Comments for Public Posting: A lot of the folks that attend rodeos are the lowest common denominator of our society. While protesting rodeos, I've heard misogynistic, racist, and overall just vile statements from these rodeo fans. That alone should be a reason to ban rodeo in Los Angeles!

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo is an important part of American culture that should be supported not condemned. Rodeo is monitored for safety. The animals welfare is monitored and valued. The animals are bred specifically for their passion for the events they are in. Instead of ending an event that has always been a part of California history, LA should be promoting rodeo.

Comments for Public Posting: Rodeo events are nothing but abuse to animals - what animal wants to be forced into a ring with jeering crowds, straps on it, forced to buck or perform for human entertainment? It's high time these events be cancelled. They represent an old culture in which we accept hurting animals simply for fun and entertainment. These animals deserve a different future. I hope you will act on this now. If you have ever met any of these gentle animals, it will be very apparent that they wish simply to be peaceful and graze. Leave them out of ridiculous and antiquated events.

Comments for Public Posting: There are cowboys that say, 'these animals saved my life from a life of crime.' But there is another way. We can get people involved with millions of other activities that are far more benign than rodeos. They're dangerous for both humans and animals. It is time to ban them in Los Angeles.
