Comments for Public Posting: The Los Angeles Police Air Support Division costs taxpayers $21 million a year. It costs $1200 an hour to keep an LAPASD helicopter in the air. That is money that could be far better spent in other ways. For example - housing for the many unhoused people in Los Angeles, better public transportation, food systems, and recreation areas in underprivileged and underrepresented neighborhoods, and better schools and fairer pay for teachers. With so much of our community in need, it is irresponsible and cruel to spend so much money on the LAPASD when they are not shown to have a major impact on keeping us safe. We need to keep each other safe by sharing resources fairly. Defund the LAPASD. Defund the LAPD. Invest in community care. Adopt the People's Budget. Thank you
