Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is our heritage & should NOT be banned. These animals are extremely well cared for. Plus they are good for the economy, just think of all of the things that are purchased during a weekend rodeo by the contestants.

Comments for Public Posting: This is beyond ridiculous. These council members are just trying to do some “re-election virtue signaling” with their “I protect animals” mantra. They think they know animals because they have a pet dog. In reality, they know NOTHING about animals in general, farming or agriculture, and they are representatives in a state that brings in BILLIONS from those sectors! When will people (especially politicians) grasp their limited understanding? If you’re not part of rodeo, you don’t know rodeo. Livestock is the star of the show and they are treated as such. And the Latino rodeo communities need to know it was THESE politicians that ended their livelihood, again in a state with a seven (plus) percent unemployment rate. I would say forget LA, forget CA, but there will be other politicians from other cities who want to get noticed too. Stop electing these people with no grounding in reality. Ask them how many had a steak dinner this week and who slaughtered their steer. They’ll have no idea where it came from or how it got there. The idiocy is astounding. A. STOUND. ING.

Comments for Public Posting: Please vote against any law that would prohibit rodeo, stock shows, or equine events. It would be a true travesty to prohibit rodeo and other events that showcase our western heritage. It is a part of our national history that should be preserved. It showcases the strong work ethic and mental and physical toughness our forefathers had in every day life. Please take the time to get to know any of these Cowboys, Cowgirls, or anyone that has livestock to see how well these animals are cared for both physically and mentally. With only about 1.7% of our population that grow and raise our food, fuel, and fiber it is easy to lose touch of what it takes. Rodeo and other equine events showcase the love, care, and time that goes into our animals. Please do not ban these types of shows. Let our youth see these magnificent animal athletes and please come and ask questions. Our Western life style is truly beautiful and I'm proud to be apart of it. Thank you for your time

Comments for Public Posting: I have grown up in a western lifestyle my entire life and I can truly say that is the only way to live. We have been attacked in our community by animal rights activists who know absolutely nothing about the love the people have for animals. I live in a community of ranchers and farmers. I have seen these people lose countless hours of sleep to care for these animals and be absolutely distraught over any type of sickness that happens to them. The western lifestyle is essential now days. I have seen how screwed up the city of Los Angeles is and losing any sense of western lifestyle is only bound to make it worse.

Comments for Public Posting: I am struggling to understand how this piece of legislation is going to benefit LA county? Has anyone given any consideration to the loss of revenue this will have on LA county? Where is the financial impact statement? How will the lost income be replaced? The equestrian community spends millions of dollars to support the animals. Veterinarians, trainers, automobile manufacturers, trailer manufacturing, the clothing industry, the jewelry industry, restaurants, hospitality for banquets, awards ceremonies, hotel rooms, tourism are patronized by equestrians. Why is the language so specific towards rodeo events? Who's cheerios were peed in to start this ruckus?
