

Communication from Public

Name: Jessica Craven

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 09:12 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Jessica Craven. I'm an elected member of the LACDP in AD 51; I live in Council District 1. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. This is literally the LEAST we can do for the people risking their lives to ensure we can all access food. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Tiffany Wong

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 12:03 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Tiffany Wong and I live in District 10. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Cyndi

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 07:56 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Cyndi Otteson and I live in District 14. As a mother, community organizer writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Thank you.

Communication from Public

Name: P. Abbay
Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 08:32 AM
Council File No: 20-1609
Comments for Public Posting: Good idea. They aren't neven allowed to accept gratuities!
Ridiculous.

Communication from Public

Name: Brenda Nuyen

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 07:05 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Brenda and I live in District 10. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Peter Phung

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 07:07 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Peter and I live in District 10. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Jessica Poter

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 07:39 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Jessica Poter, and I live in District 13. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name:

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 08:30 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Leonard and I live in District 1. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Dinah Dominguez

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 04:33 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Dinah Dominguez and I live in District 9. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working families. I urge the city council to support the workers, families, and communities that have been indispensable in making sure society keeps function. Pass hazard pay for workers now.

Communication from Public

Name: Valerie Hurt

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 09:28 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Valerie Hurt, I live in CD 4. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership. Valerie Hurt

Communication from Public

Name: Erica

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 09:42 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Erica Rosbe and I live in Lake Balboa. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Francesca Orrach

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 09:56 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Francesca Orrach and I live in District 4. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Amelie Cherlin

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 10:22 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Amelie Cherlin and I live in CD4. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soared. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities.

Communication from Public

Name: Alice DuBois

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 10:24 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Alice DuBois and I live in District 4. I'm writing to express my support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep people connected to the critical resources they need throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Kate Grodd

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 10:49 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Kate Grodd and I live in District 4. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. They have been on the front lines, and I deeply appreciate their commitment to keeping our City functional during the worst crisis we have seen in our lifetimes. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Let's protect them after they have protected us. Thank you, Kate Grodd

Communication from Public

Name: Jessica Eason

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 10:50 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: Many grocery and drug retail workers have become the primary earners in their households. And as Los Angeles families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment we must do better by them. Working Angelenos, especially BIPOC families, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. I am so thankful to all of the workers at Ralph's and CVS in my neighborhood. Workers deserve hazard pay for hazardous work. This is the RIGHT policy for this unprecedented moment.

Communication from Public

Name: esme

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 11:00 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Esme and I live in District 4. I am a public health professional and a member of various communitiy organizations. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life-saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Lisa Beebe

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 11:00 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: Hi, I live in L.A. City Council District 4. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have been on the front line throughout the pandemic. These essential workers have made it possible for people like me, who can work from home, to get the food and supplies I need to stay "safer at home." As the pandemic continues, these workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health, and they deserve far more financial support than they are getting from their employers. Please take action on their behalf. Thank you, Lisa

Communication from Public

Name: Ian Littleworth

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 11:26 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: I am writing to urge you to provide hazard pay for frontline grocery workers. The work they have done for our communities over the past year has been invaluable and this is an excellent opportunity to give them additional support they so richly deserve. Thank you.

Communication from Public

Name: Amy
Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 11:48 AM
Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Amy and I live in District 5. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Gregory Smith

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 11:50 AM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Gregory Smith and I live in District 13. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Sarah Elizabeth Pinho

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 12:21 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Sarah Pinho, and I am vice-chair of the legislative committee of the Stonewall Democratic Club. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Lauren Flans

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 12:43 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: Frontline grocery and drugstore workers are literally keeping us afloat right now, despite the incredible risk to themselves and the people they live with. We MUST make hazard pay a reality for them.

Communication from Public

Name: claire savage

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 12:44 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is claire savage and I live in District 14. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name:

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 12:48 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: I am a District 14 resident and I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Melissa Lo

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 01:18 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Melissa Lo and I live in District 11. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Erica Hendry

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 02:10 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Erica Hendry and I live in District 5. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Eddie Isaacs

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 02:42 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Eddie Isaacs and I live in District 14 and am a Job Steward/Bargaining Negotiator with SEIU Local 1000. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Jane Wishon

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 03:08 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Jane Wishon and I live in Council District 5 and I stand in strong support of this emergency, temporary ordinance that calls for $5 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of LA. None of us would be able to function without the essential workers who risked their lives - especially Grocery workers! Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for Los Angeles - we must lead in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.

Communication from Public

Name: Patrick Conlon

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 03:17 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Patrick Conlon and I live in District 11. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Thank you.

Communication from Public

Name: Charlotte Shih

Date Submitted: 01/28/2021 04:06 PM

Council File No: 20-1609

Comments for Public Posting: My name is Charlotte Shih and I live in District 11. I'm writing to express my strong support for the emergency, temporary ordinance of $5.00 hazard pay for grocery workers in the City of Los Angeles. Grocery and drug retail workers have risked their lives to keep our communities fed and connected to the critical resources they have needed throughout the pandemic. Many grocery and drug retail workers are BIPOC women and have become the primary earners in their households as families struggle under the combined weight of COVID-19 and widespread unemployment. Working Angelenos, especially families of color, have also not been able to shelter in place throughout the pandemic because they are more likely to hold essential jobs and thus face an increased exposure to the virus. Members of UFCW770 and grocery workers across the city of Los Angeles have been calling on grocery store corporations to reinstate hazard pay as companies see record profits. Major grocers quietly let the hazard pay they once offered at the start of the pandemic expire as COVID rates soar and Intensive Care Unit capacities are at a breaking point. Yet, workers continue to face hazardous working conditions and risk their health in order to provide life saving resources for our communities. This is the right policy for this unprecedented moment. Los Angeles must lead as it always has in fighting for the rights and dignity of working people. Thank you for your leadership.