Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is the beating heart of America! We love our sport & we'd love to share it with you. We love our livestock more than some people love their kids. Don't let the delusional beliefs of animal activists ruin our way of life.

Comments for Public Posting: I am publicly writing to help provide hopefully a positive view as to what rodeo means and looks like based off of my observations. In my experience getting the opportunity to go to a rodeo was such a blessing as I was able to see so many animals that make my heart sing, meet so many “strangers” who loved the Lord, were so kind and friendly every step I took from the stadium seating, to checking out the vendors, grabbing something to eat or drink, and even in the restrooms. I felt apart of a HUGE family of ranchers, horseman and women, farmers, and more. It is a completely different world that I didn’t want to end when the rodeo concluded at the end of the night. It would be a huge dis-justice and catastrophic impact on the people who are residing in the United States and others who come from different countries to be apart of a huge loving family if it is outlawed or banned! Folks come from hundreds of miles or thousands just to have the opportunity to get to know the rodeo life and learn about ranching or farming, how to get in the business of raising cattle, taking care of horses, or learning how to start a non-profit organization that helps disabled Veterans and other people with disabilities through Equine therapy. Where they learn to take care of horses, build relationships as well as learning to trust their animal companion and other human beings, learning to safely ride, and overcome certain fears that is crucial to that persons’ recovery! God made both human, animals, and the Earth! Yes, we do have a great responsibility to take care of both the animals, the humans, and the Earth itself! Learning to take care of one another in love is crucial to our existence on this Earth. Part of this is educating ourselves and sharing what is fact and how things can be improved for the animals, for the people, and for God’s Earth.
