Dear LA City Council Members,

As members of a city council, each of you know the power you hold with your votes. You may vote for great infrastructures, preserving oceanfront communities, or taking steps to reduce wildfires. Or you may vote on the future of two of the most magnificent creatures that roam the earth. Two who have spent years of containment in a zoo, to spend their lives being looked at. And after years of fighting to release them to a sanctuary where they can roam free, the decision was made to send them to yet another zoo, to be looked at by different people.

This is where your power comes into play. Your small group has the power to release these two magnificent mammals into a several hundred acre sanctuary to live out their life's in their natural setting, or you have the power to transfer them to another small containment to sadly walk around in circles for the rest of their lives.

Please have the heart to choose freedom for Billy and Tina. Let them forage for their own natural food. Let them walk for miles in the sunshine or roll in a dust bath. Please use your power to choose happiness, freedom and peace for these two. Please.

Thank you,
Craig Snook

Good day, please transfer the elephants Billy and Tina to a real shelter, to a reserve, there is no need to give them back to another zoo, let these large animals live out their lives in good natural conditions, please, freedom for Billy, freedom for Tina.
