Comments for Public Posting: We must support AB1401. To borrow from the LA Times Editorial on April 26, 2021, "By eliminating parking mandates, California would be making it easier and cheaper to build more homes near transit. That kind of construction is essential if we're going to alleviate the crippling shortage of housing, and it would be a big help for smaller, less expensive projects sited on pockets of undeveloped or underdeveloped urban land." We need to remove the barriers to building more housing.
