Comments for Public Posting: Police need to CALM DOWN and not react. They need to be RETRAINED so they do not abuse hurt, choke hold or knee on back of a suspect or person in their care. If a person in their care is hurt or killed there needs to be an independent investigation done by an outside source not the police department or the DA's office, someone wholly independent of the police or any Political associations. Police have to be retrained to calm a situation down and not be Militarized in any way. Other departments such as Social workers, psychologists or other specialized people need to take over in other areas concerned with ramping things down and resolving issues.
