Comments for Public Posting: It's smart to reinstate cash bail. We need to have consequences for crime and an incentive to show up to court. Criminals are emboldened to continue to commit crime because there are little or zero consequences. It's a revolving door which puts victims in continual jeopardy and frustrates police officers who take the time to arrest criminals just to see them in the street again before they finish writing up the paperwork. Let's be smart and have common sense!
