Comments for Public Posting: It is important to promote and offer low cost spay and neuter to the public in order to low the overpopulation of street animals. People dump them and surrender them because they cannot afford these services, it leads them to dump them at shelters or the street where they end up producing more.

Comments for Public Posting: Spay and neuter is crucial to population control and reduction in shelter intake. Right now mandatory law has no teeth. If the city is unable or unwilling to enforce laws at least put in serious effort into encouraging compliance through yearly education and ease of access. Increasing the value of the vouchers would encourage more vets to participate which is crucial because we have a shortage in vet and spay and neuter appts compared to all the pets needing them.

Comments for Public Posting: Please please give funds and campaign for spay and neuter I can't walk out my front door in downtown LA without seeing loose animals running in the streets! We are NOT a 3rd world country and you should be ashamed of not releasing funds or managing campaigns to HELP those of us spending our time and money picking up the animals in the streets! Please please release the funds!!!

Comments for Public Posting: Item 22-1175 Please help to add more spay and low cost neuter clinics. There are many stray cats and dogs that are needing low cost clinics to stop this crisis of packed city Shelters. We need more responsible pet owners that will spay and neuter domestic pets. End back yard breeders. The system is broken. Make a plan!

Comments for Public Posting: Spay/neuter is critical for reducing shelter population, euthanasia-rates, and unwanted feral cat populations. City should consider increasing the amount of the discount voucher to make it more affordable. City should also consider a county sterilization program for feral cats, like partnering with Fixnation or Simi Valley Spay and Neuter Clinic.

Comments for Public Posting: Los Angeles County animal shelters need to promote spay and neuter to help manage the animal population, especially homeless animals. The increase in homeless animals is a people caused issue and requires the county to help stop the increasing numbers. This can help decrease the number of unwanted animals enter the shelter system and skyrocketing euthanasia numbers of unwanted and otherwise healthy, adoptable animals filling up the shelter kennels.
