Comments for Public Posting: Urgent action needs to be taken to help the overpopulation of feral cats. The life of a feral cat is one of hunger, suffering, fear, illness, injury. I have seen some in such sad heartbreaking physical conditions. We as a community, along with our elected officials need to step up our efforts to trap and neuter and help find homes for the millions of feral cats in our communities. Last week and again last night as I slept, I heard the awful cries of a cat in pain, probably being eaten (by a coyote) or being hurt. The cries are not the normal cries of a cat. Please let's end the suffering of these beautiful sweet animals.
