Comments for Public Posting: You must not ban rodeo and other activities involving animals from the city and county of Los Angeles. The livelihoods of many are at stake if you do this. Animals are respected and taken very good care of by all people involved in agriculture. Do not destroy people's lives over this.

Comments for Public Posting: Bull riding and rodeo is mine and many families way of life, bull riding and rodeo is how my family makes our money may it be supplying the bulls or riding them, it has been a tradition and a way of life for America sense the 1800s and it will stay. Raising bulls myself I can promise you that the animal is treated better then any livestock and better then most humans. It is a solely American sport and will continue to be an American sport and the cowboy way of life. Many people have died for this sport and many have gotten very hurt in this sport but it's what we love and what we have in our hearts and in our lives and the animals are treated like absolute gods we need to keep the sport FOR THE COWBOY WAY OF LIFE AND FOR HERITAGE

Comments for Public Posting: The thought that Los Angeles city is trying to ban rodeo is outrageous. The sport of rodeo has long been a part of California culture. The animals used in the sport of rodeo and specifically bull riding are treated better than most house pets, dogs, cats etc. taking rodeo and bull riding out of LA will not stop the sport but will instead take a piece of our culture and heritage away as Americans. I would like anyone that feels the sport of rodeo and bull riding is detrimental to animals to find a stock contractor and ask them for a tour of their facilities or ranch. The activists will find that the care and husbandry of the animals is second to none. Most ranchers and stock contractors know that they need healthy sustainable operations to have the best animals in the business. In closing, I ask that the city council dig deep and get all the facts before banning an important and cultural sport of Californian and the American west. Thank you. Autumn Hutchings

Comments for Public Posting: People who know animals, who care for them, who understand them are the ones who should be making decisions about them. It's easy to look at a rodeo event with unknowing/ignorant eyes and decide it should be banned. No! Rodeo has adapted over time; the animals are valued. Owners and riders know how important they are...their horses, their bulls, their calves are part of their careers. Personally, this 79 yr old woman loves rodeo and doesn't want city dwellers to enforce their prescriptions on those of us "country-folk." Leave rodeo alone, please!

Comments for Public Posting: Bull rinding and rodeo sports are a beautiful platform to showcase animal athletes as well as human athletes. The human athletes are the actual ones that can be harmed in events. California is getting way out of hand with dangerous and destructive ideas and legislature. Luckily for America we still have states with common sense but, like the plague, the far left liberal ideas are being programmed into the new generation by a group of un-educated self entitled spoiled brats. We need to defund and eliminate programs like PETA who spread hate by false advertising fake propaganda to make any kind of animal sport look evil. All individuals who have voted for a ban on rodeo sports need to immediately pack all belongings and move to a different country. I believe this action would benefit the country since such individuals should not be able to vote or make changes on any kinds of laws or legislation within the USA. The liberal groups are solely responsible for the record inflation and depression the country is in now, which is why their opinions should NEVER be taken into consideration when dealing with any kind of laws or legislation. Thanks for your time and remember to make sure your dead relatives do not vote democrat in the future elections.

Comments for Public Posting: As usual, people with the least amount of experience and knowledge about a subject feel the need to interject themselves into a situation. Farmers, ranchers, and western sportsmen have a much greater interest in the well being of the animals they care for than a these other people. These animals are their livelihood. So far as western sports, these animals are often times very expensive and expensive to feed, train, house, and maintain. People treat them well because they are the tools of their trade, and any job can be done better by having the best tools. I have a son who rides bulls, and know for a fact that these bulls are very well cared for and loved by their owners/handlers. And in the case of the bulls, if they weren't being cared for in order to buck, they'd be on someone's dinner plate. If we continue to allow stupid to take over everything, we'll have nothing left and no one to blame but ourselves.

Comments for Public Posting: Once again animal rights activists are putting out misinformation on a subject they have no experience in. Their target is the world of rodeo/bull riding. My family and I have been involved in the world of horses which includes rodeo for generations. I grew up participating in junior rodeos and it is the sport that I love the most. Bull riding is my absolute favorite event. The assumption that these beautiful animals are abused by the sport just shows the misinformed ignorance of these activists. They are one of the most cared for animals on the planet. Their "work" consists of a total of 8 seconds on a given day where they pit their athleticism against that of a cowboy. Nothing more beautiful to watch! Oh, and the infamous flank strap--look closely--it isn't cinched up tight nor touching the testicles. It is a ticklish spot nothing more. Just like touching the flank on a horse to get it to move over. Be informed, don't be ignorant!

Comments for Public Posting: From a Scottish PBR fan.???????????????????????????????? Bull Riding is a sport enjoyed by many, and it's popularity is spreading far from your shores. Bulls compete alongside the cowboys, and are pampered like the star athletes they are. Many people wish they were as well fed, housed and treated as those bulls are. Cancelling the sport would result in the slaughter of these wonderful creatures, because their owners would no longer be able to afford to keep them, never mind pamper them the way they do. Plus, it's part of your country's history and way of life, one of the things about the US that is still admired everywhere. You should be proud of this sport and not listening to the nay-sayers who have no real idea about the sport. The bulls are safer than the cowboys.

Comments for Public Posting: I write in support of rodeo and especially bull riding. There are many sports and activities that have historically treated their animal participants as inferior and expendable. This is not true of bull riding. As a proud liberal it might surprise some to know I recently drove 5+ hours from Fredonia, NY to my hometown of Beavercreek, OH to attend PBR bull riding with my family-9 people in total. I had never been to a bull riding event before, and neither had my sister's family or my dad. The event began with a prayer for the riders (who are risking their lives as much as any athlete) followed by a few words about military members and first responders. Then the riding began. Fans around us cheered for the riders AND the bulls, which was pretty cool. My daughter is a fan of Bread Basket and another bull named Butterfly Kisses, and though they didn't show up at this event, she loved seeing the intensity of the riders and the power of the bulls. It is clearly dangerous, but none of the injuries we saw included any of the animals. Frankly, these animals were better treated than animals in circuses, sea parks, and zoos. These bulls are not cattle, the audience considers them athletes, and unlike those other examples the bulls have an opportunity to "win" by bucking off the rider. The effect is thrilling for the audience. As this sport grows, I would strongly recommend allowing these events to continue in your jurisdiction.

A lot of times when mom horse is bucking that day the stock contractor will bring along baby horse so it's with mom at all times and they let the baby out in arena after the mom bucked to show that she is a great mom. I have also toured ranches where top bulls of the PBR are raised and taken care of. Or should I say "pampered". These animals have the best lives and are so very well taken care of it's honestly breathtaking!!! Rodeo and Bull Riding is a huge part of my life and is very important to my entertainment. Comments for Public Posting: I have enjoyed watching bull-riding during lockdown in particular. Those directly involved in the sport are true rural professionals who are committed to ensuring Heath safety and welfare of animals as well as the riders and support staff who make this exciting sport possible. Rural life, traditional pastimes, way of life and livelihoods are under threat like never before by group thinkers who seek to demonise and destroy. Rural life is tough, there are a few pastimes that have been developed to make life enjoyable and bring communities together. This is a sport which has rural life rooted in its history. Across the globe people are beginning to rise up and fight back against biased and soul destroying mantra against rural life, livelihoods, and pastimes. I stand with you PBR to bring common sense and perspective into the debate and to ensure the future of a sport that brings enjoyment to many and sees the bull outwit the rider on many occasions!

Comments for Public Posting: Bulls are naturally aggressive. Bucking bulls have been trained since they were yearlings that if there's an object on their back, they have to buck to get it off. It doesn't hurt them even slightly. Bucking bulls are treated so well and are cared for better than most people care for themselves. After a few years of competing, the bulls are put out to stud. So, no, that rope on the back is not around the bulls testicles. That would be cruel and would also physically damage the bulls most valuable characteristic. That's called a flank rope and it just encourages the bull to use its hind legs. A little research would go a long way before trying to ban something you don't understand.

Comments for Public Posting: I support rodeo- There are already laws in place regarding rodeo equipment and usage in California. The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association also has over 70 rules pertaining to the safety of the livestock and contestants. These laws and rules already address spurs, flank straps and electric prod usage. Penal code 596.7 already restricts the use of electric prods, flank straps are fleece lined or soft rope, and sharp spurs are prohibited, and locked spurs are prohibited in saddle bronc and bareback events. We take great pride in our rodeo livestock. Our animals are often worth thousands of dollars and are bred for their job as a rodeo athlete. Items such as flank straps are not used to hurt an animal but for the safety of the animal and the rider. Flank straps are lined with fleece and never placed too tightly as the animal will not buck if that is the case. Spurs are not sharp as often indicated and electric prods can only be used in case of an emergency when the chute gate is open and the life of the animal and/or rider is threatened. No one involved in Rodeo, or the western industry was consulted by the Los Angeles City Council before they pushed the drafting of the ordinance forward. At least take the opportunity to educate yourselves about the equipment and usage before passing an ordinance. There are several businesses that count on the Professional Bull Riding and rodeo related activities at venues like the Staples Center that draw capacity crowds for their business. Those restaurants and businesses that gain income from the economic impact of these events will see their bottom line negatively impacted.

Comments for Public Posting: To the leaders and powers that be in the City of Los Angeles regarding the PBR, bullriding, and other rodeo events in the City of Los Angeles. I would ask to to do one thing when considering the complaints of PETA, and any other so called "animal rights" activists; and that is do your research. Actually visit behind the scenes of a rodeo or PBR event. These bulls, which are great athletes are taken care of better than some of the cowboys take care of themselves. They are valuable and needed, and are therefore treated as such. To believe otherwise is uninformed and irresponsible. Thank you for your time.

Comments for Public Posting: To stop these events would have a financial impact on the local economy and all involved in rodeo. In a time when that is needed in our country, I don't think we need to be looking at ways to stop local commerce. I understand if it was for stopping something grievous, deadly or mistreated to humans or animals. But rodeo isn't that. People who are against rodeo are simply uneducated about the whole rodeo process and animal husbandry. The animals are not abused, but pampered and many do what they do with great heart. They are athletes. As with any sport, the athletes do at times get hurt. These animal athletes are treated to the best medical care as the human athletes of rodeo are. On a day to day basis, they are cared for and often pampered like any human athlete. Maybe in some of the very, very early days of rodeo, some animals weren't treated as well, but this sport has now become big business and without the great livestock animals involved, there would be no sport of rodeo. Maybe those so opposed should spend time with stock contractors etc... and just see how things are done. Not how activists imagine they are done. I'm just sick and tired of the minority getting what they want. I truly believe that rodeo fans, participants, producers and providers are the majority and it's time to do what is best for the majority. Especially when the minority doesn't know what they are talking about.

Comments for Public Posting: To Whom It May Concern: There are already laws in place regarding rodeo equipment and usage in California. The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association also has over 70 rules pertaining to the safety of the livestock and contestants. These laws and rules already address spurs, flank straps and electric prod usage. Penal code 596.7 already restricts the use of electric prods, flank straps are fleece lined or soft rope, and sharp spurs are prohibited, and locked spurs are prohibited in saddle bronc and bareback events. Those of us that participate and coordinate rodeos take great pride in our rodeo livestock. Our animals are often worth thousands of dollars and are bred for their job as a rodeo athlete. Items such as flank straps are not used to hurt an animal but for the safety of the animal and the rider. Flank straps are lined with fleece and never placed too tightly as the animal will not buck if that is the case. Spurs are not sharp as often indicated and electric prods can only be used in case of an emergency when the chute gate is open and the life of the animal and/or rider is threatened. No one involved in Rodeo, or the western industry was consulted by the Los Angeles City Council before they pushed the drafting of the ordinance forward. Please take the opportunity to educate yourselves about the equipment and usage before passing an ordinance. There are several businesses that count on the Professional Bull Riding and rodeo related activities at venues like the Staples Center that draw capacity crowds for their business. Those restaurants and businesses that gain income from the economic impact of these events will see their bottom line negatively impacted.

Comments for Public Posting: To consider banning rodeos because of “cruelty to the animals” would be an act of pure ignorance of the entire industry of rodeo sports. These bovine and equine athletes are prized and pampered as much as our ridiculously overpaid and venerated athletes of the human species. And much entertaining to watch these magnificent animals pit their wiles and skills against the puny humans aboard.

To watch a rider and her horse maneuver around barrels at incredible speed, to witness someone try ride a beautiful enormous and athletic bull. The sport of rodeo displays the beauty, intelligence, and strength of horses and cattle. I have never met anyone in the rodeo world that doesn't share this same feeling. We need to keep Rodeo in Los Angeles. It's a sport that brings together The American Cowboy, the Mexican Charro, The Native Americans, and even the Compton Cowboys. Removing Rodeo in Los Angeles removes unity and a great American tradition, both of which we need more than ever.

Comments for Public Posting: I understand there is a movement toward removing and or banning western sports such as Rodeo and Bull riding and possibly other horse sports in the city of L.A. There are many that are uninformed and believe these sports are harmful to the livestock. This is NOT the case. It is expensive to care for these animals and those who own them make sure they are well cared for, and many care deeply about them. So I ask that all the council vote to preserve and protect the Western Sports Industry. It seems society is more concerned in removing something they personally don't like or understand, instead of looking at the long history of things, and educating themselves . Thanks for your consideration

Comments for Public Posting: We have been fans of rodeo for as long as can be remembered. There has been no evidence of mistreatment of any animal that participates in this sport. Why on earth would a human treat any animal inhumanely when that animal is depended on for the individual's livelihood. We have been in the cattle business for 51 years. Never in all those years has an animal been mistreated. We enjoy the sport of rodeo and professional bull-riding. Our son is a professional bullfighter and has told us how the animals are treated by his observations. I am appalled that ignorant people are trying to get something changed that they know nothing about. KEEP RODEO AND BULL RIDING!!

It is in everyone's best interest to keep the animals healthy and in good shape. The love of this tradition runs deep among cowboys, cowgirls, and fans alike. A ton of the rodeo organizations help communities, younger people, disabled & injured cowboys, as well as other charities. If you don't like it, don't go. Otherwise educate yourself and check out a rodeo with an open mind, you can see for yourself. Part of the cowboy creed is properly caring for your animals.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is inherently a True American sport that has absolute diversity and inclusion. The animals involved in rodeo are well cared for and treated well. The bulls in rodeo especially are well cared for. No stock contractor is going to spend $10$20.....$30 Thousand on a Bull and not take care of this animal. These rodeo animals are athletes at the prime of their game. As a rodeo judge it is my responsibility to not just judge the rodeo but to also make sure all the animal athletes are fit enough to perform. Less concern goes into their human counterparts, you can bet on that. I have the authority to and will disqualify any animal that physically shows injury or distress, as that is my job. Do you know what happens to steers and bulls on ranches? Just look at the meat department at your local store. Rodeo keeps some of those animals from the slaughter house. Rank bulls are retired to pasture when their rodeo career ends. They are bred with cows to hopefully produce the same athletic bulls they were. To allow that athletic bloodline to continue. Many Wild horses are saved by rodeo every year. These horses will spend their later years on ranches, farms and be trained and ridden. Stop listening to these leftists that want to ban anything they just don't like. They have never rodeoed or ranched. Most of those that are anti rodeo have lived their whole life in a city and know nothing about animals. They are just on an power trip and you are feeding that by bowing down to a minority of the population. Shame on you if you give in. David Sullivan

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo and PBR stock are treated like the top athletes they are. The owners treat them with the best care possible. The horses and bulls are not forced to buck and they are not made angry either. A bull or horse will only buck if they want to and love to. The flank strap is placed around the flank where a belt would sit on a person and encourages them to buck in a way that's less likely to cause injury. Injuries do happen as they do with any sport but when they do it is guaranteed that the contractor or owner will do their absolute best to see that the animal recovers. After retirement the animals live out the rest of their lives on the farm. I think it is wrong to ban the sport that so many, including the stock, love so much. Please research the subject properly before you speak publicly so you spread lies. The 4 legged athletes of the rodeo world are so well treated and they love the sport.

Comments for Public Posting: The sport of rodeo/ bull riding is a part of American history. Not to mention there are a lot of people/families that rodeo is a big part of their life and allows them to spend quality time together as a family which in my opinion is something that a lot of families don't do any more. And the animal athletes are taken better care of then most humans and get top notch medical care and love what they do as a job.

Comments for Public Posting: Western living and ways of life are done in the most humane way possible or those individuals could not make a living doing it. You cannot sell hurt or dead animals. You cannot compete on hurt or dead animals. Cowboy life, rodeos, and bull riding are done with humanity first on their minds. It is not just the humans wanting to compete, the animals love and thrive at the competitions. Animal herds are family, not just wild animals. They are cared for and looked after better than most humans on this planet. There will always be bad eggs in any group, but the majority is still doing greater things. Western living represents a part of history that should not be lost.

Comments for Public Posting: The sport of Rodeo, Bull Riding and other similar sports should continue. It carries historical value for all people. Not only is it exciting to watch, it is truly an reminder of this country's history. These people treat their animals well! Animal rights people should really go study this before they "assume" the animals are mistreated!

Comments for Public Posting: History and heritage are not replaceable. Rodeo in itself is one of the few sports, if not only, that has been around for centuries. The animals in these events are taken better care of than many households take care of their pets. It is absolutely absurd to cancel this part of history!

Comments for Public Posting: Bull Riding is a western way of life. Having been around cattle and the business of rodeo these Bulls and the riders are meant for this way of life. There is no abuse to the animals ever and the animal athletes just like the rider are part of a family and cared for. These animals have personalities that crowds of people love to see when they get into that ring and their stock contractors truly care deeply about them. There is no place for miss-information out this industry and a western way of life the makes its living of the care and well-being of livestock. These animals truly love what they do and if you were to visit the farms and see these animals up close at events you can see that they know when its "game time" and have a competitive drive just like the humans. Whether or not this follows thru these events and activities continue on farms across the US daily as the sport of rodeo and bull riding was derived from the daily chores of western heritage and cowboy life to see who could get it done faster and with the best technique, so if LA bans this you are moving to ban a livelihood for many families within the state of California who live rodeo as a way of life.
