Comments for Public Posting: Riding bulls, really? This is what you think of the other living things we exist with on the planet? To use as forced entertainment to make some money? This is a form of abuse, just one step below bull fighting and cock fighting (at least they aren't killed purely for the entertainment value), but it's still the Roman Coliseum abuse of animals for a cheering crowd. Would you consider yourself abused if they had the power to do this to you? No doubt you would

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeos are cruel to animals. Calf roping jerks the neck and has the potential to snap the neck. In bronc busting and bull riding they put attachments to various parts of the animals bodies. It's time to stop letting animals get injured for peoples amusement.
