Comments for Public Posting: I urge City Council Members to VOTE YES on this motion. In the wake of this climate disaster, the government needs to make sure no one else loses their home. The first priority right now should be keeping people housed and making sure landlords are not using this emergency as an opportunity to increase their profits. The best way to prevent those most vulnerable from being taken advantage of is enacting a rent freeze and eviction moratorium. Please put people over profit!

Comments for Public Posting: A lot of landlords are still reciting from the unpaid rents from Covid, please do not let this notion pass and punish landlords again. Some areas of Los Angeles have not even been touched by the fires, why put the landlords in a difficult situation again and make these worse? The city needs to help people affected by the fires but this is not the answer especially if nothing is required from tenants to price they have been affected by the fires and they can't afford rent. Besides tenants are so protected and some rents have not increased in the pear 10 years!! Please reconsider and do not let this pass

Comments for Public Posting: It seems like the city forgets that all landlords are not multi millions dollars businesses but rather people who have worked hard to buy a property. They even sometimes have to live with tenants. To pass this motion is to let landlords at risk of losing their property because of unpaid rents. This is not gonna help the situation in Los Angeles. The city needs to do better and this is definitely not the answer. I urge the city council to not pass this motion

Comments for Public Posting: I am a long-term resident renter in Koreatown in council district 10 and am urging all councilmembers to vote in favor of this motion. Los Angeles is already experiencing a housing crisis, and tenants cannot afford to bear the costs of rents continuing to increase at this moment when demand for new rentals is spiking. Allowing evictions and rent increases to continue will drastically exacerbate the homelessness crisis that Los Angeles has just begun to meaningfully address. While my apartment was not directly affected by the fires, I know that in case of a significant rent increase in my apartment, I would have no opportunity to move somewhere new due to the skyrocketing market rate. I urge the council to do everything in its power to protect renters.

Immediately enact a 12-month EVICTION MORATORIUM for non-payment of rent, no-fault evictions, evictions related to unauthorized occupants and/or pets, and evictions based on lack of renters insurance for tenants who attest to having experienced economic or medical hardship, and tenants who have accommodated displaced or economically impacted occupants who have experienced economic or medical hardship related to the January 2025 fires.

The fires in LA City and County have upended lives and livelihoods of many Angelenos. Many have lost work, had to care for family, have had health issues because of the fires, and in the face of such hardship, it is vital tenants are able to stay in their homes during this difficult time.

Comments for Public Posting: I recognize the disparity in economic status between most landlords and most tenants. However, stereotyping tenants as all "poor" and landlords as all "rich" has caused implementation of polarizing policies by this City Council in the beginning of Covid-19, and the patronizing overreach to protect tenants needs to stop now. There was woefully inadequate consideration of the average homeowner by this Council during Covid. Presently, there are many landlords, particularly mom-and-pop landlords, who barely weathered the impacts of extremely pro-tenant Covid regulations of the recent past, whereby no rent raises were allowed for years and tenants who attested to being impacted were able to avoid paying rent for years. I personally know several landlords whose tenants amassed huge amounts of debt, only to vacate those units the moment the past-due rent was due to be repaid. On the flip side of that, landlords negatively impacted by Covid had the opportunity to defer their mortgage payments, but when those debts came due, those homeowners had to promptly repay said debts with interest or face losing their property. This was not the case with tenants, many of whom lived rent-free for years and simply absconded, while saddling their landlords with crushing financial obligations. On January 27, 2023, the Just Cause Ordinance was implemented in LA whereby homeowners who had leased out their single-family homes were no longer able to evict tenants except when they had "just cause" to do so. The JCO Ordinance swept over 400,000 single-family homes in LA under the supervision of the LA Housing Department. For many of these SFR homeowners, some of whom had vacated their homes and rented them out due to age-related health reasons, these homeowners were simply not able to sell their homes after the JCO Ordinance passed. I know several homeowners personally who still cannot sell their properties due to the extremely pro-tenant JCO Ordinance. It is a very rare buyer who will purchase an SFR home in LA when that home has a tenant in place. SFR properties with tenants in place typically sell at a discount of 30-40% and that is not fair to these homeowners who have invested their life savings in their homes. The last refuge of landlord homeowners (both JCO and LARSO properties) has been to exercise their Constitutional right to go out of business (in the rental housing market), which subjects them to oversight for 10 years by the LA Housing Department. These types of rental removals (also known as "Ellis actions") were completely prohibited during Covid, when all "no-fault" evictions were paused for years. Now, every homeowner in LA faces this same threat again: the threat of losing their Constitutional right to EXIT the rental housing business. The Court in Ellis held that every homeowner has the right to exit the rental housing market. Notwithstanding that clear ruling, the LA City Council took away homeowners' rights for years during Covid. Please don't do this again. Eliminating no-fault evictions when strong tenant protections already exist, which include relocation fees of up to $25,700 per unit and a year of time to vacate for qualified tenants, is a HUGE MISTAKE. I urge the Council to slow down, consider all viewpoints, look at the long-term housing implications of its actions, and study and hear all perspectives equally. Thank you for your consideration.

Comments for Public Posting: I'm writing to encourage all councilmembers to vote YES on the motion put forth by Councilmembers Hernandez and Soto-Martinez to enact an immediate 12 month rent freeze and immediate 12 month eviction moratorium. As their motion mentions, rents have already skyrocketed immediately after the fires, and even listings that are keeping within the 10% illegal price gouging range (though the many 9.99% increases on listings I've seen is still predatory) are set to expire 30 days after the state of emergency declaration. We need to protect fire victims from being preyed upon right now, and existing tenants from being evicted by landlords who are planning to price gouge. I personally know multiple families who lost their homes or were displaced, and without a rent freeze and eviction moratorium a bad situation will only get worse. They're counting on you to stand up for them during an awful time. Thank you so much!

We must do everything at our disposal to protect tenants across this city in the wake of this environmental disaster. We did something similar during the Covid-19 pandemic. I know too many people who have lived here for much of their lives and lost everything because of the fires. Landlords are taking advantage already and this needs to be stopped. More evictions and higher prices for housing/rent, will put more people on the streets. We can avoid this by putting protections in place for tenants as we rebuild.

Comments for Public Posting: Hi there, I'm a concerned citizen of District 12. While I'm so grateful and lucky to be safe in my home here near Elysian Park, I'm in STRONG support of the rent hike freeze. My landlord has just raised rent on our unit, the second time we've gotten a 4% increase since my partner moved in last in Nov '23. We're barely able to afford our rent as is, but the thought of leaving now and looking for a new place with the thousands of newly displaced Angelenos is both terrifying and guilt-ridden. Should I just eat the cost, live above my means, in an effort to be one less ping of demand, one less reason for a landlord to raise the asking price? Or should I leave my unit - which will see a sudden few hundred dollar raise when it hits the market, I'm sure. And compete with thousands of others who are in more desperate need than I am? I shouldn't have to make this decision, and these displaced Angelenos shouldn't be further effected by the greed of landlords across the city and the impacts of their greed.

Comments for Public Posting: Hello- LA City needs to do more. The new measures aren't enough in length and protection! Due to the unfortunate situation created by the recent fires, LA City should consider another Rent Freeze Moratorium to protect tenants and recent evacuees looking for rentals against greedy landlords. New displacements might happen, high rents will occur, evictions, and so on. Most of us don't live in Rent Controlled Apts anyways, this will make the housing crisis worse if something doesn't get done now! Lots of greedy landlords already started to take advantage of this unfortunate situation. We will all suffer! Need more protection! Freeze Rent and Evecions in LA County like Covid-19 measures! Given the severity of this emergency, it makes sense to me to take the kinds of measures we took during the last moment that felt this wide in scope and intense in impact, the COVID-18 pandemic. Then, as is the case now, the citizens of Los Angeles need city government to act quickly and expansively to protect tenants. People impacted by the fires include those who have lost their homes, have had to evacuate for a long period, or who have lost work. These fires only exacerbate the housing and homelessness crisis. This measure is necessary.

Comments for Public Posting: As someone who lives in West-LA, I am gravely concerned for the long-term impacts that the LA fires will have on my neighborhood. We are already one of the most expensive rental neighborhoods in the city, and as displaced people from the fires seek new apartments, I am gravely concerned that opportunistic landlords will seize the opportunity to evict my neighbors in order to rent to people displaced by the fires at much higher rates. We would not be in quite such a dire situation if Traci Park, Hydee Feldstein-Soto, and Mayor Bass had not rubber-stamped the mass eviction of the tenants at Barrington Plaza, one of the largest mass evictions in LA history, which was eventually deemed illegitimate and an abuse of the Ellis Act. By bowing down to her mega-donor, Douglass Emmett, Traci Park helped to remove hundreds of rent-stabilized units from the rental market, something we could desperately use right now as newly displaced people try to seek apartments as they figure out how to rebuild their lives. The bare minimum that city council could do right now is pass an eviction moratorium and a rent freeze to protect all tenants as we have no way of knowing what the next year will look like as the already unstable housing market in LA is driven further into chaos. We do not know what the ripple effects of this crisis will be, but we know from living through COVID-19 that we need to do everything we can to keep people in their homes so that this crisis does not worsen. I want to address the broad council and remind them that Traci Park is a white supremacist and a segregationist backed by the Heritage Foundation and Breitbart. You do not have to defer to her or listen to her when she claims to know what is best for her district. She has plainly proven herself to be more loyal to her donors than to the most vulnerable constituents in her district. She is not the authority on what this district needs and I would encourage all other councilmembers to override her on this and every other matter.

My property insurance went up 400% as well as other areas of maintenance for my building. The City of Los Angeles seems to only take into account the tenants needs and wants. Landlords are left in a position to fend for themselves with no help at all. Many people are going to not be able to run their properties if these new laws are passed. Comments for Public Posting: I'm very concerned at the potential of pausing all no fault evictions in Los Angeles. During Covid I almost lost my property because my tenants could no longer pay the rent. I don't see how no fault evictions have anything to do with the wildfires and without any proper oversight as to who is applying, the system opens itself up to abuse just as it did during Covid. We are now looking to exit the rental market so that my mother who's 77 years old can live with us in our duplex home, we have already waited 6 months for my mother to move in and if 25-0006-S16 passes we risk waiting another year before she can MOVE IN TO THE HOME SHE PURCHASED AND HAS A RIGHT TO LIVE IN. We are not a wealthy family, my mother legally immigrated into the U.S., from Mexico, when she was 18 and has saved money her whole life to purchase this home and allowing 25-0006-S16 to pass would be a gross injustice to her for simply being a responsible US citizen. Our hearts go out to everyone affected by the wildfires, but efforts to support these victims should be more relevant and restricted to communities directly impacted. The way 25-0006-S16 is written opens it up to abuse which will just wreak greater havoc on a city that's already severely struggling on many fronts. This is not the solution and I will be sure to rally my community to no longer support any elected officials trying to take advantage of the wildfires for their own political gains.
