There seems to be a fairly new criminal group that has moved into Los Angeles within the past few years. We're certain that they are targeting businesses in the greater Los Angeles area. They have deep connections with some who work in sectors that helped them obtain jobs and housing almost immediately upon their arrival to Los Angeles. They boast that they have relationships with certain Los Angeles Police that help them with their criminal enterprise.

They have been known to blend in with the homeless in areas such as 5th and Main Streets in downtown Los Angeles and other areas. They can be heard yelling calls to warn and threaten those that might oppose their group in various hours of the day, night and evening.

This group looks like normal African American, Hispanic or White families when that are out targeting businesses to rob. They are very charismatic and friendly. The bulk of them are not from California. They are from places like Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, Washington DC and other regions of the United States.

I do hope all business owners are taking precautions to secure their operations from criminals easily entering and committing violent crimes along with theft.

We will continue to gather as much data as we can and disseminate it as best we can.

Thanks so much for your time and stay safe.
