Comments for Public Posting: I urge the LA City Council to use its sister city partnership with Hanoi as leverage to end dog and cat meat consumption in Viet Nam. We must end ALL meat farming, including that of dogs and cats, if we want to mitigate the climate catastrophe and end the spread of zoonotic diseases.

Comments for Public Posting: Thank you for your continuing commitment to make a difference in the horrific dog and cat meat industry overseas. I urge the City of Los Angeles to continue this important fight by voting yes to Council File 25-0193 requiring Hanoi to cease these practices. I hope one day such atrocities (and they are atrocious-the animals are often tortured before being killed because it's supposed to make the meat taste better) will be a dark spot in world history but right now it's up to individual entities to take any measures they can to make a difference.

Comments for Public Posting: The dog meat trade is cruel and horrific. Terrified dogs are crammed into crates on trucks and then brutally torched and killed. Some dogs are "farmed " for the meat trade, stray dogs are taken and others are peoples' pets that have been stolen. I fully support Council File 25-0193 and any effort to end this practice. If officials in Hanoi agree to end the dog meat trade, a campaign should publicize the reason for the change and the elimination of the trade. The definition of cruel is "to cause pain and suffering to someone feeling no concern about it. Dogs are sentient beings with feelings just like people have. They deserve to be protected.

Los Angeles should do everything in its power to help end the dog and cat meat trade in Vietnam, and I urge you to vote yes on the motion to establish a sister-city relationship with Hanoi. This sickness, along with eating all animals, needs to end. We are devolving into a soulless society that normalizes terror, pain, suffering, and brutal deaths. That's not a decent or just society. That's hell on earth, and we need to end it now. Kristin A. Crage
