Summary: As CIS's are foundational to NC and public input, any failure to transmit such documents should result in automatic good-faith Cure & Correct efforts for the relevant Item or Project regardless of scale, impact, location, and politics. Appropriate resources should be apportioned to correct whatever deficiencies or problems are found with the CIS Portal as failure to properly transit statements is an severe breach of the public's trust and deeply undermines the relationship between the City, the volunteers whom diligently work to keep their Neighborhood Councils afloat, and the millions of citizens they serve.
