Comments for Public Posting: Humans and animals were put on one earth for a reason. "The Lord God took the man and put him in the garden of Eden to work it and keep it " (Nielsen, 2011, Genesis 2:15). Since the beginning of life, both humans and nature have been part of the same ongoing cycle. And it is essential that we work together to keep the cycle balanced. This cycle is made up of many different attachments which must stretch across tremendous amounts of land. We must not cut off these attachments with a fence, because then we cut off access to resources that each side needs. But, it's not just the land. One reason we train animals is to ensure them a better life than if we just let them be. A proof of this is my own personal experience. I just spent five years training a horse. She isn't mine, nor did I get paid money to work with her. I have trained her to keep her and her inexperienced horseman safe, and she looks forward to it. Now, she willingly trots up to me and literally shoves her face in the halter. Obviously, she would rather come to serve me than be left in the field to fend for herself. (No treats were used in the production of this scenario.) This horse and I have learned from each other and as a result, we are both better prepared to serve. Hence our FFA Motto: Learning to Do, Doing to Learn, Earning to Live, Living To Serve. Humans and animals are better able to serve their purpose on Earth when they work together. In fact, some say that their purpose in life is to help each other.

Comments for Public Posting: I surely hope we will not be doing away with Rodeos. They are such a part of our heritage & teach people/kids horsemanship & proper treatment of animals. This would be such a discredit to all who own horses & those who enjoy rodeo & all its fun & benefits.

Comments for Public Posting: We are in strong support of the American Western lifestyle and all its components--especially rodeo and all its related horse sports. We have been rodeo fans for many years and ranchers and horse owners ourselves. Animals used in all of these endeavors are treated as family members, with great respect, and excellent care. Animals are the base for both the recreational aspects of their use, and also the business bedrock of our lives. If they were not fed correctly, given excellent medical care and respectful treatment, they could not/would not perform as rodeo athletes, or thrive well enough to provide meat for our tables. To ban rodeo based on ignorant fables provided by so called animal rights activists is wrong, wrong, wrong!

Comments for Public Posting: Please reconsider your rodeo ban. Safety measures are in place and the welfare of the animals are looked after. Unbelievable that you cancel something so historically steeped in tradition and the lively hood of so many Americans nation wide. This is just another reason for citizens from other states to refuse to patronize someplace with such restrictive politics.

Comments for Public Posting: Please do not ban rodeo. I live in the Central Valley of California on a ranch. Horseman, ranchers, and rodeo people depend on their horses and care for them well. This is an important Californio & Charro heritage to maintain.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo & horse events have been part of Los Angeles for over 100 years. The animal industry has gone above and beyond to ensure the safety and well-being of all animals participating in equestrian & rodeo events. A ban on any of these, takes away an element of our heritage. And where does it stop? You could never have the summer Olympics in LA because of the equestrian events! As a 70-year-old native of the San Fernando Valley I urge you to NOT go forward with this ban!

Comments for Public Posting: I am calling to protest the anti rodeo ordinance proposed. Rodeo is a pillar of American identity and the animals are cared for with the best food and medicine and facilities. These animals are valuable and precious. Rodeo causes no harm to the animals. The people pushing to ban Rodeo are ignorant and emotional and attempting to destroy American culture.

Comments for Public Posting: A California native tht I am I 100% support the rodeo and all tht the rodeo represents. THIS is America and its a free country. Wht liberals want and wht is a national past time is 2 different things leave the cowboys and the Compton cowboys way of life and activities alone this group helps actually helps horses cows and cats dogs we don't believe in hurting animals we don't torture animals like u say we do. Leave are way of life alone and stop preaching lies to ppl tht the rodeo is wrong and tht we are cruel to animals. This organization is helpful to children who have emotional issues and the handicapped as well with all kinds of programs.etc... Take ur lies else were.and leave the rodeos alone.

Comments for Public Posting: Please do not ban rodeos. California has a rich heritage of western lifestyle including rodeo, and equestrian events. The animals that participate receive the best quality care. It is in the best interest of livestock owners to take great care of their animals. Don't believe the animal rights groups propaganda. Groups like HSUS are fronts for a money generating machine that does little to nothing for animal welfare. Check out the American Humane for a real animal welfare guidance. Thanks you!

Comments for Public Posting: I recently learned of LA decision to ban rodeo. I am opposed to this decision and strongly feel that facts were not considered and this decision was made based on emotions and untruths from radical animal rights activists. I am a health care provider for 40 years including throughout the pandemic. I also own a ranch/farm that has been producing food for America since 1896. My animals are treated with the same love and well deserved care as my human patients. I grew up taking care of my livestock first, then me. This is typical in the western heritage. I know from both of my professions how important it is to make decisions based on facts, potential risks and benefits, not emotions. Please re-evaluate the basis of your decision and look at the facts. If you do not have the facts, it is your duty as council members to educate yourselves from reliable resources, not activists with money!
