AMENDED TRANSMITTAL: APPROVAL AND AUTHORITY TO ACCEPT $17,940,190 IN ROUND 4 FUNDING FROM THE OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR'S CALIFORNIA VOLUNTEERS FOR YOUTH SERVICE CORPS EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM EFFECTIVE MAY 8, 2026 THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 2027 AND ADJUSTMENTS TO ROUND 3 FUNDING ALLOCATIONS FOR THE PROGRAM EFFECTIVE JUNE 19, 2025 THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 2026

SUMMARY

The Community Investment Department (CID), in collaboration with the Mayor's Office of Economic Opportunity, is requesting approval to accept the $17,940,190 grant award from the Office of the Governor's California (CA) Volunteers to continue the Los Angeles Youth Service Corps Program for the performance period of May 8, 2026 through December 31, 2027. Approval is also requested for adjustments to allocations for the California Volunteers Youth Service Corps Round 3 Grant.

BACKGROUND

California Youth Service Corps is a Governor's initiative administered by California Volunteers, the State Service Commission for California responsible for engaging Californians in service, volunteering, and civic action to tackle the State's most pressing challenges. The Youth Service Corps initiative aims to increase youth employment, build youth experience toward a career, and strengthen municipal capacity to address key areas of climate, food insecurity, education, and public service.

Since 2022, the City has received $97 million through three rounds of CA Volunteers funding to place high-need youth and young adults in jobs within new or existing youth workforce development programs. The City's Youth Service Corps, called Los Angeles (L.A.) Youth Service Corps has created pathways for more than 4,000 young people to contribute to their communities while developing skills, networks, and confidence that prepare them for long-term success. During this time, L.A. Youth Service Corps members completed 1.4 million hours of paid service. The L.A. Youth Service Corps also enhances the City's commitment to investing in youth as a critical strategy for advancing equity, building civic engagement, and strengthening the future workforce. The Youth Service Corps Round 4 grant award is $17.9 million.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps subcontracts with the City's YouthSource Centers to implement this grant in high-need communities. CID administers the YouthSource Centers and also serves as the fiscal administrative entity for this grant.

California Youth Service Corps Eligibility Requirements

All Youth Service Corps members must be between 16 and 30 years of age. In addition, the grant requires that 75% of the City's selected participants should meet at least two of the criteria listed below:

- Have not participated in an AmeriCorps program
- May have difficulty finding employment
- Are low-income
- Are unemployed and/or out of school
- Are or were justice-involved
- Are in or transitioning from foster care
- Are engaged with the mental health or substance abuse system.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps program model is designed to recruit young people from historically under-resourced communities for paid work experience and to develop career pipelines through early exploration and training. The program is the result of collaborative efforts led by the Mayor's Office and City departments working in close partnership with the broader youth workforce development system to address the needs of youth and young adult population through participant recruitment, program implementation, and individual service coordination. Key partners include: the Board of Public Works, City departments: Community Investment, General Services, Recreation and Parks; the City's network of YouthSource, FamilySource, and WorkSource Centers; Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD); Los Angeles Community College District (LACCD); LA's BEST Expanded Learning Program, North East Trees, Community Software Solutions, and a consortium of experienced non-profit service providers across Los Angeles.

The program goals are to:

- Increase youth employment by providing foundational skills and work experience that will prepare participants for educational pursuits and/or career employment.
- Develop career pathways for youth who participate in the program to move into gainful employment post-service.
- Strengthen city/community capacity to address key areas of education, food insecurity, climate, and public service.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps includes six local projects that will serve 976 youth and young adults during the 2026-2027 program year. These projects vary in size and scope, offering L.A.'s youth a range of employment opportunities and career pathways aligned with the focus areas and core goals identified by California Volunteers. A few highlights are provided below:

Public Service Pathways: Graduates of the Board of Public Works Clean L.A. Youth Program are specifically prepared for—and have a strong record of being hired as—maintenance laborers with the City’s Public Works Bureau of Sanitation and its Bureau of Street Services, providing a clear route to civil service careers. Participants may also support the L.A. River Rangers program and could be connected with ongoing employment opportunities at City-contracted partner agencies that maintain the Los Angeles River. Similarly, successful graduates of the General Services Department Automotive Equipment Mechanic and Warehouse and Toolroom Worker Internships have been hired initially as Vocational Workers, with the goal of competing for Garage Assistant positions as they become available.

Education Pathways: Participants who complete the Angeleno Corps Early Childhood Education program and earn the required college units are positioned to apply for vacant education positions within the City of Los Angeles Recreation and Parks Department and the Child Development Consortium of Los Angeles, supporting their entry into the in-demand Early Childhood Education field. Furthermore, the high-school-based Student to Student Success tutoring program collaborates with LA’s Best Afterschool Enrichment organization to employ students upon successful completion of their internship.

All supported projects are existing initiatives that build on long-standing partnerships between City agencies and community-based organizations, bringing transformative change to the lives of L.A.’s youth. A complete list of the L.A. Youth Service Corps projects is provided in Attachment 3.

Youth Service Corps Round 4 Grant Budget

The L.A. Youth Service Corps program budget totals $17.9 million and allocates approximately 60% of the total budget for participant wages and 16% for program wraparound services such as work-related training, clothing, transportation, and supplies.

The Youth Service Corps Round 4 formula grant award is $4 million less than the Round 3 budget. As a result, near level funding was allocated to the six projects in Table 1, which had the highest youth demand and successful job placement during Youth Service Corps Round 1 and Round 2. During the transition of program participants from Round 2 into Round 3, program participants reported gaps in their work experience due to administrative processes. The department has provided guidance to the YouthSource Centers to eliminate any program disruption during the transition from the Round 3 allocation to Round 4.

Youth Service Corps Round 3 Budget Adjustments

In Program Year 2024–25, the City of Los Angeles (City) was awarded $22 million in Round 3 funding through the Office of the Governor's California Volunteers to expand youth workforce development programs through the California Volunteers Youth Service Corps initiative. The Youth Service Corps Round 3 grant allocation of $22 million will expire on December 31, 2026. The grant will serve 1,158 youth participants across more than a dozen programs during the performance period. As of the end of July 2026, more than 25% of the grant has been expended, and 541 youth have been served. To maximize services to youth and grant expenditures, the CID requests authority to adjust grant allocations for grant-related program activities. Table 2 below summarizes Youth Service Corps reprogrammed utilizing the WDB authority provided at the Workforce Development Board Quarterly meeting in July 2026.

Program Goals

Goal One: Increase youth employment by providing foundational skills and work experience that will prepare participants for educational pursuits and/or career employment.

The City of Los Angeles (City) proposes the largest Youth Service Corps Program application in the state, with a goal of serving 1,158 participants. Eligible young adults, ages 16 to 30, must be Los Angeles (L.A.) City residents, and meet two or more qualifying criteria, including low-income status, current or former foster youth, justice-impacted background, or facing challenges with employment. Access to paid employment is vital for these young people—whether in or out of school—to earn income, support their families, and gain exposure to diverse career pathways and competitive skill sets. Eligible young adults in L.A. will access valuable public and community service paid internship opportunities.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps initiative is a critical investment that supports important city and community services and provides a clear pathway to viable employment, educational opportunities, and lifelong success. Utilizing Youth Service Corps funding from California Volunteers, the City will strengthen its local youth workforce development system and cultivate the next generation of service leaders. The program model is designed to: 1) Recruit high-need young people for paid work experience; 2) Develop career pipelines through early exploration and training; and 3) Place 1,158 Corps members in roles that address critical community service needs. The program delivers critical services to under-resourced communities in L.A. – paid work experience, on-the-job training, professional development, and supportive services, while assisting young job seekers successfully transition to adulthood, college, and work life. As a direct result of their participation in the program, young people will be more likely to continue their education, maintain stable employment, and access careers in public service, thereby increasing their independence, earning potential, and ability to thrive.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps initiative encompasses 11 projects across three focus areas: Education (Early Childhood Education Student Advancement Program, Pathways to Childcare, Student to Student Success), Community Service (Angelino Corps, Digital Ambassadors), and Public Service (City Pathways, Clean L.A. Youth Program, L.A. Community Composting and Food Recovery, L.A. River Rangers, Operation Flame Wildland Firefighter Academy, Summer Night Lights Expansion). The L.A. Youth Service Corps is led by the Mayor's Office of Economic Opportunity (MOEO), with fiscal administration provided by the Economic and Workforce Development Department (EWDD). This investment directly addresses the multitude of challenges young Angelenos face in achieving good jobs, education, training, and economic stability. Ultimately, the L.A. Youth Service Corps will increase youth employment prospects and enhance the capacity of the City and its contracted service partners to deliver direct services to constituents.

Goal Two: Develop career pathways for youth who participate in the program to move into gainful employment post-service.

The L.A. Youth Service Corps is dedicated to ensuring Corps members successfully transition into either stable, gainful employment or further educational pursuits. A primary focus is leveraging the program's partnerships to establish direct pathways into public and community service. A few highlights are provided below:

- Public Service Pathways: Graduates of the Clean L.A. Youth Program are specifically prepared for—and have a strong record of being hired as—maintenance laborers with the City's Public Works Bureau of Sanitation and its Bureau of Street Services, providing a clear route to civil service careers. Similarly, participants in the L.A. River Rangers program are connected with ongoing employment opportunities at city contracted partner agencies responsible for maintaining the Los Angeles River.
- Education Pathways: Participants who complete the Pathways for Child Care and Early Childhood Education Student Advancement programs and have acquired the necessary college units are positioned to apply for vacant education positions within the City of Los Angeles Recreation and Parks Department and the Child Development Consortium of Los Angeles, facilitating their entry into the in-demand Early Childhood Education field. Furthermore, the high-school based Student to Student Success tutoring program works in collaboration with the L.A.'s Best Afterschool Enrichment organization to employ students upon successful completion of their internship.

Across all projects, the overarching goal remains to connect young job seekers to quality workforce programs to make sure they not only secure their first job but also maintain stable employment and access careers in public and community service, thereby increasing their lifelong earning potential. To continuously improve this process, the Mayor's Office tracks key metrics, such as enrollment and completion rates, as well as participant success stories using the Hire L.A.'s Youth online database, ensuring the pathway remains data-driven and highly responsive to the evolving needs of both the youth population and the local job market.

Implementation is a city-wide partnership involving the Mayor's Offices of Economic Opportunity and Community Safety, the Economic and Workforce Development Department (EWDD), the Board of Public Works (BPW), and the Recreation and Parks Department (RAP). The City entities will implement the L.A. Youth Service Corps alongside the City's network of contracted YouthSource Centers and other community-based partners. This collaboration will place 1,158 young people who are ready and eager to serve their communities into paid internships across public service, community service, and education fields.

Goal Three: Strengthen city/community capacity to address key areas of education, food insecurity, climate, and public service.

The City proposes to implement 11 Local Projects to serve 1,158 youth and young adults during the 2025-2026 program year. These projects vary in size and scope to offer L.A.'s youth a variety of employment opportunities and career pathways, aligned with the focus areas and core goals identified by California Volunteers.

Program Design

The Los Angeles Youth Service Corps program design includes:

- 6 public service projects; includes 1 summer employment program (Summer Night Lights)
- 3 education projects
- 2 community service/climate projects (L.A. River Rangers, L.A. Community Composting and Food Recovery)

All supported projects are existing initiatives that will continue to build upon long-standing partnerships between City agencies and community-based organizations, bringing transformative change to the lives of L.A.'s youth. The City's proposed program budget allocates approximately 55% of the total budget for participant wages and 20% for program wrap around services such as work related training, clothing, transportation, and supplies.

The Mayor's Office and several City departments work in close partnership with the broader youth workforce development system to address the needs of the young adult population through participant recruitment, program implementation, and case management. Key partners include: the City's network of YouthSource, FamilySource, and WorkSource Centers; Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD); Los Angeles Community College District (LACCD); Housing Authority of the City of Los Angeles (HACLA); Los Angeles Conservation Corps; North East Trees, and a consortium of experienced non-profit service providers across Los Angeles.

The City anticipates that all supported projects will continue seamlessly throughout the 2025-2026 program year, with L.A. Youth Service Corps program funding beginning October 1, 2026. It is anticipated that at least 100 participants will be enrolled in L.A. Youth Service Corps during the month of October 2026. An additional 700 youth and young adults will be enrolled during the September 1, 2026 to August 31, 2027 period, for a total of 800 program participants. The balance of the City's youth commitment, 358 young people, will be enrolled between September 1, 2027 to December 31, 2027. Youth Recruitment/Development

The City will serve participants who are Los Angeles residents, as well as out of school youth, students attending L.A. city schools, colleges, and university between the ages of 16-30 upon the first day of programming. Priority will be given to underserved youth and young adults who have not previously served in an AmeriCorps program – primarily those who are low-income, unemployed, and face high barriers to employment. The City will also prioritize youth who have been involved in the justice system, foster care system, and mental health/substance abuse systems. Young people facing housing insecurity or currently experiencing homelessness will also be prioritized for programming and supportive services.

The City and its network of Youth Service Corps partners will recruit youth and young adults through multiple touch points, including at the City's YouthSource Centers; L.A. Community College District campuses; LAUSD high schools, occupational centers, and adult schools; and nonprofit service providers. An annual Spring Job Fair will be held to recruit hundreds of youth and young adults before the summer enrollment cycle begins. The City will also utilize social media channels to promote and disseminate information on Youth Service Corps, including success stories and testimonials. All outreach will adhere to the branding guidelines provided by California Volunteers. Lastly, the City will update and maintain its Hire L.A.'s Youth website to provide program information and application materials in one, all-inclusive location.

Youth Service Corps members will be paid between $18 and $25 an hour, varying by project. Program length and duration will also depend on the project, typically ranging from six weeks during the summer and winter breaks to 10 months. In addition, all participants receive onboarding and work readiness training through the Transition-Age Youth World of Work curriculum, which prepares youth participants to develop a career/educational plan, prepare for job interviews, and create a budget. Supportive services will be provided on an as-needed basis and will include uniforms, personal protective equipment, or work-related clothing; transportation assistance; occupational training; worksite-required tools and supplies; and/or other resources such as youth educational and mentor awards and youth conference stipends.

Metrics/Outcomes

The City has established a comprehensive data management system to track, analyze, and report key program metrics and outcomes related to Youth Service Corps funding. The Mayor's Office and Economic and Workforce Development Department oversee and manage the City's Hire L.A.'s Youth online database that is designed to capture all Corps member-related data (e.g., demographics, enrollment rates, completion rates, etc.). Data tracking mechanisms have been developed and implemented across City departments and subgrantees to maintain up-to-date performance data on all Youth Service Corps programs. The City also collects participant success stories and testimonials to highlight the lived program experience and community impact of Youth Service Corps.

Data collection will continue to serve as an important feedback and evaluation tool for all Youth Service Corps programming. In accordance with California Volunteers' reporting guidelines, the City will continue to analyze program metrics and outcomes to provide reports on a quarterly and annual basis.

Budget/Staffing/Communications

The City of Los Angeles requests $17,940,190 to serve 1,158 youth and young adults during the 2025-2026 program year. Funding will be used to support the City's capacity to serve Youth Service Corps participants, and will cover program and administrative costs for participating departments. For more detailed information, please see the proposed grant budget submitted jointly with this application.

Under this grant allocation, the City will continue to leverage its robust youth workforce development system to execute program administration, implementation, and oversight of all Youth Service Corps projects. The proposed staffing plan will encompass several City departments and subgrantees that are charged with specific duties to ensure strategic goals and outcomes are achieved.

Mayor's Office staff also directly oversee the implementation of 5 Local Projects (Angeleno Corps; Student to Student Success; Early Childhood Education Student Advancement Project; L.A. City Pathways; Operation Flame Wildland Firefighter Academy).

BPW partners with YouthSource Centers and other community-based organizations, such as L.A. Conservation Corps, to implement programming.
