Comments for Public Posting: My concern with agencies erecting housing for the unhoused is that in placing them close to residential areas and parks it endangers the residents of the area. We have the right to take children to the park without worrying about needles, excrement, garbage and individuals with serious addiction or other health issues infecting our families. There is no sound reason not to re-vitalize or build housing further east of Eagle Rock, Pasadena, Arcadia in areas where access to schools, residents and public parks is not easily available. There are stores and medical facilities in and around Barstow, Pomona, Victorville, etc - go east planners - they can get the same services and have fewer opportunities to rob, infect or participate in drug sales. If individuals with health issues of any kind are serious about treating their challenges they can receive therapy, counseling and support and earn their way back to more populated areas if that is their preference.
