Comments for Public Posting: It is outrageous that 1 out of 4 fast food workers in LA are being paid under minimum wage. It is essential for the city council to provide their chartered right to protect these workers by supporting this legislation so that no more Angelenos slide into homelessness.

Comments for Public Posting: This doesn't just happen in the fast food industry. This happens in many other sectors as well. There is a legal aid agency that works in tenant rights that has been working their staff up to 60 hours a week and not paying overtime. The pay is below salary wages that would allow days over 10-12 hours to be worked. This law should not be just for fast food workers. It should be for all non-salaried workers.
