Dear Mr. Manzano:

Thank you for taking the time to participate in my recent "Coffee With Your Congressman" meeting at Huntington Drive Elementary School on Saturday, July 23, 2011. I appreciated the opportunity to update you on my work in Washington, D.C., and I came away from our meeting with a better understanding of the issues and priorities you would like to see addressed. The input you provided will play a key role in my decision making process as I work to set a new direction for our country in Congress.

The most important part of the meeting for me was the question and answer session. I heard loud and clear your concerns about the state of our economy, budget deficits and many other issues. As your representative in Congress, I am committed to staying informed and aware of the issues important to you.

Again, thank you for participating in the democratic process by joining our community in this open forum. I look forward to continuing our discussion at future meetings, and online at <http://Becerra.House.Gov>. Please remember that my office is available to help with any federal matter that concerns you.

Many thanks!

Sincerely,

The Honorable Jose Huizar
Councilmember, 14th District
City of Los Angeles
200 N. Spring Street, Room 465
Los Angeles, CA 90012

Councilmember Huizar,

I am writing to express my support for the Rose Hills community in their request for additional landmark signs from the City of Los Angeles. These signs will serve to better identify this important community in Northeast Los Angeles.

Although I am a newly elected Senator representing this area, I am well aware of how important these signs can be for fostering civic pride and creating a stronger sense of community among the people who reside in these neighborhoods. Since 1967, a number of such communities have been identified and recognized by the City of Los Angeles with signs placed in highly visible areas.

It is my understanding that there is currently only one sign in place for the Rose Hills community, and that a previously installed sign in another location was vandalized and never replaced.

Please let me know what I can do to work with you and the residents of Rose Hills to facilitate this request. I look forward to working with you as one of the representatives serving your council district in Sacramento. Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns on this or any other matter.

Sincerely,

We would like to clarify a misunderstanding from the El Sereno Historical Society relating to the Community name of Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish and School. We are not part of the El Sereno Community. Our Lady of Guadalupe Parish and School resides in the Rose Hill Community and by supporting this motion 11-2057, that has been sponsored by Councilman Jose Huizar and Councilman Rosendahl, we ask for your support to move forward with said motion to have closure on this subject. For clarity our Archdiocese archival records have us listed as the community of Rose Hill.

Sincerely in Christ,

November, 2011

To those Parties of Interest & Public Citizens,

This letter is being prepared to indicate that LA-32 Neighborhood Council is in support of a request for additional community signs within our Boundaries. There have been many community discussions and ample opportunities to provide engaged dialogue regarding the request for "Community Signs", including that of the Land Use Committee.

During a Regular General Board Meeting held in April 2011, our Neighborhood Council voted in the Affirmative to adopt the Land Use Committee's recommendations. It was noted that University Hills and Hillside Village each have five displayed signs. A Motion was introduced to replace and provide for additional signage in 90032, including one with the community of 'El Sereno', to be placed on Eastern, north of Valley. Three 'Rose Hills' signs would be requested by Council Member Huizar and two 'Rose Hills' signs are requested by Council Member Reyes.

The request to retain community Identity started over six years ago, and has grown into the "Blooming Beauty" that will be secured for generations to come. Rose Hills traces its origins to over 7,000 years with the reference to the flower of grace and resilience, the ROSE.

The community of Rose Hills has gained support from the Lincoln Heights Neighborhood Council as well as the Arroyo Seco Neighborhood Council, providing for additional discussion and fact finding. Many local communities have promoted their historical roots to the era of Spain/Mexico calling this area 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla'. Rose Hills is proud to have the unique distinction of such an historic past and wishes to preserve and promote in the future.

With this letter, along with countless archives validating its historic reference for millenniums, and the signatures of hundreds of residents showing support, and support from three Neighborhood Councils, we ask that we gain City Council support as well.

Sincerely,

Anthony Manzano

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is in reference to a proposed community sign that select members from the community of Rose Hills have proposed placing on the last pole on the northbound side of Soto Street before arriving at the transition bridge at on Mission Rd. and Soto Street. As I understand it, this sign will indicate to the northbound traffic that they are entering the community of Rose Hills.

As president of Hillside Village Property Owner's Association, we as a group or community, do not oppose the placement of their "Rose Hill's" community sign being placed at this previously agreed upon location (The last pole on the northbound side of Soto St. before arriving at the Mission/Soto transition bridge).

If there are any further questions to clarify our positions on this matter, I may be contacted at 323 547-6067. Thank you for your attention in this matter.

ON SEPTEMBER 4, 1781, ELEVEN FAMILIES OF POBLADORES (44 PERSONS INCLUDING CHILDREN) ARRIVED AT THIS PLACE FROM THE GULF OF CALIFORNIA TO ESTABLISH A PUEBLO WHICH WAS TO BECOME THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES. THIS COLONIZATION ORDERED BY KING CARLOS III OF SPAIN WAS CARRIED OUT UNDER THE DIRECTION OF GOVERNOR FELIPE DE NEVE.

NOT UNTIL 77 YEARS LATER WERE THE BOUNDARIES OF THE FOUR SQUARE LEAGUES OF THE ORIGINAL PUEBLO FORMALLY ESTABLISHED AND CONFIRMED TO THE CITY BY THE U.S. LAND COMMISSION. NOTES OF U.S. DEPUTY SURVEYOR HENRY HANCOCK RECORD THE SURVEY, "COMMENCED SEPTEMBER 13, 1858, AT THE CENTER OF THE PLAZA IN FRONT OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH ... AT WHICH POINT I SET A POST MARKED C. THE LAND OF RANCHOS AND CONTENTMENT

THE FIRST MAP OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

This old map, drawn in the ancient records of the San Gabriel Mission to establish the proper boundaries for Mission lands, is probably the first ever drawn of Southern California by anyone residing here. It shows the architecture of each building. The following is the translation of the handwriting appearing at the bottom of the map; and after it is a translation of the words scattered over the map, as indicated by number in red:

That you may clearly and distinctly understand what San Gabriel is and will be, we eliminate words and make a graphic presentation of the facts.

First, Rosa Castilla is claimed by Los Angeles. The Old Mission (Mision Vieja) yields nothing. At Los Nietos, only Tomas Collina remains and even he himself says this is the last year he is going to pay, as he is going to sell to the Americans. Neither Coyotes (ranch) nor Don Pio (Pico's ranch) produce even a pin.

Should R. P. Amable be contented with the upper ranches, including the D. B. Yorba's ranch, this is all that might in good earnest be separated from San Gabriel, and this I do not say for my own sake, but for other peoples' sake, as God knows. And if he wants it so and the same is granted to him, even including the Don Ricardo Bejar (ranch) and the Ibarres (ranch). And should you also take San Juan, the Yorbas and the Ibarres (ranches), just compute what would remain for any San Gabriel padre. Just the La Puente where Americans live and the new American pueblo.

How Los Angeles City Limits Have Been Changed

Some Interesting Data Derived from Local History.

The Old Dutch Cove included the Territory from its Mouth to the Boundary Line.

Few of American cities during the period of their municipal existence have had so many different boundaries as Los Angeles. The variations in the limits of Los Angeles have not resulted so much from growth, as from the varied municipal lines and customs of the different nations that have vied in domination in this past one hundred and sixteen years.

During the early years that Los Angeles was under the domination of Spain the area of the pueblo was four square leagues (a Spanish league contains 444 acres.) Its boundary lines were run and the exact territory over which residents of the pueblo exercised jurisdiction was not clearly defined.

During the twenty-five years that the Mexican republic controlled the government of California, the Los Angeles depended from its farmers to sustain.

2. One of the fifty years that California has formed part of the United States, the area of the state has alternately expanded and contracted. At the close of the Mexican war, the California (1848) cession added to the Los Angeles district jurisdiction over sixteen square leagues. When the city was incorporated by the Legislature of the Territory of California, April 18, 1850, the area of the city by the act of incorporation was limited to four leagues.

Before the United States Land Commission, operating in 1901, to establish the boundaries of the Grants in San Juan County, the city authorities had claims to adjacent square leagues. When in 1901 the Land Commission finally placed the city's claims on the area, the same contained no four square leagues. And this for forty years has virtually been its limit. That the boundary lines have drifted east and forward with constant surveys until the grant point on my map is now 1000 feet farther to the east side and the eastern corner "no longer can find out."

The various chambers in the bowels of our city, the territorial chambers alternately exercised and abandoned over territory outside of its proper limits, and how these changes were brought about form an interesting chapter of our city's history—a chapter unknown to the general public.

the great mass of his present residence, in view of the prospective annexation of territory east within the city's limits, and the complications that may grow out of annexation on the water question and other questions. This part of our city's history is of vital interest to every property owner within its

A very interesting story provides among writers of history that the late Pacific de Nuestra Señora in Sierra de Los Angeles, founded by Gas. Pizarro de Nova, September 4, 1541, was simply a town in the common or American conception of that word. The little settlement of eleven families (including) whose main claim was spiritual around the place, their seats in the present site of the Church of Our Lady of the Angels, was intended for the term of a century and it was the nucleus of a center in the same manner as the village settlement that built its low walls around the common square and meeting-house of Plymouth, in 1630. The plan of colonization was the same: a high, enclosed common square or plain at the center from which the radiating radiated.

river, etc. This, it is true, is national history, and the average reader may fail to see of what value it is to the citizens of the city now. In the early years of the momentous water problem and in the fighting to a finish of the perpetrating water war, everything that pertained to the proprietary rights of the old owners was of vital importance in the property-holders and taxpayers who will be compelled to put up or clean up the carry on the war. Our right to the water of the river comes through the proprietary rights accorded to the old owners by the State.

When the American flag was hoisted, the King of Spain, when Los Angeles passed under the domination of the republic of Mexico, it was not a little change in the form of the municipal government of the pueblo. The title the pueblo hence was vested in the alcalde and the ayuntamiento. In 1821 the ayuntamiento of California proclaimed the sovereignty of the pueblo of Los Angeles to be "two leagues to each ward from the center of the place." (The terms in each ward being used instead of the cardinal points of the compass.) The alcalde was the chief of the

On the 22d of May, 1833, Los Angeles, by an act of the Mexican Congress, was "created" into a city, and made the capital of Alta California. The ciudad de Los Angeles, at the creation, was a city of unimportant dimensions. According to the historians, designated the previous year, "two leagues in each direction from the center of the plaza"—that is, within square leagues, or what we should call ten square miles—were said to be a greater Los Angeles.

In 1848, before the conquest, an attempt was made to define the city limits. All that was done, however, was to designate two lines in the direction of the four winds and not making the boundary lines. And these were the boundaries of the City of the American conquest. The California Legislature at the first session, passed an act, known

4. 12th. In incorporating the city of Los Angeles and its boundaries, sometimes the reader is made to believe that the word "all" that comes of land is included within the limits of the municipality of Los Angeles as heretofore known and acknowledged legal boundaries. He is not. The city of Los Angeles, as it has already been known, is a city of four square miles. However, that if such limits include more than four square miles, the Council should be authorized the limit of the city not to include more than a small quantity of land outside its heretofore acknowledged boundaries, and therefore to be the boundaries of the city. The act provided that the city of Los Angeles should succeed to all the rights, claims and powers of the city of Los Angeles in regard to the property. The Legislature has manifested its liking the city limit at four square miles. "All that tract of students in the public schools," has been been known for four square miles. The city of Los Angeles has subdivided the most south of 12th street, and west of Main, into blocks. To Twelfth street, all lots into blocks in Twelfth street. This act would have put all of the city in the neighborhood of 12th street, and therefore the greater Los Angeles of sixteen square miles. Los Angeles of half a block. These independent legislators seem not to have known the difference between four square miles and four square blocks.

When the United States Land Commission was last here in the Hawaiian Islands, it was the first time since the war that the United States had been in the Hawaiian Islands. The commission was in the Hawaiian Islands to investigate the Hawaiian Islands and to determine the status of the Hawaiian Islands. The commission was in the Hawaiian Islands to investigate the Hawaiian Islands and to determine the status of the Hawaiian Islands. tract known as donation 1222. The proposed city limits of 1853, on the south front of the river extended over 100 miles below the present boundary line of the city, and on the west nearly two miles beyond the present city boundary. Canyon, West Canyon, Diamond, University, and Riverside, the suburbs that sought incorporation in the city last fall, and came very near doing so, are located in this territory. The historic, source of the river, the world's largest and deepest waterfall, the spring with Washington, in British Columbia followed Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams and Jackson rivers. All these historic names part of the first three, being the names of Presidents, have been changed to Adams and Jefferson, and of Adams and in the garden of University and Riverside. The July 25th, George Hanger, Deputy County Surveyor, surveyed the three boundary lines of the northern limit of Los Angeles, the actual, well known, and the proposed. The actual is on the south by the Rancho San Antonio and Los Angeles on the west by the Rancho Paso de la Tijera de T. Rancho, La Cienega and de los Rios on the north by the Rancho Los Rios, of La Cienega, the Rancho Los Rios, of La Cienega, the Rancho Los Rios, of La Cienega. The actual boundary line contained 11,111 acres, about fifty square miles, including the area transferred to the city by the land commission the next year. In the incorporation scheme carried the south boundary west of the river and the west boundary of the city, the city will have to conform to the actual boundary line.

The United States Land Commission in 1954 condemned the site a tract of four square leagues (nearly twenty-eight square miles) and rejected the claim to all outside of that. This area was bounded north and south by parallel lines two leagues in length, and

And great sides by two parallel lines each two inches in length and running north and south. The sides are finger marks from the center of the palm. Six other prints five years of experience and contraction the only prints applied down to the dimensions of two. Father the George's portrait of 1835 - was 23 inches high with measured from the center of the forehead. And that it has been measured with full little variations for each year.

The presence of certain suburban districts is to be attributed to the fact that we should be expanding all the communities—no longer, as before, the city only. Whatever complications may grow out of the expansion of the city limits, it is not at all likely that the interests of the parties to the association will be adverse, that there been a united effort by the city authorities before the decision on this suburban district would have been part of the city's domain. EN thousand sons and daughters of Italy, new residents of Los Angeles, swarmed through Rose Hill park all day yesterday in a gala celebration of Press di Roma, Italian Independence day. Except for the absence of pyrotechnic displays, the occasion might well have been mistaken for a genuine old-time Fourth of July—even to the calling hot dogs "victory cigars."

Rabbi Ernest R. Feinstein, who took charge of the work in the summer of 1941, laid a copper box containing various documents in the synagogues and delivered an address.

"The synagogue is the heart of the Jewish community," he declared. "It is the dynamic which generates the ethics, the aspirations, the soul power and the idealism of the people."

The Baird Park company still owns some choice hilltop lots and several residences for the three Baird brothers for whom Bairdstown was named.

Mrs. Julia Hild of 4447 Tourmaline street, Rose Hill, gave a birthday surprise in the honor of Mr. Jack Hild. Covers were laid for twelve and a fine lunch was served late in the afternoon. The rooms were handsomely decorated in yellow chrysanthemums. Those present were Mr. J. Striker, Mrs. Helling of Fort Smith, Arkansas, Mrs. Wm. Dixon, Mrs. L. Wietz, Mrs. J. State Committee Inspects College Site Here

Rose Hills is the best site for Los Angeles State college. This was the general consensus of local citizens and city officials last Tuesday, when they met at the Rose Hills administration building with members of the college site committee, headed by James Dent, state director of finance.

Among speakers attending the need for a four-year educational institution in this area was Earl District Commissioner John Holmsted, who acted as temporary chairman of the meeting due to the illness of Assemblyman Clarence Davis.

It was decided that Rose Hills offer a site at a reasonably negotiated cost of $200,000, compared to other sites that would cost between three and business and industry. "And I believe that the interest of the legislature should be carried out," he concluded.

Anderson revealed that the Rose Hills area is located in the midst of a middle class community and close to business and industry. "If the college were located here, the many students who had to work their way through school would be able to find jobs at this area," he added.

That shown C. N. Davis of the Montevideo Improvement Association, mentioned a large scale map of Los Angeles before the committee with a circle showing the location of metropolitan population which would be served by the college.

At the event that the college was established in the Valley and stated of the metropolitan area, Davis said, "You can see that a

SUCCESSFULLY MAKES ROUND TRIP TEST

Goes Up Road Over Portions of Which

The successful climb of an Autocar over Rose Hill yesterday forenoon set a new pace for adventurous demonstrations to follow. To accommodate The Herald's automobile writer H. B. Gilley cranked up his touring car, and with a party of five went out to the east city limits on Pasadena boulevard to see what the possibilities or impossibilities of the grade up the hill might be.

Two blocks to the left from Pasadena boulevard after crossing the Short Line tracks the car was driven a block to Rose Hill station. No chance was afforded the car for a run at the hill on account of the crossing and the short distance to the foot of the steep incline. When the tracks were crossed the gears were thrown into the intermediate and the car began its work.

It was not long until the low gear had to be engaged, and then the little 14-horse power motor began to purr and sing as if it enjoyed turning around ten or more times to one revolution of the rear wheels. Up and up the car went around two sharp turns until it reached the hog's back, where a steep pitch and a sharp turn sent the car in the opposite direction and up the ridge of the hill.

A. city limits and a 5-cent fare with transfers to ride 10 miles or more if desired. The Baird Park company still owns some choice hilltop lots and several residences for the three Baird brothers for whom Bairdstown was named have held onto this tip-top hill-top property to be improved in a style worthy of its superior location and dominating importance.

Baird brothers have done much for Bairdstown and they can do one more thing to insure them perpetual gratitude and fond remembrance and that is to dedicate to the public, as "Baird Park," the small piece of land between Ingram Ave. and the boulevard to be improved to correspond with the adjoining nursery and the elegant grounds near by. Looking at it from the station tens of thousands of passengers might see the name "Baird Park" in verdure or in bloom against background of drooping pepper trees and the slope of that grand old hill. Then whether this town and vicinity shall be called by the name of Baird or not, the park will ever remain

Mrs. Julia Hild of 4427 Floralview street, Rose Hill, gave a birthday surprise in the honor of Mr. Jack Hild. Covers were laid for twelve and a fine lunch was served late in the afternoon. The rooms were handsomely decorated in yellow chrysanthemums. Those present were Mr. J. Striker, Mrs. Helling of Fort Smith, Arkansas, Mrs. Wm. Dixon, Mrs. L. Wietz, Mrs. J. Langowsky, Miss Florence Wietz, Mrs. Hild, Miss Margaret Weitz and Mr. P. J. Langowsky of Escondido, Cal.

Arthur Holmes took a tumble to himself while riding his motorcycle within the speed limit, and thinking of the past, but not aware of the future, met a telephone pole that he thought some heartless corporation had placed in the center of the boulevard, but after gathering some of his senses found the pole was on the side of the road, and his eyes had deceived him, so he gathered up his motorcycle and went to the hospital with a 3-inch gash in his head.

To the Hon. City Council of Los Angeles

We the undersigned Citizens and tax-payers would respectfully represent and show that we are living ^{near} on Superior Court, located ~~between~~ N. Broadway and Huntington Avenue that the place adjoining where we live to wit: at 4101 Mission Road there is being kept a number of lions said lions by their roaring day and night constitute a public nuisance.

Recently old horses have been slaughtered here and the stench from remains which have been only partly buried has been unbearable at times.

We therefore pray to have this double nuisance abolished.

LIONS NOT AGREEABLE NEIGHBORS

Rose Hill People Will Put Up With Most Everything but King of Beasts

The people of Rose Hill want it distinctly understood that they do not object to ordinary city noises, such as automobiles, street cars, steam trains and even the mooing of cows and the occasional crowing of roosters, but in a petition filed at the City Hall yesterday they utter a most raucous protest against a flock of lions which has been planted in their midst. The petition declared that, "said lions by their roaring day and night constitute a public nuisance," and they asked the City Council to please stop the lions from roaring or remove the animals from Rose Hill.

The lions, the petition declared, are located at 401 Mission Road, and are presumably there for motion-picture purposes, to be rented out when one of Douglas Fairbanks's or Gloria Swanson's films require some roaring lions. The Rose Hill people say that roaring lions may be excellent for motion pictures, but as neighbors the animals are most obnoxious.

The petition was signed by E. H. Strong and other property owners in the vicinity of Superior Court on North Broadway and Huntington Drive, and also by the Rose Hill Civic Improvement League.

Stapenhorst indicates that it will be a matter of only a few weeks until the program will be necessary for individuals diving between Los Angeles and Pasadena and other points on the coast in some part of the most dangerous prime areas that there is in all of Southern California. city. Some two are used by local and some by through trains. Trains are run through in an average of about seven or eight minutes. There is a long car in the tracks and, although passengers have been told down and passengers are not given control in approaching there have been a large number of accidents because of the difficulty of such approaching trains. The cars are not run on a track where they are waiting, but have an electric signal which means stop, and after other cars are passing, then they pass and approach each of the passengers who should be made safe with electric signals and overhead crossing which are used by the city.

Charles S. Macdonald, manager of the Los Angeles branch of American Brick Association Co., and Daniel W. Johnson, the American manager here, made an inspection of the new road a few days ago in one of the new approaches, and found that the road was not so good as the one from Los Angeles which was made by the Los Angeles who are now to reach San Gabriel, points out the valley to the north, between and all the way down to the city from that part of the country, and it is not to the fact that they can have a direct path and better

The necessity for this decision to alter the route here will be apparent through the construction of a new road, which is now nearing completion. This road takes off from the present highway just before the crossing is reached and leads to the north.

It points out the fraction on the west side is a point beyond the present bridge over the river leading at a point near Washington where it appears to the nearest road. When completed, the road will remove all need for using the dangerous narrow foot path on the part of those now passing along on the shore between of Washington and between the shore.

A Landmark Case Being Reinstated

The great fire sweeping of the Pacific Electric System has long been considered an unsafe and minor accident have happened at this point. A new line is being constructed which will eliminate this crossing. At Los Angeles, one of the most dangerous places within is shown on the four-track grade and below the highest being built around the grade, doing away with the crossing.

This portfolio is a work in progress with far more facts to be found, with ample dedication and constant research, to seek and find what is archived over the centuries. This document is part of my discoveries with efforts to share the truth and provide the material that proves the prominence of the community of Rose Hills. Much of the information provided in this document has been researched and provided by the Los Angeles Public Library, College Archives, State Documents, United States Congress, Museum Facts, Newspaper Clippings, Court Records, Historic Maps, Mission Reports, and other documented reports found on the internet and of local studies.

The dedication for the preparation of this document started over six years ago with the sole desire to find out the historic value of the community of Rose Hills. I was led to believe what many others have expressed about the community in which I live in, and the misperception of the true history of the North East area of Los Angeles. Realizing that I was being misinformed, I decided that I would go on a quest to find out for myself, what the truth is about Rose Hills. For years, it has been claimed that Rose Hills was a part of El Sereno, Lincoln Heights, or Montecito Heights and that Rose Hills was not actually a community. Growing up in this community and being the fourth generation in the same home has given me a unique sense of home awareness and the truth.

My first real sense of discovery was found at the local Library when references showed the community of Rose Hills alongside that of Bairdstown in 1912. It sparked interest in me, that Rose Hills is an old historic community, leading to remarkable findings that will change the outlook of the Historic Community of Rose Hills. With very little knowledge of the historical accounts of the community, my search for facts guided me in many directions. You will find a detailed review of the work that has been uncovered and specific relations of the how the community was named and the prominence it has retained in the Los Angeles region.

Rose Hills is the English version of the same lands that have been here for millions of years. The name of the community, as it was called a century and a half ago, is in Spanish with the very same reference to the Rose. The Spanish name was 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla', and many facts will be shared here with direct connection of the area indicated as Rose Hills and the "Ranch". Before the 'Ranch' was actually named and owned by individuals, the area was known for the small river called the 'Arroyo Rosa de Castilla' with its abundant roses that grew naturally along the banks of the stream. Before any mention of the area in Spanish was claimed, the Native Indians also referred to the Rose in naming this location in current day Los Angeles. The TONGVA Indians called these lands "OTSUNGNA", which in their native tongue means the 'Place of Roses'. No matter what language you speak, the relative feature that remains is the connection to the Rose, the community of Rose Hills has the distinctive privilege of still carrying the name that has been recognized for thousands of years. Enjoy this small venture into the past and realize the importance of retaining the name that has been carried for centuries on end. Discover the beautiful facts of this community and the richness it holds in Los Angeles; discover the Historic Community of Rose Hills.

Pre-Historic Time Period

Our planet has continued to evolve for millions of years; the Los Angeles Basin contains fossils from one of the World's most famous localities, the La Brea Tar Pits, which holds natural collections from the Ice Age Period. It also contains the only human found in the Pits dating back over 7,000 years, that of a female Tongva Indian, indicating that civilization and humanity roamed the areas of current Los Angeles. (Credits to 'A Brief History of the Tongva Tribe' by Rosanne Welch - Claremont University 2006) The Tongva Indians have also been referred to as the Gabrielino Indians with relation to the San Gabriel Mission. This thriving Tribe will indicate that they have lived on the lands since the beginning of time, history verifies between 5,000 - 8,000 years in the area as a forming society following the hunted game westward in an organized manner. The entire Tribe was a collection of many little Villages encompassing an area from around Magic Mountain on the north, down to Disney Land on the South. The Pacific Ocean and its many Islands along the coast also played a vital role to the Tongva Indians, out to San Bernardino on the east.

Early Native Villages

Each of the villages had its own name and identified the name with a more specific reference to its location. Some of the Village names still hold a strong relation to the original Tongva Language for over 1,000 years. Some of the names that you hear today, such as: Topanga, Tujunga, Rancho Cucamonga, and Cahuenga, hold the exact name with a slightly different spelling. The names of other villages in our local area included Sibingna, Yaangna, and Otsungna. Yaangna describes the area closest to current day 'Placita Olvera' in Downtown. Sibingna describes the area closest to the current San Gabriel Mission. Otsungna was the name of the only village covering the hills and streams of the area between the two previously mentioned sites. OTSUNGNA means "Place of Roses" in the native language and referenced by the abundant amount of beautiful natural roses growing in the area. (Submitted as Figure 4) These roses have been on the lands for centuries before any explorations moved through the Los Angeles basin, later described as 'Rosa de Castilla'. Maps and other resources have indicated that OTSUNGNA was the prominent Village of the entire Tribe.

By its location in the hills and with the many local streams that once saturated these lands, OTSUNGNA proved itself to be a viable aspect in native living. Its proximity to the large water way, now known as the Los Angeles River, provided for an ideal Village of significant stature. The terrain provided for the natural sense of elevation, allowing the members of this village the privilege of pristine views of the lands from atop the valleys. The beauty of roaming among the hills, abundant with roses and an advantage of capturing wild life and hunted game, must have proven itself in establishing that OTSUNGNA has been referenced as the largest, and head of all the Villages in the Tribe of the Tongva People. (Indicated earlier and submitted as Figure 4 - Note the size of the marker that reflects the Village of OTSUNGNA)

First Native Contacts – Sea Expeditions

The Native Indians that lived here did so with interest in hunting, gathering seeds, planting crops and leading a natural lifestyle living off the land. The Tongva Indians learned how to sustain themselves with very little conflict and trading goods amongst themselves to survive for thousands of years. The earliest contact with outsiders appeared in the 15th – 16th Centuries as noted by the Cabrillo expedition of 1542 when Spain was in efforts to claim the land of the north. This first recorded contact came on October 7, 1542, when the Pacific Sea exploration led by Juan Cabrillo landed on current day Catalina Island, in which a boat was sent out to preview the mainland where the Tongva Indians lived. The intentions of the expedition were to map out the Pacific ports and bays which had been a success for future explorers. In an effort to assist his men, Cabrillo was injured with a broken leg and subsequently died the following year. (The California State Military Museum – <http://www.militarymuseum.org/Cabrillio.html>)

It was sixty years later when another voyage was launched along the Pacific North by the Spanish, led by Sebastian Vizcaino in 1602 and the very first time the term 'Rose' was used other than that of the Tongva Indians. Vizcaino used the term on November 10, 1602, December 16, 1602, through January 3, 1603. When this Spanish Explorer observed and noted the Rose, he did so by entries into the voyage log. It is the accounts of Padre Antonio de la Ascension's log of the same voyage, that lays claim to the name: "Rosa de Castilla" (Credits to J.N. Bowman 'Rose of Castile' – Attached) The naming of the 'Rosa de Castilla' was marked by the recollection of the Rose that appeared in Spain, and relating it to the new lands that were being proclaimed under the Spanish Rule. There had been other sea explorers including those from Asia and Russia to the Pacific shores on through to the 1700's.

Land Expeditions

In the mid 1700's, it had become noted that occupation of Alta California by others than the Tongva Indians was in question, the king of New Spain, King Carlos III ordered a land exploration to claim the land with fears that the English or Russians may want to do the same. During the year of 1768, King Carlos III set the wheels in motion to control the Pacific North and organized with Gaspar de Portola to lead the expedition north by land in the following year, with intent to build missions and lay claim, that the lands belonged to Spain. (Wikipedia – Gaspar de Portola) Among those setting out northbound to venture into uncharted lands by foot, was Padre Juan Crespi, who was the diarist for the expedition. The 63 men and nearly 100 mules carrying supplies set forth on July 14, 1769, with the intent of finding the Bay of Monterey roughly in the area of present day San Francisco.

Padre Juan Crespi noted many observations and made daily entries relative to the expedition, some of the most interesting entries makes note to large Earthquakes that took place on Friday July 28, 1769, around 1:00p.m. in the area of current day Santa Ana River. (Rio de los Temblores) As the group of men marched by foot north, they neared the current day San Gabriel River over that very same weekend, they felt many aftershocks and recorded their regularity and viewed a great valley on Sunday July 30, 1769, in which it is described as 'Marshes', relating to the surrounding areas of Whittier Narrows including Legg Lake. (Credits to the Diary entries of Padre Juan Crespi)

On Monday morning July 31, 1769, the diary entry states that a violent Earthquake once again occurred while having difficulty navigating the muddy waters and the need to clear the brush at every step. As they neared a slight opening in the brush they set up camp in a clear spot and took this time to rest themselves and the animals. The following day, Tuesday August 1, 1769, they continued to rest and sent out scouts to explore the country and suggested routes. Once again the day was rocked by several Earthquakes, the soldiers asked for permission to hunt antelope, as many of the animals had been observed, and permission was granted, with some soldiers setting out on horse while others went on foot. During this hunting mission, they had noted the observation of a 'River of Fine Water' close to 50 feet wide not more than a half days march. Wednesday morning, the men set out for the 'River of Fine Water' to the West through an opening between low lying hills and on the same day, August 2, 1769, passing many Alder and Poplar Trees reached the river to be named "Río de la Porciúncula". It is also indicated that a smaller river from the North-North East intersects this larger river, but the smaller one was dry. (Description of the current Arroyo Seco) Once again, a succession of Earthquakes shook the land throughout the day and the men ultimately camped at a site by the current day Elysian Park. (Historic Landmark #655 on Broadway at the entrance to Elysian Park) On Thursday August 3, 1769, as they lead away from the river toward the west, the men were still amazed at the amount of Earthquakes, and also recorded the observation of a 'Pitch like Material Bubbling Up'. (Referring to the Tar Pits)

Quotation by Padre Junipero Serra in 1770's

In strong contrast to this lack of interest, he displays a keen appreciation of the many natural beauties they now encountered on their journey. As they drew nearer the more fertile country of Alta California, he notes the many beautiful flowers. "And that there should be nothing lacking in this line [he says with a simple, charming delight] today, on arriving at the camping place we have met the queen of them all, which is the Rose of Castile. When I write this I have before me a branch of rose bush with three roses opened, others in bud, and more than six unpetaled. Blessed be He who created them." He gives the place the poetical name of the 'Arroyo of the Roses,' and adds, "It is in so many places rank with Rosebushes full of flowers that well could an apothecary extract his profit."

<http://www.ralphmag.org/baja>) The travelers resumed their laborious march over steep hills, through deep ravines, till one evening, worn and covered with the fine dust of the country; they descended into a well-watered plain, which spread out before them like a shining Garden of Eden. Here they gladly rested for a day, that the animals might graze luxuriously on the green grass and have water sufficient to quench their thirst. "The men," said Junipero, "also thought to have their refreshment with fishing and hunting. Portola and Junipero in the meantime had rather the best of it for they remained quietly in camp and were refreshed with 'chia-water' which the natives brought them, "giving us with Joviality, great pleasure and consolation such as we had not had till here."

Founding of Los Angeles

By the end of the 1770's, references to the area have grown and with the prominence of Padre Junipero Serra and the Missions, the notation of the stream was claimed as 'Arroyo Rosa de Castilla' founded within the hills between Yaangna and Sibingna. Recall that the Village was called OTSUNGNA, meaning 'Place of Roses' as describe by the Native Indians and the Spanish Explorers including Father Junipero Serra. In 1781, a group of settlers departed San Gabriel Mission, (The second and permanent site to this day) and traveled west down current day Mission Road to Yaangna (Placita Olvera) arriving on September 4, 1781 and founded "El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora de la Reina de Los Angeles Sobre el Rio Porciuncula".

By the early 1800's, the Pueblo was growing as part of the Spanish and Mexican periods including the Ranchos expansions of the area and the lands granted to Rancheros. In 1831, sixty years after the construction of the 1st San Gabriel Mission (1771) the Registrar of the Pueblo of Los Angeles, Juan Ballesteros was granted the lands known as "Rancho Rosa de Castilla" after the independence of Mexico. This Rancho was named after the stream called 'Arroyo Rosa de Castilla', because of the abundant roses growing on its banks since the period of the early Native Villages. Rancho Rosa de Castilla encompassed all the lands of the area including what is now; Lincoln Heights, City Terrace, El Sereno, Monterey Hills, Hermon, Hillside Village, Cypress Park, Montecito Heights, Mount Washington, University Hills, Alhambra and parts of South Pasadena and Monterey Park. (Referenced in History of El Sereno Figure 6- George Casen)

California Statehood

With the battle to win California between the United States and Mexico well under way in 1846 the Pueblo found itself in hard times. The Gold Rush of 1849 brought many prospectors to the area and after the annexation of California into the Statehood it was required for the Mexican Land Grants to be confirmed and validated. With an appointment to the Commission by the President of the United States, over 800 Mexican land grants were filed with the purpose of "An Act to Ascertain and Settle Private Land Claims in the State of California." (U.S. States at large, Volume 9, page 631) This process was mandated by all land claimants to the Board of Land Commissioners effective March 3, 1851. 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' transferred its title from Juan Ballesteros to Francisco (Chico) Lopez, who moved to Lake Elizabeth, then in 1850 it was acquired by Anaclet Lestrada, priest of Our Lady of the Angels Church at the Placita Olvera (Plaza). The filing for "Rancho Rosa de Castilla" was submitted to the State of California under LAND CASE #309 SD by Anaclet Lestrada and the original Diseno was prepared and recorded in 1852. (Map of Rancho Rosa de Castilla is held at the University of Berkeley and is attached within) Definitive references on the original map of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla', shows an "Arroyo" as well as the words.... "Camino del Gota" and "Camino del Mission Viejo" - translated to 'Old Mission Road'. You will also see a strong relation to 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla', in the Official Map of the Lands of the Mission San Gabriel, where the 'Rancho' is identified and prominently noted without a dividing boundary line, as provided in the State of California LAND CASE #345 SD. (Map of the Lands of the Mission San Gabriel is held at the University of Berkley and is attached within)

In the year of 1852, the Rancho was once again transferred to Jean-Baptiste Batz and his wife Catalina Hegui Batz, immigrants from Argentina who lived in the Adobe home on the east side of the current 710 freeway and just north of the current 10 Freeway. (Submitted as Figure 7) Jean-Baptiste lived on the Rancho until his passing on December 6, 1859; Catalina gained possession under the Homestead Act around 1876 and proceeded to purchase the land from the surrounding owners adjacent to hers. It eventually grew to a total of 3,283 acres of land all claimed to 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' until her death on February 22, 1882. The land was then divided as an Estate to six of her eight children with the Southernmost 700 acres passed to the third eldest son named Jose Domingo Batz.

In 1863, the City of Los Angeles was unable to pay the City Health Officer and County Coroner (1862-1865), Dr. John S. Griffin for services rendered and offered in return of payment, an amount of 2,000 acres of land. Instead of paying the $3,000 owed to Dr. Griffin, the land was provided at 50 cents an acre which would later be called East Los Angeles and the City would later buy back the lands of East Lake Park in 1881. By 1901, East Lake Park was laid out and constructed, using the nearby natural water ways as a source for a major amusement park in the area and first zoological site. (History of Lincoln Park - www.lincolnheightsla.com/lincolnpark/)

Around 1870 a prominent businessman by the name of Jesse Yarnell moved to Rose Hills and was the co-founder of the Los Angeles Mirror Company, which later merged with the Los Angeles Times in 1873. That same year, a major arterial had been recognized as 'Roses Road' which started at the current intersection of Huntington Drive and Monterey Road and proceeded east. 'Roses Road' was later called Los Angeles-Pasadena Road and East Los Angeles Road, now Huntington Drive. The Southern Pacific Rail Road was constructed through the area and still exists to this day, built in 1876 and helped develop the City of Los Angeles, along with the Santa Fe Rail Road in 1887.

As rare as it may seem, a photo included is actually of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' as it appeared around 1880, with several Rancheros standing in the foreground, decades before the recognition of other local communities. (Figure 8 - Cal Trans District 7) A beautiful story relating to the Roses that grazed the lands, as told by Dona Margarita, is provided for your pleasure. ('With Flowers and Trees in California' page 185-187 written by Charles Francis Saunders). Some of the influential residents that have called 'OTSUNGNA' - Rancho Rosa de Castilla - Rose Hills home include: Padre Junipero Serra, Registrar of the Pueblo of Los Angeles - Juan Ballesteros, Captain Newton, Attorney Judge and State Senator-George Hugh Smith, Trustee of the first school built in the area - Farmdale Evan Evans, and founder of the Los Angeles Military Academy. The Co-Founder of the Los Angeles Mirror Company - later the Los Angeles Times Jesse Yarnell, owner of the Los Angeles Herald - Hancock M. Johnston (Lincoln Heights portion), Dr. John S. Griffin, W.H. Workman, nephew of Pio Pico - Marcos A. Forster of San Juan Capistrano.

Through this entire period, water sources relied on the Arroyo Rosa de Castilla and a much smaller Arroyo that ran north to south, just west of current day Eastern Ave.. The local Ascot Reservoir was unable to meet the demand of the growing community and by 1894 was out of capacity in serving the residents. By the end of the Century, the Railway system had been introduced and brought forth the age of the Pacific Electric Rail Road that traveled along the Los Angeles-Pasadena Road which later became Huntington Drive. At the turn of the 20th Century, the 'Red Car' was operating by 1902 and Rose Hills Elementary School was opened establishing a strong year for 1909. (Now Huntington Drive Elementary School)

20th Century - Rose Hills

Pacific Electric Rail Road maps indicate the validity of the community of Rose Hills by making it the first stop in route from a junction in Los Angeles through Pasadena out to Arcadia. This first stop was located at the intersection of Huntington Drive and Monterey Road, with its route through Los Angeles and special destination lines and other lines indicating services to Watts, providing for early transportation options in the City. (Photos included) At the beginning of the 20th Century, rail way transportation was more profound than that of a vehicle. Henry Huntington was the pioneer in the P.E.R.R. and used it to travel into Downtown. He created a stop for the Baird Brothers (George and Llewellyn) at the current location of Huntington Drive and Eastern (In those days called 'Farndale' Road) There had been many sub-divisions of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' - Rose Hills from the late 1800's and many more in the early 1900's changing with the development of the Rail transportation lines through the area. The Baird Brothers had been the most aggressive real estate agents of the time and claimed an area called 'Bairdstown' which had become El Sereno. In the first decade of the 20th Century, there was no unified identity and no coordinated plan for the community as a whole. The sub-divisions were platted haphazardly, resulting in four distinct neighborhoods. (Known as Rose Hills, Bairdstown, Farndale, and Sierra Vista) The Baird Brothers annexed the lands to the City of Los Angeles and had finalized the founding of El Sereno on June 10, 1915. It was a few years after the annexation to the City that the name El Sereno was changed from Bairdstown.

The first notable indicators of 'Our Lady of Guadalupe' occurred in 1920 with the Sisters of Social Services, where catechism classes were held in the community. In 1924 it was named 'Our Lady of Guadalupe Mission', under the care of Fr. Antonio Arias where mass was celebrated on Sundays. The beginning of World War II sparked the development of the Rose Hill Courts in 1942, built to house the Military personnel. A look of the project from the view of an engineer is provided, showing the preparation of construction, and a beautiful panorama of the community of Rose Hills. (Photo included - Rose Hill Courts - Point #1 Jan. 12, 1942)

With close to two hundred years of growth and recorded history, the open lands have still retained its beauty and natural configuration. What have been lost are the natural rivers and streams that flowed without obstruction, now we have streets that navigate our rain runoff.

With losing the Rivers and Streams, we have lost the Mother of them all, the ROSE, growing abundantly on the hillsides, now it has to be planted and tended to for the beauty to appear.

The transportation age came along and the need to modify infrastructure and keep the growing population moving was taking an historic turn. That turn started in Chicago and ended in Los Angeles with the creation and completion of "Historic Route 66". This magnificent endeavor was named the 'Mother Road', stretching for nearly 2500 miles, leading west to Los Angeles by means of the Los Angeles-Pasadena Road through our community of Rose Hills. (El Camino Real - formally Roses Road, now Huntington Drive) This can be considered one of the most popularized highways in the country, hence the name. 'Main Street of America'. Route 66 was established on November 11, 1926. Aside from the Historic Route 66, the street names in the community have led to a unique sense of richness, by naming them after precious minerals and gemstones. Here is a list of street names given and established for the community of Rose Hills; Amber, Amethyst, Beryl, Diamond, Esmeralda, Galena, Mercury, Moonstone, Onyx, Opal, Pearl, Pyrite, Radium, Raynol, Sapphire, Sardonyx, Telluride, Topaz, Tourmaline, Turquoise, and Yorba. Remarkable that so many streets carry the names of nature's wonders, all within a community, deserving of such valued gemstones.

With the creation of the Arroyo Seco Freeway, the first Freeway in the State of California, opening in 1940, much of the affluent residents traveled by the rolling hills from Los Angeles to Pasadena doing away with the need for the Pacific Electric Rail Road and in turn giving birth to Huntington Drive. You will find it interesting to see the images of the train actually traveling down the middle of current day Huntington Drive. (Photo of Soto Bridge and P.E.R.R. September 1951) The development in the community did take a jump in the positive direction with the construction of 'Our Lady of Guadalupe - Rose Hills'. The dedication of Monsignor Ramon Soriano, who became Administrator of the Mission in 1945 and pastor in 1954 provided most of the site growth. The original hall and church was located across the street at the current day Recreation Center. It was in 1953 that the City of Los Angeles wanted to build a playground where the Mission stood, and the current location of the church across the street was purchased that same year with the help of His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre. Ramon Soriano had remarkable improvements made and welcomed as a special guest, His Eminence James Francis McIntyre, to bless the school on January 22, 1961.

Another great attribute to the Historic value of the community is found on the campuses of Cal State Los Angeles. They have records and many reports verifying the relevance of 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla' that they have a variety of the species in the Rose Garden, and have also named the major arterial through campus, Paseo Rancho Castilla. Our local University claims the truth about the facts and history as researched and found proven and accurate.

In 1970 a Ground Breaking Ceremony took place on Monterey Road for the newly developing 'Rose Hill Regional Park', where the County Supervisor Ernest Debs and City Council Member Art Snyder dedicate the park to the community with shovels in hand. (Photos of Ground Breaking Ceremony included - Rose Hill Regional Park) After the lease for the park was over, the City resumed management of the park and named it in honor of Mr. Debs. At this Ground Breaking site, alongside of Monterey Road, is the Official Corner Stone of the Original boundary of El Pueblo de Los Angeles. Several indicators mark this location in the community of Rose Hills, as the actual location to the founding of the City of Angels. Visit this local land mark (corner stone) as you enter Debs Park (Formally known as Rose Hill Regional Park) on Monterey Road to feel history.

As recently as just 30 years ago (1981), Mayor Tom Bradley dedicated a plaque in front of the church at the plaza in current down town Olvera Street. This plaque commemorates a very recognizable image. The plaque will also verify a marker, which is described as the 'Pueblos Corner Stone' in the community of Rose Hills at the entrance to Debs Park (formally Rose Hill Regional Park). This is one of the strongest indicators of the importance of the founding of this great City. If you look very closely and know your history of Los Angeles and its past, you will see pretty much an identical representation between the plaque and the 'Diseno' submitted as the land claim for 'Rancho Rosa de Castilla'. (Color image of Plaque attached)

Conclusion

The opportunity to share this collection of information with the community of Rose Hills and the People of the City of Los Angeles will provide for future recognition and references relative to OTSUNGNA, Rancho Rosa de Castilla, and Rose Hills. In the coming years, I will continue to pursue additional facts and resources that may provide for additional input. The findings have shown that from its earliest recordable inhabitants over 5,000 years ago, through the turn of the 21st century, the prominent feature of this part of Los Angeles, still remains that of a flower of remarkable resilience, the Rose.

It has been many centuries that societies have lived on the lands we now borrow; there will be generations of the future that will seek written resources to have an understanding of this same area of land. I would hope that this portfolio be recognized and utilized as a valued resource, to show that the memories of the Native Indians, Spaniards, Mexicans, and Angelinos all have a unified bond, to that natural treasure shared by beauty and fragrance, the Rose.

The connection between the Native Indian Village of OTSUNGNA and Rose Hills has been established by a number of credible factors, with many viable accounts credited to the lands between San Gabriel Mission and Placita Olvera, Rancho Rosa de Castilla. Following the course of history and understanding the direct relation of the progressive timeline, and its connection to the community of Rose Hills, I would ask that the Historical Society of Southern California recognize the beautiful and precious Historic Community of Rose Hills as a vital component with the founding of the City of Angels.
