Comments for Public Posting: Violates 6th amendment. Slowed speeds. An awareness of the presence of a ticket camera can cause some drivers to drive below the posted speed limit, creating a road safety hazard. False readings. Radar-triggered cameras are imperfect and can result in tickets being generated for false readings. No evidence of improved safety. NMA believes the companies that sell the ticket camera equipment and services are biased and offer no independent verification that these systems actually do reduce accidents, improve highway safety, or help to regulate roadway traffic flow. No accuser. It is a constitutional right for accused persons to confront their accuser, but in the case of these cameras, there is no human being to confront. Selective responses. While drivers may begin to adjust their driving behavior in areas that they become aware are being surveyed with cameras, this behavior does not always transfer to other areas and intersections, especially where they can confirm there are no cameras. Familiar areas that are known by drivers to be camera-free may still generate speeding, reckless driving and the running of red lights.
