Comments for Public Posting: I support the appointment of: Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission, and Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission. Ilissa, a union-side labor law attorney and the founder of the pro-housing Miracle Mile Democratic Club, is deeply invested in housing issues. Her passionate involvement with Abundant Housing LA, her commitment to defeating detrimental housing measures like Measure S, and her influential role as President of the Central Los Angeles Area Planning Commission affirm her dedication. I trust Ilissa to bring her legal expertise, her experience as a housing advocate, and her energetic leadership to the City Planning Commission, continuing her pursuit of housing solutions that benefit all Angelenos. Jaime is a passionate community organizer focused on uplifting marginalized communities throughout the city with a robust history of organizing efforts in the valley. His involvement with Abundant Housing LA, LA County Neighborhood Housing Services and Tree People demonstrate his passion for advocating and organizing for affordable housing/homeownership and environmental justice issues. I have seen his commitment and compassion and he would be an immense asset to the Planning Commission. Haley holds a Master's degree in Urban Planning from USC's Price School of Public Policy. Haley has worked in environmental justice, economic development, and housing; and brings a wealth of passion for inclusive and sustainable communities.

Dear Abundant Housing,

As your constituent here in Los Angeles (CD 1), I stand with Abundant Housing LA in support of the appointment of Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission, and Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission.

Housing has long been at a crisis point in Los Angeles. And, personally, as a renter, I feel the crisis every day. I see it in my bank account. I see it in the friends who are moving away to afford a place to live. I definitely see it in the encampments that teem over city sidewalks. All of this is just part of why we need experienced leaders who will support evidence-based strategies to make Los Angeles more affordable.

I hope City Council PLUM Committee will approve these recommendations—of Ilissa, Jaime and Haley—to their respective commission appointments.

Thank you,

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Abundant Housing,

As your constituent, I stand with Abundant Housing LA in support of the appointment of Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission, and Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission.

Ilissa, a union-side labor law attorney and the founder of the pro-housing Miracle Mile Democratic Club, is deeply invested in housing issues. Her passionate involvement with Abundant Housing LA, her commitment to defeating detrimental housing measures like Measure S, and her influential role as President of the Central Los Angeles Area Planning Commission affirm her dedication. We trust Ilissa to bring her legal expertise, her experience as a housing advocate, and her energetic leadership to the City Planning Commission, continuing her pursuit of housing solutions that benefit all Angelenos.

Jaime is a passionate community organizer focused on uplifting marginalized communities throughout the city with a robust history of organizing efforts in the valley. His involvement with Abundant Housing LA, LA County Neighborhood Housing Services and Tree People demonstrate his passion for advocating and organizing for affordable housing/homeownership and environmental justice issues.

Haley holds a Master's degree in Urban Planning from USC's Price School of Public Policy. Haley has worked in environmental justice, economic development, and housing. She immigrated to the United States at 16. She brings passion for inclusive and sustainable communities in her dedication to urban planning and housing issues.

Therefore, we urge you to support the appointment of these candidates to their prospective planning commissions.

Sincerely,

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

As your constituent, I stand with Abundant Housing LA in support of the appointment of Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission, and Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission.

Ilissa, a union-side labor law attorney and the founder of the pro-housing Miracle Mile Democratic Club, is deeply invested in housing issues. Her passionate involvement with Abundant Housing LA, her commitment to defeating detrimental housing measures like Measure S, and her influential role as President of the Central Los Angeles Area Planning Commission affirm her dedication. We trust Ilissa to bring her legal expertise, her experience as a housing advocate, and her energetic leadership to the City Planning Commission, continuing her pursuit of housing solutions that benefit all Angelenos.

Jaime is a passionate community organizer focused on uplifting marginalized communities throughout the city with a robust history of organizing efforts in the valley. His involvement with Abundant Housing LA, LA County Neighborhood Housing Services and Tree People demonstrate his passion for advocating and organizing for affordable housing/homeownership and environmental justice issues.

Haley holds a Master's degree in Urban Planning from USC's Price School of Public Policy. Haley has worked in environmental justice, economic development, and housing. She immigrated to the United States at 16. She brings passion for inclusive and sustainable communities in her dedication to urban planning and housing issues.

Therefore, we urge you to support the appointment of these candidates to their prospective planning commissions.

Sincerely,

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Abundant Housing,

I'm writing to strongly support and urge the appointment of Ilissa Gold, Jaime Del Rio, and Haley Feng to their respective planning commissions.

Ilissa, Jaime, and Haley are all deeply knowledgeable about urban planning, housing, and land use issues. More importantly, they are deeply concerned with the welfare of our city and its residents, especially those most burdened by high housing costs, limited tenant protections, stingy public investments, and urban planning that elevates the convenience of people in cars over the health and safety of everyone else -- including many who rely on cars for daily transportation because we make it so challenging to get around by other means.

All three candidates have demonstrated through their work and public service a commitment to our city's values: equity, sustainability, opportunity, justice, and belonging. They are exceptionally collaborative, focused on building coalitions and identifying solutions; they will listen to the views of people of all backgrounds and experiences, and will make decisions with the goal of doing what's best for the city and their respective communities. In addition to welcoming input from others, each will bring their own valuable and underrepresented perspective to the planning commissions.

It's my understanding that these candidates have faced opposition from some corners of the city, in part because of their affiliation with Abundant Housing Los Angeles, a local pro-housing advocacy organization. As a longtime member of AHLA, I encourage you to explore its record for yourself. They consistently support housing production across all income levels, tenant protections including rent stabilization and right to counsel, and taxes to increase funding for affordable housing, homeless services, rent assistance, and more. They are also one of the most coalitional organizations in the city, working across interest groups and constituencies to improve housing affordability and stability for all; among others, they are a prominent partner and contributor to the Our Future LA coalition.

I'm proud to associate myself with AHLA's platform, and it's one that deserves greater representation in the halls of power of Los Angeles. I'm even prouder to know Ilissa, Jaime, and Haley, and call them friends. They are the perfect representatives of an inclusive vision for LA's future, and they deserve seats on the commissions to which they've been nominated.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Shane Phillips

Dear Abundant Housing,

As your constituent, I stand with Abundant Housing LA in support of the appointment of Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission, and Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission.

Ilissa, a union-side labor law attorney and the founder of the pro-housing Miracle Mile Democratic Club, is deeply invested in housing issues. Her passionate involvement with Abundant Housing LA, her commitment to defeating detrimental housing measures like Measure S, and her influential role as President of the Central Los Angeles Area Planning Commission affirm her dedication. We trust Ilissa to bring her legal expertise, her experience as a housing advocate, and her energetic leadership to the City Planning Commission, continuing her pursuit of housing solutions that benefit all Angelenos.

Jaime is a passionate community organizer focused on uplifting marginalized communities throughout the city with a robust history of organizing efforts in the valley. His involvement with Abundant Housing LA, LA County Neighborhood Housing Services and Tree People demonstrate his passion for advocating and organizing for affordable housing/homeownership and environmental justice issues.

Haley holds a Master's degree in Urban Planning from USC's Price School of Public Policy. Haley has worked in environmental justice, economic development, and housing. She immigrated to the United States at 16. She brings passion for inclusive and sustainable communities in her dedication to urban planning and housing issues.

Therefore, we urge you to support the appointment of these candidates to their prospective planning commissions.

Sincerely,

Thank you for your consideration.

His involvement with Abundant Housing LA, LA County Neighborhood Housing Services and Tree People demonstrate his passion for advocating and organizing for affordable housing/homeownership and environmental justice issues.

Haley holds a Master's degree in Urban Planning from USC's Price School of Public Policy. Haley has worked in environmental justice, economic development, and housing. She immigrated to the United States at 16. She brings passion for inclusive and sustainable communities in her dedication to urban planning and housing issues.

Therefore, we urge you to support the appointment of these candidates to their prospective planning commissions.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,

Dear Abundant Housing,

As your constituent, I stand with Abundant Housing LA in support of the appointment of Ilissa Gold to the LA City Planning Commission, Jaime Del Rio to the North Valley Area Planning Commission, and Haley Feng to the West Los Angeles Area Planning Commission.

Ilissa, a union-side labor law attorney and the founder of the pro-housing Miracle Mile Democratic Club, is deeply invested in housing issues. Her passionate involvement with Abundant Housing LA, her commitment to defeating detrimental housing measures like Measure S, and her influential role as President of the Central Los Angeles Area Planning Commission affirm her dedication. We trust Ilissa to bring her legal expertise, her experience as a housing advocate, and her energetic leadership to the City Planning Commission, continuing her pursuit of housing solutions that benefit all Angelenos.
