Comments for Public Posting: I fully support this motion on remote working and client change. There are so many benefits to working from home. Not only is it better for the environment, it saves employees time and energy by not having to commute. People can use the time saved by not having to commute to work, sleep, workout, spend more time with their kids, pets, etc. Plus, they can just be around their families and pets all day, which is beneficial for everyone. I've had my own company for 15 years and there is no doubt that having that flexibility is not only healthier for people but actually allows them to be more productive and happier. We must change with the times. If people can be just as effective and efficient working from home, then why force them to go into an office? Additionally, the city can save lots of money on rent and smaller office spaces (for those who rather go into an office or have to) and use that money for much better things.
