保護しなければならない

Los Angeles 시 헌장은 시의회로 하여금 매 10년마다 최소한 한번 시의 15개 시의회 지구 경계를 재설정하도록 요구하고 있습니다. 본 헌장은 시의회 지구 경계 설정에 대해 시의회에 자문을 제공하도록 지구 재설정 위원회를 창설하고 있습니다. 본 헌장은 지구 재설정 위원회로 하여금 2012년 3월 1일까지 일반 의견을 수렴하여, 지구 재설정 제안서를 준비하고 본 제안서를 시의회에 제출하도록 요구하고 있습니다.

여러 주요 법적 기준이 지구 재설정 과정에 적용됩니다:

미 헌법의 균등 보호 조항 – 미 대법원에서는 지구 경계 설정에 인종이 주요 요소로 사용될 수 없음을 명시하였으며 따라서 전통적인 지구 재설정 기준은 인종을 고려하는 것에 종속됩니다.

인접성 – 지구의 모든 부분은 붙어 있어야 합니다
밀집성 – 지구는 지리적으로 밀집되어 있어야 합니다
기존의 경계 – 지구는 지리적, 도로상 및 정치적인 경계선을 고려해야 합니다
이해관계 커뮤니티 – 지구는 공통된 이해를 갖고 있는 주민 사회를 보존해야 합니다

Declaración estándar de la Oficina del Abogado Municipal – Audiencias Públicas de la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos del Concejo Municipal de Los Ángeles

En representación de la Oficina del Abogado Municipal de Los Ángeles, le damos la bienvenida a esta audiencia pública de la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos de la Ciudad de Los Ángeles. La función de nuestra oficina es asesorar legalmente a la ciudad, incluso a esta Comisión, a lo largo del proceso de redistribución de distritos. Queremos aprovechar esta oportunidad para hablar sobre varias leyes y principios legales importantes que se aplican a la redistribución de distritos.

En la Carta Constitutiva de la Ciudad de Los Ángeles se exige que, por lo menos una vez cada 10 años, el Concejo Municipal vuelva a realizar el trazado de líneas de los 15 distritos del Concejo Municipal de la Ciudad. La Carta crea esta Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos, cuyo fin es asesorar al Concejo Municipal en relación con el trazado de las líneas del distrito del Concejo Municipal. En la Carta se exige a la Comisión para la Redistribución de Distritos que obtenga la opinión pública, prepare una propuesta de redistribución de distritos y la presente ante el Concejo Municipal hasta el 1 de marzo de 2012.

Principio de Igualdad de Población – En la medida de lo posible, los distritos del Concejo Municipal deben tener porciones iguales del total de población de la ciudad. Este principio está establecido en la Carta Constitutiva y en las decisiones de la Corte Suprema de los Estados Unidos que se basan en el principio "Una persona, un voto".

Cláusula de Protección Igualitaria de la Constitución de los EE. UU. – La Corte Suprema de los Estados Unidos sostiene que la raza no puede ser el factor predominante durante el trazado de las líneas de los distritos, de tal forma que los criterios tradicionales de redistribución de distritos están subordinados a consideraciones de raza.

Ley de Derecho al Voto de 1965 – La Ley de Derecho al Voto prohíbe las prácticas electorales que tengan como resultado la negación o reducción del derecho al voto según la situación de las minorías en cuanto a raza, color o idioma. Los planes para la redistribución de distritos deben analizarse conforme a la Ley de Derecho al Voto con el fin de asegurarse de que los votantes que pertenecen a las minorías no sean privados de la igualdad de oportunidades para elegir a sus representantes y de que no se viole la Ley.

Criterios Tradicionales de Redistribución – Las leyes federales, estatales y municipales establecieron varios criterios tradicionales de redistribución que, en la medida de lo posible, deben considerarse para el trazado de las líneas de los distritos:

Contigüidad – todas las partes de un distrito deben conectarse
Compactibilidad – los distritos deben ser geográficamente compactos
Límites Existentes – los distritos deben tener en cuenta los límites, como límites geográficos, de calles y políticos

Pangkaraniwang Pahayag ng Opisina ng Abugado ng Lunsod – Mga Pampublikong Pagdinig ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles

Sa ngalan ng Opisina ng Abugado ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles, malugod naming tinatanggap kayo sa pampublikong pagdinig na ito ng Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito ng Lunsod ng Los Angeles. Ang tungkulin ng aming Opisina ay magkaloob ng payong pambatas sa Lunsod, kabilang ang Komisyong ito, sa buong proseso ng muling pagdistrito. Gusto naming samantalahin ang pagkakataong ito upang talakayin ang ilang mahahalagang batas at mga prinsipyong pambatas na angkop sa muling pagdistrito.

Ang Saligang-Batas ng Los Angeles ay nag-aatas sa Konseho ng Lunsod na muling iguhit ang mga linya para sa 15 distrito ng Konseho ng Lunsod kahit minsan tuwing 10 taon. Nililikha ng Saligang-Batas itong Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito upang payuhan ang Konseho ng Lunsod sa pagguhit ng mga linya ng distrito ng Konseho. Ang Saligang-Batas ay nag-aatas sa Komisyon sa Muling Pagdistrito na kumuha ng kontribusyon ng publiko, maghanda ng isang mungkahi sa muling pagdistrito at iharap ang mungkahi sa Konseho ng Lunsod bago lumampas ang ika-1 ng Marso, 2012.

Prinsipyo ng Pantay na Populasyon – Ang mga distrito ng konseho ay dapat magtaglay, hanggang sa pinakamalapit na makakaya, ng magkakapantay na bahagi ng kabuuang populasyon ng Lunsod. Ang prinsipyong ito ay itinatag sa Saligang-Batas ng Lunsod at gayon din sa mga desisyong “Isang-Tao, Isang-Boto” ng Korte Suprema ng Estados Unidos.

Pagkamagkaratig – lahat ng mga bahagi ng isang distrito ay dapat magkakarugtong
Pagkasiksik – ang mga distrito ay dapat na siksik sa heograpiya
Mga Umiiral na Hangganan – dapat isaalang-alang ng mga distrito ang mga hangganang tulad ng mga hangganang pangheograpiya, pangkalye at pampulitika
Mga Komunidad ng Interes – dapat pangalagaan ng mga distrito ang mga komunidad ng mga taong may mga magkakatulad na interes

Tuyên Ngôn Tiêu Chuẩn của Văn Phòng Luật Sư Thành Phố – Trưng Cầu Dân Ý của Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu Hội Đồng Thành Phố Los Angeles

Thay mặt cho Văn Phòng Luật Sư Thành Phố Los Angeles, chúng tôi xin được chào đón quý vị đến dự buổi trưng cầu dân ý này của Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu Thành Phố Los Angeles. Vai trò của Văn Phòng chúng tôi là đưa ra sự cố vấn pháp lý cho Thành Phố, trong đó có Ủy Ban này, trong suốt tiến trình tái phân chia khu. Chúng tôi muốn nhân dịp này thảo luận một số điều luật và nguyên tắc pháp lý quan trọng sẽ áp dụng trong việc tái phân chia khu.

Hiến Chương Thành Phố Los Angeles đòi hỏi Hội Đồng Thành Phố phải vẽ lại ranh giới của 15 khu Hội Đồng Thành Phố ít nhất là mỗi 10 năm một lần. Hiến Chương lập ra Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu này để cố vấn cho Hội Đồng Thành Phố việc vẽ lại lằn ranh giới của các khu Hội Đồng. Hiến Chương đòi hỏi Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu phải thu thập ý kiến của công chúng, soạn thảo đề nghị tái phân chia khu và trình đề nghị đó cho Hội Đồng Thành Phố vào ngày 1 tháng Ba, 2012.

Có một số tiêu chuẩn quan trọng làm ảnh hưởng đến tiến trình tái phân chia khu:

Nguyên Tắc Về Dân Số Tương Đương – Các khu Hội Đồng phải có, mức gần nhất nếu được, phần phân chia bằng nhau của tổng dân số Thành Phố. Nguyên tắc này được quy định trong Hiến Chương Thành Phố và đồng thời trong phán quyết "Một Người, Một Lá Phiếu" của Tối Cao Pháp Viện Hoa Kỳ.

Điều Khoản Bảo Vệ Sự Bình Đẳng Trong Hiến Pháp Hoa Kỳ – Tối Cao Pháp Viện Hoa Kỳ đã phán quyết rằng chủng tộc không thể được dùng làm yếu tố chính trong việc vẽ đường ranh giới khu theo như tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu truyền thống phụ thuộc vào sự xem xét về chủng tộc.

Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử Năm 1965 – Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử cấm những nguyên tắc bầu cử đưa đến sự phủ nhận hay hạn chế quyền bầu cử do tình trạng thiểu số về chủng tộc, màu da hoặc ngôn ngữ. Kế hoạch tái phân chia khu phải được phân tích chiếu theo Đạo Luật Về Quyền Bầu Cử để bảo đảm là chúng không tước đi của các cử tri thiểu số cơ hội bình đẳng để bầu chọn những người đại diện cho họ theo cách vi phạm Đạo Luật này.

Tiêu Chuẩn Tái Phân Chia Khu Theo Truyền Thống – Luật liên bang, tiểu bang và thành phố đã quy định một số tiêu chuẩn tái phân chia khu theo truyền thống mà tất cả những tiêu chuẩn đó sẽ phải được xem xét trong trường hợp khả thi khi vẽ các đường ranh giới khu:

Sự Tiếp Giáp – tất cả các phần của một khu phải nối liền với nhau
Tính Cách Thu Gọn – các khu phải thu gọn về hình thể địa lý
Ranh Giới Hiện Hữu – các khu cần phải xem xét những ranh giới thí dụ như ranh giới về địa lý, đường phố và chính trị
Quyền Lợi của Cộng Đồng – khu phải duy trì những người trong cộng đồng được chia sẻ quyền lợi chung

Trong website của Ủy Ban Tái Phân Chia Khu có thêm chi tiết về các điều luật ảnh hưởng đến tiến trình tái phân chia khu của Thành Phố: www.redistricting2011.lacity.org. Cám ơn quý vị.

New L.A. council districts approved; The map-redrawing process is lambasted even by some on the panel tasked with it.

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 724 words

A plan to redraw Los Angeles City Council districts has won approval from a special re-districting commission, with panel members disparaging the five-month public process as ugly, dysfunctional and sad.

Even some who serve on the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission and backed the changes sounded ashamed of the final product, which passed on a 16-5 vote after an eight-hour hearing that ended minutes before midnight Wednesday.

Commissioner Jose Cornejo, who may run for City Council in one of the districts he helped create, called the proposed district lines -- and the process used to create them -- "ugly." Commissioner Rob Kadota, who also backed the map, said the commission failed to demonstrate equal concern for all parts of the city.

And Commissioner David Roberti, a former state senator well versed in power politics, said he felt badly about rejecting demands of hundreds of Korean Americans who called for the area covered by Koreatown's neighborhood council to be unified in a single district.

"I am terribly guilt-ridden over the concerns of the Korean community," said Roberti, who cast a series of votes opposed by Koreatown advocates. "They did not win here, and 10 years ago [in the last redistricting] they didn't win either. And I was on that commission as well." The redrawn map will be considered by the 15-member City Council next month. Korean American legal advocates, who have threatened to sue, are among an array of groups expressing dismay at the recommended changes. The Valley Industry and Commerce Assn., which had praised the commission's original proposal, criticized the panel this week for abandoning plans to create a sixth council district in the San Fernando Valley. And the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund has repeatedly warned that the plan would probably reduce the number of Latino council members from five to four.

Council district boundaries are redrawn every 10 years, following the release of new population numbers from the U.S. census. The process is inherently political because it can boost or sap the influence of politicians, neighborhoods and community groups.

This year's map was largely drafted by a voting bloc centered around appointees of Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and Councilmen Herb Wesson, Jose Huizar, Richard Alarcon and Tony Cardenas. The big winners have been Wesson and Huizar, who added coveted territory to their districts. The losers were council members Jan Perry and Bernard C. Parks, both of whom have threatened to sue.

Commissioner Jackie Dupont-Walker, who voted for the latest map, said she was "saddened" for Little Tokyo and skid row, which were carved out of Perry's district, and Baldwin Hills, an affluent black neighborhood taken from Parks' district. Commissioner David Roberts, who fought unsuccessfully to keep downtown in Perry's district, said the proposed boundaries would make the public more cynical about government. "I don't think I've ever seen a process this dysfunctional," he said. Parks contends that his district was systematically dismantled, with iconic assets such as Leimert Park and USC shifted to other districts. Forescee Hogan-Rowles, who tried to unseat Parks in last year's election, told the commission that the "economic engines" were being taken out of her former rival's district.

Some were upbeat about the proposed changes. Andrew Westall, a former Wesson aide and the commission's top executive, said they reflected important achievements, ensuring that dozens of neighborhood council areas were not split between multiple districts. He contends Koreatown will be brought together in a single district -- the one represented by his former boss -- for the first time in 40 years.

That argument has not placated Korean American civic groups, which for weeks had been asking for a larger area that includes Koreatown to be moved entirely out of Wesson's domain and into a neighboring district that includes other Asian communities, such as Thai Town and Historic Filipinotown. Such a move would increase the chances of an Asian American winning a council seat, they argue.

Commissioner Michael Trujillo suggested Koreatown was simply a victim of its central location. "Unfortunately, the way the process goes is, if you're in the middle of the city ... that's going to be carved up," he said.

February 23, 2012 Thursday
VALLEY EDITION

REDISTRICTING BATTLE RAGES ON;
MEETING: Hundreds testify before commission considering political lines.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A3

LENGTH: 448 words

Tensions over newly drawn council district boundaries erupted Wednesday night as the redistricting commission prepared to finalize the map and send it off for City Council approval.

Hundreds of speakers packed City Hall chambers to speak out against the lines, with the the majority of criticism heard over decisions in downtown, Westchester, Koreatown and the San Fernando Valley.

The commission was expected to debate the lines late into the night, and it had not taken a vote on the new map by the Daily News' deadline.

In particular, speakers decried a decision to separate Studio City into at least two different districts.

The neighborhood has already been split for the last 15 years, according to Lisa Sarkin, a member of the Studio City Neighborhood Council, but local leaders hoped the redistricting committee would keep the district together.

She also questioned the dual role of Andrew Westall, who serves as executive director of the Redistricting Commission, and as president of the Greater Toluca Lake Neighborhood Council. Under the newly released maps, Toluca Lake would remain whole - and in District 4 - and stay politically protected, Sarkin said.

Her criticisms come amid speculation that Westall plans to run for City Councilman Tom LaBonge's seat in 2015.

"There's something here that stinks," said Sarkin, who distributed a recent email exchange between herself and Westall.

In the email, Westall writes "he has been very hands off" on the topic of Toluca Lake, given his role on the commission.

But at the same time, Westall reveals personal opinions on the San Fernando Valley.

"As a resident and homeowner of Toluca Lake for the last 5 1/2 years, I understand where my fellow Tolucans are coming from," wrote Westall. "It is the general belief of our community that we are not part of, and do not identify with, the San Fernando Valley and feel more affinity and spend more time in the Hollywood Hills, Hollywood, Griffith Park, Los Feliz, and Burbank than we do in Studio City or North Hollywood."

Westall, who confirmed the email exchange, denied he would run for LaBonge's seat. If he does run for office, he said, it would be for the 46th District Assembly seat.

Meanwhile, some Toluca Lake residents expressed gratitude to the redistricting commission.

"Thank you for keeping us whole," said Peter Hartz, president of the Toluca Lake Homeowners Association. Hartz believes the Valley is served well by more city-Valley districts.

"We don't want to be balkanized in the Valley," he said.

The council members and the mayor must approve the lines no later than July 1. The new districts are slated to go into effect for the 2013 elections.

BLOG: L.A. Now: Proposed L.A. council redistricting map leaves many dissatisfied

BYLINE: David Zahniser

Feb. 23--[http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/.a/6a00d8341c630a53ef0168e7dc6f77970c-pi]

The Los Angeles Redistricting Commission finalized its package of proposed boundaries for 15 council districts, rejecting requests from hundreds of Korean Americans to have their neighborhood council placed in a single district.

Minutes before midnight Wednesday, the panel voted 16 to 5 to send a map to the council. But even some who approved it said they weren't particularly proud of it.

Several on the 21-member panel were sheepish about having dealt a blow to Koreatown [http://projects.latimes.com/mapping-la/neighborhoods/neighborhood/koreatown/?q=Koreatown%2C+Los+Angeles%2C+CA%2C+USA=34.0708598=-118.2935891=Geocodify] civic groups, which had spent weeks sending residents, business people and activists to testify on the proposed boundaries.

"I am terribly guilt-ridden over the concerns of the Korean community," said Commissioner David Roberti, who nevertheless voted for the changes that disappointed Koreatown advocates. "They did not win here and 10 years ago they didn't win either, and I was on that commission as well."

The 21-member panel meets Wednesday to finalize the proposal, which will then go to the City Council for a vote.

For weeks, Koreatown civic groups and activists had asked for their neighborhood -- an area covered by the boundaries of the Wilshire Center Koreatown Neighborhood Council -- to be placed in the district represented by Councilman Eric Garcetti.

Because that neighborhood also includes Thai Town and Historic Filipinotown, advocates believed it would give an Asian American candidate a better chance at winning a council seat. Commissioners rejected the proposal while acknowledging Koreatown was experiencing a political "awakening."

Roberti, who was appointed by Councilman Paul Koretz, said he had focused his energy on satisfying the demands of the Orthodox Jewish community, which wanted specific neighborhoods to be kept out of Councilman Tom LaBonge's district.

Meanwhile, others gave their work equally mixed reviews. Commissioner Jose Cornejo, who may run for the City Council in one of the districts he helped create, called the map and the process used to create it "ugly."

Commissioner Rob Kadota said he was dissatisfied with the map, which he nevertheless approved.

"I don't think we were as visionary or caring about all parts of our city," said Kadota, an appointee of Councilman Bill Rosendahl. Those who voted against the map were even more critical.

Commissioner Helen Kim, an appointee of City Controller Wendy Greuel, said the panel had favored some neighborhoods over others. Commissioner David Roberts said the commission's work would only "add to public distrust of government."

"I don't think I've ever seen a process this dysfunctional," he said.

The maps were created largely by a voting bloc that included representatives of Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and council members Herb Wesson, Jose Huizar, Richard Alarcon and Tony Cardenas.

On the council, the biggest winners were Wesson and Huizar, who added major assets to their districts. The biggest losers were council members Jan Perry and Bernard C. Parks, both of whom have threatened to sue.

Commissioner Jackie Dupont-Walker, who voted for the final map, said she was "saddened" for Little Tokyo and skid row, both of which were carved out of Perry's district, and for Baldwin Hills, the affluent black neighborhood that was removed from Parks' district.

Commissioner Michael Trujillo, whose votes helped ensure that Parks' district was stripped of assets like USC and Baldwin Hills, was more philosophical about the slight felt by Koreatown.

He told the audience that as long as Koreatown sits in the middle of Los Angeles, it would always be in danger of being redistricted across multiple council districts.

"Unfortunately, the way the process goes is, if you're in the middle of the city ... that's going to be carved up," he said.

CALIFORNIA;
Critics say council districts hinder Latino candidates

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 3

LENGTH: 633 words

Politicians, advocacy groups and neighborhood activists warned Wednesday that boundary lines drawn up by the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission for new council districts will reduce the number of Latino lawmakers and favor certain candidates in coming years.

Assemblyman Gilbert Cedillo (D-Los Angeles) said the map released last week was drawn to help his likely opponent in the upcoming election in a Westlake-to-Lincoln Heights district. Cedillo said his home was cut out of the district now represented by Councilman Ed Reyes, who leaves office in June 2013.

Cedillo is running against Jose Gardea, who is backed by Reyes and is the councilman's chief of staff. Gardea lives in Councilman Jose Huizar's district but, under the latest plan, would live in Reyes' district.

"It's very evident that they cut me out," said Cedillo, who added that the proposed district boundaries would force him to move to continue his council campaign.

Cedillo's complaint was one of several lodged by individuals and civic groups during the mapmaking process, which occurs once every decade and has drawn complaints from neighborhoods as varied as downtown, Sherman Oaks, Sunland-Tujunga and Westchester.

Officials with the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund contend that the latest plan would not ensure that five Latino council members have a strong chance of getting elected. Steven Ochoa, the group's national redistricting coordinator, said the commission wrongly identified Councilwoman Jan Perry's proposed district, which takes in the eastern flank of South Los Angeles, as a Latino district.

Ochoa said that even though a majority of that district's voting age citizens would be Latino, long-standing voting patterns would still favor an African American candidate. Alan Clayton, a longtime redistricting expert, said a Latino candidate could win in Perry's district only under a narrow set of circumstances.

"If two blacks and a Latino ran and the two blacks fought in the primary, and one of the two was weak and had no money, then yeah, a Latino could win," he said.

Clayton and Ochoa said the commission should keep three black districts intact while redrawing the 13th District, which is represented by Councilman Eric Garcetti, to include more Latino voters.

The new map drew favorable reviews from some who attended Wednesday's commission meeting. But in Studio City, neighborhood activists alleged that a San Fernando Valley district was drawn to give Andrew Westall, the commission's executive director, an opportunity to run for a seat that will be vacated by Councilman Tom LaBonge in 2015.

LaBonge's district was reworked last week to include Toluca Lake, where Westall lives. Lisa Sarkin, vice president of the Studio City Neighborhood Council, said the change will divide her community between two council districts.

Westall, who ran for the Assembly two years ago, said he has no interest in seeking LaBonge's seat in 2015. But he would not rule out a political campaign there or elsewhere in later years.

Bernard C. Parks and Perry said they are preparing to sue over the new boundaries. So are activists in Koreatown who want their neighborhood to be placed in a district with Thai Town and Historic Filipinotown, which they said would improve their chances of electing an Asian American candidate.

Cedillo said he called Council President Herb Wesson to complain that his home had been written out of Reyes' district. As a result of the change, Cedillo's side of the street is in Huizar's district while the opposite side is in Reyes'.

The move was led by Commissioner David Trujillo, a Reyes appointee. A Reyes spokeswoman said her boss did not instruct Trujillo to pursue the change, which was described as a way of unifying downtown in a single district.

Perry, Parks Allege Illegal Redistricting Practices, Threaten Lawsuit

DATELINE: LOS ANGELES

Two Los Angeles City Council members angered over new proposed boundaries for their districts alleged today that the process for drawing the boundaries was flawed and possibly even illegal.

Jan Perry and Bernard Parks expressed their discontent over the Los Angeles Redistricting Commission's latest proposed district maps in a joint letter to Commission Chair Arturo Vargas and City Attorney Carmen Trutanich. Perry also distributed copies to fellow council members during today's City Council meeting.

The commission is scheduled to vote on the final maps during an afternoon meeting tomorrow.

"We have very serious doubts that the commission has complied with applicable law in fashioning these districts," Parks and Perry wrote.

Vargas, who also serves as the commission's spokesman, could not be reached for comment.

A spokesman for City Attorney Carmen Trutanich confirmed the letter had been received, but said it was still being reviewed and it was too soon to comment.

The letter accuses the commission of trying to move black voters out of Parks' majority-black South L.A. district -- the only majority-black district of the 15 council districts in the city -- without evidence of public input to justify the move.

The commission also expressed interest in turning Perry's 9th Council District south of downtown, which is currently about evenly split between blacks and Latinos, into a majority-Latino district.

Under the Voting Rights Act, race-conscious decisions in redistricting must be backed up by evidence of racially polarized voting to demonstrate a need to create a new majority non-white district, the council members' letter states.

"There has been no presentation of any evidence showing racially polarized voting in any districts in Los Angeles," Parks and Perry wrote. "Without this evidence, the commission obviously placed undue and illegal emphasis on race in this process."

The Redistricting Commission is scheduled to vote on the final district maps tomorrow. The maps will then go to the full City Council for debate and final approval.

Parks and Perry have threatened to file a lawsuit challenging the maps if the existing recommendations are approved.

"We hope a common-sense individual (on the council) will stand up and say, 'Let's do this a different way,'" said Parks' chief of staff and son, Bernard Parks Jr.

Parsing the downtown divide;
Power plays and personal clashes shape the fight over City Council districts.

BYLINE: JIM NEWTON

SECTION: MAIN NEWS; bad desk code; Editorial Desk; Part A; Pg. 15

LENGTH: 852 words

Downtown Los Angeles today is divided between two City Council districts, with Jose Huizar representing one part of the city center and Jan Perry representing the other. Despite maneuverings and tweaks, when a city commission and the council finish redrawing the council district boundaries, Huizar will still represent one part and Perry will still represent another.

So what's the fuss? Why has Perry accused the city Redistricting Commission -- a citizens panel named by the council and citywide elected officials that has been drafting new lines that then go to the council, which will finalize the map -- of engaging in a "power grab" to transfer real estate from her to Huizar? And why is Huizar touting the benefits of unified downtown leadership when he knows that even if he gets his way, he won't get all the land bounded by the 110 Freeway to the west, the 10 Freeway to the south and the L.A. River to the east?

It's about politics, of course -- the prestige and potential money that come from representing what passes for the center of this sprawling set of suburbs famously in search of a city.

Downtown has long oscillated between council districts, which are huge given the size of Los Angeles and its relatively small council. One consequence is that downtown is too small to be a district by itself, so it's been joined to one of the neighboring areas. Years ago, it was connected to Boyle Heights and the Eastside; more recently, it's been tied to South Los Angeles.

The racial implications of that connection are obvious: Today, downtown's orientation is toward historically African American Los Angeles, with its roots along Central Avenue. If connected to Boyle Heights, it would take on a more Latino cast. Not coincidentally, the two council members vying for the area reflect that distinction. Huizar is Latino. Perry is black.

That's part of what has made redistricting dicey in past years, and race enters the debate in other ways too. Take the battle over Koreatown, where merchants and residents want to be consolidated in a single district to maximize their clout. Curiously, though, the tussle for downtown this time isn't drawing much racial fire. (Both Perry's district and Huizar's are heavily Latino.) Rather, it's personal.

Perry spies the hand of City Council President Herb Wesson at work in the move to strip her of much of her downtown base. In a recent column for the Downtown News, she did not name Wesson but alluded to "political interests" taking precedence "over the pragmatic process of drawing district lines." Perry and Wesson don't get along, and Perry's suspicions about the president's influence were heightened when the citizens commission taking the lead in the process picked a former Wesson staff member as its executive director. Wesson also is closely allied with the mayor, as is Huizar.

For his part, Huizar recognizes that the power is on his side, so he's sticking with the high road. He lavishly praises Perry for her representation of downtown but stresses that some of the existing boundaries create confusion. Along one stretch of Spring Street, for instance, Huizar represents one side of the street while Perry has the other. Unifying the area, he says, will make it easier for residents and businesses to get city services.

Moreover, Huizar's district needs to grow a bit to equalize the council districts, and he can't expand to the east because he's at the city limit. At the northern edge of his district, he bumps up against two other districts that need to grow. The leaves him looking south, which is downtown.

But Huizar knows this is about more than numbers. A council member's district defines his base, and downtown makes for an appealing one. It means votes, of course, and in the case of downtown -- with its hotels, developers and burgeoning businesses -- the potential for campaign contributions. Huizar vehemently protests that he's not in this for the money, but there's no denying there's money on the table.

Finally, there's one more curiosity in this debate, which is that despite all the talk of keeping downtown together (from Perry) or unifying it at last (from Huizar), the tentative lines would do neither. That's because the map as it stands turns over much of downtown to Huizar but allows Perry to hold on to the neighborhoods that include L.A. Live, Staples Center and the proposed football stadium.

Why peel off L.A. Live from the rest of downtown? Again, it's hard not to see politics in that. Keeping L.A. Live in Perry's district raises the district's median income and provides it with a solid job base, not to mention a core component of Perry's argument for her mayoral candidacy. Put another way: If Perry is this upset about losing part of downtown, imagine how frosted she'd be to lose it all. And there's this: Moving L.A. Live to Huizar would risk annoying AEG and its chief, Tim Leiweke, who works closely with Perry; the council doesn't pick too many fights with Leiweke.

The debates over redistricting already are contentious and personal. They'll get more so before this process is over.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A5

LENGTH: 269 words

The citizens commission redrawing the City Council district lines is expected to discuss and possibly vote Wednesday on a final draft of maps that are expected to leave activists from the San Fernando Valley to South Los Angeles unhappy.

The 21-member Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission released its latest map proposal late Friday.

The plan splits two districts between the Valley and other parts of Los Angeles, something that local activists had hoped to avoid. Feeling it dilutes the Valley's political power, they had instead sought an additional district located almost entirely in the Valley.

Councilman Bernard Parks is also expected to be upset with the plan, which takes his own home out of his district, and he has threatened to sue.

Councilman Bill Rosendahl, however, was generally pleased with the new boundaries. He was glad to see the commission reversed its earlier proposal to shift most of Westchester out of his 11th District. But he does hope to keep pushing for the final map to restore all of Westchester, rather than making the 405 Freeway the eastern boundary of his district.

"But the job is not yet finished and our efforts are not yet over," Rosendahl said in a note to supporters.

Newly elected Councilman Joe Buscaino's 15th District, representing San Pedro, remained mostly the same, with only a few blocks moved into District 9.

The commission meets 4 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall. It has a March 1 deadline to make its recommendation and send the maps to the City Council for final approval.

The Los Angeles Redistricting Commission on Friday unveiled its latest draft map [http://graphics.latimes.com/la-council-redistricting-v2/], which includes changes approved by the 21-member panel during a marathon nine-hour session earlier this week.

As expected, the map also keeps the vast majority of Westchester in the coastal district represented by Councilman Bill Rosendahl. And it shifts downtown out of Councilwoman Jan Perry's district and turns that neighborhood -- with the exception of Staples Center, LA Live and the Convention Center -- over to Councilman Jose Huizar's Eastside district.

The map will be discussed at the commission's next meeting, scheduled for Wednesday. The final map must be forwarded to the City Council by March 1.

PROPOSED L.A. CITY COUNCIL DISTRICT MAPS MUFFLE POLITICAL VOICE OF SAN FERNANDO VALLEY RESIDENTS {SUBHEAD} Proposed L.A. City Council district maps muffle political voice of San Fernando Valley residents

SECTION: EDITORIAL; Pg. A14

LENGTH: 346 words

SINCE the early days of the city of Los Angeles, the San Fernando Valley was treated as an afterthought, sending in its tax revenue but getting little in return. Not until the Valley tried to divorce itself from the city itself (and nearly succeeded) did the leaders over the hill start to take Vals seriously.

But not seriously enough.

The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission is still refining its new maps of the council districts, but so far its proposals don't do the Valley any favors. The newest proposal, approved by the commission Wednesday, splits up Valley communities, sticking some in the districts of council members on the other side of the hill.

Most notable is District 4, represented by Tom LaBonge, whose Hollywood/Los Feliz district already had a small handful of Valley people. The proposal has LaBonge taking a larger share of the Valley in strange chunks that reach as far north as Roscoe Boulevard. Worse, this minority-Valley proposal makes an island of Lake Balboa, not contiguous with the rest of the district.

The council's District 5 also steals a portion of Valley neighborhoods to fill out its mostly Westside district. In the new maps, that district still dips over into the Valley, but not enough to give the Valley a significant voice.

The redrawing of districts occurs every 10 years to accommodate shifts in population and demographics. The Valley Industry and Commerce Association has taken a lead on making sure the Valley gets a decent shake in the redistricting process. The state and county have already adopted new political lines that were fair to the Valley, in large part due to the work of VICA.

During the redistricting of state legislative and congressional seats, the group submitted maps and advocated for more wholly Valley districts. In the end, that's exactly what we ended up with.

Now VICA is sounding the alarm about the proposed city lines and asking the commission to revise the maps so that, if it has to split districts, it splits only one in the Valley.

That's fair and right, and the commission should listen.

L.A. COUNCIL REDISTRICTING;
POLITICS: PANEL'S DRAFT IN FLUX, BUT TWO CITY REPRESENTATIVES ARE EXPLORING LAWSUIT.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A3

LENGTH: 502 words

Ignoring the pleas of the San Fernando Valley and threats by two downtown area council members, the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission began changes to its draft plan for the new 2013 council districts.

A new map is scheduled to be released Saturday showing the most recent changes, but much is still to be decided when the 21-member panel meets again next week. A meeting is being scheduled for Wednesday to further discuss the map.

The committee held a nine-hour hearing, culminating at 1 a.m. Thursday, leaving a number of issues to be decided next week as it works to meet a March 1 deadline to submit a map to the City Council.

Angering some stakeholders, the panel said it wanted to keep the 4th and 5th districts split between the San Fernando Valley and the L.A. basin, as they are now. The earlier map had put five districts wholly in the Valley and one district partially in the Valley.

Stuart Waldman, president of the Valley Industry and Commerce Association, called the decision "a travesty."

"The Valley is a distinct community of interest and VICA will continue to fight any redistricting plan that threatens to carve up our community," Waldman said.

The panel voted to exclude Encino and the Lake Balboa area from the 4th District while no decision has been made on where to place those communities.

Waldman said he was also disappointed that committee members representing the Valley voted against proposals to help the Valley.

"Once again, San Fernando Valley residents are slighted by the city of Los Angeles," he added.

The revised map continued to draw an angry response from Councilwoman Jan Perry, who lost most of her downtown district, and Councilman Bernard Parks, who lost the area where his home is located.

Parks said he believes the only recourse left is a lawsuit against the city.

"I don't think anything will change when this gets to council," Parks said. "The commissioners we talked with said they were getting their arms twisted to go along. The arrogance of this commission is shown when they refuse to listen to the public. Even with people telling them they are wrong, they went ahead and developed this map."

Perry blamed it on internal City Council politics and a feud she and Parks have been having with Council President Herb Wesson.

The changes would give Baldwin Hills, Baldwin Vista and Leimert Park to Wesson, while Parks would lose USC and the Coliseum.

Perry would lose much of her downtown district and be given USC, the Coliseum and LA Live areas.

"We will fight this in the City Council, but Councilman Parks and I are starting to talk with attorneys to seek legal advice on what our options are, Perry said. "We will bring people down to tell the story of our districts, but I am not optimistic things will change."

The committee placed the Westchester community back into the 11th District represented by Councilman Bill Rosendahl, who also will retain Los Angeles International Airport in his district.

Councilman denies new district maps are payback

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 707 words

Los Angeles' combative redistricting battle is signaling a new, harder-edged political era at City Hall -- one that some are tracing to the rise of new Council President Herb Wesson.

On Thursday, Councilwoman Jan Perry accused Wesson of gutting her district during the Redistricting Commission's latest map-making session, saying she was being punished for her refusal to back his bid to run the council.

Wesson responded that he doesn't take things personally and isn't paying anyone back. Some following the boundary drawing process are drawing a different conclusion.

Wesson's appointee on the redistricting panel, working with representatives of Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and Councilman Jose Huizar, formed a voting bloc with several other commissioners. During a nine-hour meeting that ended after 1 a.m. Thursday, they voted to strip Baldwin Hills, Leimert Park and other neighborhoods from the South L.A. district represented by Councilman Bernard C. Parks, who like Perry has been at odds with Wesson.

In the proposal, Wesson's district would pick up those neighborhoods. Elsewhere, the panel took downtown out of the South L.A. district represented by Perry and put it into the Eastside district represented by Huizar. And in a final stroke, the commission took USC out of Parks' district and put it into Perry's. If the latest changes win final approval, Parks and Perry would no longer live in their districts.

Commissioner Helen Kim, who opposed the changes, said they were "absolutely" designed to punish Perry and Parks. "Parks has just gotten written out of the district where he lives. You don't think that's a slap in the face?" she said.

Jaime Regalado, emeritus professor of political science at Cal State L.A., said Wesson is playing hardball in a way that his predecessor, Councilman Eric Garcetti, did not. And he argued that this year's redistricting process is far more politicized than it was a decade ago.

"The council appears to be at war with each other. There seem to be factions. The incoming president is coming with his team, and rewarding his team and punishing others -- specifically Parks, and to a lesser extent, Perry," he said.

Perry and Parks did not show up for the Nov. 23 meeting in which Wesson was voted president. Parks said he specifically met with Wesson to discuss the presidency weeks earlier and told him he could not guarantee his support because of unspecified "personal issues."

Since then, Wesson yanked Parks off the powerful budget committee and pulled Perry from the panel that greenlights utility rate hikes. Parks also tried unsuccessfully to keep the Redistricting Commission from hiring a Wesson aide as its executive director.

Perry contends that splitting downtown from South Los Angeles would create a form of "economic apartheid" in her district.

Redistricting commissioners appointed by Villaraigosa and Wesson said the latest boundary changes were a response to public testimony at recent hearings. Wesson appointee Chris Ellison said key neighborhoods in Parks' district have wanted to leave it, an assertion that Parks disputes.

Commission President Arturo Vargas, a mayoral appointee, said all of downtown -- a coveted hub of business activity and campaign contributors -- should be in a single council district. And Michael Trujillo, an appointee of Councilman Richard Alarcon and a former Huizar campaign consultant, said downtown should be oriented toward Huizar's district, where some of downtown's blue-collar workers, such as custodians, reside.

Wesson has repeatedly sought to downplay any influence he has over the map-making process. "No single person controls this commission, not even the president," he said in a statement.

Maps incorporating changes approved this week come out Saturday, followed by more commission votes on Wednesday and Feb. 29.

Perry and Parks were not the only ones voicing disappointment. Koreatown activists failed to persuade the panel to move their community out of Wesson's district and into one represented by Garcetti.

In the San Fernando Valley, business leaders accused the commission of backing away from a commitment to have only one council district straddle the mountains between the Valley and the rest of the city.

L.A.'s flawed redistricting; Though City Council members still pull the strings, they avoid accountability for the final result.

SECTION: MAIN NEWS; bad desk code; Editorial Desk; Part A; Pg. 18

LENGTH: 997 words

Under the old-school method of redrawing political boundaries, elected officials would get together in a back room to horse-trade, bicker and dicker, then meet again in the open to adopt their new maps as a done deal. If you didn't like what they came up with, you had to sue -- and you could win, but only if you could show that the maps discriminated against a historically underrepresented group. This is still the way it's done in most jurisdictions in the country, and was the way the Los Angeles City Council did things until 2000.

Under the reform method adopted for this year's state Assembly, Senate, Board of Equalization and congressional redistricting, a somewhat randomly selected citizens commission conducts numerous hearings, considers public testimony, consults with legal experts, demonstrates how well it has or has not complied with legal and voter-designated criteria, and arrives at a final version of district maps. The reform method needs some tweaking by the next time it's used -- after the decennial census in 2020 -- but generally it's a step forward for California.

And then there's the City Council's current hybrid method, dictated by a charter adopted by voters in 1999. It is almost perfect -- perfect, that is, in the sense that it is almost perfectly devoid of redeeming qualities.

Under this system, a redistricting commission is selected by the city's incumbent elected officials. And of course those 15 City Council members, the mayor, the controller and the city attorney will swear up and down that they made their selections based on the integrity and independence of their appointees, and certainly not based on their faith that their designees will do the bidding of the appointing officials.

Commissioners meet numerous times throughout the city in full public view -- except for the many times that they meet in cliques behind closed doors, receiving private instructions from emissaries sent from council offices. They hold exhaustive hearings in which everyone has an equal chance to speak -- except for incumbent office-holders, who are favored with the opportunity to make their comments first. Speaker cards are often shuffled to ensure that particular constituent comments are heard early and that others come only after a wait of up to five hours.

The City of Los Angeles Redistricting Commission's process culminates Saturday, when the panel -- which in fairness includes many well-meaning members who believe the process can work -- releases what is for all practical purposes a final map. And because this map was drawn up independently (insert air quotes here) without any direction (wink, wink) from the City Council, the council will be merely accepting the commission's hard work (cough) when it approves the map in a final vote sometime in March.

Who really cares whether Koreatown is linked on City Council maps with Thai Town, whether Watts is paired with the distant harbor or the equally distant Staples Center, whether the residents of Westchester who live under the flight path of Los Angeles International Airport share a district with LAX or not?

We all should, but not necessarily for the reasons that have so many residents up in arms. The downfall of the Los Angeles redistricting process is not that it is laden with politics. Drawing district lines, even if it were done by a computer programmed by apolitical technocrats, is an inherently political process. Who will represent me? What community am I part of? Those are political questions that must in the end have political answers.

But we use "politics" to describe two different phenomena, one of them vital to the exercise of democracy, the other inherently corrupting. The commission redistricting process has demonstrated that it is subject to that second, corrosive form of politics.

That sort of politics has less to do with adequate representation for a community of interest than it does with whether the process itself is being engineered to ensure that particular seats are crafted for particular candidates who are supported by particular incumbents. Raise this much campaign money for me, one incumbent may say to another, and ensure that your appointee votes for a final map that includes a particularly wealthy development in my district, and I'll make sure that your protege has a district drawn that almost certainly will ensure her election next year.

In the old days, council members had no choice but to acknowledge that they drew the lines, and they would have to account for their decisions to voters, funders, supporters and others. Now, with the appointees as a buffer, the council members still pull the strings, but they avoid accountability for the final decisions. There is a veneer of public input and openness that covers the incumbent-orchestrated power plays taking place underneath.

The old way was flawed, but for all its back-room deal-making, it was more honest. Better than stepping backward, though, would be to move forward -- to a system more similar to the state's new method, which is uncorrupted (or rather, less corrupted) by the incumbents.

Let's not mistake incumbent-oriented politics with empowering politics, which is the engine of a healthy democracy. When, for example, Angelenos of Armenian descent argue for a single Armenian-centric district running from Granada Hills to Hollywood, the idea may be unworkable, but it demonstrates a political awakening. When Korean Americans demand a single Koreatown district, even though voters there would be predominantly Latino, it represents a first step in a political coming of age (to be followed, if history is a guide, by a more deft and sophisticated forging of coalitions).

In the meantime, to salvage the current process, the commissioners would be wise to reject the marching orders coming at them from City Hall and to present voters with maps unrelated to incumbent demands. If there is dickering to be done, let the council do it -- and be held accountable for it.

BLOG: L.A. Now: Three South L.A. council districts sharply redrawn by panel

The Los Angeles Redistricting Commission sharply redrew the boundaries for three South Los Angeles council districts, creating a clear set of winners and losers in the city's politically charged map-making process.

In a meeting that ended shortly after 1 a.m. Thursday, Council President Herb Wesson and Councilman Jose Huizar -- two close allies of Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa -- emerged as the winners, adding highly coveted neighborhoods and commercial areas to their districts.

The losers were council members Bernard C. Parks and Jan Perry, who saw their proposals repeatedly rejected. After the meeting, Perry said she and Parks were both being punished for "not voting for Mr. Wesson for president and being noncompliant."

Wesson did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

The changes, backed by the commission in a flurry of votes, will be incorporated into a new map that will be released Saturday. The panel will cast its final votes Wednesday and Feb. 29 before sending the plan to the City Council.

Throughout the nine-hour meeting, appointees of Villaraigosa, Wesson and Huizar worked in sync as they carved up the districts represented by Perry and Parks. The panel gave Huizar even more of downtown than it had proposed for him last month, pushing Perry almost completely out of the business district she has represented since 2001.

Under the new plan, Perry, who lives in downtown, would see the northern boundary of her district run largely along Washington Boulevard. Perry had repeatedly argued that the commission would create "economic apartheid" if it severed downtown from her South Los Angeles district.

But Commissioner Michael Trujillo, an appointee of Councilman Richard Alarcon, said downtown should be reoriented toward Huizar's Eastside district.

"If you look at the majority of folks that work in these skyscrapers ... they live in Boyle Heights," said Trujillo, who worked as Huizar's campaign consultant in last year's election.

Wesson, for his part, picked up Baldwin Hills, Baldwin Vista, Village Green and part of Leimert Park -- all areas that had been represented by Parks.

The panel also pushed Wesson's district farther north so that it takes in a bigger chunk of Koreatown, a business district that has served as a rich source of campaign contributions for Wesson in recent years.

Under the proposal, Parks would no longer represent Baldwin Hills, the well-to-do black neighborhood where he lives. He also lost USC, the institution that he has represented since 2003, which will be pushed into Perry's district.

Parks and Perry have been at odds with Wesson for months.

The commission is headed by Wesson's longtime aide, Andrew Westall. The commission also took the first steps toward dismantling the much maligned, snakelike district drawn for Councilman Tom LaBonge, which would have stretched from Silver Lake to the west San Fernando Valley.

In a vote shortly after midnight, the panel voted to remove Encino from the district that had been proposed for LaBonge, who currently represents such neighborhoods as Silver Lake, Los Feliz and Hollywood.

The panel also backed away from its effort to have only one council district straddle the San Fernando Valley and the rest of the city, a move that angered some of the Valley's representatives.

Other changes approved by the commission include keeping a majority of Westchester in the district represented by Councilman Bill Rosendahl, moving Toluca Lake into the district represented by LaBonge and removing Watts from the district proposed for Perry.

Three South L.A. council districts sharply redrawn by panel

The Los Angeles Redistricting Commission sharply redrew the boundaries for three South Los Angeles council districts, creating a clear set of winners and losers in the city's politically charged map-making process.

L.A. redistricting panel tries to quell anger with an eraser

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 4

LENGTH: 509 words

Responding to an avalanche of criticism from various neighborhoods, Los Angeles' Redistricting Commission began reworking plans Wednesday evening for new City Council districts -- two weeks before the proposal heads to city lawmakers.

Seeking to quell anger in the city's coastal neighborhoods, the 21-member panel put the vast majority of Westchester back into the LAX-area district represented by Councilman Bill Rosendahl.

The commission also responded to residents in Watts, putting their neighborhood back into the Harbor district represented by Councilman Joe Buscaino. In draft maps, Watts had been placed in the downtown-to-South Los Angeles district represented by Councilwoman Jan Perry.

In a third action, the panel took Baldwin Hills, Baldwin Vista and a portion of Leimert Park out of Councilman Bernard Parks' district, turning it over to Council President Herb Wesson. Parks lives in Baldwin Hills and has been at odds with Wesson for months.

And in a fourth decision, the commission moved all of downtown except for L.A. Live, Staples Center and the Convention Center out of Perry's district into the district represented by Councilman Jose Huizar. Perry is a longtime Parks ally.

Late Wednesday, the commission was still debating an array of proposals. The panel was weighing a plan to address protests from Koreatown, where activists have demanded that their community be placed in a single district, by expanding the community area that would be represented by Wesson.

Korean American activists warned commissioners that they were willing to sue to ensure that their neighborhood was taken entirely out of Wesson's district and placed into one currently represented by Councilman Eric Garcetti. Such a move would greatly increase the concentration of Asian American voters in Garcetti's district, which already has Thai Town.

"We are prepared to fight for our community if our legitimate demands are not supported," said Koreatown resident Ronald Kim, who is the vice president of the Korean Community Lawyers Assn.

The proposed boundary changes have drawn hundreds of people to public hearings and triggered protests from such varied communities as Sherman Oaks, Sunland-Tujunga, Watts, Baldwin Hills, Encino and downtown. They also have brought heated exchanges between council members, community advocates and commissioners.

The redistricting panel will release final proposed maps on Saturday, and is scheduled to decide on recommendations at meetings Wednesday and Feb 29. From there, the City Council could rework the proposed boundaries before giving its approval.

Redistricting is required every 10 years to adjust political districts for population changes. It's a high-stakes process both for politicians and community groups. Many neighborhoods want to avoid being divided between districts because, they argue, it makes it harder to obtain city services.

Council members typically don't want to lose areas where they have spent years nurturing projects and developing both community ties and political support.

Remapping panel mulls changes to final draft;
REDISTRICTING: Meeting today to forge proposal to go before the City Council.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A3

LENGTH: 463 words

Following weeks of complaints and praise from community groups, the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission will consider today more than 75 proposed changes to its draft City Council boundary map before submitting it to the council for final review.

"It's one of those things where you cross your fingers and hope they have been listening," said Jill Barad, founder of the San Fernando Valley Alliance of Neighborhood Councils, which has criticized the most recent proposal for the way it divides up the San Fernando Valley.

The 21-member commission will meet at 4p.m. in the City Council chambers at City Hall, where the different proposals will be debated. The commission will then give instructions on the final map to be presented to the City Council by March 1. The City Council then will have the option of accepting or modifying the proposal.

Arturo Vargas, chairman of the commission, said he expects to see some major changes in the map that has been proposed and its final drafting.

"We've heard from the community and I expect there to be some major tweaks to the map," Vargas said. "Particularly in the Westchester area and some in the San Fernando Valley."

The committee will be holding three hearings between now and the end of the month as it meets its March 1 deadline to submit a map to the City Council. The council has until June 30 to adopt the maps.

For the San Fernando Valley, the biggest change was stretching the 4th Council District from Silver Lake to Sherman Oaks and Lake Balboa.

"To us, that makes no sense," Barad said. "Where is the community of interest between Silver Lake and Sherman Oaks?"

As a result of the opposition, new proposals have surfaced that would keep the Valley with five districts wholly in the Valley with two others, the 4th and 5th, crossing over the Santa Monica Mountains.

Elsewhere in the city, there are protests over how Westchester was excluded from Councilman Bill Rosendahl's 11th district, which includes Los Angeles International Airport. Westchester was transferred to Councilman Bernard Parks.

Rosendahl and Parks both appeared at a public hearing on the proposal, objecting to how the map is drawn.

Parks also is concerned over the potential loss of the Leimert Park area from his district, while Councilwoman Jan Perry is upset that the plan excludes much of the downtown area from her district. She would retain the LA Live-Staples Center area as well as the USC-Exposition Park area.

"What disturbs me is we only had 1 percent population growth in the entire city and they made these changes," Parks said. "We went to every public hearing and made the case that we did not want to lose Baldwin Hills, Baldwin Vista or Leimert Parks. We lost all those."

Redistricting sparks anger; Discussions turn nasty, old rivalries resurface and fraud is alleged as deadline nears for new council boundaries.

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 939 words

The once-a-decade ritual to redraw Los Angeles City Council district lines has become an increasingly messy and acrimonious bit of political theater as lawmakers and community groups jockey for favored positions.

Councilman Bernard C. Parks is seething over what he said was a four-letter epithet directed his way by the executive director of the Redistricting Commission, a former aide and close ally of rival lawmaker and Council President Herb Wesson.

Tongues also were wagging last week about a widely circulated email that said downtowners had "a deal" to speak out in favor of a map sought by Councilman Jose Huizar in exchange for a funding meeting with a top Huizar aide. After The Times inquired about the email, Huizar and the email's author insisted that there was no deal or quid pro quo.

Elsewhere, angry Koreatown activists who want their neighborhood to be placed in a single council district announced that they have set up a phone line to gather information on City Hall corruption and misdeeds.

Those activists have testified that Korean business owners have fallen prey to crooked city employees but have not provided names of any alleged victims. They also have claimed that the city's politicians neglect their neighborhood while routinely demanding campaign contributions.

"Our community will no longer sit idly and be pimped out like a two-dollar whore," said 34-year-old James Beck, a Korean American lawyer who testified at a hearing two weeks ago.

The tensions reflect the high stakes for both politicians and community groups -- and are likely to intensify in the coming weeks as the deadline for approving new district maps nears. After hearing complaints from around the city, the commission will meet Wednesday to consider 75 changes to the new council district maps initially drafted.

Roughly 800 people showed up at a City Hall redistricting hearing last week, a turnout that filled the council chamber and an overflow room. More attendees milled about in the hallways.

That night, testimony focused on downtown -- a rich source of campaign funds -- and whether it should remain partly in Councilwoman Jan Perry's 9th District or moved mostly into Huizar's 14th District.

Adding to the drama was an email from a downtown marketing consultant who encouraged his allies to show up and side with Huizar.

Consultant Josh Gray-Emmer said in his email that property owner Michael Delijani had promised to reward a strong turnout by arranging a meeting with Huizar aide Jessica Wethington McLean to discuss projects sought by downtown residents, including an effort to relight a historic radio tower. Wethington McLean heads Huizar's initiative to revitalize Broadway, where Delijani's family has multiple properties.

"I made a deal with Michael," said Gray-Emmer's email, a copy of which was obtained by The Times. "If I show up, and bring people to support me (and therefore him and CD14), he will take LaTanya, Francie and I to sushi with Jessica from CD14 to discuss FUNDING and pushing forward the re-lighting of the KRKD Tower."

Delijani called the assertions fabricated. Gray-Emmer initially told The Times that the email was intended for "a small group of people." Hours later, he called back to say its contents were untrue.

Perry, whose district could lose much of downtown, seized on the email, saying it reflected the "transactional" politics influencing redistricting.

Perry and Huizar backers testified for nearly five hours, while some speakers from Koreatown waited. That infuriated redistricting Commissioner Helen Kim, who complained that 80- and 90-year-old citizens were being forced to wait for hours. Kim, an appointee of City Controller Wendy Greuel, said she confronted Huizar's chief of staff and told her to stop rifling through the speaker cards and changing the order.

"At first she said that she was merely culling out the public comment cards of people who had left," Kim said.

"Then she went on to say that her people -- people from [Huizar's district] -- had gotten there early and she was entitled to make sure they didn't testify last."

Huizar spokesman Rick Coca called Kim's assertions false, saying the councilman's aide was simply helping to identify cards from Huizar's district.

He said many of Huizar's constituents left after not being called to the microphone for several hours, even though they had arrived early.

Meanwhile, Parks wrote the commission last week alleging that the panel's executive director, Andrew Westall, directed a profanity at one of his staff members. "Mr. Westall told one of my employees: Tell your boss to go F himself," Parks wrote. "To clarify, Mr. Westall did not stop at the letter F."

The exchange, according to Parks, took place Feb. 2 at a commission hearing where hundreds of Westchester residents protested a proposal to put their neighborhood into Parks' district. It was unclear whether the alleged statement was related to a key departure from Parks' office that same day.

Less than an hour before the hearing, Westall's stepson, Domingo Orosco, abruptly announced he was stepping down as an aide to Parks.

Orosco could not be reached for comment and Parks would not discuss the departure.

Neither Westall nor commission president Arturo Vargas responded to requests for comment on the profanity allegation.

Westall is a former aide to Wesson, the council president whose relations with Parks have grown increasingly chilly.

Parks, saying he was ill, did not show up for the vote in November that made Wesson council president. Last month, Wesson yanked Parks from the Budget and Finance Committee that he chaired for eight years.

Where's the mayor on redistricting?

SECTION: EDITORIAL; Pg. A12

LENGTH: 511 words

THE outcry against the new Los Angeles city redistricting proposals has been long and loud. The charges are by now well known.

The plan will rip whole chunks of neighborhoods out of one district and stuff them into wildly disparate districts. The two districts that have been most often cited to prove the point are Councilwoman Jan Perry's 9th District and Councilman Bernard Parks's 8th district. Both represent some of the the poorest and most heavily minority neighborhoods in the city.

Under the proposed redistricting plan, Perry will lose most of downtown to 14th District City Councilman Jose Huizar. She'll be left with a district that, if not for the remaining downtown section, would have the city's highest unemployment rate and the greatest dearth of upscale manufacturing and businesses.

Perry has worked hard to change that by leveraging the financially booming downtown as a fulcrum for gaining resources and drawing in major business and redevelopment dollars in the impoverished portion of her district. Perry protests that losing downtown will put a severe crimp in her efforts.

Parks has been even more vociferous in opposing much of the current redistricting proposal, though it created an opposite dilemma for him. The proposed new maps graft on part of the more upscale, largely white, Westchester section to his mostly minority 8th District.

The proposals are still in the talking - and shouting - stage. And while a litany of L.A. city officials, residents and businesspeople have weighed in on the district's reshuffling, one person has been strangely mute. That's Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa.

Redistricting is in the purview of the City Council to approve. A redistricting panel is convened by city officials every 10 years to adjust council district boundaries to reflect changes in population and ethnic makeup. Part of that process is designed to ensure that Latinos, African-Americans and other groups denied representation in the past have adequate opportunity to win office, as required under the federal Voting Rights Act.

But Villaraigosa ultimately has to sign off on the final proposal. And he has much power over its final shape since he put three of the members on the 21-member Redistricting Commission, including Commission Chairman Arturo Vargas, who is the executive director of the National Association of Elected and Appointed Officials.

So what does the mayor think about the proposal? He hasn't said a word. Perhaps he simply prefers to let the process play out and see what's finally approved. Another possibility is that since the mayor has deep ties with those on the council and the commission that are charged with redrawing the lines, his hand is at work behind the scenes making changes. Either answer is plausible and valid.

Villaraigosa will be out of office in another year. His legacy is already being written as a mayor who was either an abject failure or did the best job he could given the crisis problems that he had to deal with.

Villaraigosa's silence on the redistricting imbroglio will weigh heavy on the latter.

BLOG: L.A. Now: Email prompts new flare-up over downtown L.A. redistricting

BYLINE: David Zahniser

Feb. 09--In the latest controversy over redrawing Los Angeles City Council districts, an email circulated among downtowners this week said a "deal" had been made to secure a meeting with a key aide to Councilman Jose Huizar on an iconic Central City project if people spoke out in favor of shifting much of the area into Huizar's district.

A Huizar spokesman said any suggestion of a quid pro quo is "ridiculous." But Councilwoman Jan Perry, who represents most of downtown, took issue with the email's implications.

In the message sent Tuesday, consultant Josh Gray-Emmer encouraged fellow downtown residents to show up at Wednesday's Redistricting Commission meeting and voice support for the panel's proposal to move much of downtown from Perry's 9th District to Huizar's 14th District.

Gray-Emmer, 33, wrote that property owner Michael Delijani would reward those efforts by arranging a meeting with Huizar aide Jessica Wethington McLean to discuss downtown projects, including an effort to illuminate an old rooftop radio tower. Wethington McLean heads Huizar's initiative to revitalize Broadway, where Delijani's family has multiple properties.

"I made a deal with Michael," said the email, a copy of which was obtained by The Times. "If I show up, and bring people to support me (and therefore him and CD14), he will take LaTanya, Francie and I to sushi with Jessica from CD14 to discuss FUNDING and pushing forward the re-lighting of the KKRD Tower. This is one of our THREE projects selected to push forward. Let's make it happen. IT'S ALL ABOUT BODIES!!"

Both Delijani and Huizar spokesman Rick Coca said the email's contents were untrue. Delijani said he made no such offer and simply informed Gray-Emmer that the redistricting meeting was taking place. "If [Gray-Emmer] wants to have a meeting, he can call the council office" to arrange one himself, Delijani added.

Contacted by The Times, Gray-Emmer said he was "disappointed" the email was being circulated beyond the intended recipients. Asked if bringing people to testify at the hearing was part of a quid pro quo, he initially responded: "I would just say that that email was completely internal, and intended for a small group of people."

Gray-Emmer would not specify what type of funding he expected to discuss with Huizar's aide, insisting the money would never have come from Huizar's office. Hours later, he called The Times to apologize for the email's contents, saying it "wasn't factually accurate" and that Delijani never offered any deal.

"I knew that Michael would take me to sushi regardless," he said.

Huizar was the first speaker at Wednesday's hearing, which was attended by 800 people. He lobbied the commission to approve the plan to put most of downtown -- a rich source of funds for political campaigns -- in his district.

Perry, who testified against the proposed map, told The Times the email showed that re-districting has become "just another venue" for political horse-trading at City Hall. "I don't understand why representatives of an elected official would have to offer their constituents favors to come in and testify," she said.

For weeks, the process of redrawing council district boundaries has been stirring controversy, with residents in Koreatown, Westchester, Sunland-Tujunga and other communities criticizing proposed changes.

Gray-Emmer, who lives downtown, said he brought as many as 15 people to Wednesday night's hearing but left before his name was called to speak. LaTanya Spann, a property manager who received the email and was mentioned in it, said the matter is being blown out of proportion, noting neither Gray-Emmer nor his friends provided any testimony.

Spann said she wants downtown to stay in Perry's district. Although she is friends with Gray-Emmer, she said she sent him an email chiding him for sending an email that linked community projects with public testimony.

"Sometimes people do things in a rush, without thinking," she added.

Email prompts new flare-up over downtown L.A. redistricting

BYLINE: Rich Connell

LENGTH: 705 words

In the latest controversy over redrawing Los Angeles City Council districts, an email circulated among downtowners this week said a "deal" had been made to secure a meeting with a key aide to Councilman Jose Huizar on an iconic Central City project if people spoke out in favor of shifting much of the area into Huizar's district.

A Huizar spokesman said any suggestion of a quid pro quo is "ridiculous." But Councilwoman Jan Perry, who represents most of downtown, took issue with the email's implications.

How do 'minority seats' make L.A. better?

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A1

LENGTH: 475 words

What does race have to do with Los Angeles City Council redistricting?

It is truly astonishing in the year 2012 to hear politicians, pundits and newspapers speak openly and unashamedly about ensuring "minority seats" in Los Angeles City Council. What does any of this have to do with clean, safe streets and good schools?

Every 10 years, Los Angeles City Council redraws its boundaries for its 15 seats. Or more precisely, it has the districts redrawn by somebody else.

Then the incumbent politicians start complaining. Usually it's lefty politician vs. lefty politician as to who keeps or loses what in whose district. No political ideology is at stake.

Councilwoman Jan Perry, for example, complains, "If you split downtown L.A., and South L.A., you condemn South L.A. to a form of economic apartheid."

Perry apparently confuses pre-Mandela South Africa with South L.A. It happens.

Councilman Bill Rosendahl warns against moving LAX out of his district. "I would go ballistic," he said, "if someone tried to take the airport." Such a move, Rosendahl informs us, would be "democracy at it's worst." Next thing you know, the Taliban makes it a safe haven. Can't be too careful.

Politicians do not want to learn new areas and new voters while fighting to retain old donors and recruit new ones. But also there's this: The city's changing demographics mean more Hispanic voters and fewer black ones. This scares politicians who built careers making racial appeals to voters.

The 21-member Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission is supposed to ensure the preservation of a certain number of minority seats.

In a city like Los Angeles - whose population today is 48.5 percent Hispanic, 28.7 percent non-Hispanic white, 11.3 percent Asian, and 9.6 percent black - what exactly is a minority, let alone a minority seat? Must a minority represent a "minority district"? From the same minority group?

Didn't a black man, three years ago, become president of the United States, a country that is 70 percent white?

Tim Scott, a black Republican representing South Carolina in the U.S House of Representatives, serves a district that is 70 percent white. Black Rep. Allen West, R-Fla., represents a district that is less than 10 percent black. Four times Los Angeles voters elected Tom Bradley, a black man, to serve as mayor.

The Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund insists its redistricting ideas guarantee three "African-American" seats. This means a group with 10 percent city population gets 20 percent of the seats. Isn't that "over-representation"? Will we someday worry about preserving "white seats" for L.A.'s declining white population?

Martin Luther King Jr. dreamed of a society where people are judged based upon the content of their character. Some talk the talk of a color-blind society but walk the walk of a color-coordinated one.

Redistricting plan upsets Koreatown;
Many residents want a single City Council member to represent the neighborhood.

BYLINE: Kate Linthicum

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 651 words

Alex Cha stood before the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission last week and told panel members: "As an Asian American living in the city of Los Angeles, I feel voiceless."

He had gone to the San Fernando Valley meeting to protest proposed new City Council boundaries that call for Koreatown to be divided between two council districts. Disappointment over the proposal has run deep in the neighborhood, where over the weekend ministers complained about it to their congregations, and volunteers gathered signatures on protest petitions outside local grocery stores.

In a biting editorial, the Korea Times attacked lawmakers for treating Koreatown like a "cash register" by taking campaign contributions from the neighborhood but not fighting for it.

For months Cha and hundreds of others had urged the commission to unite the neighborhood in a single district, which they argued would improve chances that the area would get the attention and services it deserves. For a community not known for its engagement with City Hall, it's been an impressive showing. One commissioner described it as Koreatown's political coming of age.

The proposed redistricting would split Koreatown, now divided among four council districts, between areas represented by Councilmen Herb Wesson and Eric Garcetti. As activists prepare to fight the proposed boundaries -- Cha expects 1,000 people to turn out for a public hearing on the draft maps Wednesday night -- others are questioning whether the protest leaders are representative of one of the city's most diverse neighborhoods.

Korean immigrants moved into the area in the 1960s and 1970s, helping build it into the dense urban quarter it is today, with towering office towers, blocks of apartments and hundreds of restaurants and nightclubs.

But Asian Americans make up only 32% of the area's population, according to a Times analysis of 2000 Census data. With 53% of the population, Latinos make up the majority.

The interests of working-class Latinos are different from those of many Korean Americans, said Edward Park, the director of the Asian Pacific American studies program at Loyola Marymount University. Although Korean American business owners might care primarily about development issues, affordable housing may be a bigger priority to Latinos, he said.

He said he wished the Koreatown activists would focus on issues like housing and less on "who can we get elected to the City Council that looks like us."

The current political division of Koreatown makes life hard for everybody, said Grace Yoo, the director of the Korean American Coalition. "Instead of going to one person to get something done, you have to go to four," she said. "And getting four different council members to sign off on something is not an easy task."

Some council offices don't always have Korean speakers available, Yoo said, which can discourage immigrants from getting help. "You're talking to limited-English people," she said. "They give up."

Yoo moved from Korea to Koreatown at age 3. An outspoken attorney, she did not conceal her scorn during remarks at the commission meeting where the proposed boundaries were revealed. She referred to about 60 older Korean Americans in the room as the people with "names that you're going to have difficulty pronouncing."

Helen Kim, one of two Korean Americans on the redistricting panel, voted against the commission's proposed district boundaries. Koreatown, with its potholes and lack of green space, "is really a very needy community," she said.

Korean immigrants traditionally have relied on families or church for assistance, she said. But as their American-raised children age, many are wondering why their community doesn't get more help, Kim said.

"I think the community finally understands that nobody else is advocating for them," she said.

Confusion abounds in remapping; DISTRICTS: L.A. panel schedules series of meetings to hear input from the public.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A1

LENGTH: 849 words

Residents of Sunland-Tujunga feel betrayed.

Sherman Oaks and Studio City residents are divided over what might happen to them. And there is wide confusion from Lake Balboa to Silver Lake over how they'll share a single City Council district.

Last week the Los Angeles redistricting commission released new maps that dramatically reshape City Council districts. That's prompted a flurry of emergency meetings by neighborhood councils and other groups to determine how the new maps will affect them, while City Council members stage rallies in opposition to their new districts.

"If there is one thing that is certain, it is that these maps will change," said Arturo Vargas, chair of the 21-member redistricting committee.

"I recognize there are problems in the Valley and the Westchester area and other parts of the city with these maps," Vargas said. "What we would like people to know is that these are preliminary maps and they will change."

Vargas said the panel has scheduled a number of hearings over the next several weeks to hear from the public.

"We would like to hear what they like and don't like so we can make changes," Vargas said. "That's what this process is for."

Residents are already voicing concerns over the new 4th Council District, which would stretch from Silver Lake through Hollywood to Sherman Oaks, Encino and Lake Balboa.

"I have received more emails and calls about this than anything the city has done in a long time," said Jill Barad, founder of the Valley Alliance of Neighborhood Councils.

"Not only does this represent a disservice to the community, it is a disservice to the person representing the area and their staff. How can they possibly know what's going on in such a diverse area?"

Yet, Richard Close of the Sherman Oaks Homeowners Association, said he likes the proposal.

"All of Sherman Oaks is in the one district and in three years, there will be a vacancy in the seat, and I think a Valley person will stand a good chance of winning the seat," Close said.

Complaints were also voiced in the Northeast San Fernando Valley, which has been represented by Councilman Paul Krekorian and will be divided into two districts represented by Councilmen Tony Cardenas and Richard Alarcon.

Cindy Cleghorn, secretary of the Sunland-Tujunga Neighborhood Council, said more than 50 people turned out for an emergency meeting over the weekend to develop a statement of opposition to the proposal.

"We feel like everything we said was ignored," Cleghorn said. "We have communities with the same ZIP code that will now be in two City Council districts.

All our services will be coming from different communities."

Nina Royal, who also serves on the Sunland-Tujunga Neighborhood Council, said the new maps could leave the area more vulnerable to development.

"The maps cut up the rural, agricultural and equestrian communities," Royal said. "Developers are going to be licking their chops. We're disenfranchised."

Krekorian, who has represented the area, said he recognizes the shifts in population will force him to give up some areas.

"Under any scenario, I will be required to give up some neighborhoods that I care about very much," Krekorian said.

Likewise, complaints are being voiced over the hill, from the airport area through South Los Angeles.

Councilman Bernard Parks, who last week described his district as being treated like a junkyard, said he will use his new post as chairman of the Education and Neighborhoods Committee to review the entire plan.

"I plan to use this position to involve the neighborhood councils to fix the redistricting process, which has been broken from the start," Parks said.

Parks is upset that his district will lose portions of Leimert Park and Baldwin Hills and gain the Westchester area.

That's raised the ire of Councilman Bill Rosendahl, who retains the Los Angeles International Airport area but loses neighboring Westchester.

"Doing this will divide communities that share a neighborhood council, a chamber of commerce and a community plan," Rosendahl said. "It makes no sense to tear Westchester from Los Angeles International Airport."

Councilwoman Jan Perry also organized a rally in her downtown district over the weekend, objecting to the proposal which would remove Little Tokyo, downtown, Central City East and parts of South Los Angeles from the 9th District.

Redistricting expert Alan Clayton, who has worked on maps for more than 25 years, said the maps are supposed to create compact, competitive districts, and he believes substantial changes are needed if the city maps are to withstand legal challenge.

"Based on the way they are drawn now, I think they might violate federal law," Clayton said. "I think these maps could open the door to litigation by the way they are drawn."

The city revises council district boundaries every 10 years based on population changes documented by the U.S. Census.

The redistricting panel must approve its final map by March1, and the council has the final vote on the new district boundaries.

CALIFORNIA;
Some balk at draft council map;
Widely disparate L.A. areas are lumped together in proposed new 4th District.

BYLINE: Stephen Ceasar

SECTION: MAIN NEWS; Metro Desk; Part A; Pg. 27

LENGTH: 902 words

Stacy Matulis doesn't see how one politician could represent everyone in the newly proposed 4th Los Angeles City Council District that stretches from the trendy neighborhoods northeast of downtown to the heart of the San Fernando Valley.

She would know.

The 33-year-old greets many of the baristas in her Silver Lake neighborhood by name, but she's also lived among the rows of strip malls in the Valley and teaches yoga to millionaires in their sprawling mansions in the Hollywood Hills.

"With so many types of concerns going to one person, it would divide focus," she said last week betweens sips of a cappuccino. "I don't know how the same person could represent all three interests well."

The map also puzzles other would-be constituents of District 4, which Councilman Tom LaBonge represents.

Los Angeles' City Council Redistricting Commission released its proposed boundary changes for council districts last week, sparking harsh criticism from politicians, community advocates and neighborhood leaders who contend the maps do not reflect the comments and desires expressed during weeks of public hearings.

The redistricting panel is convened by city officials every 10 years to adjust council district boundaries to reflect changes in population levels and ethnic makeup. It is tasked to ensure that Latinos, African Americans and members of other groups denied representation in the past have an adequate opportunity to win office, as required under the federal Voting Rights Act.

New census data shows Los Angeles is 48.5% Latino, 28.6% white, 11.3% Asian and 9.2% black. Redistricting officials are attempting to ensure that five of the 15 council districts are heavily Latino and that three have sizable concentrations of African Americans.

The drafts will be further discussed during seven upcoming hearings before being voted on by the council.

The new District 4 would start at the southeastern tip of Silver Lake and reach north through Los Feliz and Griffith Park and across the 101 Freeway. It would continue west through parts of the Hollywood Hills and Beverly Crest, extending across the mansion-dotted hillsides and into Sherman Oaks. It would again overlap the 101 Freeway and head north through the Valley into the Lake Balboa area, a stone's throw from Northridge and Reseda.

The suggested new boundaries address some prominent business leaders' desire for a sixth district either entirely or largely in the San Fernando Valley.

The redistricting panel worked to avoid creating more than one district partly but not wholly in the Valley, which helped cause the unusual configuration of the proposed District 4, said David Roberti, a commission member and former state Senate president.

One of the goals of redistricting is to create communities of interest, said Roberti, who voted against the proposed maps.

"You don't do that if you put Silver Lake in the same district as Lake Balboa and the same district with Beverly Crest," he said.

The proposed District 4 includes a variety of residents with vastly different lifestyles and concerns.

Florist Carmen Gabriel operates her Lake Balboa shop in a graffiti-riddled, mostly vacant strip mall. It's typical to hear about a shooting every now and then, she said. People in the area mostly stick to themselves.

To Gabriel, there is little in Lake Balboa that resembles the glitz and glamour found in the Hollywood Hills.

"The movie stars with their little poodles sashaying down the street," she said with a smirk. "They have nothing in common with people here."

Nickie Miner, who has lived in Benedict Canyon for the last 40 years, says the problems residents face there are too specific to be bunched in with such different neighborhoods. Her home now sits in District 5, represented by Councilman Paul Koretz. The proposed new district boundaries would split her neighborhood from other hillside communities such as Bel-Air and Beverly Glen.

"It's insane. Might as well put Chicago in our district," she said. "We have nothing to do with the flats in the Valley."

In Silver Lake, Quincy Schwartz, 43, dropped off her daughter at Ivanhoe Elementary School early Friday and was taking her new puppy, Wanda, for a walk.

"Ugh, the Valley," she said, tongue in cheek, when asked about the proposed district boundaries. Silver Lake differs greatly from both the Westside and the Valley, and at-tempting to combine their economic and social lifestyles doesn't make any sense, she said.

Not to mention the different vibes of the neighborhoods.

"It's crazy different," she said. "Silver Lake feels more hippie, down to earth."

And LaBonge, who would represent the proposed district, does not see the commonality among the neighborhoods in the suggested District 4 that he sees among those in the current district. He would keep Silver Lake, Los Feliz and Griffith Park but lose neighborhoods along Wilshire Boulevard such as Miracle Mile.

"The only common thread here is the Canadian geese that migrate from the Encino Reservoir to the Silver Lake Reservoir," he said.

LaBonge said he intends to voice his displeasure through the remainder of the process, in hopes that the concerns of residents in his district are heard.

"If this was changed as it's proposed, it's not just me that's affected, but it's a dedicated [council office] staff that knows the neighborhood, know the constituents," he said. "There would be a break in that relationship."

L.A. City Council: Wesson strips Parks, Perry of key chairmanships [Updated]

BYLINE: Rich Connell

LENGTH: 708 words

Los Angeles City Council President Herb Wesson engineered another shake-up at City Hall on Friday, removing Councilman Bernard C. Parks from his post as chairman of the powerful Budget and Finance Committee, which serves as the clearinghouse for budgets proposed by Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa.

The move is expected to widen the bitter divide between Wesson and Parks, two of the council's three African American members, who are already at odds over new proposed boundaries lines for the 15 council districts.

Parks, a budget hawk who had run the committee for eight years, did not show up for the Nov. 23 vote that made Wesson the council's newest president. Parks' spokesman said afterward that the councilman was ill. But Wesson said after that vote that he was disappointed.

Wesson also removed Councilwoman Jan Perry from her post as chairwoman of the Energy and Environment Committee, which reviews proposals for electricity and water rate hikes at the Department of Water and Power. Perry, like Parks, did not attend the council meeting where Wesson was elected president.

The changes could make it easier for Villaraigosa, a Wesson ally, to see some of his proposals win passage. Parks, a powerful voice on the city budget, had stalled or killed key Villaraigosa proposals while heading his committee. For example, he helped defeat a proposal to balance the budget by borrowing $43 million over five years to pay for costs associated with an early retirement program offered to city employees.

Perry has been an obstacle to Villaraigosa's efforts to increase utility rates at the DWP. And both she and Parks have been critical of a proposal to borrow 27 years' worth of street construction funds to pay for a blitz of road repairs.

The budget committee will be headed by Councilman Paul Krekorian, who represents the San Fernando Valley. Parks is off the budget panel, while Perry is no longer on the energy committee.

Even before the committee assignments were made, Parks and Wesson had been at odds over new council district lines proposed by a 21-member panel. Over the last week, Wes-son's appointee on the Redistricting Commission pushed a plan -- now abandoned -- to strip most of Baldwin Hills, the neighborhood where Parks lives, from the South Los Angeles district he represents.

The proposed redistricting map, which was released Wednesday, takes Baldwin Vista and the residential section of Leimert Park out of Parks' 8th District. Parks responded by saying that his district was being treated like a "junkyard," with commissioners trying to remove different pieces of it.

The redistricting panel is run by a former Wesson aide, Andrew Westall, a key figure in a legal dispute over campaign funds that are owed by Parks' 2008 campaign for county supervisor. Parks opposed Westall's hiring when the commission was formed.

Wesson gave the top position on the energy committee to Councilman Jose Huizar, a close ally of the mayor. The redistricting proposal would shift most of downtown -- a powerful hub of campaign fundraising -- from Perry's district to Huizar's. Perry, a mayoral candidate, said the plan would leave her district dominated by pockets of poverty.

[Updated at 3:33 p.m.: The changes, which take effect Feb. 6, are part of a larger batch of committee assignments made by Wesson. Ed Johnson, Wesson's spokesman, said his boss would not comment on the committee assignments at any point Friday.

Perry said she saw a connection between her absence from the presidency vote and her removal from the energy committee. Nevertheless, she said she was happy to be placed on the council's Education and Neighborhoods Committee, which oversees neighborhood councils.

"It gives me a forum to reach out on a citywide basis on such things as redistricting, DWP rate hikes and issues like transparency, corruption and civic engagement," she said.

Parks also downplayed any hard feelings, saying he never felt entitled to any committee assignment. "I'm looking forward to having an extra 20 to 30 hours a week to focus on my district and my constituents," he said in a statement.]

Wesson engineers another shake-up at L.A. City Hall;
New council president strips rival lawmakers Parks and Perry of key panel chairmanships.

Newly installed Los Angeles City Council President Herb Wesson engineered another shake-up at City Hall on Friday, stripping rival lawmakers Bernard C. Parks and Jan Perry of key committee chairmanships that had major influence over the city budget crisis and utility rates.

The move is expected to widen the bitter divide between Wesson and the council's only other African American members, who are at odds with the council president over proposed new political district boundaries.

Parks, a fiscal hawk who led the powerful Budget and Finance Committee for eight years, was removed entirely from the five-member panel. Neither Parks nor Perry showed up for the November vote when Wesson was chosen as council's first black president. Parks' spokesman attributed the absence to illness, and Perry said she was excused from that day's meeting.

Wesson said afterward that both should have been there.

Perry was removed Friday as chairwoman of the Energy and Environment Committee, which reviews proposals for electricity and water rate increases at the Department of Water and Power.

The changes, part of a broader Wesson reorganization of lawmaker assignments, could make it easier for Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa, a close Wesson ally, to get some of his spending proposals passed. Parks, an influential voice on the city budget, stalled or killed key Villaraigosa proposals in his committee, including one to balance the budget by borrowing $43 million over five years to pay for an early retirement program for city employees.

Wesson had no comment on Friday's moves and Parks downplayed any hard feelings, saying committee assignments are not guaranteed. "I'm looking forward to having an extra 20 to 30 hours a week to focus on my district and my constituents," he said in a statement.

Perry has been an obstacle to the mayor's push to increase utility rates at the Department of Water and Power. She and Parks also criticized a Villaraigosa proposal, floated two months ago, to borrow 27 years' worth of transportation funds to pay for a blitz of road repairs.

Perry suggested that her removal from the energy committee was tied to her absence from the vote to make Wesson president. Nevertheless, she said she was "pleasantly surprised" with a new position on the council's Education and Neighborhoods Committee. She wants to take the panel into neighborhoods across the city to discuss "transparency, corruption and civic engagement."

"It's a great opportunity," said Perry, who is running for mayor.

The committee changes take effect Feb. 6. Councilman Jose Huizar, another Villaraigosa ally, will be in charge of the energy committee. The budget committee will be headed by Councilman Paul Krekorian, who praised Parks for his work on the budget.

"His fiscal discipline has helped keep the city afloat in incredibly stormy seas," said Krekorian, who represents part of the San Fernando Valley.

Even before the committee assignments were made, Parks and Wesson had been at odds over new council district lines proposed by a 21-member panel. Over the last week, Wesson's appointee on the city Redistricting Commission pushed a plan -- since abandoned -- to strip most of Baldwin Hills, the neighborhood where Parks lives, from the South Los Angeles district he represents.

The proposed redistricting map released Wednesday by the commission takes Baldwin Vista and the residential section of Leimert Park out of Parks' 8th District. Parks complained that his district was being treated like a "junkyard," picked over for parts to strengthen other lawmakers' political domains.

The redistricting panel's top executive, former Wesson aide Andrew Westall, was chosen over Parks' opposition. Westall has been a key figure in an unrelated legal dispute involving some of Parks' campaign funds.

Perry quit the council's No. 2 post three months ago, alleging that the drawing of new district boundaries -- and the negotiations over the selection of a new president -- were happening behind closed doors.

The proposed redistricting maps released this week also give Huizar the vast majority of downtown, considered a hub of campaign contributors. Much of that area is currently represented by Perry.

COUNCIL WILL STILL HAVE THE FINAL SAY ON HOW NEW REDISTRICTING MAPS ARE DRAWN

SOME Los Angeles City Council members are pretty grumpy about the proposed maps their handpicked redistricting commission presented this week. Jan Perry feels robbed of her downtown constituents. Paul Koretz is unhappy to be pushed out of the San Fernando Valley. Tom LaBonge is wondering what compelled commissioners to reconfigure his district into a snaking collection of unrelated communities from Lake Balboa to Hollywood.

Paul Krekorian would lose Sunland-Tujunga and Dennis Zine won't even live in his district anymore.

The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission released its proposed maps this week. They are, as the commission's chairman noted, "a work in progress." And it is. What the grumbling belies is the fact that the council members themselves are the final map-makers in this once-a-decade exercise in redrawing political lines. Unlike last year's state redistricting effort, the elected officials are not left out of the process; they are the process.

The commission is an advisory group whose members were appointed by the City Council. The council will have the final say on what maps are adopted.

But community input still does count. Now that the proposed maps are out, anyone who doesn't have the power to move the lines themselves can get their voice heard at a series of community meetings. The commission is taking comment on the proposed new district lines before it comes up with final maps by March 1.

Politics: Proposed New City Council Map: Shakeups For Westchester, Watts, Hancock Park, But Ktown Still Split in 4

The LA Redistricting Commission released its proposed City Council District map today and there is already a good amount of outrage going on. The Commission redraws the map every ten years to split the city's 15 districts evenly among the population and to ensure minority representation. As the LA Times explains, "The draft maps were drawn by commissioners in a series of closed-door meetings by subcommittees who did not have to comply with the state's open meeting law." Here's some of what's on today's proposed maps :

-- Koreatown, despite lobbying, is still split among four districts.

-- CD4, currently repped by Tom LaBonge, creeps northwest into Sherman Oaks, Van Nuys, Encino, and Lake Balboa, taking over CD5 territory.

-- Meanwhile, CD5, currently repped by Paul Koretz, takes CD4 territory around Miracle Mile, Hancock Park, and Larchmont Village. LaBonge released a statement saying "This draft redistricting map weakens the political representation of the Santa Monica Mountains, fractures the community of Hollywood among three Council districts and dissolves the historic core of Council District 4 - the greater Wilshire area."

-- Despite lobbying, the San Fernando Valley did not get a sixth full-Valley district.

-- The eastern part of Westchester is out of CD11 (currently Bill Rosendahl's) and into CD8 (currently Bernard Parks's), while LAX stays in CD11. Rosendahl has already sent out a call to arms to constituents about the matter. Even Parks's chief of staff tells the LAT that separating Westchester from the airport makes no sense.

-- CD8 loses a big chunk of Leimert Park to CD10 (Herb Wesson), but keeps the Baldwin Hills neighborhood where Parks lives.

-- CD9 (currently repped by Jan Perry) loses a northern spur that included large parts of Downtown, but still has South Park.

-- A more unified Downtown (north of South Park) then falls into CD14 (currently Jose Huizar).

-- Watts moves from CD15 (currently repped by new guy Joe Buscaino and covering Harbor Gateway and the South Bay) to CD9.

If you want to find out where your house stands, the LAT has very handy before and after map overlays showing where districts currently lie and where the proposed new maps would put things.

CITY COUNCIL DISTRICTS;
PROPOSED NEW LINES MEET WITH OPPOSITION

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A1

LENGTH: 611 words

A proposed remapping of the 15 Los Angeles City Council districts was quickly denounced Wednesday by several unhappy council members - as well as some of the members of the very commission that drew up the plan.

The Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission plan dramatically reshaped parts of the city, including consolidating districts in the San Fernando Valley.

Under the City Charter, the City Council district lines must be redrawn every 10 years. But few expected the dramatic revisions proposed by the all-volunteer 21-member commission Wednesday. The map still must be submitted to the City Council for confirmation.

The plan removes District 5 from the Valley. The area is now represented by Councilman Paul Koretz, whose district currently extends from the Pico-Robertson area to Encino.

Under the redrawn maps, Koretz's district is pushed down from the Valley, while just one district - Councilman Tom LaBonge's District 4 - is split between the Valley and the Hollywood Hills communities.

Currently, two districts straddle Mulholland Drive.

"I'm really disappointed to lose the Valley areas I represented," Koretz said.

Similar dismay was heard throughout City Hall as council members studied the proposed new lines.

Councilman Bernard Parks, claimed his district had been "junked" by the redrawn lines while Councilwoman Jan Perry said the redrawn maps represented "economic apartheid," creating a split between her South L.A. and downtown neighborhoods.

LaBonge expressed bewilderment at his newly redrawn district.

Under the draft map, his district would extend from Lake Balboa to Hollywood, stretching across the Valley in a puzzling pattern. In a statement, he claimed the newly drawn map "dissolves the historic core of Council District 4 - the greater Wilshire area, including the Miracle Mile, Larchmont Village, Windsor Square, Pan Pacific Park and Park La Brea."

"What disappoints me most is that the will of the people of the 4th District was seemingly ignored by this important process," he said.

"District 4 just goes all over the place," agreed Jill Banks Barad, chairwoman of the Valley Alliance of Neighborhood Councils, which represented 34 neighborhood councils in the Valley. "It makes no sense."

Even as Arturo Vargas, chairman of the redistricting commission, admitted at a Wednesday night meeting at Van Nuys City Hall that the maps are "a work in progress," a handful of commissioners criticized the re-drawn lines.

"Quite frankly, I am embarrassed to be associated with this product," said commissioner David Roberts, who argued the commission failed to consider communities of interest in creating the maps.

But some groups expressed initial enthusiasm for the maps.

Notably, the Valley Industry and Commerce Association supported the new maps because there is now only one district, not two, that straddles the Valley and the rest of Los Angeles.

The group prefers having fewer "split districts," particularly when a council member represents a minority of the Valley, VICA president Stuart Waldman said.

"We got what we wanted," Waldman said.

Additionally, Lisa Sarkin, president of the Land Use Committee for the Studio City Neighborhood Council, backed the new lines, arguing the neighborhood "is now whole."

In the weeks ahead, public comment will be accepted by the redistricting committee. In addition to the Valley, downtown and South L.A. changes, Koreatown is expected to be an area of ongoing contention for the commissioners.

At Wednesday's meeting, dozens of elderly Koreatown residents appeared in solidarity, upset that their district continues to be cut into two districts, rather than one.

Jan. 25--[http://graphics.latimes.com/la-council-redistricting/]

Los Angeles' Redistricting Commission released its proposed boundary lines for 15 City Council seats, pushing one district deeper into the San Fernando Valley, pulling another completely out of it and employing what Councilman Bill Rosendahl called an "outrageous case of gerrymandering" against his coastal district.

If approved, the draft map would move Councilman Tom LaBonge's 4th District west into such Valley neighborhoods as Sherman Oaks, Van Nuys, Encino and Lake Balboa, according to information released Wednesday by the 21-member commission. LaBonge would lose neighborhoods in and around Wilshire Boulevard, such as Miracle Mile, Hancock Park and Larchmont Village.

INTERACTIVE MAP: Current and proposed Los Angeles City Council districts [http://graphics.latimes.com/la-council-redistricting/]

LaBonge said he had not seen the boundaries but described them as "very odd." He voiced hope that the boundaries would be discussed in upcoming meetings.

"The citizen's commission will do its work and then the City Council will do its work," he said.

San Fernando Valley leaders had been pushing for their region to get a sixth council district that is entirely within the Valley. The proposal released Wednesday did not do that. But it did make LaBonge's district far more Valley focused, reaching across the 405 Freeway to west parts of the Valley. The map also pushed Councilman Paul Koretz's district south out of the Valley and into neighborhoods once represented by LaBonge.

Koretz said he liked the idea of picking up Hancock Park. But he voiced disappointment at losing Valley constituents. "I enjoy the areas I've represented. I have an excellent relationship with the community groups there," he said.

Among the most dramatic moves was a proposal to take part of Westchester out of Councilman Bill Rosendahl's district. Even before the maps were released, Rosendahl had fired off an email encouraging his constituents to sign a petition demanding that Westchester remain in his district.

"If you're proud of the sense of community we have on the Westside, and don't want anyone to mess with that, we need to mobilize and stop an outrageous case of gerrymandering that threatens our council district!" he wrote.

INTERACTIVE TABLE: Demographics of draft L.A. City Council districts [http://spreadsheets.latimes.com/demographics-draft-l-council-districts/]

The Redistricting Commission is charged with recommending changes to council boundaries based on shifts in the population Census figures from 2010 that show that Los Angeles is now 48.5% Latino, 28.6% white, 11.3% Asian and 9.2% black. Part of the panel's job is to ensure representation for a specific number of minority districts.

The draft maps were drawn by commissioners in a series of closed-door meetings by subcommittees who did not have to comply with the state's open meeting law. Other proposals in those maps include:

-- Councilwoman Jan Perry's district would be shifted south, causing her to lose much of downtown but keeping Staples Center and L.A. Live. Councilman Jose Huizar would pick up much of downtown, with Olympic Boulevard serving as the border;

-- Councilman Paul Krekorian would lose Sunland-Tujunga, which would be moved into to Councilman Richard Alarcon's district;

-- Councilman Bernard C. Parks would keep the Baldwin Hills neighborhood where he lives but lose the residential portion of Leimert Park to Council President Herb Wesson. Parks would also get the portion of Westchester lost by Rosendahl.

Bernard Parks Jr., who serves as Parks' chief of staff, said Westchester makes more sense in the 11th District represented by Rosendahl, since that is where LAX is.

"It's a great community. But how do you split Westchester from the airport?" he said.

Some L.A. residents pledge to fight new council district plan

BYLINE: Kate Linthicum

LENGTH: 618 words

Hours after the public was given its first peek at draft maps showing new boundary lines for Los Angeles City Council districts, several dozen people showed up Wednesday at a tense Redistricting Commission meeting in Van Nuys to weigh in on the proposed changes.

Most of the crowd had traveled from Koreatown, where activists are angry that the commission's map calls for the neighborhood to be split between the districts of council members Herb Wesson and Eric Garcetti.

They want Koreatown to be united under a single district -- a desire made clear by more than 300 people from Koreatown at redistricting meetings, said Grace Yoo of the Los Angeles Korean American Assn.

"Obviously our voice has not been heard," Yoo said.

INTERACTIVE TABLE: See the racial and ethnic makeup of proposed council districts

The commission was expected to vote Wednesday on the maps recasting the city's 15 council districts, which will then be circulated for five weeks before a final version is sent to the City Council.

News of the proposed changes to the council districts rippled across the city Wednesday as some residents considered the possibility of being represented by a council member they didn't elect if the plan is adopted.

Residents in Sunland-Tujunga are upset about a proposed change that would move the community out of Councilman Paul Krekorian's district and into Councilman Richard Alarcon's district.

"People are going to flip out," said Sunland-Tujunga activist Joe Barrett.

INTERACTIVE MAP: L.A. City Council districts before and after the draft proposal

He said Alarcon is unpopular with many in the area because of his plan to create a truck driving academy atop a portion of a closed landfill.

"We've been pretty outspoken that that's the last thing we wanted," Barrett said. "We will fight this."

In downtown, developer Tom Gilmore said he was shocked that the redistricting panel proposed shifting Councilwoman Jan Perry's district south, causing her to lose much of the city's central core.

"It's so counter-intuitive," said Gilmore, who praised Perry for her role in bringing redevelopment to the area and who said "downtown unity" is key to future growth. "You finally have a downtown that after 30 years is moving ahead. I really have to question why all this incredible gerrymandering is going on to fix something that isn't broken."

Gilmore and other downtown leaders will appear with Perry at a rally Thursday to protest the changes, which would give Eastside Councilman Jose Huizar large parts of downtown.

In parts of the San Fernando Valley, some cheered the proposed maps. Although the proposal does not give the San Fernando Valley a sixth council district that is entirely within the Valley, as leaders there had hoped, it does make Councilman Tom LaBonge's 4th District far more Valley-focused.

Stuart Waldman, executive director of the Valley Industry and Commerce Assn., said that was enough.

"Having an elected official who lives in the Valley and has to live with our issues is important to us, rather than a representative who lives outside of the valley and just pops in once in a while," he said.

Waldman did note the odd shape of the proposed district, which reaches from east of the 101 Freeway into western parts of the Valley, stretching "from Silver Lake to Lake Balboa." Still, he said, "It's going to be a beautiful new 4th District," he said

Strange New Territory: L.A.'s Council District Lines Redrawn

LENGTH: 207 words

A segment of the proposed redistricting map (Screenshot)

Redistricting is going on in the City of Los Angeles, and today, quite literally, the political landscape of local government has been rocked by the proposed boundary lines for our 15 Council Districts.

Councilman Tom LaBonge calls the boundaries, proposed by Los Angeles' Redistricting Commission, as being "very odd." L.A. Now summarizes a couple of the uprootings, as the new map would mean "pushing one district deeper into the San Fernando Valley [and] pulling another completely out of it," among the widespread alterations.

Councilmembers, like LaBonge, would find their territory more focused on a single region; for example, LaBonge's CD 4 would forsake areas near the Miracle Mile and Hancock Park, and give him instead more Valley neighborhoods, like Sherman Oaks. In turn, Paul Krekorian, of CD 2, would pick up a bit of what LaBonge loses, as would others.

Councilman Bill Rosendahl has already labeled the proposed changes an "outrageous case of gerrymandering" in regards to his district.

The L.A. Times has an interactive map feature showing the current district boundaries and the proposed ones. See if you'd be in another district where you live if these changes go through.

Angelenos quick to blast proposed council districts

BYLINE: David Zahniser, Kate Linthicum

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 918 words

Los Angeles' Redistricting Commission unveiled its proposed boundary changes for City Council seats Wednesday, setting the stage for a series of pitched battles over neighborhood identity, ethnic clout and raw political power.

The maps sent one council district deeper into the San Fernando Valley, pulled another completely out of it and, in a third, employed what Councilman Bill Rosendahl called an "outrageous case of gerrymandering."

Politicians, community advocates and neighborhood leaders quickly criticized the maps, saying they did not reflect the public testimony and community desires expressed at a series of hearings in recent weeks.

Koreatown activists, for example, complained that their request to keep their community in one district had been ignored.

Neighborhood volunteer Joe Barrett said members of his Sunland-Tujunga community would "flip out" over a plan to take it out of Councilman Paul Krekorian's district.

And Councilman Bernard C. Parks told a meeting of the 21-member commission that his South Los Angeles district had been treated like a junkyard, with commissioners "trying to find pieces" to fit into other districts.

Despite such comments, the commission voted 11 to 6 -- the bare minimum to proceed -- to begin circulating proposed new maps for the city's 15 council districts to the public.

Final boundaries must be approved by the commission on March 1 and then forwarded to the council for a vote.

Commission President Arturo Vargas, an appointee of Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa, told audience members in Van Nuys that the proposal was "a very rough draft" that would be vetted during seven upcoming hearings.

"This is definitely a work in progress, and I can assure everybody in the city that the final product of this commission will not be the same product," he said.

A redistricting panel is convened by city officials every 10 years to adjust council district boundaries to reflect changes in population and ethnic makeup.

Part of that process is designed to ensure that Latinos, African Americans and other groups denied representation in the past have adequate opportunity to win office, as required under the federal Voting Rights Act.

New census data show that Los Angeles is now 48.5% Latino, 28.6% white, 11.3% Asian and 9.2% black.

Redistricting officials have been trying to ensure that the city has a minimum of five council seats that are heavily Latino and three that have sizable concentrations of African Americans -- even though the black population has continued to decline.

Changes in district lines can boost or sap the clout of sitting council members -- including those who are seeking reelection or higher office -- and enhance or diminish the voting power of ethnic groups.

The commission's proposal would disrupt City Hall's political status quo in large and small ways.

Councilman Dennis Zine would live slightly outside his west San Fernando Valley district during his last year in office.

Councilwoman Jan Perry's district would be shifted south, causing her to lose much of downtown -- a coveted and resurgent hub of business and development -- while gaining Watts. Perry's downtown home would be outside her district.

Councilman Tom LaBonge's 4th District would see some of the most dramatic changes. His district would be extended from Silver Lake, where he lives, west to Bel-Air and then north to Encino.

And Rosendahl would see much of Westchester taken over by Parks.

"Do I like what they're trying to do to us? Absolutely not," said Denny Schneider, who complained that LAX and adjacent Westchester were being placed in separate districts.

Similar complaints could be heard in Sherman Oaks, which has been represented by Krekorian and Councilman Paul Koretz. "As much as I like Tom LaBonge, no one voted for him in the last election in Sherman Oaks," said Richard Close, president of the Sherman Oaks Homeowners Assn., who served on the redistricting commission 10 years ago.

The proposed maps were, in part, a response to demands from local business leaders for a sixth council district entirely or largely in the Valley.

But another factor may have been the fact that LaBonge's appointee on the redistricting commission was in France -- and has been participating via conference call.

"If you're not there to throw a few elbows and stare people down while the people in the room are doing the work, it's hard to get what you want," said one commissioner, who spoke on condition of anonymity because panelists were not supposed to discuss their deliberations.

LaBonge said the proposed boundaries were disappointing.

Perry's backers, meanwhile, organized a Thursday rally to protest efforts to shift much of downtown into Councilman Jose Huizar's district, which currently includes a smaller portion of downtown and stretches from Boyle Heights to Eagle Rock.

Tim Watkins, who lives near Watts and was on the redistricting commission a decade ago, warned the current boundary panel that the proposed changes would leave Perry's district dominated by the city's poor.

"You're turning it into a district that really encompasses all of the people that are living in ... desperation," he said.

The proposed district lines delighted Stuart Waldman, the president of the Valley Industry and Commerce Assn., a group that is pushing for a sixth council seat in the Valley.

"You listened to me," Waldman told the panel. "You listened to the neighborhood councils. You listened to the people of the San Fernando Valley."

Jan. 25--[http://opinion.latimes.com/.a/6a00d8341c7de353ef0168e6166f28970c-pi]What's the opposite of "I told you so"? Because whatever it is, I need to say it about the draft map proposals released Wednesday [http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/lanow/2012/01/redistricting-los-angeles-city-maps-.html] by the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission [http://redistricting2011.lacity.org/]. Blogging on the recently concluded special election in Council District 15, I said there was just no way that Watts [http://opinion.latimes.com/opinionla/2011/12/buscaino-furutani-los-angeles-city-council-endorsement-15th-district.html] was ever going to be severed from the distant harbor.

But except for gaining or losing a few blocks at the far northern end, where Watts joins South Los Angeles and the central city, Council District 15 doesn't change. It can't, and it won't, because it has nowhere else to go. It's fenced in by the harbor on the south and the very strange shape of the city boundaries from there northward. Unless more territory is annexed to or detached from Los Angeles, this district will look pretty much the same in 50 years as it does today.

Never mind. The proposed map moves Watts out of the 15th and makes it part of a Council District 9, which traditionally takes in most of downtown but now would go only as far north as Olympic Boulevard.

Is that good or bad? It's different, and it could be good, although I'd be interested to know what Watts residents think. I suspect that many of them might like to finally be severed from San Pedro, the harbor community that always controls the election of the 15th District council member because it's where most of the money and most of the votes reside.

Every council member from that district, going back at least to World War II, has been a San Pedro resident. And it must be extraordinarily hard for the District 15 members not to promote the interests of their neighborhood and its very distinct demographic -- families with roots in fishing, shipping, loading, unloading and moving freight, largely white with a strong Italian, Croatian and Greek ethnic identity -- as opposed to Watts [http://opinion.latimes.com/opinionla/2011/12/council-district-15-watts.html], with its distinct history and largely African American and Latino immigrant demographic, as well as environmental degradation, dense public housing problems and persistent gang crime.

Of course, not every community can have its own district. Communities must be joined with others that are like them -- or very unlike them. So would Watts now instead be pushed around by wealthy and gentrified downtown?

Perhaps not. The Bunker Hill and Flower Street office towers would be excluded, as would most of the 1920s bank buildings that are now condos and apartments. A lot of the conversation is going to focus on how the northern two-thirds of downtown would now be united as part of the same 14th District that includes Boyle Heights and far-away Eagle Rock. But the 9th District, in addition to Watts, would include downtown's Staples Center, L.A. Live and, assuming it gets built, Farmers Field football stadium.

So is this now the Anschutz Entertainment Group district, and will Watts now become the afterthought of AEG, instead of remaining the afterthought of the Port of Los Angeles? Could the AEG connection be better leveraged to help fund improvements in Watts?

Don't know the answer yet. Let's watch and listen.

BYLINE: RICHIE DUCHON

DATELINE: LOS ANGELES

A draft map of new Los Angeles City Council district boundaries that will be in place for the next decade was released today, drawing an angry response from some council members who said the maps made little sense.

The district boundaries were released by the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission, a 21-member panel appointed by the city's elected officials to redraw the maps based on 2010 census data.

The City Council will have to approve the final versions of the newly drawn boundaries after a period of public comment and any revisions by the commission.

The most notable changes include the separation of Westchester from LAX and the disunion of most of downtown from South Los Angeles. The new maps would extend one central Los Angeles district further into the San Fernando Valley, and eliminate a Westside district's reach over the Santa Monica Mountains into the valley.

Among those most angered by the new maps was City Councilwoman Jan Perry, whose district covers an area of South Los Angeles. Perry described the commission's map-drawing as "economic apartheid."

Under the new boundaries, Perry would keep the successful L.A. Live complex and Staples Center, but would lose most of downtown and Little Tokyo and would pick up Watts. Councilman Jose Huizar would gain the lion's share of downtown, including Skid Row.

"The worst part of all this is that the commission has created an economic wasteland based on agreements between elected officials who have cut deals with the leadership in the City Council," Perry said. "Clearly this is a grab for assets."

Perry is mobilizing a group of downtown developers, Little Tokyo and downtown residents and community groups to oppose the new maps.

"This will hurt South L.A. To what end, I don't know," Perry said.

The LAX-adjacent community of Westchester, a neighborhood affected by the airport's noise, traffic, security issues and expansion, would be moved out of Councilman Bill Rosendahl's district, which includes the airport, into Councilman Bernard Parks' district to the east.

"That's an insult frankly, to the people engaged with an issue that impacts them. So that shows no respect for the people of Westchester," Rosendahl said. "Politicians are basically looking out for their best interests."

Bernard Parks Jr., Councilman Parks' chief of staff, agreed that moving Westchester into his father's district was drastic and said it does not make sense.

"Why are we all of the sudden adding areas that we have no relationship with and taking away areas that we have deep relationships with?" Parks Jr. said. "We believe Westchester is a great community, but we believe it's a perfect fit with the councilman that represents it currently."

The commission also moved much of Lemeirt Park Village, an historic black cultural center, out of Parks' district into City Council President Herb Wesson's district.

"It's like having peanut butter and no jelly," Parks Jr. said. "You can't have the business community separate from the park that sits right in front of it. Very simple common sense would have told these commissioners that."

Redistricting map shakes up L.A. political landscape

BYLINE: Rich Connell

LENGTH: 640 words

Los Angeles' Redistricting Commission released its proposed boundary lines for 15 City Council seats, pushing one district deeper into the San Fernando Valley, pulling another completely out of it and employing what Councilman Bill Rosendahl called an "outrageous case of gerrymandering" against his coastal district.

If approved, the draft map would move Councilman Tom LaBonge's 4th District west into such Valley neighborhoods as Sherman Oaks, Van Nuys, Encino and Lake Balboa, according to information released Wednesday by the 21-member commission. LaBonge would lose neighborhoods in and around Wilshire Boulevard, such as Miracle Mile, Hancock Park and Larchmont Village.

INTERACTIVE MAP: Current and proposed Los Angeles City Council districts

LaBonge said he had not seen the boundaries but described them as "very odd." He voiced hope that the boundaries would be discussed in upcoming meetings.

"The citizen's commission will do its work and then the City Council will do its work," he said.

San Fernando Valley leaders had been pushing for their region to get a sixth council district that is entirely within the Valley. The proposal released Wednesday did not do that. But it did make LaBonge's district far more Valley focused, reaching across the 405 Freeway to west parts of the Valley. The map also pushed Councilman Paul Koretz's district south out of the Valley and into neighborhoods once represented by LaBonge.

Koretz said he liked the idea of picking up Hancock Park. But he voiced disappointment at losing Valley constituents. "I enjoy the areas I've represented. I have an excellent relationship with the community groups there," he said.

Among the most dramatic moves was a proposal to take part of Westchester out of Councilman Bill Rosendahl's district. Even before the maps were released, Rosendahl had fired off an email encouraging his constituents to sign a petition demanding that Westchester remain in his district.

"If you're proud of the sense of community we have on the Westside, and don't want anyone to mess with that, we need to mobilize and stop an outrageous case of gerrymandering that threatens our council district!" he wrote.

The Redistricting Commission is charged with recommending changes to council boundaries based on shifts in the population Census figures from 2010 that show that Los Angeles is now 48.5% Latino, 28.6% white, 11.3% Asian and 9.2% black. Part of the panel's job is to ensure representation for a specific number of minority districts.

The draft maps were drawn by commissioners in a series of closed-door meetings by subcommittees who did not have to comply with the state's open meeting law. Other proposals in those maps include:

-- Councilwoman Jan Perry's district would be shifted south, causing her to lose much of downtown but keeping Staples Center and L.A. Live. Councilman Jose Huizar would pick up much of downtown, with Olympic Boulevard serving as the border;

-- Councilman Paul Krekorian would lose Sunland-Tujunga, which would be moved into to Councilman Richard Alarcon's district;

-- Councilman Bernard C. Parks would keep the Baldwin Hills neighborhood where he lives but lose the residential portion of Leimert Park to Council President Herb Wesson. Parks would also get the portion of Westchester lost by Rosendahl.

Bernard Parks Jr., who serves as Parks' chief of staff, said Westchester makes more sense in the 11th District represented by Rosendahl, since that is where LAX is.

"It's a great community. But how do you split Westchester from the airport?" he said.

L.A. redistricting plan to be released after closed-door session

BYLINE: Amanda Covarrubias

LENGTH: 314 words

The Los Angeles Redistricting Commission plans to release Wednesday a draft set of boundaries for 15 City Council districts.

But a proposal made Tuesday night by one of the commission's secret subcommittees is already causing an uproar on the Westside. A 10-member panel that met past 9 p.m. Tuesday drafted a plan to move Westchester out of the coastal district represented by Councilman Bill Rosendahl.

The plan would let LAX, which is just south of Westchester, remain in Rosendahl's district.

Rosendahl said Westchester is more affected by the airport than any other neighborhood in Los Angeles and should not be separated from it. He said he learned of the proposal from his appointee on the Redistricting Commission, who attended Tuesday night's meeting.

"I will fight this all the way to the City Council," he said.

The Redistricting Commission was scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday and could vote to circulate a draft map for the entire city.

In recent weeks, the commission created three seven-member committees to meet behind closed doors to draw up district boundaries for different regions of the city.

On Tuesday night, the commission had a 10-member committee work out differences among commission appointees for neighborhoods stretching from downtown to Rosendahl's district.

The Times asked if it could attend that meeting and was told it was not open to the public.

"To me, it's outrageous. It's ridiculous. I want all these meetings to be in public," Rosendahl said. "Frankly, I don't understand why they're in closed-door session."

Redistricting commissioners told The Times they are not supposed to speak to the public about the subcommittee meetings.

Tense fight over council boundaries;
Lawmakers battle for downtown and South L.A. before the new districts are proposed.

BYLINE: David Zahniser, Kate Linthicum, Stephen Ceasar

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 779 words

Los Angeles Councilwoman and mayoral hopeful Jan Perry is fighting to hang on to the downtown business district -- a key base of support and generous source of campaign funds.

Councilman Bernard C. Parks doesn't want to lose Baldwin Hills, the upscale, predominantly African American neighborhood where he lives. And Councilman Bill Rosendahl, who represents a Westside district, is determined to keep Los Angeles International Airport under his purview.

Those are just a few of the behind-the-scenes City Hall battles brewing as part of the once-in-a-decade process used to redraw the political districts of Los Angeles' 15 lawmakers. On Wednesday, the struggles could break into the open, as a 21-member redistricting panel unveils its proposed boundary changes.

The public will have five weeks to review the maps and comment before the panel's final vote and the selected plan goes to the City Council for consideration. But there has already been intense closed-door debate by three secret subcommittees not covered by the state's open-meetings law.

One panel has been reviewing a plan to shift Leimert Park -- the cultural heart of black Los Angeles -- from Parks' district to one represented by Council President Herb Wesson. The plan would leave Parks with just a sliver of Baldwin Hills -- basically the street that he lives on, according to emails obtained by The Times.

Another group of commissioners is pushing for Councilman Jose Huizar's Eastside district to absorb a much larger part of downtown -- including Bunker Hill and Little Tokyo. The Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, an advocacy group, has gone further, recommending that all of downtown go to Huizar's district.

Perry, who represents a district stretching from downtown to South L.A., said that would leave her district dominated by low-income neighborhoods.

"If you split downtown L.A. and South L.A., you condemn South L.A. to a form of economic apartheid," she said.

Redistricting commissioners contacted by The Times declined to comment, saying they had been advised not to discuss their deliberations. But Steven Ochoa, redistricting co-ordinator for MALDEF, the Mexican American advocacy group, said his group's proposal would make it possible to preserve three African American seats -- and avert a conflict between blacks and Latinos over political clout.

Changes in district boundaries, required to balance shifts in populations after each federal census, can have huge consequences for lawmakers, particularly those running for reelection or higher office.

A decade ago, the council redrew the maps in a way that sent Councilwoman Ruth Galanter, a Venice resident, to represent Panorama City during her last year in office. The outcomes can also rearrange the voting power wielded by ethnic, religious and neighborhood groups.

Central to this year's debate is Koreatown, which community advocates complain has been spread across too many districts.

Grace Yoo, executive director of the Korean American Coalition, said she thinks the debate has been too focused on council members' political interests.

Yoo's group is among dozens of ethnic, gay and neighborhood organizations that have submitted proposals for new district boundaries. The Los Angeles chapter of the Log Cabin Republicans wants Councilman Eric Garcetti's Echo Park-to-Hollywood district redrawn to increase the chances for a gay politician to win office.

Business leaders from the San Fernando Valley want a sixth council district located entirely in the Valley. But that could divide a concentration of Orthodox Jews that straddles the Valley and the Westside.

Over the last week, seven redistricting commissioners have privately debated the shape of the districts represented by Parks and Wesson -- two African American councilmen who have had strained relations.

Wesson's appointee, Christopher Ellison, backed a plan to give most of Baldwin Hills to Wesson. He complained in an email that a competing map, which would strip Wesson of Koreatown, was "disrespectful" to Wesson, leaving him with "scraps" from other districts.

Helen Kim, an appointee of City Controller Wendy Greuel, responded by saying the two districts should have an equitable distribution of the "jewels" of South L.A., including USC and Baldwin Hills Crenshaw Plaza.

MALDEF called for LAX to be moved into Parks' district. That idea drew the anger of Rosendahl, who represents the airport area and has focused on aviation issues.

Taking LAX out of his district would be "democracy at its worst," Rosendahl said. "I would go ballistic if someone tried to take the airport."

The Gay Agenda: Log Cabin Republicans Lobby for a Gay City Council District

LENGTH: 222 words

It's redistricting season in the city of Los Angeles, and the Log Cabin Republicans want to have their say in how city council district lines get redrawn.

The local chapter is lobbying for gays to have their own district. Right now the neighborhoods that (anecdotally at least) have the highest concentration of gays are split up. Log Cabin is making the case that the case that gays in Studio City, West Hollywood-adjacent and Silver Lake should have one city council person who will take their interests into account.

"Grouping together communities with common interests is one of the guidelines for redistricting," said Scott Schmidt, a Log Cabin spokesperson told Studio City Patch. "Creating a gay district would help make sure gay interests are represented."

Today Curbed LA posted the map of what a gerrymandered gay district would look like. Log Cabins argue that their redistricting proposal preserves all the other important district lines in the rest of the city, including minority-heavy districts, people who live by the Grove, downtowners and the folks living by LAX. The Redistricting Commission will hold public hearings on redistricting through February 11 and will vote on the new districts in July.

VALLEY LEADERS URGE COUNCIL MAP CHANGES; PANEL CALLED ON TO CREATE SIX DISTRICTS THAT DON'T GO OVER HILL {SUBHEAD} Panel called on to create six districts that don't go over hill

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A4

LENGTH: 566 words

Seeking a greater political voice for the San Fernando Valley, dozens of local leaders called for a major re-do of the city's council district map at a Tuesday night hearing.

Representatives from Sherman Oaks, Sun Valley and Granada Hills spoke in favor of creating six districts contained wholly in the Valley. The region currently has seven districts, but two stretch over the Santa Monica mountains into Hollywood and West Los Angeles.

"Someone from Los Angeles presiding over the hill can't possibly understand Valley concerns," said Cherie Mann, a member of the Granada Hills Neighborhood Council. "It's a whole other planet, really."

By creating six Valley districts, backers say, council members would be more attentive to Valley needs, and no longer distracted by the demands of Westside and Hollywood homeowners.

"We ask that you keep the Valley whole and if you have to go over the hill, do it with one district, not two," Stuart Waldman, president of the Valley Industry and Commerce Association told the commission.

Additionally, numerous groups, including the Sherman Oaks Homeowners Association (SOHA), are seeking to reshape their neighborhood into one district. Currently, Sherman Oaks falls into two districts, one that is represented by City Councilman Paul Koretz and is largely made up of non-Valley communities, including the Westside and Century City.

"I think Koretz doesn't have our back completely," said Bob Anderson, who serves on the board of directors at SOHA, noting that his neighborhood was disappointed with the councilman's decision to support a controversial design for a Ralphs store on Ventura Boulevard.

While Koretz said he'd consider an all Sherman Oaks district, the councilman was not convinced that six Valley districts will help residents.

"I think they may get less representation that way," said Koretz. "If there are more members that have a piece of the Valley, there are more people that are concerned (about the region)."

Tuesday's hearing was held by the 21-member volunteer redistricting committee, which will submit new district maps to the City Council by the end of February.

The council has until July 1 to vote on the final maps.

During the citywide public hearings on redistricting over the last month, there were some recurring themes, according to Arturo Vargas, chairman of the redistricting commission.

"First, people generally like their council district," Vargas said. Additionally, numerous neighborhood councils have requested to be kept in a single council district.

During the last redistricting go-around in 2002, a new Valley district was created - one stretching from Lake Balboa through Van Nuys to North Hollywood and Sun Valley.

That district, now represented by Councilman Tony Cardenas, was created by moving the district of then-Councilwoman Ruth Galanter from the Westchester-Venice area.

Whether such dramatic redrawings occur this year remains to be seen given that some Valley districts present puzzling challenges to the redistricting commissioners.

"I have one of the most severely gerrymandered districts in the city," said City Councilman Paul Krekorian, speaking at the hearing. His district, dramatically redrawn two decades ago, extends from Sunland-Tujunga to Sherman Oaks.

"There's a lot of work ahead of the commission," Krekorian said. "There are many different communities of interest."

EDITORIAL;
REWRITING POLITICAL MAP;
LOS ANGELES RESIDENTS NEED TO SPEAK LOUDLY {SUBHEAD} Los Angeles residents need to speak loudly

SECTION: EDITORIAL; Pg. A6

LENGTH: 576 words

THERE are valid reasons for Los Angeles residents to worry about City Hall's approach to redrawing City Council district lines. This makes it all the more important that concerned citizens exert their influence.

Unlike the state of California, whose new approach employs a citizens commission protected as much as possible from conflicts of interest, L.A. will use a commission that is appointed by city officials and includes one-time political staffers. What's more, whatever kind of map the panel comes up with for the 15 council districts, the council members themselves will have months to change it. Many will, in effect, be choosing the constituents who will vote on their re-election bids in 2013.

Leaders of the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission argue that it's worthwhile for affected politicians to be allowed to share their knowledge.

That's debatable. What's hard to dispute is commissioners' assertion that residents should take advantage of opportunities to get involved in the process.

"The degree to which they engage makes it very difficult for city officials to ignore what they want," Jackie Dupont-Walker, one of the 21 commissioners, said last week in a meeting with editorial writers from this newspaper.

The commission is holding public hearings all over the city before it adopts a draft plan later this month, and will hold a second round of hearings before submitting a final plan by March 1.

A hearing today at 6:30 p.m. at Van Nuys City Hall deserves to be well-attended. The San Fernando Valley has a lot at stake in city redistricting. Valley leaders would like to increase the influence of the region of 1.7 million Angelenos by adding to the number of council districts resting entirely in the Valley - currently five, with two others partly in the Valley.

There are other big issues: Latinos are calling for a third Latino-majority seat in the Valley. Asian-Americans would like to see an Asian elected to the council, somewhere in the vast city, for the first time in two decades. Advocates for the homeless, for people displaced by foreclosure, and for new (perhaps undocumented) residents, want to make sure those populations are adequately counted.

(If those questions aren't challenging enough, there's the matter of how to get more women elected on the council, of which Jan Perry now is the lone female member. It's hard to see how redistricting can help there.)

Like the state and L.A. county redistricting commissions before it, the L.A. city group must adhere to federal voting-rights laws, the need to create districts of roughly equal populations, and a priority on maintaining "communities of interest."

Of course, for many residents, those legal, mathematical and philosophical aspects are all secondary. Many just want to be represented by this or that councilman, or grouped with this or that neighborhood. Commissioners say they've heard from citizens who don't want to be thrown in with "poor people" or "non-equestrian people."

Redistricting is a once-a-decade process of adjusting the political map to account for population growth and shifts. Since 2001, it has become easier for a commission like L.A.'s to follow through on its promise to listen to the public, thanks to the growth of the Internet and neighborhood-council organizations.

Now it's up to the public to take advantage. If you worry that elected officials have too big a voice in this process, be sure to speak as loudly as they do.

TIPOFF;
SOHA wants an end to divided districts

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A2

LENGTH: 546 words

When it comes to political representation, the Sherman Oaks Homeowners Association believes that less is more.

Or at the least, more cohesive if it keeps its community as one.

In its recommendation to the Los Angles Citizens Redistricting Commission, the association - one of the more powerful in the city - is asking that it no longer be divided between Council District 2 and 5 (Paul Krekorian and Paul Koretz).

It also believes that the San Fernando Valley, with 38 percent of the total city population, should have six completely Valley-based districts, with only a small portion of the East Valley included in a crossover district.

Bob Anderson, chair of SOHA's redistricting committee, said it fought hard to have Sherman Oaks included in one district for state and federal representation and wants the same for the city.

The group submitted its own map, which would have Sherman Oaks included in the 5th Council District and move the 2nd Council District north and east.

The redistricting commission is holding a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Van Nuys City Hall, 14410 Sylvan St., Van Nuys.

The panel is holding hearings in every Council district before it draws its maps and is planning another series of hearings after it develops its proposal to submit to the City Council.

City Controller Wendy Greuel is planning to hit the new year running in her campaign for mayor in 2013.

As controller, Greuel announced she will be holding a series of town halls around the city to ... cough, cough, listen to Angelenos.

Actually, it sounds like Greuel will be doing much of the talking as she plans to "update Angelenos on the state of the city's finances and recent audits."

The first town hall will be at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 25, at the Encino Community Center, 4935 Balboa Blvd., with other sessions to be held citywide over the coming months.

Greuel also is jumping in to the special election on Jan. 17 for the 15th Council District, endorsing police officer Joe Buscaino against Assemblyman Warren Furutani, D-Torrance.

Greuel is the first major mayoral candidate to endorse Buscaino, joining with a number of City Council members who have endorsed him.

The state Supreme Court ruling last week upholding the power of the state to abolish re-development agencies did not end the battle.

With some $1.7 billion at stake, the California Community Redevelopment Association said it plans to go back to the state Legislature to try to get a new law passed that will keep them in business.

Julio Fuentes, president of the association, said they will seek to have legislation introduced to allow the agencies to remain in business.

"Without immediate legislative action to fix this adverse decision, this ruling is a tremendous blow to local job creation and economic advancement," Fuentes said.

The issue has sharply divided local officials, with school boards and counties hailing the decision for its potential windfall and cities complaining about the loss of money.

Gov. Jerry Brown, who used redevelopment when he was mayor of Oakland, proposed the elimination of the agencies to get more tax revenue as part of an overall effort to balance the budget.

CRAs freeze property taxes in a designated area where they are allowed to keep any higher property tax money to fund its programs.

Redistricting Commission Media Director Resigns

BYLINE: RICHIE DUCHON

LENGTH: 591 words

DATELINE: LOS ANGELES

The media director for the commission that will recommend City Council district boundaries for the next decade resigned over the weekend, citing concerns by some commissioners that she was a registered lobbyist and was not properly qualified for the position.

City News Service first reported Friday that Vanessa Rodriguez has been registered as a lobbyist with the city since 2007, currently with Mercury Public Affairs. Mercury lobbies city officials for the California Restaurant Association, HMS Host Corp. and towing company HP Tow, according to the most recent city Ethics Commission reports.

Rodriguez was eligible to be paid up to $20,000 for leading the media campaign to engage the public to participate in the redistricting process.

Los Angeles Redistricting Commission Executive Director Andrew Westall worked for one of the partners at Mercury, former California Assembly Speaker Fabian Nunez, when he was in the Assembly.

Commissioner Jose Cornejo said Friday that the board should have been made aware of Rodriguez's background.

"Although my commitment to this city and this commission remain strong, I am choosing to honor the concerns expressed by Commissioner Cornejo and therefore resign my position," Rodriguez said in a letter to Westall.

The 21-member L.A. City Council Redistricting Commission is charged with drawing boundaries for the 15 City Council Districts that will stay in effect until after the 2020 census. The commission voted last month to give Westall authority to select a media director after Dakota Communications and Cerrell Associates dropped their bids for the contract when reports surfaced that they had lobbying clients at City Hall.

Westall defended his hiring of Rodriguez as media director in an email to commissioners over the weekend. There is nothing barring the commission from hiring a lobbyist registered with the city unless the person has clients with business before the city or a financial relationship with a commissioner, Westall said in the email.

Out of four applicants for the media director position, he wrote, three worked for firms with registered lobbyists on staff or were lobbyists themselves.

Of the three others that bid for the job, one withdrew, one was not immediately available and the third submitted the most expensive bid of the four applicants.

He said Rodriguez did very little work for the city and he determined after consulting the City Attorney's Office and Ethics Commission that "there was no legal conflict with her being under contract for the commission."

"It was important for the commission to have the best possible expertise in media relations for the best value, and that was the basis of my decision and (Rodriguez's) selection," Westall wrote.

He added that he would continue looking for a new media director "with real media expertise to gain the positive traction we need."

Redistricting Commission Chair Arturo Vargas declined to comment on Rodriguez's selection, calling the issue "moot," but adding that no commissioners raised any concerns about the hiring to him.

"We're going to do everything we can to make sure public is engaged in this process," Vargas added.

He said meetings over the weekend were well attended, including about 100 attendees at a meeting in the 9th District near downtown and 75 attendees at another hearing in Pacoima. The commission is scheduled to hold 11 more public hearings across the city between now and Jan. 10.

Information about the process and a schedule of public meetings can be found at http://redistricting2011.lacity.org/.

Redistricting panel to use own staffers for outreach;
BIDDING: Commission has $95,000 to hire nonprofits to aid in public relations.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A3

LENGTH: 274 words

After failing to hire private public relations firms, the Los Angeles City Redistricting Commission agreed on Monday to have its own staff conduct outreach for a series of public hearings.

The commission instructed Executive Director Andrew Westall to have the panel's staff do the outreach to generate interest in the effort to draw new political boundaries for the City Council before its 2013 elections.

The commission last week failed to reach agreement with private firms, who subsequently withdrew their bids.

The commission said the $95,000 to be used for that contract can be redirected to hiring nonprofits or smaller firms to assist in the outreach.

An ambitious public hearing schedule also was adopted with the first hearing set for 7 p.m., next Monday in the San Fernando Valley at the LAPD Devonshire Youth Center, 8721 Wilbur Ave., Northridge.

The hearings are designed to take testimony on communities of interest and other issues before any maps are drawn. A second round of hearings around the city will be held when the first maps are drawn and before they are submitted to the City Council on March 1.

Other Valley hearings scheduled are for:

11 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 10, Alicia Broadous-Duncan Senior Center, 11200 Glenoaks Blvd., Pacoima

6:30 p.m., on Monday, Dec. 12, at the North Valley City Hall, 7747 Foothill Blvd., Tujunga

11 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 17, at the West Valley Christian Church, 22450 Sherman Way, West Hills

6:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Van Nuys City Hall, 14410 Sylvan St., Van Nuys

6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 4, at the Friendship Auditorium, 3201 Riverside Drive, Los Angeles.

L.A. DOESN'T NEED TO SPEND TAX DOLLARS ON OUTSOURCING WORK THAT CITY CAN DO ITSELF

SECTION: EDITORIAL; Pg. A14

LENGTH: 296 words

A story out of Los Angeles City Hall this week underscores one of the things that's wrong with local and state government.

The story noted that two of the city's most influential lobbying firms - Cerrell Associates and Dakota Communications - decided to withdraw their bids for a $95,000 contract to do public relations for the city's redistricting commission. The city has recently begun its once-a-decade redistricting of City Council seats.

The reasons for the withdrawals (mainly tight timelines and resources) aren't what's troubling; the fact that a city government agency is planning to hire spin doctors as part of its legislative redistricting process surely is.

The contract would include organizing a series of 15 town hall meetings. It's hard to believe that a city with hundreds of political staff can't organize a few town hall meetings without relegating the task to local lobbyists for a nearly six-figure payday.

The city's redistricting process has already run into concerns over conflicts of interest in the appointment of the 21-panel commission. Many of the appointees are political insiders and former council aides - some very recently. A stark example is the appointment of Andrew Westall as the redistricting commission's executive director earlier this month. To do so, he had to leave his job as deputy to Herb Wesson, the councilman who will soon take over the council presidency.

Now this.

We're with Redistricting Commissioner Michael Trujillo, who said "I don't think one penny of taxpayer dollars should go to a private firm."

The city and its elected representatives have plenty of resources to reach out to the public if they wanted. They don't have the need - or the money - to keep outsourcing their responsibility for public service to private firms.

Two PR Firms Spurn Remap panel;
The companies withdraw their bids. L.A.'s redistricting body will have staff develop public relations strategy.

LENGTH: 473 words

The top two firms competing to secure a $100,000 public relations contract from the Los Angeles City Council Redistricting Commission abruptly dropped out of the running Tuesday, throwing the panel's work into turmoil.

Dakota Communications and Cerrell Associates withdrew their proposals shortly before the 21-member commission was scheduled to vote. They did so the same day The Times reported that they have an array of lobbying clients at City Hall, including airport concessions and shopping malls -- a fact that irritated some neighborhood activists and advocacy groups.

Cerrell gave the commission 30 minutes' notice of its decision, officials said. In a statement, Cerrell President Lisa Gritzner said her firm pulled out because it did not want the commission to experience "unnecessary distractions."

The third-place candidate was disqualified by the city's lawyers because it has financial ties to political consultant Michael Trujillo, one of the commission's members.

The commission is charged with drawing new boundaries for the City Council's 15 districts, work that will have major implications for elected officials and the public. The panel is under the gun to hold several hearings before Christmas and more next year.

Commissioner Jose Cornejo, former chief of staff to Councilman Tony Cardenas, urged the panel to find another company. But others voiced doubts that they could accomplish a proper recruitment effort with the clock running out.

"It's not like we've got a lot of time," said Commissioner Julie Downey, who was appointed by City Atty. Carmen Trutanich.

The panel voted to have its existing staff develop an alternative public relations strategy and canceled four hearings slated Dec. 3-12 -- deciding to reschedule them later.

The commission already was off to a turbulent start. Some on the council, including Councilman Bernard C. Parks, expressed displeasure with the panel's decision to hire Andrew Westall, who until recently was a legislative deputy to Councilman Herb Wesson, as its executive director. Critics had questioned whether Westall would be inclined to draw district lines in a way favored by Wesson and his allies.

Meanwhile, neighborhood activists and advocacy groups had complained about the notion of lobbying firms handling part of the outreach to the public.

Dakota has represented such clients as Home Depot, Playa Vista and Providence Holy Cross Medical Center. Cerrell has 22 clients at City Hall, including Fresh and Easy, a grocery company that has been trying to expand in various neighborhoods across the city, including the district where Westall was a legislative staffer.

Rick Taylor, a partner with Dakota, said his firm lacked the resources to work on so many hearings before the holidays. "We dropped out because we did not think it's realistic," he said.

Lobbyist could get city work;
Firms seeking a PR contract also have clients with business before the council.

BYLINE: David Zahniser

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 766 words

Lobbying firms with an array of clients needing help from Los Angeles City Hall are vying for a consulting contract on a matter near to City Council members' hearts: redrawing the political boundaries that can affect their power -- and their reelection chances.

The council's 21-member Redistricting Commission is slated to vote Tuesday to pay a public relations consultant up to $100,000 to inform residents of the plan to draw new borders for the council's 15 districts.

The top three finalists are registered as lobbyists at City Hall, representing such interests as shopping malls, renewable energy developers and at least one billboard company. That has led some to question whether the tangle of interests between consultants and lawmakers will create a perception problem.

"I don't think this will be viewed as a positive development," said Councilwoman Jan Perry, who alleged earlier this month that new maps were being drawn out of public view.

Andrew Westall, the commission's executive director, said nothing legally bars the panel from hiring lobbyists to perform public outreach. Still, redistricting Commissioner Helen Kim said she wished she had known about the lobbying connections before she and her colleagues put forward their recommendations on the consultants Monday.

"It would have been nice if someone raised that issue," she said.

The redistricting panel is looking for someone to craft a media strategy and get the word out -- in multiple languages -- to scores of neighborhoods. The panel is charged with redrawing council districts to account for population changes reported in the 2010 census.

How the lines are shifted can help or hurt council members, depending on whether they gain or lose supportive constituencies capable of generating votes and campaign cash. Eleven public hearings are scheduled over the next month.

On Monday, three members of the commission's search committee backed Cerrell Associates, a firm with 22 lobbying clients, ranging from restaurants at L.A. International Airport to billboard company Van Wagner. The other three backed Dakota Communications, whose clients include Westfield, which is seeking council approval of a 31-acre complex in Woodland Hills.

A third company, Diverse Strategies for Organizing, was not recommended. Three commissioners said they felt company representatives had not been forthcoming about a company affiliate's financial ties to redistricting Commissioner Michael Trujillo.

Trujillo is a consultant to California Strategies, a subcontractor of Diverse Strategies. He said he would have recused himself had the proposal come up for a vote. Michael Bustamante, a principal with California Strategies, said he was surprised that Trujillo's work was an issue for the commissioners.

"If I thought it would be, it would have been very easy to disclose. I was surprised that they even asked the question," he said.

Robert Stern, former president of the Center for Governmental Studies, a watchdog group, doubted the contract would create a conflict of interest for the lobbying firms. But their involvement shows the redistricting process at City Hall is an insider's game, he said. "I guess the question is, aren't there any other PR firms that aren't registered lobbyists?" he added. "It is a big city."

Rick Taylor, a partner with Dakota, said his firm devotes no more than 10% of its time to lobbying. Lisa Gritz- ner, president of Cerrell, said she sees no connection between her firm's lobbying work and the public relations contract. "There's no agenda other than making sure that folks in Los Angeles have access to the redistricting conversation," she said.

As part of its lobbying work, Cerrell recently bused backers of a Fresh and Easy grocery store in South Los Angeles to City Hall to testify. Dakota shuttled supporters of a proposed Home Depot in Sunland-Tujunga to the council chambers.

Joe Barrett, co-director of the Sunland-Tujunga Alliance, which fought the Home Depot proposal, said he would be unhappy to see Dakota representing the redistricting process. "Dakota has a horrible reputation with our community," he said.

Larry Gross, executive director of the Coalition for Economic Survival, an advocacy group that represents tenants, voiced dismay that one of Cerrell's clients is the L.A. chapter of the California Apartment Assn., which has opposed new limits on rent hikes by landlords.

"A firm that represents landlords and has been fighting against rent control ... is going to have difficulty winning the trust of renters, who make up more than 60% of L.A. residents," he said.

REDISTRICTING FEARS;
CITY REDRAWING NOT AS INDEPENDENT AS THAT OF STATE CITIZENS COMMISSION {SUBHEAD} City redrawing not as independent as that of state citizens commission

SECTION: EDITORIAL; Pg. A6

LENGTH: 690 words

SHE might be guilty of grandstanding, but Jan Perry deserves credit for drawing attention to serious concerns about the Los Angeles City Council's redistricting process.

Perry, the councilwoman from downtown, announced last week that she has stepped down as the council's president pro tem, saying she is frustrated by colleagues' backroom deals on new district lines. Perry, also a candidate for mayor, said on a television interview that leaving a leadership position will allow her to "be less diplomatic." Yet she has declined to get specific about who is making which deals, saying, "I don't want to be petty about it."

Even without specifics, Los Angeles residents know enough to realize the method by which the city makes once-a-decade adjustments in council district maps is a long way from ideal.

The closest to ideal in recent experience is the way California did it earlier this year. A citizens commission, selected to minimize conflicts of interest, redrew state legislative and congressional districts for the 2012 elections and beyond with an emphasis on communities of interest and local geography. The surest sign that the state commission did its job well is that the results drew gripes from a wide variety of interest groups.

Latinos complained that they didn't get enough Latino-dominated legislative districts; conservatives were disappointed not to wind up with a more Republican-friendly landscape; and liberals didn't like how some popular incumbents such as San Fernando Valley Congressmen Howard Berman and Brad Sherman ended up in the same district.

If political independence is vital for the people establishing the political playing field, the message failed to reach Los Angeles county and city officials.

The L.A. County supervisors continued their practice of setting their own district maps. In September, they voted to keep boundaries essentially the same for 2012. They made the right decision, rejecting a push to give more power to Latinos by taking it away from Valley residents, but only after fighting off political pressures.

Now, the L.A. City Council is working on the districts that will be in play in the 2013 election. For the second time, it will use a 21-member panel created in the new City Charter in 1999. Ostensibly, the panel takes redistricting power out of the hands of politicians - but does it really?

Chosen as they are by city officials, the commissioners include some with worrisome connections to people whose electoral futures their map-drawing may influence. At least one is expected to run for a council seat himself.

In the latest development to raise conflict-of-interest concerns, the council appointed Andrew Westall as the redistricting commission's executive director. To serve, Westall will have to leave his job as a deputy to Councilman Herb Wesson. He also is a witness in a lawsuit that involved Councilman Bernard Parks.

The city's redistricting commission - like the county's before it - is doing some things that remind us of the state panel. It is, for instance, planning to gather residents' input by breaking into three teams of seven panel members and holding one public hearing in each of the 15 council districts. Angelenos should take advantage of the chance to tell commissioners what changes, if any, are needed.

Ultimately, the City Council will vote on the new maps. This includes five members who will run up against term limits in the 2013. This led Councilman Richard Alarcon, who is one of the five, to say: "It allows us to be more objective."

Which leaves 10 to be influenced by self-interest.

The redistricting commission must submit new maps by March 1. It faces several big issues, including the positioning of Valley districts, Latinos' call for a third Latino-majority seat in the Valley, and Asians' wish for an Asian on the council for the first time in two decades.

Let's hope the panel tries its best to make decisions in the open, independent of pressure by officeholders and candidates, and observing the bumper-sticker precept: Voters should choose their representatives, not vice versa.

Jan Perry isn't the only one who fears it won't work that well.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A1

LENGTH: 413 words

Jan Perry is shocked! "Shocked!" she says, to discover there is gambling in Casablanca.

The L.A. City Council member and mayoral wannabe resigned as president pro tem, the council's second-highest position, in high dudgeon after discovering deals are being cut behind closed doors.

Deals she's not part of - and that is what really offends her.

Can you imagine such a thing?

"We have drifted away from the kind of openness and frank discussion that has characterized this council," deadpanned Perry in her resignation letter.

Oh that Jan! What a cutup.

Apparently Jan got the jitters after discovering the backroom at City Hall where she had been cutting deals for years actually has its own backroom where an even more covert coven of uber dealmakers - the Spring Street Skull and Bones - meet.

What a blow it must have been for Perry to learn the inner circle has its own inner circle and she's a square peg.

Of course, Ms. Perry doesn't name names. That would be an unpardonable breach of City Hall etiquette. What happens in the backroom stays in the backroom - until the taxpayers of Los Angeles have to pay for the consequences.

But Perry's allegations, while vague enough to have come from City Attorney Carmen Trutanich, are worth considering.

Perry resigned ostensibly over the Citizen's Redistricting Commission, a 21-member panel tasked with re-redrawing the city's 15 council districts. Perry alleges before the commission has even been formed that secret maps have been drawn and deals cut behind closed doors.

In other words, the Citizen's Redistricting Commission is a dog-and-pony show while the real clout lies with the usual suspects who are carving up L.A. for their own personal gain.

Perry's right. This is how City Hall works.

The big money interests, the unions and developers and their water carriers in the council horseshoe, aren't about to let 21 appointed gadflies gum up the machine. If council districts need to be re-drawn, they plan on holding the crayons.

As right as she may be, it's hard not to wonder if Ms. Perry's indignation might have been tempered if the top candidate to chair the commission was one of her lieutenants rather than Andrew Westall, a Herb Wesson flunky, if you can imagine such a thing.

Perry's resignation as pro tem was a temper tantrum disguised as principle. It was really just a cheap publicity stunt designed to position Perry as a whistle-blower and reformer as she makes her bid to be the city's next mayor.

Nobody's buying that.

No. 2 on L.A. City Council quits post; Jan Perry said she was troubled by moves over redistricting and council presidency.

BYLINE: David Zahniser

SECTION: LATEXTRA; Metro Desk; Part AA; Pg. 1

LENGTH: 488 words

The No. 2-ranking official on the Los Angeles City Council resigned from her leadership post Friday, saying she was troubled by what she described as behind-the-scenes maneuvering over redistricting and the council presidency.

Jan Perry, the council's president pro tempore since 2009, voiced dismay that "private" talks had been held over replacing Councilman Eric Garcetti as president. She also suggested that new boundary lines for the council's 15 districts are being redrawn in secret, even though a 21-member commission is charged with doing that job in public.

"There are allegations that maps have already been drawn and seen before the executive director position was even filled" for the council's Redistricting Commission, said Perry, who is running for mayor in 2013.

Council members and their aides have assumed for months that Councilman Herb Wesson would replace Garcetti, a Perry ally and also a mayoral candidate. But they have not known when.

Garcetti spokeswoman Julie Wong said her boss plans to step down from the presidency at the end of the year, giving him more time for his own mayoral bid. But she said Garcetti was unaware of behind-the-scenes boundary talks. "We have not seen any maps," Wong added.

Wesson said it was premature for him to discuss the presidency. But Councilmen Bill Rosendahl and Paul Krekorian said Wesson, whose district includes Koreatown and the Crenshaw Corridor, had already asked for their support.

"It's a general feeling among all of us that he would make a great president," Rosendahl said.

While Wesson has been wooing his colleagues, one of his high-level aides has been in talks to run the Redistricting Commission. Last week, that panel voted unanimously to recruit Wesson legislative aide Andrew Westall as its new executive director.

Westall, an expert on electoral mapmaking, would not comment. But Robert Stern, former president of the Center for Governmental Studies, warned in recent weeks that the hiring raised questions about whether Westall would give Wesson preferential treatment in the boundary recommendations.

"Who does he owe his loyalties to?" Stern asked. "My guess is that Wesson would come first."

District lines are in play for downtown, Koreatown and on the Westside, according to officials familiar with the process. Also in question is whether the San Fernando Valley will get a sixth district and whether South Los Angeles will retain three districts that have significant concentrations of African American voters.

Perry and Councilman Bernard Parks also introduced a motion Friday that, if approved by the council, would require members of the Redistricting Commission to divulge the names of any group or elected official who speaks with them to discuss proposed district boundaries.

"These important issues should be discussed in the public record," Perry said.

City, LAUSD get ready to redraw lines;
VOTING: Citizen-led panels are tasked with forming new council and board of education seats.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A3

LENGTH: 571 words

The two commissions redrawing political boundaries for the city of Los Angeles and the school district are mixing old-fashioned grass-roots politics with new technology to reach out to the public for the expected controversial process.

The two panels - 21 members for the city and 15 for the school district - are charged with developing new City Council and school district maps by March 1, 2012.

"We are going to do more outreach than ever before," said Arturo Vargas, chairman of the city redistricting panel. "We will be breaking up into three teams of seven members each and hold 15 hearings, one in each council district before we even have maps.

"Then, I want the entire commission to go to parts of the city so they see the impact of the boundaries on communities."

Vargas said after a map is drawn, the panel will hold another round of hearings throughout the city to get input from the public.

While similar panels drawing new lines for Congress, the state Legislature and the county Board of Supervisors have already completed their redistricting, the city and LAUSD committees are just starting now because the next municipal election is not until 2013.

Ultimately, the committees will have to resolve a range of political conflicts. Among them is the push by some activists to add a sixth district with a majority of its territory in the Valley, rather than having two districts that straddle the Valley and other parts of L.A.

Also, because of population growth, there is pressure to create another Latino City Council district in the Valley as well as one in South Los Angeles.

The city redistricting commission is negotiating with Andrew Westall, a deputy to Councilman Herb Wesson, to serve as its executive director. Westall was a staff member to the panel 10 years ago.

The LAUSD board is expected to review applications it has received for the executive director spot. It plans to make the appointment in mid-November.

The LAUSD commission also is planning to have extensive public outreach as it redraws the seven districts for the school board.

Assistant Legislative Analyst Charles Modica, who is staffing the LAUSD panel, said it will follow a similar scheduled for a round of hearings before maps are drawn and then a second set before a final map is adopted.

Both the city and LAUSD panels are also making use of high tech programs that will allow any citizen to look at the census data and draw their own maps. The information will be at www.redistricting2011.lacity.org.

Also at that site are all documents provided the commission.

One commissioner, Leroy Chase from the San Fernando Valley, also suggested the committee make use of streaming video technology and create remote sites around the city where residents can testify to the commission.

"We have all this new technology and I think we ought to take advantage of it," Chase said.

The two panels were created in the new City Charter in 1999, to take the matter of drawing boundaries out of the hands of politicians.

While both the City Council and school board have final say on their own boundaries, there were virtually no changes when the panels met for the first time 10 years ago.

Out of that process, the two bodies generally approved the map that had been presented to them.

And at that time, the panel bent to political pressure from San Fernando Valley activists and created a fifth district wholly in the Valley.

Valley representation at crux of council debate

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A1

LENGTH: 942 words

Now that Los Angeles County has wrapped up the first round in its redrawing of political boundaries, the redistricting battle shifts to the city, where issues ranging from Latino power to San Fernando Valley representation will dominate the debate.

Two of the questions officials will wrestle with are whether to create a sixth City Council district wholly in the Valley and, separately, a third Latino-dominated district in the Valley.

The Northeast Valley's 7th District already has the highest Latino population in the entire city, at 79.5 percent - up from 73.7 percent a decade ago. But some experts say that demographic's growth over the last decade merits expanded representation, which would only take some slight reconfiguring of existing districts.

"It could be done," said Alan Clayton, an expert in reapportionment who has worked for the Los Angeles County Chicano Employees Association. "There has been growth among Latinos throughout the Valley and you could draw a clear line in the northern area to create a third district."

Given the controversy that ensued when Los Angeles County considered creating a second Latino supervisorial district, the city issue has the potential to be explosive. Some 1,300 people showed up at the Sept. 27 Board of Supervisors meeting to debate the issue; ultimately the board decided to only make minor shifts to the status quo, but Latino groups are expected to file lawsuits.

Still, other Valley activists say it doesn't matter as much to them whether the region gets another Latino City Council seat, as much as whether it gets another district overall.

Currently five of the 15 City Council districts are wholly within the Valley and two are shared with other parts of Los Angeles.

"We aren't interested if it is a Latino seat or some other group," said Stuart Waldman, president of the Valley Industry and Commerce Association. "What we believe is that the Valley needs another council district fully within the Valley and not shared with any other part of the city."

With the numbers still considered in the preliminary stage, it is not known if population growth has been enough to support an entire sixth district wholly in the Valley.

If that can't happen, then VICA and others have argued that at least one of the two partial districts - the 5th now held by Councilman Paul Koretz and the 4th, held by Councilman Tom LaBonge - should shift more to the Valley.

But Koretz, whose district includes Encino and parts of Sherman Oaks, and LaBonge, whose district includes Toluca Lake and North Hollywood, both said they would like to stay close to their current boundaries.

The city's overall population grew slightly over the past decade, from an estimated 3.69 million to 3.79 million. That means each council district will grow to about 252,000 people, up from the current 246,000.

The redistricting debate also could have an impact on the number of African-Americans on the council.

Three districts - the 8th with Councilman Bernard Parks; the 9th with Councilwoman Jan Perry and the 10th with Councilman Herb Wesson - have been the three traditional African-American seats.

But because of Latino growth, particularly in the downtown area, the 9th District already is a Latino majority district, with 75 percent of the population.

"We will be watching to see the integrity of the African-American population remains as it is," said Leon Jenkins, president of the Los Angeles NAACP.

"We would not like to see our populations divided so that our votes are diminished. It is not a black versus Hispanic thing. We want to see that all groups are represented fairly.

"It is not about losing a seat if the districts are fairly drawn and equitable to all concerned. It is the integrity of the process that is important."

Another potential voice this year could come from the Asian-American community, which has not had a representative since Councilman Michael Woo gave up his seat in 1993 to run for mayor.

The Asian population has grown dramatically throughout the city, but more so around the downtown area since 2000. Asians now represent 17.1 percent of the population in the district represented by Councilman Ed Reyes and 15.4 percent in Wesson's district, which includes Koreatown.

Deanna Kitamura, state redistricting official with the Asian Pacific American Legal Center, said her organization is reviewing the city data and will be involved in the process.

"It's too early for us to say what we will be proposing," Kitamura said. "But we are definitely interested in what the city does.

Because five of the 15 council members are termed out over the next two years, city officials have a little more flexibility in redrawing the lines this time than they had a decade ago.

"It allows us to be more objective," said Councilman Richard Alarcon, who is termed out in 2013. "What is interesting is all the factors that need to be considered and are at play."

Members of the reapportionment committees who are drafting the maps for the City Council and the Los Angeles Unified School District are not expected to make as dramatic shifts this year when compared with the 2000 plans.

In that case, the panel was under more pressure to give the Valley another council district and create one with a majority Latino vote. As a result, the 6th Council District, then represented by Councilwoman Ruth Galanter, was moved from the area around Los Angeles International Airport to the central San Fernando Valley and is now represented by Councilman Tony Cardenas.

The commissions for City Council and LAUSD are supposed to submit their proposed maps by March, to take effect for the 2013 elections.

The Daily News of Los Angeles

September 10, 2011 Saturday
VALLEY EDITION

L.A. redistricting process under way; POLITICS: Valley areas are expected to be key in the creation of new boundaries.

SECTION: NEWS; Pg. A5

LENGTH: 398 words

Launching a process potentially fraught with controversy, the 21-member Los Angeles Redistricting Commission began work Friday to draw new voting boundaries for the City Council and school district.

Based on data from the 2010 census, the panel has until March 1 to hold public meetings and develop boundaries for the 15 council and seven school board seats.

"This is politics at its most raw," City Council President Eric Garcetti told the panel as it held its first meeting at the Los Angeles Police Administration Building.

Garcetti said the commission is charged with developing district maps that reflect the city.

"It's often said when you visit Los Angeles, you are visiting the world," Garcetti said. "When I travel, I feel comfortable anywhere in the world because of my experiences in Los Angeles.

"You will get the most basic lesson in politics - the lesson on the need to listen to the public."

Among the panel's first chores will be naming a chairman and hiring an executive director to staff the panel and coordinate its activities. The city also plans to create a page on its website, lacity.org, to post information for the public.

The creating of new voting districts is certain to spark debate over efforts to establish a political advantage. The battlegrounds are expected to include the San Fernando Valley, where the creation of a third predominently Latino district is likely to be proposed.

Two other districts in the Valley are now primarily Latino, the 6th District represented by Councilman Tony Cardenas, and the 7th District of Councilman Richard Alarcon.

Alan Clayton, a retired redistricting expert, said the growth of the Latino population from Pacoima through Arleta could result in the creation of a district that would carve up the 2nd Council District area now represented by Paul Krekorian.

"All the numbers are still being developed, but it is an area to be looked at," said Clayton, who worked for the Los Angeles County Chicano Employees Association and has been involved in numerous court battles over reapportionment.

There is also expected to be pressure on the panel from business and homeowner groups to increase the Valley's clout in two districts that cross over into the Los Angeles basin.

Those are the districts now represented by Councilman Tom LaBonge in the East Valley and Councilman Paul Koretz in the West Valley.

1. APPROVE the application relative to renaming a community Sherman Oaks, roughly located in a neighborhood north of Burbank Boulevard, south of Oxnard Street, east of Sepulveda Boulevard and west of Hazeltine Avenue, with the following boundaries:

   a. Eastern Boundary – North side of Burbank Boulevard, West side of Hazeltine, North side of Califa/Tiara.

Califa Street is located along the Western end of the North Boundary. The street does not have passage through to Sepulveda Boulevard which is the Western boundary. The applicants request that a boundary line is extended from the North West corner of the intersection of Califa and Halbrent to Sepulveda Boulevard to the West.

   c. Exclusion – East and West side of Van Nuys Boulevard consistent with the current exclusion from Magnolia Boulevard through Burbank Boulevard.

   d. Western Boundary – East side of the 405 Freeway.

Community Impact Statement: Yes
Against Proposal: Van Nuys Neighborhood Council
Sherman Oaks Neighborhood Council

SUMMARY

At its regular meeting held on June 23, 2009, the Education and Neighborhoods Committee considered an application filed by Laurette Healy requesting to change a community name to Sherman Oaks. This community is roughly located in a neighborhood north of Burbank Boulevard, south of Oxnard Street, east of Sepulveda Boulevard and west of Hazeltine Avenue. The properties petitioning for a name change are comprised of approximately 1,855 parcels and are located within two postal zip code areas; 91411 and 91401.

The Office of the City Clerk provided a summary of the application chronology which is attached to the Council file. The application was filed on September 23, 2008 and, after City Clerk staff verified the requisite number of signatures on the petition accompanying the application, it was approved for processing on October 8, 2008. The Department of Neighborhood Empowerment reports that the Sherman Oaks Neighborhood Council, the Van Nuys Neighborhood Council, Lake Balboa Neighborhood Council and Greater Valley Glen Council were all notified of the proposal to rename a portion of Van Nuys to Sherman Oaks. The Sherman Oaks Neighborhood Council and Van Nuys Neighborhood Council held public hearings on January 9, 2009 and January 14, 2009, respectively, and voted to oppose the proposed name change from Van Nuys to Sherman Oaks. Both Neighborhood Councils submitted Community Impact Statements to the Council file. The Lake Balboa Neighborhood Council and the Greater Valley Glen Council did not hold hearings on the subject. Additionally, the City Clerk, Records Management Division, and the Public Works, Bureau of Engineering, submitted reports relative to the application.

During the discussion of this matter, the applicant briefly presented background information concerning the community and addressed related questions from the Committee members. Since the proposed community is located within the boundaries of Council District Two, staff representing Councilmember Wendy Greuel addressed the Committee. The representative of Councilmember Greuel's Office spoke in support of the application and petition to officially rename the community Sherman Oaks and requested a technical amendment to describe the western boundary as the east side of the 405 Freeway. After an opportunity for public comment, the Committee recommended to approve the application to rename a community Sherman Oaks as amended to describe the western boundary as the east side of the 405 Freeway. This matter is now forwarded to the Council for its consideration.

MOTION

The community of Rose Hills has been in existence for hundreds of years since the colonial Spanish era previously known as Rosa de Castilla Spanish for "Rose of Castile".

Rose Hills as this community is currently identified by local residents is in the process of restoring its rightful place among several communities surrounding the El Sereno area. Because of its place in history the Bureau of Engineering has determined that this community could be grandfathered, allowing the installation of community signs.

Leaders of Rose Hills and residents have collected signatures and the approval of its local neighborhood council and adjacent communities for the posting of community signs.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Council direct the Department of Transportation to put up signs for the existing community of Rose Hills in Council District 14 in Northeast Los Angeles at the following locations:

- Monterey Road North on the west side, south of Monterey Road before entering the Community of Hermon at the Monterey Road Pass.
- The corner of Huntington Dr. North and Collis; on the second light pole in the center median south of Collis.
- Soto Street North on the eastside of Soto Street North and Mission; before the Soto Street Bridge.

LITTLE ETHIOPIA

Subject
Motion - The City of Los Angeles comprises a variety of communities that make up our rich existence as a multi-cultural metropolis. The City has recognized this for many years and has periodically designated certain geographic areas with names based upon historical significance, current cultural attributes, location and other unique characteristics. Within Council District Ten on Fairfax Avenue between Pico Boulevard and Olympic Boulevard there is a large recent influx of Ethiopian identity businesses and residents. In fact most, if not all of the businesses in this area are owned and operated by people of Ethiopian cultural identity. Several residents, community members, and community organizations have requested the City to officially designate a specific area as "Little Ethiopia." There has been overwhelming support by the community and a commitment to work towards the positive development of the area, once designated as "Little Ethiopia." In order to proceed with this designation, action is needed to approve it and to direct the Department of Public Works (Bureau of Engineering) and Department of Transportation to provide the necessary resources to implement the designation of "Little Ethiopia." THEREFORE MOVE that Fairfax Avenue between Pico boulevard and Olympic Boulevard in Council District Ten be designated as "Little Ethiopia." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Public Works be directed to implement the designation of "Little Ethiopia." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Transportation be instructed to design and install signs at appropriate locations in order to identify "Little Ethiopia."

SUMMARY

In the application submitted on February 10, 2009, the community boundaries were listed as Melrose Avenue on the north, Pico Boulevard on the south, Vermont Avenue and Hoover Street on the east, and Crenshaw Boulevard and Wilton Place on the west. In a transmittal dated May 18, 2009, the Bureau of Engineering stated that the area described in the application is a part of Country Club Park, Koreatown, Pico Union, Wilshire Center, Hancock Park and Melrose community areas. The Bureau also noted that the proposed area extends into the Olympic Park Neighborhood Council (NC), Pico Union NC, MacArthur Park NC, Greater Wilshire NC, Olympic Park NC, and Wilshire Center - Koreatown NC areas.

Title
THAI COMMUNITY OF LOS ANGELES

Subject
Motion - The City of Los Angeles comprises a variety of communities that make up our rich tapestry of cultures. Periodically, the City designates a certain geographic area with a name based upon historical significance, location and other unique Characteristics. Within Council District Thirteen (13) in the east Hollywood section, there is an area that is a major economic and cultural hub for the Thai Community of Los Angeles. There is a high concentration of Thai businesses and residents in east Hollywood. This area has also been the site of the annual Thai Cultural Day Parade for the last few years. According to a needs assessment survey in 1992 conducted by the non-profit Thai Community Development Corporation yielding 600 responses, there was overwhelming support for an official "Thai Town" designation by the City of Los Angeles. In 1998, a Thai Town Formation Committee was formed consisting of diverse members from different sectors of the Thai community. The Committee formulated a community development, business improvement, and neighborhood beautification plan, which includes a recommendation that the City adopt the official "Thai Town" designation. In 1999, organizers canvassed local residents, merchants, and property owners, and again discovered there is road-based community support for an official designation. The significance of an official "Thai Town" designation would be the promotion of neighborhood pride, multi-cultural/ethnic exchange, and tourism giving the Tai community a greater voice in Southern California. It is important that the Council support this endeavor by directing the Department of Public Works (Bureau of Engineering) and Department of Transportation to provide the necessary resources to implement the designation of "Thai Town." THEREFORE MOVE that the area of Hollywood Boulevard between Normandie Avenue and Western Avenue be designated as "Thai Town". FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Public Works implement the designation of "Thai Town." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Transportation be instructed to design and install signs at appropriate locations in order to identify "Thai Town."

Title
HISTORIC FILIPINOTOWN

Subject
Motion - The City of Los Angeles comprises a variety of communities that make up our rich existence as a multi-cultural metropolis. The City has recognized this for many years and has periodically designated certain geographic areas with names based upon historical significance, current cultural attributes, location and other unique characteristics. Within Council District Thirteen there is a significant population of persons of Filipino ancestry and Filipino-Americans who call the district home. In particular, there is a high concentration of persons of Filipino ancestry in the area commonly referred to as the Temple-Beverly corridor. Person of Filipino origin have populated and continue to populate this area ever since the first large-scale immigration and migration of Filipinos in the early twentieth century. Today, persons of Filipino background comprise the second largest group of Asian origin people in Los Angeles County with 261,794 residing in the county. Within this corridor and its proximity, there are several Filipino businesses, restaurants, churches, community organizations, social services, and health clinics. It is a community of Filipino homeowners and renters as well. Several residents, community members, and community organizations have requested the City to officially designate a specific area as "Historic Filipinotown." Council District Thirteen has worked with key residents, community members, and organizations to form an "Historic Filipinotown" Committee to look at the official designation of an "Historic Filipinotown." This effort has included reaching out to the community through community consultative groups to receive their reaction and vision of an "Historic Filipinotown." There has been overwhelming support by the community and a commitment to work towards the positive development of the area, once designated as "Historic Filipinotown." In order to proceed with this designation, action is needed to approve it and to direct the Department of Public Works (Bureau of Engineering) and Department of Transportation to provide the necessary resources to implement the designation of "Historic Filipinotown." THEREFORE MOVE that the area bounded on the east by Glendale Boulevard, on the north by the 101 Freeway, on the west by Hoover Street, and the south by Beverly Boulevard be designated as "Historic Filipinotown." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Public Works be directed to implement the designation of "Historic Filipinotown." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Transportation be instructed to design and install signs at appropriate locations in order to identify "Historic Filipinotown."

Title
LITTLE ARMENIA

Subject
Motion - The City of Los Angeles comprises a variety of communities that make up our rich tapestry of cultures. In recognition of this diversity the City occasionally designates a certain geographic area with a name based upon historical significance, location and other unique characteristics. Within Council District Thirteen (13) in the East Hollywood section, there is an area that is the traditional birthplace of the Armenian community of Los Angeles and a major economic and cultural hub for the Armenian community. This area contains a high concentration of Armenian businesses and residents and social and cultural institutions including schools, churches, social and athletic organizations. The Armenian business and residential community in this area has indicated an overwhelming support for an official "Little Armenia" designation by the City of Los Angeles. Organizers have canvassed local residents, merchants, and property owners, and have confirmed that there is broad-based community support for an official designation. The significance of an official "Little Armenia" designation would be the promotion of neighborhood pride, multi-cultural/ethnic exchange, and tourism giving the Armenian community a more identifiable presence and voice in Los Angeles. In order to proceed with this designation, action is needed to approve it and to direct the Department of Public Works (Bureau of Engineering) and Department of Transportation (DOT) to provide the necessary resources to implement the designation of "Little America." THEREFORE MOVE that the area bounded on the north by Hollywood Boulevard between the 101 Freeway and Vermont Avenue, on the east by Vermont Avenue from Hollywood Boulevard to Santa Monica Boulevard, on the south by Santa Monica Boulevard between Vermont Ave and the 101 Freeway and on the west by the 101 Freeway from Santa Monica Boulevard to Hollywood Boulevard be designated as "Little Armenia." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Public Works be directed to implement the designation of "Little Armenia." FURTHER MOVE that the Department of Transportation (DOT) be instructed to design and install signs at appropriate locations in order to identify "Little Armenia."
