Comments for Public Posting: Police Officers should NOT be shooting anyone to KILL them but especially those experiencing mental health breakdowns, have we really lost all our humanity? What do we have left once we get rid of our HUMANITY??? If an Officer has to shoot to kill someone with a butter knife or someone having a break down, they shouldn't be doing the job they are doing! Also, we need officers from our local LA communities, not those coming from far out, and some racist cities in CA. Officers can go as backup if necessary on mental health calls if a person is ARMED but mental health teams should be available to fully handle residents experiencing mental health or substance dependency break downs. They should be actual professionals trained to treat people experiencing problems mentioned. We need a medicare4ALL system along with more long term facilities for healthcare and rehabilitation services for residents that need to be committed. Lastly, END Poverty!
