Comments for Public Posting: This sport is professionally organised by people who care and understand the requirements of the safety of the bulls and riders, these bulls are very well cared for and by no means being used in a cruel and unfair way. These cowboys/cowgirls love their sport and take it very seriously.....DO NOT TAKE THEIR SPORT AND JOBS AWAY FOR THEM, THAT IS CRUELTY

Comments for Public Posting: We need to keep rodeos around, it's been in America for generations and I personally believe it shouldn't be banned since it teaches the youth valuable life lessons, such as how to care for stock, as well as their own bodies. It's also a great way to get into college since many colleges have rodeo teams.

Comments for Public Posting: Bullriding should be allowed to continue in L.A. The people that are currently behind the petition are not allowing themselves to be educated about the sport. If they were, they would be aware that the bulls lead better lives than our homeless do - they are fed and have clean beds to "sleep" in every night. This concerted effort by the uneducated and uninformed needs to be stopped.

Comments for Public Posting: I've been around the western way of life and have competed in western sports for almost the entirety of my life as well. I currently own horses and cattle and can and will inform you that there is nothing that we do that is cruel to the animals that we have. We know that they are a huge asset to our livelihood and to abuse them would damage how we make a living and how we pay our bills and put food on our tables. The animals that are in our care receive the best that they possibly can get. Food, water, and shelter. Even the leisure time that they enjoy is the best that we can provide. They enjoy a freedom that we as humans currently do not. As for the propaganda that is being put out there... we do not use unnecessary and cruel items to force animals to do things. We do not manipulate their bodies to get them to perform. In western sports, we have rules put in place to harshly punish any person who performs or encourages inhumane treatment to any animal. I feel as if there is alot of misinformation being put out there that disparage our way of life in regards to the animals that we hold in high esteem.

Comments for Public Posting: As a horse person, I am personally slighted by the “woke do gooders” who know nothing of ranch life, rodeo, or the traditions which made this country great. We honor country, flag, and God. We don’t have athletes who are paid a fortune to act like morons on the court or in the field. We don’t disrespect others who have a different opinion than we do nor do we believe we are so important our opinion must be yelled to anyone who will listen. This sport is not fueled by drugs, alcohol, or brute force against other human beings. We take excellent care of our animals & they are cared for before we take care of ourselves. We don’t interfere with your crazy lifestyle and expect the same in kind.

Comments for Public Posting: The bulls and bucking stock are very well taken care of and very pampered. Not all make good bucking stock, some are just not a natural. Owners move those animals to a different job, nothing is abused or forced. Roping calves spend a short time in that roll, they grow up. Calves are still roped in working ranches to doctor them so we have beef on the table.

Comments for Public Posting: It would be a shame for folks in the LA area to not have the ability to enjoy the western heritage of Rodeo. Many people are uninformed and have a negative biased opinion of things they don't understand. Rodeo Animals have the best of care and Veterinary as the stock contractor has major amount of money invested in these animals so abuse is never a option. I suggest you talk with some large livestock vets and people in the industry. Let there be Rodeo in LA

Comments for Public Posting: Support for the Sport of Bull riding 2nd only to Baseball as America's past time. The Western Sport industry is an industry unlike any other. It's not about the money, it's about OUR COUNTRY, OUR Western CULTURE & the individuals involved in the sport serve as role models for so many. They deserve the right to compete & ride and learn what can only be learned by getting in the chute and strapping on. My humble opinion there is no other sport that teaches core values such as courage, humility, respect, gratitude as well as Bull riding~ The Western Sport Industry teaches how to "Cowboy Up" it makes a cowboy tell it straight (HONEST) It's being in pain and calling his gate. Having nothing and having it all, brushing off the dust & knowing how to fall. It's Spirit Tried & True like a guardian angel it pulls them through, when they're down and things seem rough they know how to look deep within and Cowboy Up.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is a part of history, it is a culture in its right and a way of life for many. To support any form of its removal, to alter its roots or lay claim to any form of abuse is absurd and unjust. To allow others to abuse and discredit this culture is racist and accusatory.

Comments for Public Posting: Western sports have been around forever. These animals are not abused (for that go to the kill pen at the local animal auction) we the people stand behind ALL Western sports. Bull riding, calf wrestling, calf roping, team roping, barrel racing etc. This needs to stop. Quit taking our history and enjoyment away.

Comments for Public Posting: Do not let this 'Woke' thing that you are trying to do happen! Bull riding is NOT Inhumane torture of animals. As a matter of fact, if you Knew anything about what you are talking about- you would know that the bulls are treated way better than your own pet! Better food, exercise, many routine care vet visits, temperature controlled environments, they are spoiled rotten by their owners. Do not do this! The PBF is a well respected environment for animals and humans alike and they always have been. Thank you

Comments for Public Posting: I am writing in opposition of any rule, law or ordinance that is opposed to performing at shows, rodeos or racing either by humans or animals. These animals are treated far better than they would be in the wild and much of the opposition is based on inaccuracies and flat out lies intended to vilify good people.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is a great sport and great family event. It employs thousands of men and women and puts food on there table and clothes on there kids back. It has so much rich history and is a huge part of this country and nation. It has brought together and unified people from all over the world. Rodeo brings out the best in people and the abilities that they have. It is an out rage that this is even a conversation that needs to happen. With out the rodeo cowboy, cowboy and western life style the world can't go around.
