Comments for Public Posting: Address the issues of mental health crisis in shelters, lapd and lasd over involvement has to be reduced in these situations so our homeless neighbors that are dealing with mental health issues aren't going to be murdered for no reason other than the lapd can't handle their jobs correctly, address the concerns about lost pets and personal belongings that can't be stored in the shelters, and then you can appropriately start telling people to stay in them. You haven't done any of that work, and until that work is done, this is literally a measure to turn our shelters into institutions and to ship our homeless brothers and sisters off to be incrementally murdered by the state. This isn't a fucking joke. These are the average experiences st many of LAs, including MOST OF STUDIO CITIES Homeless Shelters. Kerkorian has refused to even engage his constituents on our mistrust of him and this measure and he has already been made pertinently aware that, if he supports this measure, this WILL be his last term in office if his non rich white voters have anything to say about it at all.

Comments for Public Posting: NO SWEEPS! It is inhumane and unconscionable to remove the belongings of unhoused people! The fact that so many folks are living on the street is a massive failure of government. At the very least, don't make life harder for people who are just trying to survive. NO SWEEPS! It's illegal, immoral and unsafe!!!!

Comments for Public Posting: It's embarrassing that my own city councilman, Joe Buscaino, chose to propose such an evil measure. Our homelessness crisis is a direct result of policy failure. Lack of resources for our unhoused community, mental health services, health care, rent control, etc have completely tangible solutions, yet LA City Council finds every reason to continue harming people and criminalize homelessness. I would expect a city council located in Los Angeles, CA to have the audacity to radically reimagine public safety without excuses. How many more wake up calls will you get the privilege of not answering while people you're supposed to serve are dying? Joe, your presence on the City Council is an insult to the people in Pedro who care and protect each other. You do not represent the Pedro I know and love.
