Comments for Public Posting: I support this project. My name is Laurie Jacobs, and I have been active in environmental and community activism in the harbor area for many years. As a Los Angeles City Commissioner on the Climate Emergency Mobilization Commission but speaking as a stakeholder, I want to acknowledge and commend Prologis for its strong environmental commitments. This development is pursuing LEED Gold certification and utilizing recycled concrete to reduce its carbon footprint. Part of the project also includes, at huge expense, cleaning up harmful soil from the site that was created by decades of neglect. In short, this project sets a positive example for how we can grow responsibly and deserves your support.
