Comments for Public Posting: The need for more green space and other outdoor activities is so sorely needed. The one thing NOT getting the attention during COVID is the rise in obesity; not just in adults, but children. The major commorbidity that put people at risk of severe complications or death have been related to individual health. Diabetes, heart congestion, respiratory issues.....the majority that can be linked to obesity. Instead of offering free donuts and fast food, why are we not seeing a bigger focus on health?
