Comments for Public Posting: My name is Max Filinger and I am a former bareback rider in the sport of rodeo. I know from the outside looking in along with the false information that is spread of the sport, it sounds inhumane. However, the more you come to know the sport and the athletes, the less you will believe these false rumors. In the case on my event and other bucking stock events, the most common misconception I hear is a strap being tied around the “nuts” of the horse/bull and forcing them to buck. In reality, the flank strap is around the hips of the horse and more of a minor annoyance they are trying to kick off. It is not too tight. It’s would be like having an itchy belt around around you waistline that you can’t get off with your hands for 8 seconds. The animals also are bred to buck and enjoy the activity. Whether they have a rider or a flank strap on, most of these animals will buck out of the chute anyways because that’s what they want to do. It’s fun for them as much as it is for us. The times events are less in my wheelhouse, but I know enough to justify them. With anything, accidents can happen. But there are rules in place to prevent these, such as the jerk down rule, which can be explained better than I by the PRCA rule book. All of these animals are treated with the utmost care. They are the people who supply them’s livelihood, and they would have absolutely no reason or justification to mistreat them. Please take what I say into consideration. Have a conversation with a rodeo athlete, stick contractor, or anyone who is affiliated with rodeo to get a better idea of what truly goes on from someone who really knows, rather than an opinion made by someone who makes assumptions. It is a truly beautiful sport that is also a historical view of actions that helped shape our country, and I hope for that to be seen by everyone. Thank you.

Comments for Public Posting: Please don't allow future PBR (Professional Bull Riders) bull riding traveling circus shows to perform in your city, and especially during this weekend at the Honda Center in Anaheim, California. There is clear animal abuse in bull riding, and animals do suffer. The rodeo industry does not reveal the number of animal injuries and deaths, for fear the public would be shocked by the true numbers. Do the right thing. The animals subjected to this horrible and degrading treatment will thank you, as would I.

Comments for Public Posting: I am so thankful that such cruelty as Bull Riding, or to call it by its proper name 'animal abuse and exploitation' is something not even heard of in the UK. Several decades ago the American forces here in the UK wanted to introduce the disgusting practise of rodeos into the UK but fortunately British animal activists along with many kind hearted and intelligent American soldiers fought against this abuse. I still find it difficult to believe that a 'modern' and 'educated' country would find any pleasure in watching terrified animals being treated in such a barbaric way.

Comments for Public Posting: Please ban the rodeo. It's cruel and inhumane! Surely people can find other sources of entertainment. Play mini golf, watch a movie, or go to the park and have a picnic. Thanks for caring!
