Comments for Public Posting: The vaccine mandate for city employees needs to end. The FDA is now saying not to use J&J, and thousands more Pfizer documents were just released that need to be reviewed. All of these vaccines have been having adverse side effects in thousands of people, yet you are willing to fire thousands of loyal, knowledgeable employees with decades of experience because you want to control what goes into their bodies regardless of their medical issues or backgrounds, or religious beliefs. Have you thought about how the homeless population will increase when you fire thousands of people in LA? Have you thought about the lack of safety you will cause in LA when you terminate experienced police and firefighters, and the new recruits you hire have half the required training? End the mandates and stop threatening employees' livelihoods.
