Comments for Public Posting: I live 357 feet from a bar that was issued an Al Fresco permit for drinking on their parking lot. This allows large, unruly and, yes, drunk, crowds to congregate making it a living hell for nearby residents. I feel sorry for people who live closer. This bar has been a neighborhood nuisance for many years with their blaring music and disrespectful patrons. This is not a restaurant and they do not serve food. There is no good reason for an Al Fresco permit to be issued to an establishment that does not serve food. It's just someone trying to beat the system. We only want what we are entitled to and that is a good night's sleep. Put yourself in our position. Isn't this what you want, too?
