Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO)

What is the BMO?

The Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO) regulates the scale of new construction in single-family residential neighborhoods in the City of Los Angeles. The ordinance encourages the retention of existing homes and limits the size, height, and mass of new houses in order to encourage greater compatibility.

As a citywide policy, the BMO helps protect and sustain the character of older and historic neighborhoods throughout Los Angeles:

- Reduced "bulk," including limits on attached garages, breezeways, and covered porches, means that new houses will be appropriately scaled, as opposed to looming over their neighbors.
- Scaled-down homes offer greater access to natural light, air, and privacy.
- Street trees won't be removed to accommodate enlarged driveways or construction equipment.
- Design standards, such as front facade articulation and setbacks for balconies and terraces, will help prevent the construction of "boxy" homes.
- Greater assurances over future development help stabilize property values.

Background

The City of Los Angeles first passed the Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO) in 2008 and the Baseline Hillside Ordinance (BHO) in 2011.

The legislation represented a direct response to mansionization and teardown trends in older and historic neighborhoods throughout Los Angeles. With boxy and out-of-scale homes replacing much of the city's existing single-family housing stock, the BMO provided a framework for ensuring that new development respected its existing context.

The BMO and BHO sought to regulate the size and scale of new construction in single-family residential and hillside neighborhoods, respectively. Neighborhood concerns included new building mass; scale of driveways and garages; loss of natural light, air, and privacy; extensive hillside grading; and removal of street trees.

Yet a few provisions in the BMO, including exemptions and design bonuses, actually encouraged the kind of out-of-scale homes it was designed to prevent. The Though certain neighborhoods, including Historic Preservation Overlay Zones (HPOZs) and those protected by an Interim Control Ordinance (ICO), benefit from stronger controls on demolition and new construction, the BMO is the primary conservation tool for all other single-family, R-1 zoned neighborhoods citywide.

On May 1, 2014, Los Angeles City Councilmember Paul Koretz introduced a motion directing the Department of City Planning to address the shortcomings in the BMO/BHO by doing four primary things:

1. Re-evaluating Residential Floor Area exemptions;
2. Re-evaluating design bonuses;
3. Removing the green building bonus and loophole; and
4. Reducing R1-Zone Residential Floor Area and allowable size of new residential construction.

The City introduced the first revisions to the BMO/BHO in October 2015, followed by a second update in April 2016. The Planning Department convened four public meetings regarding the amendments in May 2016 and released the Initial Study/Negative Declaration (environmental review documents) in June 2016.

Following numerous public hearings, City Council adopted the revisions to the BMO/BHO in March 2017. Though the amended ordinances are not perfect, this is an important step in the right direction and a huge win for L.A. neighborhoods.

Department of City Planning

Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO) & Baseline Hillside Ordinance (BHO)

CODE AMENDMENT | Q&A | Revised August 31, 2016

What is the purpose of the BMO/BHO Code amendment?

The City's current development standards for single-family zones are referred to as the Baseline Mansionization and Baseline Hillside Ordinances, or BMO and BHO. These regulations were established to address out-of-scale development in single-family zones throughout the City and related construction impacts in Hillside Areas. The purpose of the BMO/BHO Code amendment is to update and refine the current rules relating to the size and bulk of new and enlarged homes, as well as grading of hillside lots.

Why is the BMO/BHO Code amendment needed?

The City began crafting new regulations for single-family zones in 2006 to address the proliferation of out-of-scale single-family development and extensive hillside grading. In 2008, new regulations, known as the Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO), were adopted, followed in 2011 by the Hillside Area counterpart, known as the Baseline Hillside Ordinance (BHO).

As development pressure increased, vulnerabilities in the regulations became more apparent. Especially for R1-zoned properties, the BMO and BHO were not as effective at curtailing large-scale homes and construction impacts as originally anticipated. These issues have not been unique to Los Angeles; other Southern California cities, as well as those in other regions, have experienced similar pressures and subsequently reassessed their regulations.

A multitude of residents and neighborhood organizations asked their respective City Councilmembers for stronger controls. In response, the City Council instructed the Department of City Planning to draft an amendment to the BMO regulations. Additionally, the Council called for restrictions in selected Hillside Area neighborhoods covered by the BHO, citing concerns about the scale of new development as well as impacts from excessive grading and hauling. The Department determined that the best way to respond to these concerns would be a Code amendment addressing the BMO and the BHO.

How is the varied nature of Los Angeles' neighborhoods being taken into account in the BMO/BHO Code amendment?

In a city as diverse as Los Angeles, no one size fits all; different neighborhoods have differing concepts of what constitutes appropriately scaled development. Because the BMO and BHO are citywide regulations, any amendments to them must strike a balance between those various ideas. This Code amendment offers substantial improvement on the most urgent issues, while the Department works to create more tailored single-family zones for everyone through re:code LA.

What is the difference between the BMO/BHO Code amendment and other single-family zoning initiatives currently in progress?

There are several single-family zoning initiatives currently in progress:

Interim Control Ordinances (ICOs). In 2015 an Interim Control Ordinance (ICO) covering various residential neighborhoods was adopted to temporarily restrict development until a more permanent solution is available. This first ICO expires in March 2017. A second ICO, covering several additional neighborhoods, was adopted by the City Council on June 29, 2016.

re:code LA* R1 Variation Zones. The ongoing effort to comprehensively rewrite the Zoning Code will include new single-family zones to better address the diversity of Los Angeles' neighborhoods. The preparation and adoption of a new menu of R1 Zones (a component of the new single-family zones) is being accelerated to be available for neighborhoods that are currently subject to one of the City's residential ICOs. These new R1 Zones will contain regulations tailored to the needs of individual communities, such as neighborhoods where the predominant character is detached garages, single-story houses, or houses that are larger in scale.

BMO/BHO. The BMO/BHO Code amendment will serve as a more immediate response to the scale of development for neighborhoods not subject to an ICO. It will provide carefully considered regulations while the new re:code LA single-family zones are developed for citywide application.

How has the City involved residents, stakeholders, and members of the public in the process of drafting the BMO/BHO Code amendment?

The Department of City Planning publicly released two drafts of the proposed ordinance and held a total of eight public meetings, in addition to accepting comments in writing, by email, and over the phone. In total, more than 300 spoken comments and 1,000 written comments were received.

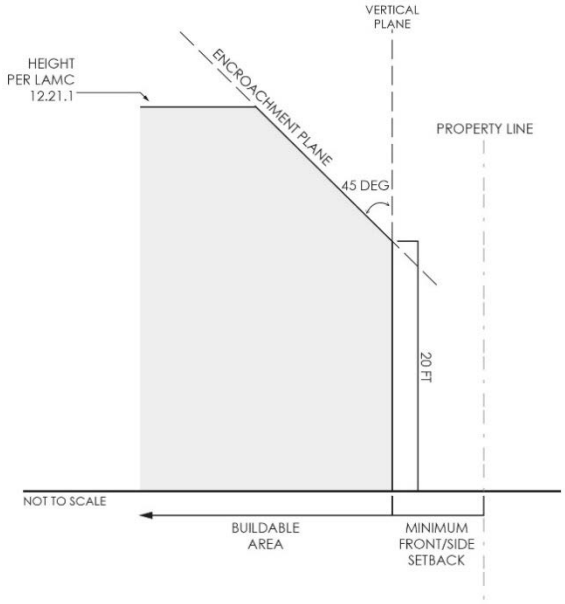
The first draft of the BMO/BHO Code Amendment was released on October 30, 2015. The Department held four public meetings around the City on December 2, 3, 15 and 16, 2015. Staff received valuable feedback from the testimony and comments that were submitted.

As a result, staff conducted additional research and analysis and prepared a revised draft of the BMO/BHO Code amendment, which was released on April 21, 2016. The Department held four additional public meetings on May 4, 9, 10 and 16, 2016. Each meeting included a presentation, question-and-answer period, and public hearing. Staff reviewed the comments and recommended a set of changes for the City Planning Commission's consideration and action.

The City Planning Commission held a public hearing on the BMO/BHO Code amendment at its regular meeting on July 14, 2016. The Commission heard spoken comments from members of the public for approximately two hours before voting to approve the proposed amendment with modifications.

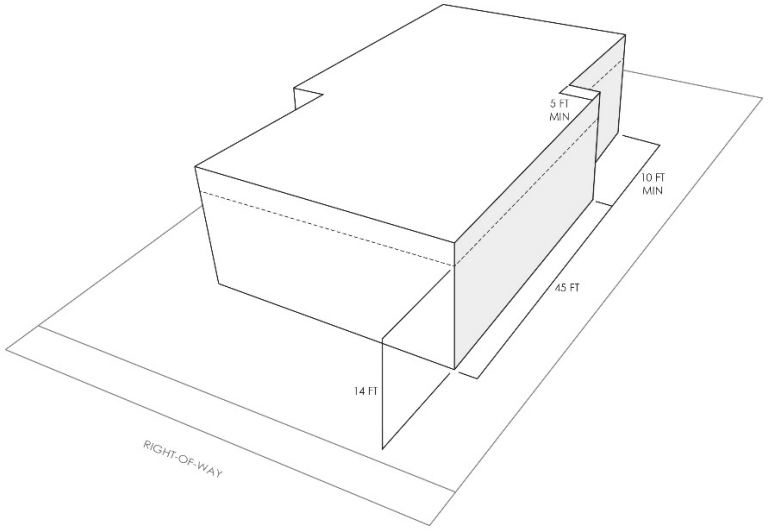
What are the key elements of the City Planning Commission-approved BMO/BHO Code amendment?

The version of the BMO/BHO Code amendment that was approved by the City Planning Commission on July 14, 2016 includes the following changes to existing Zoning Code provisions:



For all single-family zones (R1, RA, RE, RS)

- Eliminate the existing Residential Floor Area exemption for the first 100 square feet of over-in-height (over 14 feet in height) ceilings.
- Eliminate the Residential Floor Area exemption for covered porches, patios, & breezeways (currently 250 square feet).
- Retain the full Residential Floor Area exemption for detached garages and rear attached garages (up to 400 square feet). Reduce the exemption for front attached garages to 200 square feet.
- Eliminate the Residential Floor Area bonus option for green buildings.
- Require a public hearing in order to grant a Zoning Administrator's Adjustment for additional Residential Floor Area, regardless of whether the property is in a designated Hillside Area.



For all R1 Zones

- Reduce maximum Floor Area Ratio from 0.5 to 0.45, regardless of lot size.
- Eliminate all of the Residential Floor Area bonus options.
- Require occupied roof decks to be set back 3 feet from minimum side yard.
- Require articulation of the front façade.

- Establish an encroachment plane limit for building height over 20 feet.

- Establish a side wall articulation requirement for walls more than 45 feet in length and 14 feet in height.

For R1 Zones not in designated hillside areas

- Limit driveway to 25% of lot width (but not less than 9 feet), or the width of an existing driveway.

For all single-family zones in designated hillside areas

- Remove the grading exemption for cut and fill underneath a structure.
- Retain grading exemption for deepened foundation systems, such as pile foundations and caissons.
- Retain grading exemption for fill resulting from non-exempt cut underneath the footprint of the main building, up to one-half of said cut.
- In conjunction with counting previously exempted grading:
  - Adjust the formula for maximum grading allowed:
    - Existing: 500 cubic yards plus the numeric value equal to 5% of the lot size in cubic yards
    - Proposed: 1,000 cubic yards plus the numeric value equal to 10% of the lot size in cubic yards
  - Adjust the maximum "by-right" grading quantities:

Zone	EXISTING Maximum "By-Right" Grading Quantity (cubic yards)	PROPOSED Maximum "By-Right" Grading Quantity (cubic yards)
R1	1,000	2,000
RS	1,100	2,200
RE9	1,200	2,400
RE11	1,400	2,800
RE15	1,600	3,200
RE20	2,000	4,000
RE40	3,300	6,600
RA	1,800	3,600

- In conjunction with counting previously exempted grading, modify allowed import/export quantities:
  - Standard Hillside Limited Streets and larger – up to the maximum "by-right" grading quantities.
  - Substandard Hillside Limited Streets – up to 75 percent of the maximum "by-right" grading quantities.
- Restrict import/export activities to 9 a.m. – 3 p.m., Monday-Friday.

The proposed Code amendment also contains a number of technical edits and clarifications.

Would the Code amendment apply to projects currently in the process of obtaining permits?

The Code amendment will apply to projects submitted to the Department of Building & Safety for plan check after the effective date of the ordinance. Therefore, any projects submitted (including a complete set of plans plus a plan check fee) or processed before the effective date will not be affected by this proposed Code amendment.

When will the Code amendment take effect?

Amendments to the Los Angeles Municipal Code take effect 31 days after being posted or published by the City Clerk. Following final adoption by the City Council, the Mayor has 10 days to sign the ordinance, after which the ordinance will go to the City Clerk for posting or publishing. The City Council's legislative process is open-ended and there is no fixed timeline for adoption.

What are the next steps? How can I get more information or share my input?

On July 14, 2016, the City Planning Commission considered the Code amendment at a public hearing and recommended that it be adopted by the City Council.

The Code amendment will be considered next by the City Council's Planning and Land Use Management (PLUM) Committee, followed by the full City Council. The committee hearing will be held on a date to be determined.

ORDINANCE NO. 184802

An ordinance amending Sections 12.03, 12.04, 12.07, 12.07.01, 12.07.1, 12.08, 12.21, 12.21.1, 12.23, 12.28, 12.32, and 13.19 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code and adding Sections 12.21.6 and 13.20 to the Los Angeles Municipal Code to establish new regulations for all single-family residential zoned properties including RA, RE, RS, and R1, and to establish variations of the R1 Zone and also a Rear Detached Garage Supplemental Use District that may be applied to regulate garage placement in the RA, RE, RS, and R1 Zones.

WHEREAS, in 2008, in response to the proliferation of out-of-scale development in neighborhoods throughout the City of Los Angeles, the City Council approved the Baseline Mansionization Ordinance (BMO) (Ordinance No. 179,883), which established height and floor area ratio (FAR) limitations on developments in single-family residential zoned lots, not including those located in a Hillside Area or the Coastal Zone;

WHEREAS, in 2011, the City Council approved the Baseline Hillside Ordinance (BHO) (Ordinance No. 181,624) to address the same issue of out-of-scale development in hillside neighborhoods by establishing regulations for projects in the hillside areas, including limitations on residential floor area and the amount of allowable grading based on lot size;

WHEREAS, since the City Council's adoption of the BMO and BHO, out-of-scale development continues to occur in single-family neighborhoods throughout the City;

WHEREAS, in 2014, the City Council instructed the Department of City Planning to prepare and present an ordinance to amend the BMO and BHO in order to "stabilize the conflict of out-of-scale homes that continue to proliferate in entire neighborhoods;"

WHEREAS, in order to address the issue of out-of-scale development while the Department of City Planning developed amendments to the BMO and BHO, the City Council passed two interim control ordinances (ICOs) in March of 2015 to restrict development in five proposed historic preservation overlay zone areas and 15 single-family neighborhoods, including neighborhoods with properties in hillside areas (Ordinances Nos. 183,496 and 183,497), and in June of 2016, the City Council passed a third ICO to restrict development in five additional neighborhoods (Ordinance No. 184,381);

WHEREAS, the City Council extended all three ICOs pursuant to Government Code Section 65858, and therefore Ordinances Numbers 183,496 and 184,497 expire on March 25, 2017, and Ordinance Number 184,381 expires on June 29, 2018;

WHEREAS, the Department of City Planning has developed amendments to the BMO and BHO to regulate development in single-family zones and has also developed additional amendments to the Los Angeles Municipal Code to establish variations of the

R1 zone and a rear detached garage supplemental use district, in order to halt the proliferation of out-of-scale development; and

WHEREAS, once these amendments are adopted by the City Council they will replace the provisions of the three ICOs, except in the Brookside, Sycamore Square, and Miracle Mile neighborhoods, insofar as the Department of City Planning is working on ordinances specific to those neighborhoods that will replace the ICO regulations upon adoption; unless, however, the ICOs expire by operation of law before the new neighborhood-specific ordinances can be adopted.

NOW, THEREFORE,

THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES
DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Section 12.03 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended by adding the following definitions, in alphabetical order, to read as follows:

BASE FLOOR. That story of a main building, at or above grade, which is not considered a basement, and which has the greatest number of square feet confined within the exterior walls, including the area of the attached covered parking at the same story.

BASEMENT. Any level below the First Story of a Building. The ceiling of a Basement shall not be more than four vertical feet higher than the finished floor level of the First Story.

ENCROACHMENT PLANE. An invisible inclined plane sloping inward at a forty-five degree angle from the vertical extension of the required front and side yard setbacks that originates at a specified height. A building may not intersect the encroachment plane. The encroachment plane restriction does not apply to roof structures and equipment as allowed by Section 12.21.1 B.3. For the purpose of this definition, height shall be measured from the existing or finished grade, whichever is lower, along the required front and side yard setbacks.

FLOOR AREA, RESIDENTIAL. The area in square feet confined within the exterior walls of a residential or non-residential Building on a Lot in an RA, RE, RS, or R1 Zone. Any floor or portion of a floor with a ceiling height greater than 14 feet shall count as twice the square footage of that area. The area of stairways and elevator shafts shall only be counted once regardless of ceiling height. Area of an attic or portion of an attic with a ceiling height of more than 7 feet shall be included in the Residential Floor Area calculation.

Except that the following areas shall not be counted:

1. Required Covered Parking.

(a) The total area of 200 square feet per parking space that is required to be covered, up to a maximum of 400 square feet, shall be exempted from being counted as Residential Floor Area if all of said parking, whether detached or attached, is located in accordance with the following criteria:

(1) Said parking is located within the rear half of the Lot, or at least 55 feet from a Front Lot Line.

(2) On a Through Lot with no Rear Lot Line, said parking is set back from both Front Lot Lines a distance of at least 40 feet.

(b) If the parking that is required to be covered is not located in accordance with Paragraph (a) above, then only 200 square feet shall be exempted from being counted as Residential Floor Area.

(c) In any event, the required parking area exempted from counting as Residential Floor Area by this exception shall be limited to 400 square feet per Lot.

2. Detached Accessory Buildings. Detached Accessory Buildings not exceeding 200 square feet; however, the total combined area exempted of all the Detached Accessory Buildings on a Lot shall not exceed 400 square feet.

3. Lattice Roof Porches, Patios, and Breezeways. Porches, patios, and breezeways that have a Lattice Roof, as defined in this section.

4. Basements. For Lots not located in the Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, any Basement when the Elevation of the upper surface of the floor or roof above the Basement does not exceed 2 feet in height at any point above the finished or natural Grade, whichever is lower.

For Lots located in the Hillside Area, any Basement when the Elevation of the upper surface of the floor or roof above the Basement does not exceed 3 feet in height at any point above the finished or natural Grade, whichever is lower, for at least 60 percent of the perimeter length of the exterior Basement walls.

For all Lots, the following shall not disqualify said Basement from this exemption:

(a) A maximum of one (1), 20-foot wide depressed driveway with direct access to the required covered parking spaces; and

(b) A maximum of two (2) light-wells which are not visible from a public right-of-way and do not project more than three feet from the exterior walls of the Basement and no wider than 6 feet.

FLOOR AREA RATIO, RESIDENTIAL (RFAR). A ratio establishing the relationship between a property and the amount of development permitted for that property, expressed as a percentage or a ratio of the Lot size (example: "0.45 of the Lot size").

GRADE, HILLSIDE AREA. For the purpose of measuring height on an R1, RS, RE, or RA zoned Lot in the Hillside Area, pursuant to Section 12.21 C.10 of this Code, Hillside Area Grade shall be defined as the Elevation, at the perimeter of a Building or Structure, of the finished or natural surface of the ground, whichever is lower, or the finished surface of the ground established in conformance with a grading plan approved pursuant to a recorded tract or parcel map action. Retaining walls shall not raise the effective Elevation of Grade for purposes of measuring Height of a Building or Structure.

LOT, THROUGH. A lot having a frontage on two parallel or approximately parallel streets, but not including those lots having frontage on a street and frontage on a navigable public canal or waterway parallel or approximately parallel to said street.

STORY. The space in a Building between two vertically adjacent finished floor levels or, for the topmost level of a Building, the space between its finished floor level and the roof directly above it. Finished floor levels within four vertical feet of each other shall be deemed a single Story. Any space that is defined as a Basement is not considered a Story.

STORY, FIRST. The lowest Story of a Building where the finished floor level directly above the Story is more than six feet above grade for more than 50 percent of the total perimeter of the Building or is more than 12 feet above grade at any point. If no such Story exists, then the topmost Story of a Building shall be deemed the First Story.

Sec. 2. Subsection C of Section 12.04 of the Los Angles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

C. In order to more adequately regulate and restrict the height and floor area of buildings and structures, each lot shall include a height district designation, except for lots in the HI Hybrid Industrial Live/Work Zone, where the height and floor area of buildings and structures shall be regulated by Section 12.04.06, and except for lots in the R1V, R1F, R1R One-Family Variation Zones, where the height and Residential Floor Area of buildings and structures shall be regulated by Sections 12.08 C.5(b)-(d). Height district designations shall be numbered from 1 to 4, CRA 1 to 4, EZ 1 to 4 and CSA 1 to 4, and shall regulate the height or floor area of buildings and structures as provided in Sections 12.21.1, 12.21.2, 12.21.3, 12.21.4 and 12.21.5. The height districts and their boundaries are shown on the Zoning Map by a combination of zone symbols and height district number markings, e.g., R2-1, C2-2, M1-3, C1-CRA1, MS-EZ2, C2-CSA3, etc. Where a lot is located in more than one height district, the applicable zone symbol designations shall be separated by a slash mark, e.g., R2-CRA/CSA, C2-EZI/CRA2, etc. The symbol "HD" preceding height district number markings, when shown on the Zoning Map or used in a zoning ordinance, is an abbreviation for the words "height district" and refers to height districts. The height districts for the "CW" Zone are the height districts shown in Section 6 of the Central City West Specific Plan. The height districts for the "ADP" Zone are the height districts shown in Section 7 of the Alameda District Specific Plan. The height districts for the "LASED" Zone are the height districts shown in Section 10 of the Los Angeles Sports and Entertainment District Specific Plan. The height districts for the "USC-1A", "USC-1B", "USC-2" and "USC-3" Zones are the height districts shown in Section 7 of the University of Southern California University Park Campus Specific Plan. The height districts for the "PVSP" Zone are the Subareas shown in Section 5 of the Ponte Vista at San Pedro Specific Plan.

Sec. 3. Subsection D of Section 12.04 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

"O"	Oil Drilling District
"S"	Animal Slaughtering District
"G"	Surface Mining District
"RPD"	Residential Planning Development District

The "Zoning Map" is amended to indicate these districts and the boundaries of each district.

Land classified in an "O" Oil Drilling District, "S" Animal Slaughtering District, "G" Surface Mining District, "RPD" Residential Planned Development District, "K"

Equinekeeping District, "CA" Commercial and Artcraft District, "POD" Pedestrian Oriented District, "CDO" Community Design Overlay District, "MU" Mixed Use District, "FH" Fence Height District, "SN" Sign District, "RFA" Residential Floor Area District, "NSO" Neighborhood Stabilization Overlay District, "CPIO" Community Plan Implementation Overlay District, "RIO" River Improvement Overlay District, "CUGU" Clean Up Green Up Overlay District, or "RG" Rear Detached Garage District" is also classified in one or more zones, and land classified in the "P" Automobile Parking Zone may also be classified in an "A" or "R" Zone.

These classifications are indicated on the "Zoning Map" with a combination of symbols, e.g., R2-2-O, C2-4-S, M1-3-G, M1-1-P and R2-O, C2-G, etc., where height districts have not been established.

Sec. 4. Subdivision 5 of Subsection C of Section 12.07 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

5. Maximum Residential Floor Area. For a lot located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall comply with Section 12.21.1 A 1 of this Code.

For all other lots, the maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings and accessory buildings shall not exceed 25 percent of the lot area when the lot is less than 20,000 square feet. For lots 20,000 square feet or greater, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall not exceed 20 percent of the lot area, or 5,000 square feet, whichever is greater.

An additional 20 percent of the maximum Residential Floor Area for that lot shall be allowed if any of the methods listed below are utilized. Only one 20 percent bonus per property is allowed.

(a) The total Residential Floor Area of each story other than the base floor in a multi-story building does not exceed 75 percent of the base floor area; or

(b) The cumulative length of the exterior walls facing the front lot line, equal to a minimum of 25 percent of the building width, shall be stepped-back a distance of at least 20 percent of the building depth from a plane parallel to the lot width established at the point of the building closest to the front lot line. When the front lot line is not straight, a line connecting the points where the side lot lines and the front lot line intersect shall be used. When through-lots have two front yards, the step-back shall be provided along both front lot lines.

For the purposes of this provision, all exterior walls that intersect a plane parallel to the front lot line at 45 degrees or less shall be considered to be facing the front lot line. The building width shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot width. The building depth shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot depth.

Sec. 5. Subdivision 6 of Subsection C of Section 12.07 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

6. Verification of Existing Residential Floor Area. For additions with cumulative Residential Floor Area of less than 1,000 square feet constructed after January 1, 2008, or remodels of buildings built prior to January 1, 2008, the existing Residential Floor Area shall be determined based on the building records or the building square footage shown on the most recent Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records at the time the plans are submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and a plan check fee is paid. Except that Residential Floor Area may be calculated as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code when a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot, prepared by a licensed architect or engineer, is submitted by the applicant.

Any work that does not qualify as a remodel, as defined in the paragraph below, or additions that are 1,000 square feet or larger shall require a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot prepared by a licensed architect or engineer.

For the purposes of implementing this subdivision, a remodel shall mean the alteration of an existing building or structure provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

Sec. 6. Subdivision 5 of Subsection C of Section 12.07.01 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

5. Maximum Residential Floor Area. For a lot located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall comply with Section 12.21.1 A 1 of this Code.

For all other lots, the maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings and accessory buildings shall be as follows: In the RE9 and RE11 Zones, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall be 40 percent of the lot area when the lot is less than 15,000 square feet. For lots 15,000 square feet or greater in the RE9 and RE11 Zones, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall be 35 percent of the lot area or 6,000 square feet, whichever is greater. For lots in the RE15, RE20 and RE40 Zones, the maximum Residential Floor Area shall be 35 percent of the lot area.

An additional 20 percent of the maximum Residential Floor Area for that lot shall be allowed if any of the methods listed below are utilized. Only one 20 percent bonus per property is allowed.

(a) The total Residential Floor Area of each story other than the base floor in a multi-story building does not exceed 75 percent of the base floor area; or

(b) The cumulative length of the exterior walls facing the front lot line, equal to a minimum of 25 percent of the building width shall be stepped-back a distance of at least 20 percent of the building depth from a plane parallel to the lot width established at the point of the building closest to the front lot line. When the front lot line is not straight, a line connecting the points where the side lot lines and the front lot line intersect shall be used. When through-lots have two front yards, the step-back shall be provided along both front lot lines.

For the purposes of this provision, all exterior walls that intersect a plane parallel to the front lot line at 45 degrees or less shall be considered to be facing the front lot line. The building width shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot width. The building depth shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot depth.

Sec. 7. Subdivision 6 of Subsection C of Section 12.07.01 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

6. Verification of Existing Residential Floor Area. For additions with cumulative Residential Floor Area of less than 1,000 square feet constructed after January 1, 2008, or remodels of buildings built prior to January 1, 2008, the existing Residential Floor Area shall be determined based on the building records or the building square footage shown on the most recent Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records at the time the plans are submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and a plan check fee is paid. Except that Residential Floor Area may be calculated as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code when a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot, prepared by a licensed architect or engineer, is submitted by the applicant.

Any work that does not qualify as a remodel, as defined in the paragraph below, or additions that are 1,000 square feet or larger shall require a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot prepared by a licensed architect or engineer.

For the purposes of implementing this subdivision, a remodel shall mean the alteration of an existing building or structure provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

Sec. 8. Subdivision 5 of Subsection C of Section 12.07.1 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

5. Maximum Residential Floor Area. For a lot located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, the maximum floor area shall comply with Section 12.21.1 A 1 of this Code.

For all other lots, the maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings and accessory buildings shall not exceed 45 percent of the lot area when the lot is less than 9,000 square feet. For Lots 9,000 square feet or greater, the Residential Floor Area shall not exceed 40 percent of the lot area or 4,050 square feet, whichever is greater.

An additional 20 percent of the maximum Residential Floor Area for that lot shall be allowed if any of the methods listed below are utilized. Only one 20 percent bonus per property is allowed.

(a) The total Residential Floor Area of each story other than the base floor in a multi-story building does not exceed 75 percent of the base floor area; or

(b) The cumulative length of the exterior walls facing the front lot line, equal to a minimum of 25 percent of the building width shall be stepped-back a distance of at least 20 percent of the building depth from a plane parallel to the lot width established at the point of the building closest to the front lot line. When the front lot line is not straight, a line connecting the points where the side lot lines and the front lot line intersect shall be used. When through-lots have two front yards, the step-back shall be provided along both front lot lines.

For the purposes of this provision, all exterior walls that intersect a plane parallel to the front lot line at 45 degrees or less shall be considered to be facing the front lot line. The building width shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot width. The building depth shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the building measured parallel to the lot depth.

Sec. 9. Subdivision 6 of Subsection C of Section 12.07.1 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

6. Verification of Existing Residential Floor Area. For additions with cumulative Residential Floor Area of less than 1,000 square feet constructed after January 1, 2008, or remodels of buildings built prior to January 1, 2008, the existing Residential Floor Area shall be determined based on the building records or the building square footage shown on the most recent Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records at the time the plans are submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and a plan check fee is paid. Except that Residential Floor Area may be calculated as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code when a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot, prepared by a licensed architect or engineer, is submitted by the applicant.

Any work that does not qualify as a remodel, as defined in the paragraph below, or additions that are 1,000 square feet or larger shall require a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot prepared by a licensed architect or engineer.

For the purposes of implementing this subdivision, a remodel shall mean the alteration of an existing building or structure provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

Sec. 10. Subdivision 2 of Subsection C of Section 12.08 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

2. Side Yards.

(a) For a main building not more than two stories in height, there shall be a side yard on each side of the building of not less than 5 feet, except that where the lot is less than 50 feet in width, the side yard may be reduced to 10 percent of the width of the lot, but in no event to less than 3 feet in width. For a building more than two stories in height, 1 foot shall be added to the width of each yard for each additional story above the second story.

All portions of a building that have a side wall exceeding 14 feet in height and a continuous length greater than 45 feet shall have an offset/plane break that is a minimum depth of five feet beyond the required yard and a minimum length of 10 feet. For the purpose of this Subdivision, height shall be measured from the existing or finished grade, whichever is lower, at each point along the perimeter of the building.

(b) In lieu of the additional one-foot side yard for each story above the second story as required above, for new construction of a main building or a ground floor addition to the main building on a lot not located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, one-foot shall be added to each required side yard for each increment of ten feet or fraction thereof above the first 18 feet.

(c) Side yard requirements in specific plans, Historic Preservation Overlay Zones or in subdivision approvals shall take precedence over this subdivision. This subdivision shall apply in these areas, however, when there are no such side yard requirements.

(d) Any occupied rooftop deck shall be set back at least three feet from the minimum required side yard. This provision shall not apply to any rooftop deck located on the street side of a Corner Lot.

Sec. 11. Subdivision 5 of Subsection C of Section 12.08 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

5. Maximum Residential Floor Area and Massing.

(a) R1. For a lot located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, the maximum floor area shall comply with Section 12.21.1 A 1 of this Code.

For lots outside of a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone, the maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings and accessory buildings shall not exceed 45 percent of the lot area (a Residential Floor Area ratio of 0.45).

The encroachment plane shall originate from a point that is 20 feet in height from the existing or finished grade, whichever is lower, along the required front and side yard setbacks.

(b) R1V, Variable-Mass. These zones are intended to address issues of neighborhood character and to facilitate the compatibility of new construction, additions, and alterations in single-family neighborhoods having an existing variety of building forms. The intent of this variation is to allow flexibility in the location of massing within a maximum building envelope that respects the scale of other houses in the vicinity.

The maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings on a lot shall not exceed the specified Residential Floor Area ratio for the corresponding zone per size of the lot as listed in Table 12.08 C.5(b). The maximum lot coverage, maximum Height of Building, and maximum height at which the encroachment plane begins shall not exceed the amounts specified for each zone in Table 12.08 C.5(b).

The intent of this variation is to allow taller massing at the front of the lot and mandate shorter massing at the rear of the lot that respects the scale and form of other houses in the vicinity.

The maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all buildings shall not exceed the specified Residential Floor Area ratio for the corresponding zone per size of the lot as listed in Table 12.08 C.5(c). The maximum lot coverage, the maximum height of the front and rear masses, and the maximum height at which the encroachment plane begins for the front and rear masses shall not exceed the amounts specified for each zone in Table 12.08 C.5(c).

The intent of this variation is to mandate shorter massing at the front of the lot and allow taller massing at the rear of the lot that respects the scale and form of other houses in the vicinity.

(1) Exceptions.

(i) Lots that are 90 feet or less in depth shall not be subject to two different massing requirements. Said lots shall be exempt from the Front Mass development standards listed in Table 12.08 C.5(d), and instead the Rear Mass massing requirements specified in Table 12.08 C.5(d) shall apply to the entire building.

(e) R1H, Hillside Area. These zones are intended to address issues of neighborhood character and to facilitate the compatibility of new construction, additions and alterations to one-family houses in Hillside Areas having an existing variety of building forms. The intent of this variation is to allow flexibility in the location of massing within a maximum building envelope that respects the scale of other houses in the vicinity. A lot designated an R1H Zone shall comply with all of the R1 Hillside Area Development Standards pursuant to Section 12.21 C.10, except that R1H lots shall be subject to the Residential Floor Area ratios in Table 12.21 C.10-2b of their corresponding zone.

Sec. 12. Subdivision 6 of Subsection C of Section 12.08 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read:

6. Verification of Existing Residential Floor Area. For additions with cumulative Residential Floor Area of less than 1,000 square feet constructed after January 1, 2008, or remodels of buildings built prior to January 1, 2008, the existing Residential Floor Area shall be determined based on the building records or the building square footage shown on the most recent Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records at the time the plans are submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and a plan check fee is paid. Except that Residential Floor Area may be calculated as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code when a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot, prepared by a licensed architect or engineer, is submitted by the applicant.

Any work that does not qualify as a remodel, as defined in the paragraph below, or additions that are 1,000 square feet or larger shall require a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the structures on the lot prepared by a licensed architect or engineer.

For the purposes of implementing this subdivision, a remodel shall mean the alteration of an existing building or structure provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

Sec. 13. New Subdivision 7 of Subsection C of Section 12.08 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is added to read:

7. Definitions and Standards. For the purposes of this Subsection the following definitions and standards shall apply:

a. Height of Mass, Front or Rear. The height of the front mass is the vertical distance above Grade measured to the highest point of the roof, structure, or parapet wall, whichever is highest of the front mass. The height of the rear mass is the vertical distance above Grade measured to the highest point of the roof, structure, or parapet wall, whichever is highest of the rear mass. Retaining walls shall not be used for the purpose of raising the effective elevation of the finished grade for purposes of measuring the height of either mass.

However, whenever the highest point of elevation of the adjoining sidewalk or ground surface within a 5-foot horizontal distance measured from the exterior wall of a building exceeds grade level by more than 20 feet, a building or structure may exceed the maximum front or rear mass height in number of feet prescribed in this section by not more than 12 feet. However, such additional height shall not be permitted to the extent that such additional height causes any portion of the building or structure to exceed a front or rear mass height in number of feet as prescribed by this section as measured from the highest point of the front or rear mass roof structure or parapet wall to the elevation of the ground surface which is vertically below this point of measurement.

b. Lot Coverage is the area of a parcel covered by any structures extending more than six feet above grade. However, 400 square feet of required covered parking that is detached and located within the rear half of the lot shall be exempt from lot coverage calculations.

Sec. 14. Paragraph (f) of Subdivision 5 of Subsection A of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(f) Driveway Width. Every access driveway shall be at least 9 feet in width in the A, RE, RS, R1, RU, RZ, R2, RMP and RW Zones, and 10 feet in width in the RD, R3, RAS3, R4, RAS4, R5, P, PB, C and M Zones; provided, however, every access driveway serving a parking area or garage having a capacity of more than 25 automobiles or trucks shall be at least 19 feet in width, or in lieu thereof, there shall be two access driveways, each of which is at least 10 feet in width; provided, further, however, that an access driveway serving an apartment house erected in the R2 Zone shall be at least 10 feet in width.

Except that in the R1 Zone, when not designated as a Hillside Area on the Department of City Planning Hillside Area Map, driveway width at the front property line shall not exceed 25 percent of the lot width or the width of any currently existing driveway, whichever is greater; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall be deemed to require a driveway less than 9 feet in width at the front property line.

Sec. 15. The first Paragraph of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

10. Single-Family Zone Hillside Area Development Standards. Except as allowed by Section 12.24 F and 14.00 A of this Code, for any Lot zoned R1, RS, RE or RA and designated Hillside Area on the Department of City Planning Hillside Area Map, no Building or Structure nor the addition or Major Remodel-Hillside of any Building or Structure shall be erected or maintained unless the following development standards are provided and maintained in connection with the Building, Structure, addition or remodel:

Sec. 16. Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(a) Setback Requirements. No Building or Structure shall be erected, enlarged or undergo a Major Remodel-Hillside unless the setbacks as outlined in Table 12.21 C.10-1 are provided and maintained in connection with the Building, Structure, or enlargement.

Notwithstanding the required yards, or setbacks, outlined in Table 12.21 C.10-1 above, or those exceptions found in Section 12.22 of this Code, the following provisions shall apply:

Sec. 17. Sub-subparagraph (iv) of Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(iv) Nothing contained in this Subparagraph (1) shall, however, be deemed to require Front Yards which exceed 40 feet in depth or allow Front Yards that are less than 5 feet in depth.

Sec. 18. Subparagraph (3) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(3) Front Yard Setbacks on Key Lots. On Key Lots, the minimum Front Yard may be the average of the required Front Yard for the adjoining Interior Lot and the required Side Yard along the Street side of a Reversed Corner Lot. But such minimum Front Yard may apply for a distance of not more than 85 feet from the rear Lot line of the Reversed Corner Lot, beyond which point the Front Yard specified in Table 12.21 C.10-1 or Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (a) shall apply. Where existing Buildings on either or both of said adjoining Lots are located nearer to the front or side Lot lines than the Yard required by this Paragraph (a), the Yards established by such existing Buildings may be used in computing the required Front Yard for a Key Lot, but may not be less than 5 feet in depth.

Sec. 19. Sub-subparagraph (i) Subparagraph (10) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(i) Garages in Front Yards. A detached Private Garage may be located on the required Front Yard of a Lot where the Elevation of the ground at a point 50 feet from the front Lot line of a Lot and midway between the side Lot lines differs 10 feet or more from the curb level, provided every portion of the garage Building is at least 5 feet from the front Lot line. Where the wall of such garage is two-thirds below natural or finished Grade of the Lot, whichever is lower, said wall may extend to the adjacent side Lot line; in all other cases, said garage shall not be nearer to the side Lot line than the width of the Side Yard required for a main Building of the same height.

Sec. 20. Sub-subparagraph (ii) of Subparagraph (10) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(ii) Elevated Stairways, Porches, Platforms, Landing Places, or Balconies. Balconies with 10 feet or more of vertical clearance beneath them may project or extend no more than 30 inches into a Front Yard. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Code, on Lots fronting onto a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, elevated stairways, porches, platforms and landing places shall not project or extend into the Front Yard.

Sec. 21. Subparagraphs (7), (8), (9), (10), (11) and (12) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code are renumbered as Subparagraphs (8), (9), (10), (11), (12) and (13), respectively.

Sec. 22. Subparagraph (7) of Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is added to read as follows:

(7) Occupied Rooftop Deck Setback. In the R1 Zone, any occupied rooftop deck shall be set back at least 3 feet from the minimum required side yard. This provision shall not apply to any rooftop deck located on the street side of a Corner Lot.

Sec. 23. Paragraph (b) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code are amended to read as follows:

(b) Maximum Residential Floor Area. The maximum Residential Floor Area contained in all Buildings and Accessory Buildings shall not exceed the sum of the square footage of each Slope Band multiplied by the corresponding Residential Floor Area Ratio (RFAR) for the zone of the Lot, as outlined in Table 12.21 C.10-2a and Table 12.21 C.10-2b. This formula can be found in Table 12.21 C.10-2c, where "A" is the area of the Lot within each Slope Band, "RFAR" is the RFAR of the corresponding Slope Band, and "RFA" is the sum of the Residential Floor Area of each Slope Band.

(1) Slope Analysis Map. As part of an application for a permit to the Department of Building and Safety, or for a Discretionary Approval as defined in Section 16.05 B of this Code to the Department of City Planning, the applicant shall submit a Slope Analysis Map based on a survey of the natural/existing topography, prepared, stamped and signed by a registered civil engineer or licensed land surveyor, to verify the total area (in square feet) of the portions of a property within each Slope Band identified in Table 12.21 C.10-2a. The Director of Planning, or his/her designee, shall verify that the Slope Analysis Map has been prepared by a registered civil engineer or licensed land surveyor. In addition, the Director of Planning, or his/her designee shall approve the calculated Maximum Residential Floor Area for the Lot by the registered civil engineer or licensed land surveyor using the Slope Analysis Map prior to applying for a permit from the Department of Building and Safety.

The map shall have a scale of not less than 1 inch to 100 feet and a contour interval of not more than 10 feet with 2-foot intermediates. The map shall also indicate the datum, source, and scale of topographic data used in the Slope analysis, and shall attest to the fact that the Slope analysis has been accurately calculated.

The Slope Analysis Map shall clearly delineate/identify the Slope Bands (i.e., with contrasting colors or hatching), and shall include a tabulation of the total area in square-feet within each Slope Band, as well as the RFAR and Residential Floor Area value of each corresponding Slope Band as shown on Table 12.21 C.10-2b.

The Slope Analysis Map shall be prepared using CAD-based, GIS-based, or other type of software specifically designed for such purpose.

(2) Guaranteed Minimum Residential Floor Area. Notwithstanding the above, the maximum Residential Floor Area for all Buildings and Accessory Buildings on any Lot may be at least the percentage of the Lot size as outlined in Table 12.21 C.10-3 below or 800 square feet, whichever is greater.

Table 12.21 C.10-3
Guaranteed Minimum Residential Floor Area

R1	25%
RS	23%
RE9	20%
RE11	20%
RE15	18%
RE20	18%
RE40	18%
RA	13%

The guaranteed minimum for the original zone as stated in the paragraph above may apply to any Lot in place of the maximum Residential Floor Area calculation in Tables 12.21 C.10-2a and 12.21 C.10-2b. In addition, in the event that a Lot has an area that is less than 50 percent of the minimum Lot size for its Zone, was made nonconforming in Lot size as a result of an adopted zone change or code amendment changing the minimum Lot size, and met the minimum Lot size requirements of the original zone, the guaranteed minimum for the original zone as stated in this Subparagraph shall apply.

(3) Residential Floor Area Bonus for RA, RE and RS Zones. An additional 20 percent of the maximum Residential Floor Area as determined by Table 12.21 C.10-2 of this Paragraph (b), or an additional 30 percent for Lots where the guaranteed minimum outlined in Subparagraph (2) of this Paragraph (b) is utilized, for that Lot shall be allowed if any of the options listed below is utilized. Only one bonus per property is allowed.

(i) Proportional Stories Option. The total Residential Floor Area of each Story other than the Base Floor in a multi-Story Building does not exceed 75 percent of the Base Floor Area. This option shall only apply to flat Building pads where the Slope of the Building pad area prior to any Grading, as measured from the highest and lowest Elevation points of the existing Grade within five horizontal feet of the exterior walls of the proposed Building or Structure, is less than 15 percent; or

(ii) Front Facade Stepback Option. The cumulative length of the exterior walls which are not a part of a garage facing the Front Lot Line, equal to a minimum of 25% of the Building width, shall be stepped-back a distance of at least 20% of the Building depth from a plane parallel to the Lot width established at the point of the Building closest to the Front Lot line. When the Front Lot line is not straight, a line connecting the points where the Side Lot lines and the Front Lot line intersect shall be used to establish the plane parallel to the front Lot width. When Through Lots have, or are required to provide, two Front Yard setbacks, the step-back shall be provided along both Front Lot Lines. When referred by the Department of Building and Safety due to unusual Building and/or Lot configuration, the Director of Planning or his/her designee shall determine that the proposed project complies with this provision and qualifies for a Residential Floor Area bonus.

For the purposes of this provision, all exterior walls that intersect a plane parallel to the Front Lot Line at 45 degrees or less shall be considered to be facing the Front Lot Line. The Building width shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the Building measured parallel to the Lot width. The Building depth shall be the greatest distance between the exterior walls of the Building measured parallel to the Lot depth.

This option shall only apply to Structures which are no within 35 feet of the Frontage along an improved Street and on a "flat" Building pad where the Slope of the Building pad prior to any Grading, as measured from the highest point of the existing Grade within five horizontal feet of the exterior wall of the proposed Building or Structure to the lowest point of the existing natural Grade within five horizontal feet, is less than 15%; or

(iii) Cumulative Side Yard Setbacks Option. The combined width of Side Yards shall be at least 25% of the total Lot Width, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, but in no event shall a single Side Yard setback be less than 10% of the Lot Width or the minimum required by Paragraph (a) of this Subdivision, whichever is greater. One (1) foot shall be added to each required Side Yard for each increment of 10 feet or fraction thereof of height above the first 18 feet of height. The width of a required Side Yard setback shall be maintained for the entire length of a Side Yard and cannot alternate from one Side Yard to the other; or

(iv) 18-Foot Envelope Height Option. For properties which are not in the "1SS" Single-Story Height District, the maximum envelope height, measured pursuant to Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph (d) of this Subdivision 10, shall be no more than 18 feet; or

(v) Multiple Buildings Option. In addition to the Lot coverage requirements in Paragraph (e) of this Subdivision, any one Building and Structure extending more than 6 feet above Hillside Area Grade, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, shall cover no more than 20% of the area of a Lot. Such Buildings or Structures may only be connected by one breezeway, fully enclosed walkway, elevator, or combination thereof of not more than 5 feet in width; or

(vi) Minimal Grading Option. For properties where at least 60% of the Lot is comprised of Slopes which are 30% or greater, as determined by a Slope Analysis Map prepared in accordance with Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (b), the total amount of any Grading on the site [including exempted Grading, as outlined in Paragraph (f) of this Subdivision (10)] does not exceed the numeric value of 10% of the total Lot size in cubic yards or 1,000 cubic yards, whichever is less (example: a project involving 500 cubic-yards of Grading on a 5,000 square-foot Lot will be eligible for this bonus option).

(4) Zoning Administrator's Authority.

(i) 10% Adjustments. The Zoning Administrator has the authority to grant adjustments from the requirements of this Paragraph (b) of not more than 10%, pursuant to the authority and procedures established in Subsection A of Section 12.28 of this Code.

(ii) Residential Floor Area Added to Lots with Existing Buildings Built Prior to August 1, 2010. The Zoning Administrator has the authority to approve construction that adds Residential Floor Area, in excess of the maximum Residential Floor Area provided in Paragraph (b) of this Section, to a lot that includes a main Building that existed prior to August 1, 2010, and for which permits were previously obtained, pursuant to the authority and procedures established in Subdivision 28 of Subsection X of Section 12.24 of this Code, provided:

a. the total cumulative Residential Floor Area of all such additions does not exceed 1,000 square feet; and

b. the resulting Building does not exceed the height of the original Building or the height permitted in Paragraph (d) of this Subdivision 10 below, whichever is greater; and

c. at least two off-street covered parking spaces are provided.

Sec. 24. Paragraph (c) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(c) Verification of Existing Residential Floor Area. For additions with cumulative Residential Floor Area of less than 1,000 square feet constructed after August 1, 2010, or remodels of Buildings built prior to August 1, 2010, the existing Residential Floor Area shall be determined based on the building records or the Building square footage shown on the most recent Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records at the time the plans are submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and a plan check fee is paid. Except that Residential Floor Area may be calculated as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code when a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the Structures on the Lot, prepared by a licensed architect or engineer, is submitted by the applicant.

Any work that does not qualify as a remodel, as defined in the paragraph below, or additions that are 1,000 square feet or larger shall require a complete set of fully dimensioned plans with area calculations of all the Structures on the Lot prepared by a licensed architect or engineer.

For the purposes of implementing this Paragraph (c), a remodel shall mean the alteration of an existing Building or Structure, provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

Sec. 25. Sub-subparagraph (i) of Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph (d) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 26. Sub-subparagraphs (ii) and (iii) of Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph (d) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code are added to read as follows:

(ii) Encroachment Plane. In the R1 Zone, the encroachment plane shall originate from a point that is 20 feet in height from the existing or finished grade, whichever is lower, along the required front and side yard setbacks.

(iii) A topographic map shall be submitted as a separate plan sheet or as part of the site plan identifying the perimeter of the exterior walls, or any other information which the Department of Building and Safety deems necessary to determine compliance with this Paragraph.

Sec. 27. Subparagraph (5) of Paragraph (d) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(5) Lots Fronting on Substandard Hillside Limited Streets. For any Lot fronting onto a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, as defined in Section 12.03, no portion of a Building or Structure within 20 feet of the Front Lot Line shall exceed 24 feet in height. The 24-foot maximum Building and Structure height shall be measured from the Elevation at the centerline or midpoint of the Street on which the Lot fronts.

Sec. 28. Subparagraph (6) of Paragraph (d) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(6) Unenclosed/Uncovered Cantilevered Balconies. Unenclosed/uncovered cantilevered balconies and "visually permeable railing" (no more than 42 inches in height), may project no more than 5 horizontal feet beyond the maximum envelope height, as limited and measured in Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (d).

For the purposes of this Subparagraph (6), "visually permeable railing" means railing constructed of material that is transparent, such as glass or plastic panels, or wrought iron or other solid material which is 80 percent open to light and air.

Sec. 29. Paragraph (f) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(f) Grading. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Code, total Grading (Cut and Fill) on a Lot shall be limited as outlined below. No Grading permits shall be issued until a Building permit is approved.

(1) Maximum Grading Quantities. The cumulative quantity of Grading, or the total combined value of both Cut and Fill or incremental Cut and Fill, for any one property shall be limited to a base maximum of 1,000 cubic yards plus the numeric value equal to 10% of the total Lot size in cubic yards. Example: a 5,000 square-foot Lot would have a maximum Grading amount of 1,500 cubic yards (1,000 cubic yards for the base amount + 500 cubic yards for the 10% calculation).

However, the cumulative quantity of Grading shall not exceed the maximum "by-right" Grading quantities outlined by Zone in Table 12.21 C.10-6 below.

Table 12.21 C.10-6 Maximum "By-Right" Grading Quantities
Zone	Maximum Grading (cubic yards)
R1	1,000
RS	2,200
RE9	2,400
RE11	2,800
RE15	3,200
RE20	4,000
RE40	6,600
RA	3,600

(2) Import/Export Limits. Earth import and export activities may take place only between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The maximum quantity of earth import or export shall be limited to the following quantities:

(i) Lots Fronting on Standard Hillside Limited Streets or Larger. For a property which fronts onto a Standard Hillside Limited Street or larger, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, the maximum quantity of earth import and export combined shall be no more than the maximum "by-right" grading quantities as listed in Table 12.21 C.10-6 above.

(ii) Lots Fronting on Substandard Hillside Limited Streets. For a property which fronts onto a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, the maximum quantity of earth import and export combined shall be no more than 75 percent of the maximum "by-right" grading quantities as listed in Table 12.21 C.10-6 above.

(iii) Exempted On-Site Grading Activity. Earth quantities which originate from, or will be utilized for any exempted Grading activity listed in Subparagraph (3) of this Paragraph (f) shall be exempted from the maximum import and export quantities set forth in this Paragraph (f). A plan indicating the destination and/or source (i.e., exempted Grading activity or non-exempted Grading activity) of any import and/or export shall be submitted as part of a Grading permit application.

(3) Exemptions. The Grading activities outlined in the sub-subparagraphs below shall be exempt from the Grading and/or earth transport limitations established in Subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this Paragraph (f). However, any excavation from an exempted activity being used as Fill, outside of a 5-foot perimeter from the exempted Grading activities, for any other on-site purpose shall be counted towards the limits established in Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (f).

(i) Cut and/or Fill for deepened foundation systems (such as caissons and piles), water storage tanks, required stormwater retention improvements, and required animal keeping site development that do not involve the construction of any freestanding retaining walls.

(ii) Cut and/or Fill, up to 500 cubic yards, for driveways to the required parking or fire department turnaround closest to the accessible Street for which a Lot has ingress/egress rights.

(iii) Remedial Grading as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code as recommended in a Geotechnical Investigation Report, prepared in accordance with Sections 91.7006.2, 91.7006.3 and 91.7006.4 of this Code, and approved by the Department of Building and Safety - Grading Division.

(iv) Fill resulting from Cut underneath the footprint of the main Building, not to exceed 50 percent of said Cut.

(4) Zoning Administrator's Authority. A Zoning Administrator may grant the following deviations from the requirements of Subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this Paragraph (f), pursuant to the authority and procedures established in Subdivision 28 of Subsection X of Section 12.24 of this Code.

(i) Grading in excess of the maximum "by-right" Grading quantities listed in Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (f), but in no event shall the quantities exceed the true value of 1,000 cubic yards plus the numeric value equal to 10% of the total Lot size in cubic yards.

(ii) For a property which fronts onto a Standard Hillside Limited Street or larger, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, increase the maximum quantity of earth import and export combined greater than the maximum "by-right" grading quantities as listed in Table 12.21 C.10-6, up to the amount calculated pursuant to Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (f).

For a property which fronts onto a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, increase the maximum quantity of earth import and export combined greater than 75 percent of the maximum "by-right" grading quantities as listed in Table 12.21 C.10-6, up to the amount calculated pursuant to Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (f).

(5) New Graded Slopes. All new Graded Slopes shall be no steeper than 2:1 (horizontal:vertical), except when the Department of Building and Safety – Grading Division has determined that Slopes may exceed 2:1 pursuant to Section 91.105 of this Code.

(6) Grading Activity on 100% Slopes. Notwithstanding the Grading, Excavations and Fills provisions in Chapter IX of this Code (the Los Angeles Building Code), when any Grading activity is proposed on any slope of 100 percent or greater, as identified on the Slope Analysis Map, the Department of Building and Safety – Grading Division shall require the Geotechnical Investigation Report (also referred to as a soils and/or geological report) to include the most stringent level of geotechnical analysis and reporting feasible, and in sufficient detail to substantiate and support the design and construction methods being proposed.

A Deputy Grading Inspector, also referred to as a Registered (Licensed) Deputy Inspector, paid for by the owner, will be required to be on site when said Grading activity is being conducted in order to ensure that all work is being done in accordance with the recommendations of the Geotechnical Report, the approved plans, and/or the applicable Grading requirements of the Los Angeles Building Code for applicable Grading or foundation earthwork in Hillside Areas.

(7) Grading Plan Check Criteria. Grading plans and reports shall be submitted for approval with Building plans, and shall include those items required by Section 91.7006 of this Code.

Sec. 30. Subparagraph (2), Paragraph (g) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(2) Additional Required Spaces. For a main Building and any Accessory Building located on a Lot which fronts on a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, excluding Floor Area devoted to required parking, which exceed a combined Residential Floor Area of 2,400 square feet, there shall be one additional parking space provided for each additional increment of 1,000 square feet or fraction thereof of Floor Area for a maximum of five total on-site spaces. These additional required parking spaces are not required to be covered. Notwithstanding the provisions of Subparagraph (1) of this Paragraph (g), when a Lot fronts onto a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, the additional parking spaces may be located within the required Front Yard.

Sec. 31. Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph (l) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(2) Residential Floor Area Added to Lots with Existing Buildings Built Prior to August 1, 2010. Any construction that adds Residential Floor Area, in excess of the maximum Residential Floor Area provided in Paragraph (b) of this Section, to a lot that includes a main Building that existed prior to August 1, 2010, and for which permits were previously obtained, provided that:

(i) the total cumulative Residential Floor Area of all such additions does not exceed 500 square feet (excluded from calculations of this 500 square foot limitations is Floor Area devoted to required covered parking); and

(ii) the resulting Building complies with the requirements of Paragraphs (a) (Setback Requirements), (d) (Height Limits) and (f) (Grading) of this Subdivision 10.

Sec. 32. Subparagraph (6) of Paragraph (l) of Subdivision 10 of Subsection C of Section 12.21 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(6) Large Active Remedial Grading Projects. Properties with active Remedial Grading Permits for 100,000 cubic yards or more which have been issued by the Department of Building and Safety-Grading Division before July 1, 2010, are exempt from Paragraphs (b) (Maximum Residential Floor Area), (d) (Height Limits) and (f) (Grading) of this Subdivision. Such properties shall remain subject to the provisions of Subdivision 17 of Subsection A of Section 12.21 of this Code, and all other zoning and Building regulations applicable at the time Building Permits are issued. This exception shall expire 85 months after July 1, 2010.

Sec. 33. The first unnumbered paragraph of Section 12.21.1 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 12.21.1. HEIGHT OF BUILDING OR STRUCTURES.

No building or structure shall be erected or enlarged which exceeds the total floor area, the number of stories or the height limits hereinafter specified for the district in which the building or structure is located. Provided, however, that with respect to height, buildings and structures located within the boundaries of the Century City North and Century City South Specific Plans shall comply solely with the requirements of the respective specific plan and the requirements of Section 12.21.2 of this Code; that buildings and structures located within Community Redevelopment Plan Areas shall comply with the requirements of Section 12.21.3 of this Code; that buildings and structures located within Enterprise Zones shall comply with the requirements of Section 12.21.4 of this Code; that buildings and structures located within Centers Study Areas designated on Maps Numbered 1 through 29 referred to in Section 12.21.5 of this Code, shall comply with the requirements of Section 12.21.5 of this Code; and that buildings and structures located in the R1V, R1F, and R1R One-Family Zone Variations shall comply with the requirements of Section 12.21.6 of this Code. Such designations are consistent with the purposes, intent and provisions of the General Plan.

Sec. 34. Section 12.21.6 is added to the Los Angeles Municipal Code to read:

SEC. 12.21.6 HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS OR STRUCTURES IN ALL R1V, R1F, and R1R ONE-FAMILY ZONE VARIATIONS.

Lots zoned R1V, R1F and R1R shall comply with all height limitations in 12.08 C.5(b)-(d).

Sec. 35. Subsection A of Section 12.23 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

A. Buildings with Nonconforming Area, Height, Encroachment Plane, Yards or Lot Coverage Regulations.

1. Buildings Nonconforming as to Area or Yard Regulations. A building, nonconforming as to area or yard regulations, may be repaired, altered, or internally remodeled, provided at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the existing nonconforming portion of the exterior walls of the building are retained. It may be expanded in floor area provided the expansion conforms to the requirements of this Code, subject to the following provisions:

(a) a building, nonconforming only as to yard regulations, may be added to or enlarged in any manner provided:

(i) any addition or enlargement that is located in the required yard that is nonconforming does not encroach into any portion of that required yard to a greater extent than the existing nonconforming building encroaches; and

(ii) in no event shall any addition or enlargement reduce the width of a side yard or the depth of a front or rear yard to less than 50 percent of that required by the current yard regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations; and

(iii) the total of all additions or enlargements, made since the building became nonconforming as to yard regulations, which encroach into any required yard, shall not exceed in height or length the height or length of that portion of the adjoining nonconforming building that extends into the same required yard.

(iv) Notwithstanding Sub-subparagraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) of this Sub-paragraph, a building nonconforming as to the Yard regulations on properties zoned RA, RE, RS and R1, not including properties in the Coastal Zone which are not located in a Hillside Area as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, shall not be added to or enlarged in any manner unless the addition or enlargement conforms to all the current regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations, except as may be approved or permitted pursuant to a discretionary approval as that term is defined in Section 16.05 B of this Code.

(b) A residential building, nonconforming as to the area regulations (density), in the OS, A, R, P, PB, C or PF Zones, may be enlarged, provided that the enlargement does not create any additional dwelling units or guest rooms.

(c) Notwithstanding Paragraphs (a) and (b) above and Subdivision 2 of this Subsection, a building, nonconforming as to the Residential Floor Area regulations on properties zoned RA, RE, RS and R1, not including properties in the Coastal Zone which are not located in a Hillside Area, as defined in Section 12.03 of this Code, shall not be added to or enlarged in any manner unless the addition or enlargement conforms to all the current regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations, except as permitted by Section 12.21 C.10(l) and except as may be approved or permitted pursuant to a discretionary approval, as that term is defined in Section 16.05 B. of this Code. However, alterations, other than additions or enlargements to existing buildings, may be made provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

2. Buildings Nonconforming as to Height or Encroachment Plane. A building, nonconforming only as to height or encroachment plane regulations, may not be added to or enlarged in any manner, unless the additions or enlargements conform to all the current regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations, provided that the total aggregate floor area included in all the separate additions or enlargements shall not exceed 50 percent of the floor area of the ground floor of the building or structure.

3. Buildings Nonconforming as to Lot Coverage. A building, nonconforming as to the Lot Coverage regulations on properties zoned RA, RE, RS, and R1, shall not be added to or enlarged in any manner unless the addition or enlargement conforms to all the current regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations, except as may be approved or permitted pursuant to a discretionary approval, as that term is defined in Section 16.05 B. of this Code. However, alterations, other than additions or enlargements to existing buildings, may be made provided that at least 50 percent of the perimeter length of the contiguous exterior walls and 50 percent of the roof are retained.

4. Moving Nonconforming Buildings. A nonconforming building or structure may not be moved, in whole or in part, to any other location on the lot unless every portion of the building or structure that is moved is made to conform to all the current regulations of the zone and other applicable current land use regulations, except as otherwise permitted by Section 12.22 C.13. of this Code.

5. Restoration of Damaged Nonconforming Buildings.

(a) A nonconforming building or structure, which is damaged or partially destroyed by any fire, flood, wind, earthquake or other calamity or the public enemy, may be restored and the occupancy or use of the building, structure or part of the building or structure, which existed at the time of the damage or destruction, may be continued or resumed, provided that the total cost of restoration does not exceed 75 percent of the replacement value of the building or structure at the time of the damage or destruction. A permit for restoration shall be obtained within a period of two years from the date of the damage or destruction. Except as set forth in Paragraph (b) below, if the damage or destruction exceeds 75 percent of the replacement value of the nonconforming building or structure at the time of the damage or destruction, no repairs or restoration shall be made unless every portion of the building or structure is made to conform to all regulations for new buildings in the zone in which it is located, and other applicable current land use regulations.

(b) If the damage or destruction of a nonconforming single-family or two-family dwelling, multiple dwelling or apartment house in the OS, A, R, P, PB, C, M or PF Zones exceeds 75 percent of its replacement value at the time of the damage or destruction, the building or structure may be reconstructed provided:

(i) that each side yard is no less than one-half the required side yard for new buildings in the zone in which it is located, or in other applicable current land use regulations, but in no event less than three feet; and

(ii) that the front and rear yards are at least one-half the required front and rear yards for new buildings in the zone in which it is located, or in other applicable current land use regulations; and

(iii) that neither the footing, nor the building or structure projects into any area planned for widening or extension of existing or future streets as determined by the Advisory Agency upon the recommendation of the City Engineer; and

(iv) that the height shall not exceed the allowable height for new buildings or structures in the zone in which it is located, or in other applicable current land use regulations; and

(v) that a building permit for the reconstruction be obtained within two years of the damage or destruction from fire, flood, wind, earthquake, or other calamity or the public enemy.

6. Replacement of Earthquake Hazardous Buildings. Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, a building nonconforming as to height, number of stories, lot area, loading space or parking, which is demolished as a result of enforcement of the Earthquake Hazard Reduction Ordinance (Article 1, Chapter IX of this Code), may be reconstructed with the same nonconforming height, number of stories, lot area, loading space or parking as the original building, provided, however, that reconstruction shall be commenced within two years of obtaining a permit for demolition and completed within two years of obtaining a permit for reconstruction. Provided further, that neither the footing, nor any portion of the replacement building may encroach into any area planned for widening or extension of existing or future streets as determined by the Advisory Agency upon the recommendation of the City Engineer.

Additionally, a building nonconforming as to use or yards, which is demolished as a result of enforcement of the Earthquake Hazard Reduction Ordinance, may be reconstructed with the same nonconforming use or yards provided that the approval of a Zoning Administrator is obtained pursuant to Section 12.24 X.16. of this Code.

Sec. 36. Paragraph (d) of Subdivision 2 of Subsection C of Section 12.28 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

(d) For R1, RS, RE and RA Zoned properties the Zoning Administrator must conduct a public hearing for any Adjustment or Slight Modification requests.

Sec. 37. Subdivision 2 of Subsection S of Section 12.32 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to add a new "RG" Rear Detached Garage Supplemental Use District:

2. Districts. In order to carry out the provisions of this article, the following districts are established:

"O"	Oil Drilling District
"S"	Animal Slaughtering District

Sec. 39. Section 13.19 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 13.19. “RG” SINGLE-FAMILY ZONE REAR DETACHED GARAGE DISTRICT.

A. Purpose. The regulations set forth in this Section are to facilitate the compatible placement of garages on lots in single-family residential zones where the predominant building form includes a main building with a rear detached garage. These regulations mandate that the covered parking requirement for single-family zoned properties within the district be satisfied by a private garage and not by any open air building or carport. The regulations for this district also mandate that the garage be detached and placed within the rear half of the lot. For purposes of this section, "garage" is defined as a building enclosed by walls with a door or doors that meet the requirements of Section 12.21 A.4(a).

B. Applicability. A district established pursuant to this section shall be a grouping of lots zoned RA, RE, RS, or R1 not located in a Hillside Area or Coastal Zone.

C. Limitations. All lots within a district shall be subject to the following conditions:

1. The covered parking requirement of the Code shall be satisfied by a private garage and not by any open air building or carport.

2. Garages required in Subdivision 1:

(a) shall be located within the rear half of the lot, or at least 55 feet from a Front Lot Line;

(b) shall be detached from the main building of the lot; and

(c) shall comply with Section 12.21 C.5 of this Code.

3. Exceptions to Subdivision 2 of this Subsection.

(a) Lots 3,000 square feet or less, shall not be subject to paragraphs (a) and (b) in Subdivision 2 of this Subsection.

(b) Notwithstanding, Section 12.21 C.5(k), Through Lots with no Rear Lot Line shall set back the garage from both Front Lot Lines a distance of at least 40 feet and shall not be subject to paragraph (a) in Subdivision 2 of this Subsection.

(c) Through Lots with no Rear Lot Line and a lot depth less than 100 feet shall be exempt from Paragraph (a) of Subdivision 2 of this Subsection.

Sec. 40. Section 13.20 is added to the Los Angeles Municipal Code to read:

SEC. 13.20. VIOLATION. The violation of any condition imposed by a Zoning Administrator, Director of Planning, the Area Planning Commission, City Planning Commission or City Council in approving the site requirements, methods of operation, development plans or other actions taken pursuant to the authority contained in this article shall constitute a violation of this Code.

Sec. 41. Projects requiring a discretionary entitlement from the Department of City Planning shall be not be subject to the provisions of this ordinance so long as an application for the complete entitlement is filed and a fee paid prior to the date on which this ordinance becomes effective. Any such project shall be subject to the regulations that were in effect on the date on which the application was filed.

Sec. 42. URGENCY CLAUSE. The City finds and declares that this ordinance is required for the immediate protection of the public peace, health and safety for the following reasons: The proliferation of towering, box-like structures in single-family residential neighborhoods Citywide poses a current and immediate threat to the public welfare, including degradation of neighborhood character, loss of neighbors' privacy, curtailment of development potential, and negative impacts to aesthetics and general quality of life; that allowing the Interim Control Ordinances of March 25, 2015, to expire without adopting permanent regulations imposing limitations on development would cause the issuance of building permits under the current Citywide regulations for single-family homes to resume; and that the continued development of single-family zoned properties under the current Citywide regulations, or the resumption of the issuance of building permits under the current Citywide regulations, will result in that threat to the public welfare. For all of these reasons, this ordinance shall become effective upon publication pursuant to Section 253 of the Los Angeles City Charter.

Sec. 43. SEVERABILITY. If any portion, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such a decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each portion or subsection, sentence, clause and phrase herein, irrespective of the fact that any one or more portions, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

Sec. 44. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and have it published in accordance with Council policy, either in a daily newspaper circulated in the City of Los Angeles or by posting for ten days in three public places in the City of Los Angeles: one copy on the bulletin board located at the Main Street entrance to the Los Angeles City Hall; one copy on the bulletin board located at the Main Street entrance to the Los Angeles City Hall East; and one copy on the bulletin board located at the Temple Street entrance to the Los Angeles County Hall of Records.

I hereby certify that this ordinance was passed by the Council of the City of Los Angeles, by a vote of not less than three-fourths of all its members, at its meeting of MAR 1 2017.

A beautiful collection of new estate homes with state-of-the-art sustainable features anchored by an open space preserve and citrus grove.

ABOUT OAKDALE ESTATES

OAKDALE ESTATES

Crafted with care and local community input, Oakdale Estates is designed to fit into the local neighborhood seamlessly. The collection of new homes will be anchored by a 4.15-acre preserve, donated by the developer and to be managed by the Mountains Recreation Conservancy Authority. In addition to the land preserve, Oakdale Estates is designed with two rows of citrus trees along Oakdale Avenue to recognize the past orange grove on the Bothwell ranch. The new community is consistent with the City of Los Angeles zoning and general plan and includes 19% fewer units than otherwise allowed without the preserved land. Additionally, the developer is making local infrastructure improvements to Colliers Street and Oakdale Avenue to improve public safety and circulation. The collection of new estate homes, to be built on the remaining 9 acres, will feature modern farmhouses and Spanish architecture to embrace the traditional heritage of the San Fernando Valley and offer state-of-the-art sustainable features.

BENEFITS

OAKDALE ESTATES

Oakdale Estates will provide the following benefits to the Woodland Hills and Tarzana communities and the local neighborhood.

Preserving the past

The property owner, through a combination of donation of land to the Mountains Recreation & Conservation Authority (MRCA) and dedication of an open space easement, is preserving approximately 1/3 of the property for the benefit of the community. The donation of land is voluntary due to discussions between Borstein Enterprises, Councilmember Bob Blumenfield and the local community.

- MRCA Donation – Upon approval of the proposed project, 4.15 acres of the property (the "Preserved Property") will be donated to the MRCA free and clear to be used as a public space and professionally managed by the MRCA, a regional public agency.
- Open Space Easement – To embrace the property's prior use, an approximately 1/3-acre permanent open space easement for two rows of citrus trees will be located along Oakdale Avenue in view of the neighborhood.
- Property Upgrades – In addition to the donation of the land, the owner is contributing up to $400,000 towards improvements to the Preserved Property. This includes updating the irrigation system, cleaning up debris, upgrading utilities, etc.

Improving local Infrastructure

The project is making local improvements to the surrounding public infrastructure, such as widening streets, adding sidewalks, and landscaped parkways, streetlights, curbs, and gutters to Oakdale Avenue and Collier Street abutting the property. These improvements will enhance public safety in the neighborhood.

OAKDALE ESTATES

Collier Street - To the south of the site, Collier Street will be widened from its current half-street condition to full width. Additionally, an enhanced landscape parkway is being added. This widening will greatly benefit the neighborhood, given that the half street is a source of congestion during pickup hours for the adjacent elementary school.

Oakdale Avenue - While preserving 15 of 19 existing palm trees, Oakdale Avenue will be widened to city-approved standards with a full curb, gutter, enhanced parkway, streetlights, and a sidewalk.

Fewer Homes Than Allowed By Zoning

The project conforms to the existing zoning and general plan; the proposed density is 23% less than the amount permitted under the zoning. The RA-1 zoning would allow by-right 29-homes, and higher density proposals were proposed by prior interested buyers of the property. The developer respects the importance of the citrus grove and, with feedback from the City Council office and community, designed this 21-home project that preserves 1/3 of the property as open space.

Sustainability

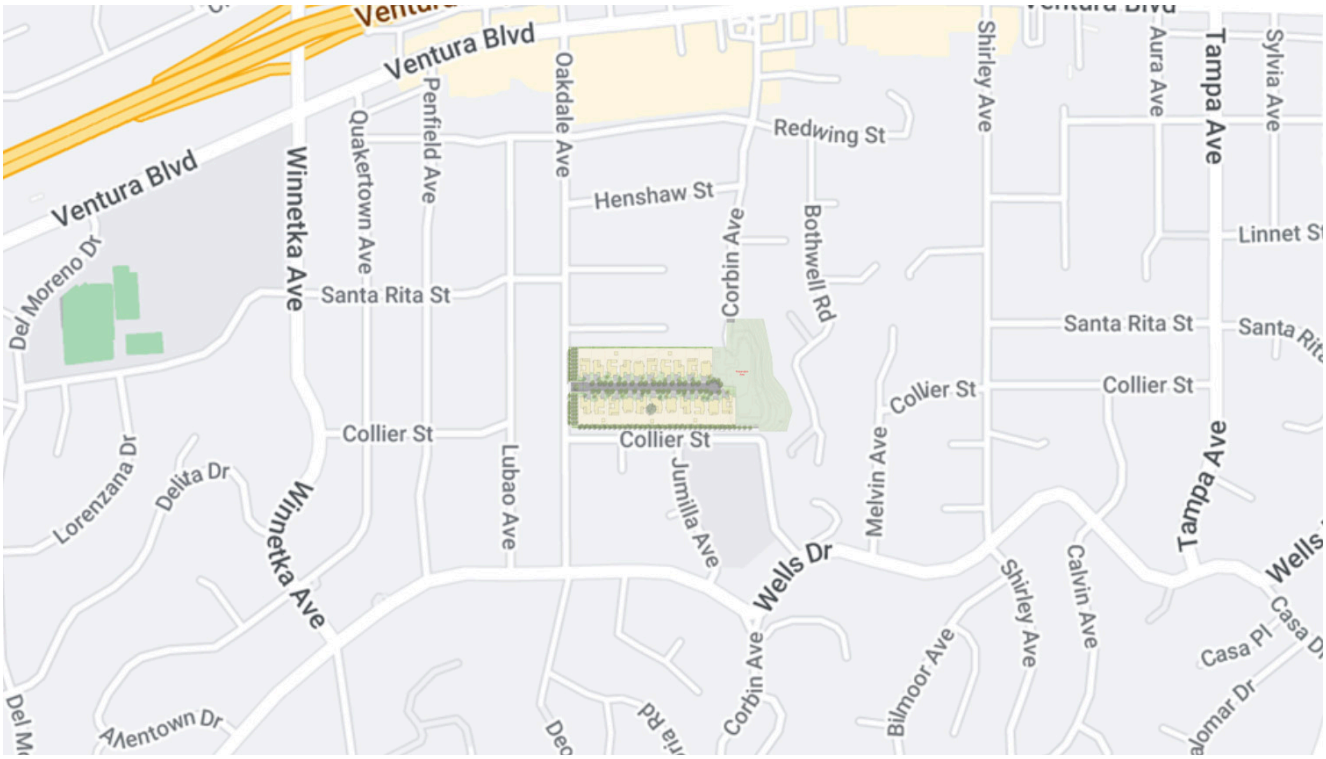
The common areas and new homes will include state-of-the-art sustainable features and green technology. Drought tolerant, indigenous landscaping will be used throughout the community and by replacing the citrus grove with houses, water usage can be reduced by over 400% of what would be needed to irrigate a commercial citrus grove. The common area street will include a water recapture and reuse system that captures rainwater, filters the water, and then reuses the captured water to irrigate the common area landscaping and citrus trees.

The homes will meet CAL-green building standards and use roughly a third less energy than older homes of similar size. The front yards of the homes will be beautifully landscaped with drought-tolerant landscaping, and each home will include a 2,500-gallon cistern system to collect rainwater on each lot for reuse as irrigation.

The homes will meet cool roof standards to reduce heat reflection into the atmosphere. The latest home technology, including EV Chargers and smart home devices will be included along with other technology such as solar systems with Energy Storage System compatibility, water efficient fixtures, High-efficiency windows and insulation, HVAC systems and water heaters, and smart appliances are included.

Community Outreach

OAKDALE ESTATES



Early in the process, the developer reached out to local neighbors, stakeholders, the City Council office, DRP/LA and city officials to gain perspective on the property. While preparing the project plans, the developer had numerous meetings with the neighbors and community members, translating into several plan changes based on their feedback.

The developer consulted with both the Woodland Hills, Warner Center Neighborhood Council and the Tarzana Neighborhood Council. Both neighborhood Councils provided feedback, held open hearings and voted unanimously (12 to 0 and 13 to 0, respectively) to recommend approval of the Oakdale Estates project.

The developer continues to meet with its neighbors and work with city officials.

OAKDALE ESTATES

Community Designed With Privacy In Mind

The community is designed with a single private cul-de-sac street with lots flanking both sides of the street allowing for deeper lots and deeper rear yards, translating into greater separation from existing neighbors' homes, thus creating more privacy., Furthermore, the houses will be plotted closer to the internal private streets (20 feet) to maximize the rear yard depth. An enhanced landscape buffer with tall leafy shrubs, maintained by the new to-be-formed HOA, will be planted along the project's north property line to further enhance privacy. A decorative perimeter wall will surround the community, providing security, privacy and a nice outward appearance to the neighborhood.

The project will have a minimum lot size of 17,500 square feet, and the private cul-de-sac street will terminate at the edge of the preserved property with a lockable pedestrian gate. No vehicular access from the private street to the preserved property will exist and Primary access to the community will be along Oakdale Avenue through a stylish gated entry.

Estate Homes

The collection of new homes will include five floor plans and three architectural styles, including Modern Farmhouse, Contemporary Farmhouse, and Santa Barbara Mission styles. All three styles are indigenous, clean and elegant, offering variable roof lines, recessed windows and quality finishes. Multiple color schemes with three styles and five plans offer a classic street scene.

The home square footage will range from 4,819 to 5,136 square feet. Aside from being highly sustainable and energy efficient, these homes will offer fine finishes and options.

(7) One foot shall be added to the width of each required side yard for each increment of ten feet, or fraction thereof, above the first 18 feet of height of the main building. On lots within the Coastal Zone, not located within a Hillside Area as defined in Section 12.03 of the LAMC, one foot shall be added to the width of each required side yard for each additional story above the second story; except on RA lots where a side yard of less than 10 feet in width is permitted, one foot shall be added to the width of each required side yard when a building is three or more stories in height.
(8) In accordance with Section 12.21 C.10(g) of the LAMC, on a Substandard Hillside Limited Street, when buildings exceed 2,400 sq-ft of Residential Floor Area, one additional parking space will be provided for each additional increment of 1,000 sq-ft, or fraction thereof, for a maximum of 5 total on-site spaces.
(9) Height District (Section 12.21.1 of the LAMC), see Table 2 – Height Districts.
(10) The side yard on one side of the lot may be reduced to zero provided that the remaining side yard is increased to 6 ft, in accordance with Section 12.08.1 C.2 of the LAMC.
(11) Specific Requirements for open space, rear yards, and provisions into front yards are in Section 12.08.5 C of the LAMC.
(12) Section 12.04.09 B.11 of the LAMC. Qualified Permanent Supportive Housing Projects are permitted in the PF Zone utilizing the uses and standards permitted by the least restrictive adjoining zone.

SPECIAL ZONING CLASSIFICATIONS
Site-specific or project-specific provisions that are established by ordinance as part of the Zone for a lot.

ZONE CLASSIFICATIONS
The zone classification dictates basic requirements and restrictions such as permitted and conditionally permitted uses, minimum lot area, yard and parking requirements.

HEIGHT DISTRICT
The height district designation determines the maximum Floor Area Ratio, Residential Floor Area Ratio, and sometimes number of stories and/or feet. Does not apply to R1 Variation Zones.

SUPPLEMENTAL USE DISTRICT
Supplemental use districts contain additional regulations beyond those required by the base zone regulations, usually to protect or create certain neighborhood characteristics.

Otherwise, a property in an R1H Zone shall comply with all of the R1 Hillside Area Development Standards pursuant to Section 12.21 C.10 of the LAMC.

R1 Encroachment Plane

The Encroachment Plane in the standard R1 Zone and R1 Variation Zones is an angled plane originating at a specified height above the minimum front and/or side yard setback and angling toward the interior of the lot. The mass of the building may not extend above the plane, except for specified roof structures and equipment, per LAMC Section 12.21.1. The 20-foot origin height shown here applies in the standard R1 Zone and in some R1 Variation Zones, while other R1 Variation Zones may specify a different origin height. See Subdivision C.5 of LAMC Section 12.08 for the precise dimensions that apply in each R1 Variation Zone.

R1 Side Wall Offset/Plane Break

In the R1 Zone and all R1 Variation Zones, all portions of a building that have a side wall more than 14 feet high and a continuous length greater than 45 feet must provide an offset or plane break at least 5 feet in depth beyond the minimum side yard. The offset or plane break must be at least 10 feet in length.

SUBJECT: Implementation of 2019 Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) Ordinance and State ADU Law

The City's Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) Ordinance No. 186,481 became effective December 19, 2019. Among additional matters, it added Los Angeles Municipal Code (LAMC) Section 12.22 A.33. This new section includes local development standards and incorporates certain state law development standards and requirements for ADUs and Junior Accessory Dwelling Units (JADUs) in Government Code (GC) Sections 65852.2 and 65852.22.

The first section of this memorandum summarizes the development standards and requirements for the different types of ADUs along with JADUs permitted in the City. The second section further outlines the development standards for ADUs and JADUs required to be approved per GC Section 65852.2(e)(1) incorporated by reference into the ADU Ordinance. The third section describes additional state law provisions applicable to ADUs and JADUs but not included in the ADU Ordinance. Section four answers common questions related to implementation of the ADU Ordinance and state law.

This memorandum supersedes and replaces all documents previously issued by Los Angeles City Planning (LACP) and the Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety (LADBS) pertaining to implementation of ADU and second dwelling unit regulations, such as Zoning Administrator's Interpretations, Zoning Administrator Memorandums, Inter-Departmental memoranda, and Intra-Departmental correspondence.

I. Summary of ADU and JADU Development Standards and Requirements

ADUs are permitted through a ministerial process in all zones which allow for any type of residential use and where there is a proposed or existing dwelling unit (or units) on the Lot. JADUs are similarly permitted in single-family zones where there is a proposed or existing single-family dwelling on the Lot. Multiple ADUs may be permitted on a Lot, zoned for residential uses, and developed with an existing multifamily dwelling.

Table 1 and Table 2 on the following pages provide a summary of the key provisions found in the ADU Ordinance and state law. Table 1 summarizes key provisions applicable to detached ADUs (located in an accessory building) and Movable Tiny Houses (MTHs). Table 2 summarizes key provisions applicable to attached ADUs (physically attached to the primary dwelling) and JADUs.

The “Combinations of ADUs and JADUs” subsection that follows the tables explains when more than one ADU/JADU is allowed on the same Lot.

[1] The information shown in this table is only a summary of the key provisions for each option. Refer to the listed code section(s) for all the required development standards and regulations.

[2] Except for those provisions which do not allow such an ADU otherwise in compliance with all applicable provisions in Government Code Section 65852.2(e) and LAMC 12.22 A.33(g).

[3] Refer to the "Combinations of ADUs and JADUs" subsection for details regarding when more than one ADU/JADU option is allowed on the same Lot.

[4] Exceptions provided in LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(4)(i) and (ii).

[5] Unless limited by other applicable zoning rules such as floor area limits for the Lot, Lot coverage limits, or location of accessory building regulations; however, standards that limit floor area or Lot coverage may not preclude an ADU that is up to 800 square feet maximum, if no more than 16 feet in height and with 4 foot minimum side and rear yard setbacks per LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(1)(iii).

[6] No additional setbacks are required for a structure that is constructed in the same location and to the same dimensions as an existing structure per LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(8).

[7] One space is required for an ADU unless 1) located within ½ mile walking distance from a bus or rail stop, 2) one block from a designated car share pickup or drop off location, 3) within an applicable historic district, or 4) when an ADU is fully contained within an existing accessory structure. In addition, replacement parking is not needed when a garage, carport or parking structure is demolished in conjunction with ADU construction.

[8] The information shown in this table is only a summary of the key provisions for this option. Refer to the listed code section(s) for all the required development standards and regulations.

[9] When part of a proposed single-family dwelling, applicable development standards will apply to the entire building.

[10] Refer to the "Combinations of ADUs and JADUs" subsection for details regarding when more than one ADU/JADU option is allowed on the same Lot.

[11] Exceptions provided in LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(4)(i) and (ii).

[12] Unless limited by other applicable zoning rules such as floor area limits for the Lot, Lot coverage limits, or yard setbacks; however, standards that limit floor area or Lot coverage may not preclude an ADU that is up to 800 square feet maximum, if no more than 16 feet in height and with 4 foot minimum side and rear yard setbacks per LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(1)(iii).

[13] Except that an attached ADU with a floor area of less than 850 square feet, or less than 1,000 square feet for an attached ADU that provides for more than one bedroom, is allowed to exceed this 50% limit and any overall floor area limit for the Lot per LAMC 12.22 A.33(e)(3).

[14] One space is required for an ADU unless 1) located within ½ mile walking distance from a bus or rail stop, 2) one block from a designated car share pickup or drop off location, 3) within an applicable historic district, or 4) part of a proposed or existing residence. In addition, replacement parking is not needed when a garage, carport or parking structure is demolished in conjunction with ADU construction.

Combinations of ADUs and JADUs

On single-family zoned Lots with a single-family dwelling, state law allows one JADU to be created per GC Section 65852.2(e)(1)(A). The JADU may be permitted in addition to either a detached ADU or a Movable Tiny House on the same Lot.

On Lots with an existing multifamily dwelling, up to two detached ADUs created per GC Section 65852.2(e)(1)(D) may be permitted, along with one or more ADUs created within the existing space of a multifamily dwelling described in subparagraph (C).

II. Development Standards for ADUs and JADUs Required to be Approved by Government Code Section 65852.2(e)(1)

As indicated in Tables 1 and 2 above, the ADU Ordinance contains provisions for establishing detached ADUs, attached ADUs, and MTHs and provides the required development standards for each option (see paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) respectively, of LAMC Section 12.22 A.33). The remaining options listed in the tables for detached ADUs, attached ADUs, and JADUs are incorporated by reference in the ADU Ordinance (LAMC 12.22 A.33(b)(4), (5), and (6)) but are more fully explained in state law (see subparagraphs (A), (B), (C), and (D) of GC Section 65852.2(e)(1)). The applicable standards and requirements for these state law options are presented below as a reference for implementation.

As referenced in LAMC Sections 12.22 A.33(b)(4), (5) and (6) and 12.22 A.33(g), there are four provisions for ADUs and JADUs in state law (GC 65852.2(e)(1)(A)-(D)) that provide special allowances from otherwise applicable ADU development standards. Their applicability depends on whether the ADU/JADU will be located on a Lot with a single-family or multifamily dwelling and meets the specified requirements. The ADU Ordinance includes these four state provisions by reference in LAMC 12.22 A.33(b)(4)-(6). The full relevant portions of GC 65852.2(e)(1) are copied below:

> (A) One ADU or JADU per lot with a proposed or existing single-family dwelling, if all of the following apply:
> > (i) The ADU or JADU is within the proposed space of a single-family dwelling or existing space of a single-family dwelling or accessory structure and may include an expansion of not more than 150 square feet beyond the same physical dimensions as the existing accessory structure. An expansion beyond the physical dimensions of the existing accessory structure shall be limited to accommodating ingress and egress.
> > (ii) The space has exterior access from the proposed or existing single-family dwelling.
> > (iii) The side and rear setbacks are sufficient for fire and safety.
> > (iv) The JADU complies with the requirements of Section 65852.22.
> (B) One detached, new construction, ADU that does not exceed four-foot side and rear yard setbacks for a lot with a proposed or existing single-family dwelling. The ADU may be combined with a JADU described in subparagraph (A). A local agency may impose the following conditions on the ADU:

(i) A total floor area limitation of not more than 800 square feet.
(ii) A height limitation of 16 feet.

(C)

(i) Multiple ADUs within the portions of existing multifamily dwelling structures that are not used as livable space, including, but not limited to, storage rooms, boiler rooms, passageways, attics, basements, or garages, if each unit complies with state building standards for dwellings.
(ii) A local agency shall allow at least one ADU within an existing multifamily dwelling and shall allow up to 25 percent of the existing multifamily dwelling units.

(D) Not more than two ADUs that are located on a lot that has an existing multifamily dwelling, but are detached from that multifamily dwelling and are subject to a height limit of 16 feet and four-foot rear yard and side setbacks.

A. ADUs Required to be Approved by State Law

1. State Law ADUs within Single-Family and Multifamily Dwellings and Existing Accessory Buildings (Detached ADUs, Attached ADUs, and JADUs per GC 65852.2(e)(1)(A) and (C))

A JADU converted within an existing single-family dwelling described in GC 65852.2(e)(1)(A) or an ADU converted within an existing building described in either GC 65852.2(e)(1)(A) or (C) shall be approved if in compliance with all of the applicable provisions in state law. A building that includes an ADU or JADU within the space of a proposed single-family dwelling shall be subject to development standards that apply to a single-family dwelling. Both of these ADU and JADU options are referred to in LAMC 12.22 A.33(b)(4) and (5) and are exempt from the restriction in the Very High Fire Hazard Severity Zone, which is applicable to other types of ADUs.

Subparagraph (A) in GC 65852.2(e)(1) allows one ADU or JADU on a Lot if the ADU or JADU is located within a proposed or existing single-family dwelling. Alternatively, the ADU may be located within the existing space of an accessory structure, which may include an expansion not more than 150 square feet beyond the same physical dimensions as the existing accessory structure. The 150 square foot expansion is limited to accommodating ADU ingress and egress, such as when the addition includes an entryway or window used for a code-compliant entrance or exit.

Subparagraph (C) in GC 65852.2(e)(1) allows at least one ADU on a Lot with an existing multifamily dwelling if the ADU (or ADUs) are located within the portions of the existing multifamily dwelling structure that are not used as livable space, including, but not limited to, storage rooms, boiler rooms, recreation rooms, interior passageways, attics, basements, or garages. ADUs may be created within non-livable spaces regardless of zoning inconsistencies such as parking and open space that may result, but the number of ADUs shall not exceed 25 percent of the number of existing permitted units in the structure.

2. State Law ADUs Detached from Single-Family and Multifamily Dwellings (GC 65852.2(e)(1))(B) and (D))

Detached ADUs per subparagraphs (B) and (D) of GC Section 65852.2(e)(1) are subject to objective zoning standards, except for those provisions that do not allow an ADU outlined in these sections, as well as all of the provisions provided in Paragraph (g) (see LAMC 12.22 A.33(b)(6)). Paragraph (g) specifies that the restriction on ADUs in the Very High Fire Hazard Severity Zone applies to both of these detached ADU options.

Subparagraph (B) allows for a maximum of one detached, new construction, ADU on a Lot with a single-family dwelling if the ADU has a total floor area not exceeding 800 square feet, a maximum height of 16 feet and minimum four-foot rear and side yard setbacks. Other zoning standards, including front yard setback requirements, still apply to the ADU. However, as stated in the previous paragraph, an otherwise applicable development standard may not be applied to the extent that it precludes an ADU otherwise meeting the standards of GC Section 65852.2(e)(1)(B). For example, a Residential Floor Area (RFA) zoning limit or Historic Preservation Overlay Zone (HPOZ) standard that would normally limit an ADU to 700 square foot would be superseded to allow an ADU up to 800 square feet.

Subparagraph (D) allows for a maximum of two detached ADUs on a Lot with an existing multifamily dwelling which are subject to a height limit of 16 feet and minimum four-foot rear and side yard setbacks. As with the detached ADU option in subparagraph (B), other zoning standards apply to the extent that they do not preclude an ADU that otherwise meets the standards of GC 65852.2(e)(1)(D).

B. Junior Accessory Dwelling Units (JADUs) Required to be Approved by State Law

A JADU is a unit that is no more than 500 square feet in size and contained entirely within a single-family residence. A JADU may include separate sanitation facilities, or may share sanitation facilities with the existing single-family residence. A JADU shall comply with all of the applicable provisions in GC Sections 65852.2(e)(1)(A) and 65852.22, summarized as follows:

- A JADU shall be located on a Lot zoned for single-family residences (One-Family Dwellings) including A1, A2, RA, RE, RS, R1, RU, RZ and RW zones.
- A JADU shall be located within the walls of a proposed or existing single-family dwelling.
- One JADU is permitted per residential Lot with a single-family residence already built, or proposed to be built, on the Lot.
- A JADU shall have exterior access separate from the main entrance to the proposed or existing single-family dwelling and may have an internal connection(s) with the dwelling (including double doors or locked doors).
- A JADU shall maintain side and rear setbacks sufficient for fire and safety, as determined by LADBS.
- The single-family residence in which the JADU will be permitted must be owner occupied, unless the owner is a governmental agency, land trust, or housing organization (see definition in GC 65589.5). The owner may reside in either the remaining portion of the structure or the newly created JADU.

- The owner of the JADU shall record in the Office of the Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder/County Clerk, as a condition of receiving a building permit for the JADU, a deed restriction that is approved by LADBS, which shall contain a reference to the deed under which the property was acquired by the owner stating (at least) that:
    - The JADU shall not be sold separately from the single-family residence;
    - The JADU shall be considered legal only so long as either the primary residence or the JADU is occupied by the owner of record of the property. Such owner-occupancy, however, shall not be required if the property owner is a governmental agency, land trust or housing organization; and
    - Restricts the size and attributes of the JADU in accordance with Government Code Sections 65852.2 and 65852.22.
    - The restrictions shall run with the land and be binding upon any successor in ownership of the property.
- The JADU shall include at least an efficiency kitchen, which shall include all of the following:
    - A cooking facility with at least two appliances, including but not limited to small plug-in appliances such as a microwave and hotplate.
    - A food preparation counter and storage cabinets that are of reasonable size in relation to the size of the JADU.
- No parking is required for a JADU.
- A JADU shall not be considered a separate or new "dwelling unit" for the purposes of any fire or life protection ordinance or regulation, or for providing service for water, sewer, or power, including a connection fee.
- Regulations that apply to a single-family residence that contains a JADU may be applied to the structure, so long as that ordinance or regulation applies uniformly to all single-family residences regardless of whether the single-family residence includes a JADU.

III. Additional State Law Provisions Applicable to ADUs and JADUs

State law includes additional ADU provisions that do not impact planning or zoning related development standards and therefore were not included in the City's ADU ordinance. For reference, the following is a summary of some important changes:

A. Common Interest Developments (CIDs)

Assembly Bill (AB) 670 (2019) prohibits common interest developments (CIDs) from prohibiting or unreasonably restricting the construction of an ADU or JADU. CIDs include condominiums, planned unit developments, stock cooperatives and community apartments. Homeowner associations may impose reasonable restrictions on construction of ADUs or JADUs, provided they do not unreasonably increase the cost to construct, or effectively prohibit the construction of an ADU or JADU consistent with existing law regarding ADUs and JADUs (Civil Code Section 4751).

B. Owner Occupancy

Senate Bill (SB) 13 (2019) removes, until January 1, 2025, authority for local agencies to require owner-occupancy of the ADU or the primary dwelling. JADUs, on the other hand, are required to file a deed restriction to document owner occupancy for the primary residence or JADU.

C. Onsite Water Treatment Systems

AB 68 (2019) addresses ADUs connected to an onsite water treatment system, including that a local agency may require a percolation test completed within the last five years, or, if the percolation test has been recertified, within the last 10 years.

D. Impact Fees

SB 13 (2019) removes "impact fees" for ADUs (and JADUs) smaller than 750 square feet and reduces them for ADUs 750 feet or larger to a proportional rate in relation to the square footage of the primary dwelling unit, or average dwelling unit. An impact fee has the same meaning as the term "fee" is defined in subdivision (b) of Government Code Section 66000, except that it also includes parks fees specified in Section 66477. "Impact fee" does not include any connection fee or capacity charge charged by a local agency, special district, or water corporation. The following impact fees are affected by this change: LAUSD School District Fee, Residential Development Fee (LAMC 21.13.3) and Dwelling Unit Construction Tax (LAMC 21.10.3). ADUs and JADUs are exempt from Park Fees (LAMC 12.33) and the Affordable Housing Linkage Fee (LAMC 19.18).

E. Connection Fees

State law also revised the basis for calculating any applicable connection fee or capacity charge so that it shall be "proportionate to the burden of the proposed ADU" based upon either its square feet or the number of its drainage fixture unit (DFU) values, as defined in the Uniform Plumbing Code adopted and published by the International Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials, upon the water or sewer system. This fee or charge shall not exceed the reasonable cost of providing this service.

F. Enforcement

SB 13 (2019) established a new requirement that local enforcement agencies (LADBS and HCIDLA), when issuing a notice to correct (Order to Comply) for a ADU that is in violation of any provision of any building standard[15], include in that notice a statement that the owner of the unit has a right to request a delay in enforcement pursuant to Section 17980.12 of the Health and Safety Code. If an owner requests delay, then the enforcement agency shall delay enforcement of building standards (subject to compliance with 17980.12). This section applies to ADUs meeting the following criteria:

(1) The accessory dwelling unit was built before January 1, 2020.

[15] Standards pursuant to Article 1 (commencing with Section 17960) of Chapter 5 of Part 1.5 of Division 13 of the Health and Safety Code.

(2) The accessory dwelling unit was built on or after January 1, 2020, in a local jurisdiction that, at the time the ADU was built, had a noncompliant ADU ordinance, but the ordinance is compliant at the time the request is made.

IV. Common Questions Related to Implementation of the ADU Ordinance and State Law

This section answers common questions related to implementation of the ADU Ordinance and state law. Italicized terms refer to terms used in LAMC 12.22 A.33 and state law.

Q.1 What is a dwelling, primary dwelling, or primary residence?

A. For the purpose of implementing LAMC 12.22 A.33, dwelling, primary dwelling, or primary residence mean any single-family or multifamily dwelling (see Q.2).

Q.2 What is a single-family and multifamily dwelling or use?

A. A single-family dwelling or use means a Dwelling, One-Family. A multifamily dwelling or use means any Structure with more than one Dwelling Unit or Guest Room, and used for long-term dwelling. Transient short-term rental uses established or used for less than 30 days are not considered dwellings for the purpose of implementing LAMC 12.22 A.33. Areas zoned for these uses means zones in which these uses are a permitted use in the respective zone classification.

Q.3 How are square footage, square-feet and size calculated?

A. Square footage, square-feet and size are used in the ADU Ordinance to refer to various direct ADU size regulations (such as the 1,200 square foot limitation). These terms refer to the definition of Floor Area in LAMC 12.03, but does not include the definition of Residential Floor Area (RFA), nor does it include any non-conditioned spaces such as porches, patios or breezeways with solid or lattice roofs. Physically connected spaces that are conditioned but do not have an interior connection to the ADU are also not counted as ADU square footage. This definition does not apply to a Movable Tiny House (MTH), which is subject to distinct size provisions as described in the definition of a MTH.

Indirect limits on ADU size through other zoning provisions such as Floor Area Ratio (including RFA in the R1, RE, RS and RA zones) or lot coverage may apply separately which may further limit allowable ADU square footage. Refer to LAMC 12.22 A.33(b) for more information on applicable development standards.

Q.4 What is living area as referenced in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(8)?

A. Living area is defined in state ADU law as “the interior habitable area of a dwelling unit, including basements and attics, but does not include a garage or any accessory structure.”

Q.5 How is height measured for an ADU?

A. Height of an ADU is generally measured as any other structure would be measured under the LAMC, given the governing height limit standards in the applicable zone, Height District, Hillside Area, Specific Plan area, or other Overlay. For the purposes of applying the 16 feet maximum height standard as required by state law (referenced in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(1)(iii), (g)(1), and GC Section 65852.2(e)(1)(D)), height shall be measured according to the standard Zoning Code definition of Height of Building or Structure in LAMC Section 12.03.

Q.6 For the purpose of assessing a per-unit impact fee to an ADU that is 750 square feet or larger on a Lot with an existing single-family dwelling, how is the square footage of the single-family dwelling determined?

A. Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's records may be used to establish the square footage of the single-family dwelling for the purpose of calculating the required impact fee for the ADU.

Q.7 For the purposes of assessing a per-unit impact fee to an ADU that is 750 square feet or larger on a Lot with a multifamily dwelling structure, how is the square footage of the primary residence determined?

A. The fee must be proportional to the average size of all dwelling units on the Lot. Floor plans showing the sizes of all units may be required to make this determination. An applicant may choose to pay the full fee in lieu of providing these plans.

Q.8 Does the presence of a JADU change the designation of a One-Family Dwelling Unit? How is a JADU reported?

A. A JADU shall be identified as a JADU on Building Permits, Certificate of Occupancy and other pertinent City records. The addition of a JADU changes the designation of the One-Family Dwelling to a One-Family Dwelling and JADU. For purposes of any fire or life protection ordinance or regulation, a JADU shall not be considered a separate or new dwelling unit per GC 65852.22(d). However, JADUs may be counted as housing units in reports to the Department of Finance as well as for the Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) and other housing unit reporting.

Q.9 What is the minimum size of an efficiency unit as referenced in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(1)(ii), and what is the applicability of this provision?

A. The minimum size of an efficiency unit is 220 square feet, plus a code compliant closet and bathroom; however, the Ordinance does not specify any minimum square footage requirements for an ADU or JADU, except for Movable Tiny Houses (MTHs). This provision refers to any other current or future zoning ordinances that would prohibit an efficiency unit ADU.

Q.10 What is car share as referenced in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(12)(i)(b)?

A. Car share means a vehicle rental program designed for people to rent vehicles for short periods of time, such as a few hours, pay only for their usage, and access the car at any hour, not just during business hours. The vehicles may be commercially or personally owned. Commercial car share companies generally offer a fleet of vehicles which may be picked up and returned to a designated parking spot, or are picked up and returned to non-designated parking spots. Personal vehicle sharing (peer-to-peer car sharing) allows private car owners to make their vehicles available for rental. Some car share companies operating in Los Angeles include, but are not limited to: BlueLA, Zipcar, Ryde, Waive, Getaround, Transfr, PiTcarz, Maeve, Turo, Envoy, and Animo. For the purposes of determining the applicability of this parking exemption, pick-up and drop-off locations are provided by the ADU applicant and verified online. If LADBS staff has questions on information an applicant supplies to demonstrate a car share program or location, they should consult with the Department of Transportation.

Q.11 What is a mixed-use zone per Paragraph (g) of LAMC Section 12.22 A.33?

A. Mixed-use zone refers to any zone classification that allows for both residential and non-residential uses on the same Lot.

Q.12 How is walking distance calculated per LAMC Section 12.22.A 33(c)(12)(i)(a)?

A. Walking distance is measured by the shortest distance that can be traveled by walking on public streets and sidewalks from a transit stop to the closest point on the subject Lot, as determined by generally available mapping systems, such as Google Maps.

Q.13 Determination of when a garage, carport, or covered parking structure is demolished in conjunction with the construction of an ADU or JADU for the purposes of determining when no parking is required for an ADU (LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(12)(iii)).

A. For the purpose of this provision, in conjunction means when a building permit application to remove covered parking and a building permit application for the construction of an ADU on the same Lot are submitted at the same time, or where one building permit application is submitted while the other building permit application or building permit is still open and valid.

Q.14 Determination of when requirements for a passageway or space between buildings are considered in conjunction with the construction of an ADU (LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(7)).

A. The defined passageway and space between buildings regulation does not apply to the ADU or any residential building on the same Lot during the approval or construction of an ADU, whether through a zoning review, building permit plan check or inspection.

In the event that new (non-ADU) structures or additions to structures are constructed on the site subsequent to the creation of the ADU, any applicable regulations pertaining to passageways or space between buildings would apply to the new structure or addition, consistent with the Zoning Code standards in place at the time that the plan check fee for the structure or addition is paid in accordance with LAMC 12.26 A.3.

Q.15 When is automobile parking required for an ADU which is part of the proposed or existing primary residency or an accessory structure (LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(12)(i)d)?

A. Automobile parking is not required for ADUs created within an existing or proposed main home or an existing accessory structure. ADU parking may be required if the ADU exceeds the existing square footage of an existing main home (primary residence) or accessory structure, as well as for a newly constructed detached ADU. Other parking waivers in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(12)(i) may also apply.

Q.16 May an ADU be created on a Lot that is a substandard Lot (for instance, due to an illegal Lot split in the past)?

A. State law allows a local ADU ordinance to establish certain ADU development standards. However, these standards shall not include minimum lot size (see GC Section 65852.2(a)(1)(B)(i)). Therefore, a minimum Lot size requirement for a given zone classification shall not be the basis of a denial of a new ADU.

Q.17 What general development standards from LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c) apply to Movable Tiny Houses (MTHs)?

A. LAMC 12.22 A.33(b)(3) states that a MTH shall be approved if in compliance with all of the provisions in Paragraph (c), except for those provisions that apply solely to buildings and structures (as well as all of the provisions in Paragraph (f)). This is because MTHs are not considered "structures" under the Zoning Code or Building Code. The following standards in LAMC 12.22 A.33(c) do not apply to MTHs, as they apply solely to buildings and structures (LADBS may determine that other standards do not apply to MTHs):

- Building Code regulations (LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(9))
- Fire sprinkler requirements (LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(c)(10))

Q.18 Does the density calculation described in LAMC Section 12.22 A.33(h)(2) only apply to dwelling unit calculations?

A. No, this provision applies if either additional dwelling units or guest rooms are added to a lot after the creation of the ADU or JADU.

Q.19 What regulations apply when an existing ADU or JADU is later proposed to be converted to another use?

A. The proposed conversion will be subject to all zoning code and fire sprinkler regulations in place at the time of the proposed change of use. If the ADU or JADU was constructed within an existing building, non-conforming rights from the building and use that existed prior to the ADU or JADU may be considered at the discretion of LADBS.

Q.20 Can there be other residential uses on the Lot besides the proposed or existing dwelling mentioned in LAMC 12.22 A.33(c)(6)?

A. Yes, the Lot may contain any other residential use(s), in addition to the non-residential uses and accessory residential uses mentioned in 12.22 A.33(c)(6)

Q.21 Can an ADU request a Zone Variance from the provisions in 12.22 A.33?

A. No, the LAMC does not permit deviations from development standards provided in LAMC 12.22 A.33 (Exceptions) because these provisions are already exceptions from the Code; however, an ADU may request the appropriate entitlement(s) to deviate from development standards provided in other sections of the Code that are not specifically defined in LAMC 12.22 A.33.

Q.22 How does vesting apply to projects that submitted prior to the ADU Ordinance?

A. Projects that have paid a plan check fee and had their plans accepted by LADBS prior to the effective date of the ADU Ordinance (December 19, 2019) are provided a vested right to proceed with its development in compliance with the development rules and regulations in force on the date that the plan check fee was paid. Applicants that wish for their projects to take advantage of new provisions in the ADU Ordinance (and state law) will need to file a supplemental permit application, which will void the vesting rights under the prior development rules and subject the project to the new ADU Ordinance and any other new regulations.

What the REC? Understanding RECs, CRECs and HRECs in a Phase I Environmental Site Assessment

With all of the acronyms in the environmental consulting industry, reading a Phase I Environmental Site Assessment report can be a challenge. And if the report contains the acronym REC, confusion may give way to dread. A Recognized Environmental Condition, or REC, is a term used in a Phase I ESA report to identify a particular, potential environmental impairment on a property. However, finding a REC, HREC or CREC in a report is no reason to panic if you have a grasp of what they mean for your transaction.

AAI: The Most Important Acronym

A quick refresher on the importance of the Phase I ESA. All Appropriate Inquiries, or AAI must be conducted to obtain certain protections from liability under the federal Superfund Law (CERCLA). The ASTM E 1527-13 (https://www.pmenv.com/articles/closer-look-astm-e1527-13-changes/) standard is consistent with the requirements of the final rule and may be used to comply with the provisions of the rule. A Phase I ESA report that follows this standard provides you with this protection.

REC: Recognized Environmental Condition

According to the ASTM E 1527-13, a REC is "the presence or likely presence of any hazardous substances or petroleum products in, on, or at a property." Most people associate RECs with leaking Underground Storage Tanks (UST) that were not properly closed, or property that was once a dry cleaner or a car repair shop, where toxic chemicals may have been used and not disposed of properly. However, RECs aren't limited to just these types of properties. Greenhouses, orchards, printing facilities, and furniture making plants are a few of the more surprising locations where RECs can be found.

What a single REC, or multiple RECs, mean for your project can vary. "This is why we ask about a client's transaction," said Beth Sexton, PM Environmental's National Manager of Due Diligence. "It helps us frame what needs to be done for the site and manage the risk accordingly."

As an example, you may have a potential for contamination from an off-site source which you are not liable for, and the only risk of exposure is drinking contaminated water. If your property is on municipal water and you do not plan on installing a well, then in that instance a REC is easily managed

CREC: Controlled Recognized Environmental Condition

A relative newcomer to the ASTM E 1527 standard is the CREC, or a Controlled Recognized Environmental Condition. Added in the 2013 update, a CREC is described as "a recognized environmental condition that involves a past release of hazardous substances or petroleum products that has been addressed to the satisfaction of the applicable regulatory authority, with hazardous substances or petroleum products allowed to remain in place subject to required controls."

Simply, a CREC indicates that there is known contamination on a property that is being managed by controls, such as use restriction or mitigation methods, which you are required to follow. These controls may include simply refraining from drilling a well for drinking purposes, maintaining pavement covering for parts of the property or installing a vapor barrier and conducting quarterly testing. A CREC is manageable if you have a clear understanding of exactly what is required of you as the owner and operator.

HREC: Historical Recognized Environmental Condition

Finally, HRECs, or Historical Recognized Environmental Condition are defined as, "a past, regularly reported, release of any hazardous substances or petroleum products that has occurred in connection with the property and has been addressed to the satisfaction of the applicable regulatory authority or meeting unrestricted residential use criteria established by a regulatory authority, without subjecting the property to any required controls."

In a nutshell, an HREC is a release that has been adequately assessed and is not subject to required controls. The conditions were addressed to the satisfaction of the state, and the property can be used as if it were never contaminated (no type of deed restriction or engineered barrier needed).

The 2013 ASTM E 1527 update tweaked the HREC language to only include situations where there had been a release. If there was no release, it cannot be categorized as an HREC.

"Essentially, an HREC means it's all handled and nothing needs to be done," said Sexton. "We are required to call these out by the ASTM standard."

The Next Steps

There is no need for panic when you see REC in a Phase I ESA. Sometimes, the remedy may be following simple controls that are already in place. In any case, having an environmental consultant that understands your transaction and can suggest sensible and cost-effective options when a REC is more complicated is key to a successful project.

"RECs don't always require a Phase II," said Sexton. "Sometimes, they can be managed by using other tools in the toolbox."

Armed with a single truck and business cards, Peter Bosanic and Michael Kulka started PM Environmental in Lansing, Michigan in 1992. The two recent Michigan State University grads had been working as project managers at a small firm when they decided set out on their own. They began visiting small gas stations, explaining state incentives for Underground Storage Tank management and removal and offering their services. Their hard work paid off and the company steadily increased its service line, professional staff and technical equipment.

Since then, PM has continued to expand and provide the highest quality, most comprehensive and efficient environmental services. PM is ranked #1 in Michigan and nationally as a top 20 environmental

Using a Phase I Environmental Site Assessment to Document Compliance with HUD Environmental Standards at 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i)

Introduction

HUD policy requires that "all properties that are being proposed for use in HUD programs be free of hazardous materials, contamination, toxic chemicals and gases, and radioactive substances, where a hazard could affect the health and safety of occupants or conflict with the intended utilization of the property."[1] Site contamination hazards must be analyzed using "current techniques by qualified professionals."[2] The investigation and source documentation required to satisfy this standard will vary depending on the type of HUD-assisted activity, and its level of environmental review. HUD's memorandum, "Site Investigation Screening - Guidance for complying with 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i)," provides guidance on determining the appropriate investigation and source documentation for each project type.

The following guidance is focused on the investigation and source documentation addressing potential site contamination in HUD environmental review for acquisition and/or development of multifamily housing with five or more units or non-residential property. According to HUD regulations, environmental review for these project types must include the evaluation of previous uses of the site or other evidence of contamination on or near the site.[3] The American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) E1527 Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (hereafter "Phase I") is commonly used in HUD environmental review to undertake this analysis. This memorandum is intended to 1) describe the purpose and scope of the Phase I in HUD environmental review, 2) describe the treatment of non-scope "business environmental risk" issues in such Phase I assessments, 3) explain the responsibilities of the Phase I user and preparer, and 4) discuss potential further action based on the determinations of the Phase I.

I. Purpose and Scope of Phase I in HUD environmental Review

Background of Phase I Environmental Site Assessment

The Phase I represents the industry standard for determining whether a past release of hazardous substances or petroleum products has occurred or there is a material threat of a future such release, on a property proposed for use in a commercial transaction or development proposal.

The US Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has determined that the Phase I standard satisfies EPA's All Appropriate Inquiries (AAI) rule.[4] Under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA)[5], as amended, satisfying AAI is one of the requirements of eligibility for CERCLA Landowner Liability Protections (LLPs), such as bona fide prospective purchaser (BFPP), contiguous property owner (CPO), or innocent landowner defenses to CERCLA liability for cleanup of contamination related to past or ongoing releases of hazardous substances on a given property.[6]

For this reason, purchasers or developers of property proposed for use in HUD programs may obtain a Phase I in order to qualify for CERCLA liability protections, irrespective of any considerations related to HUD environmental review standards. As mentioned above, HUD regulations require investigation into previous uses of a site for activities on multifamily and nonresidential properties.[7] Because the Phase I standard, which includes an investigation into past uses of the site, represents industry best practice for determining the potential for contamination on a site, it is the recommended resource for documenting compliance with HUD contamination regulations.

It is important to recognize that the goal of the Phase I as routinely prepared in order to satisfy the AAI rule is limited to identification of "recognized environmental conditions"(RECs)[8] related to past or future releases of CERCLA hazardous substances and petroleum products. However, HUD utilizes the standard to identify the presence of any toxic or radioactive substance that may pose a threat to site occupants. HUD is interested in the potential presence of such materials regardless of whether they are manmade or naturally occurring (e.g., radon), or whether they are likely to have been "released" into the environment or are contained within a structure (e.g., intact asbestos-containing materials or lead-based paint in a structure).

Statement of HUD Purpose within the Phase I ESA is required

HUD's interest in determining potential sources of risk to future site occupants will likely necessitate an expansion in the scope of the standard Phase I inquiry. It is important to clarify the document's scope and purpose among the users and preparers of the Phase I prior to site assessment. HUD recommends that RE or HUD users[9] and their Environmental Professionals (EPs)[10] ensure that the statement of purpose in the Phase I Introduction section[11] clearly explains that, in addition to satisfying AAI, a purpose of the Phase I is to document compliance with 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i). Likewise, the Evaluation section's[12] discussion of Phase I findings and conclusions should state whether any further investigation or corrective action is needed in order to ensure that the property meets requirements at 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) for the proposed HUD-assisted use. This is in addition to the standard Phase I determination whether any RECs have been identified in connection with the site.

Where HUD assistance in an activity is not contemplated until after a Phase I ESA has been prepared, the Phase I may be updated to include analysis of compliance with 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i), in accordance with update guidelines at Section 4.6 of the Phase I standard.

Timing

As with other aspects of the environmental review process, the time required to obtain a Phase I ESA and evaluate its findings should be fully accounted in planning a HUD-assisted development activity. The environmental review process is designed to serve as an early decision-making tool. Therefore, the process of addressing 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) requirements should be initiated as early in the development timeline as possible.

Obtaining and reviewing a Phase I ESA may take at least one month. After review of the draft Phase I by the user, revisions may be needed in order to better adhere to the Phase I standard, to HUD requirements, or to meet other informational needs of the user.

If further investigation is needed, the process of documenting compliance with 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) can take much longer. Where further investigation indicates that contamination may be present or precautionary measures are needed, there must be time to complete the following steps prior to finalizing the environmental review and committing HUD assistance to the development: adequate characterization of confirmed or potential site contamination, determination of necessary corrective action and institutional or engineering control measures, and the completion of the appropriate Part 50, and 2) to Responsible Entity staff who prepare and approve environmental reviews for HUD-assisted activities under regulations at 24 CFR Part 58.

[10] The experience and education requirements for a Phase I Environmental Professional are described in E1527 Appendix X2, pursuant to 40 CFR 312.10. In addition to verifying that the EP meets these requirements, users may wish to request a list of recently completed work and to verify that the EP holds professional insurance.

[11] The Introduction section is described in E1527 Appendix X4, "RECOMMENDED TABLE OF CONTENTS AND REPORT FORMAT": "X4.2 Introduction—This section identifies the property (location and legal description) and the purpose of the Phase I Environmental Site Assessment. This section also provides a place to discuss contractual details (including scope of work) as well as limiting conditions, deviations, exceptions, significant assumptions, and special terms and conditions."

[12] The Evaluation section is another recommended sectional division of the Phase I report, also described in Appendix X4 (see previous footnote): "X4.7 Evaluation—This section documents the findings, opinions and conclusions of the Phase I Environmental Site Assessment as stated in Section 12. This section also includes additional investigations, data gaps, deletions."

oversight agency approval processes. As a result, project delays can occur if sufficient environmental review time is not built into the development schedule.

Phase I ESAs have a shelf life specified in the standard at section 4.6, "Continued Viability of the Site Assessment." In order to satisfy AAI with reference to a specific property transfer, the Phase I must be prepared within six months of the transaction. This period can be extended for a period up to one year after its initial preparation by updating the Phase I.

If a Phase I was prepared more than one year prior to completion of the HUD environmental review, the report may still prove useful. According to Section 4.7 of the standard, previous reports can be used as source documentation in preparing a Phase I. In many cases, referencing an expired Phase I for a portion of the necessary base data can significantly expedite the work of the environmental professional. The fact that a previous Phase I is available should be incorporated in the EP's cost estimate and scope of work when the Phase I contract is negotiated.

Summary Table: Continued Validity and Use of Prior Phase I ESAs (E1527 Section 4.6-4.7)
Less than 180 days since Phase I preparation	Presumed valid
Between 180 days and 1 year	Update the following components: • Interviews • Searches for environmental liens • Government records review • Site reconnaissance • Report and EP declaration • Must also satisfy user responsibilities (user-provided information)
More than one year	• All Phase I components to be completed • Prior report can be used as a reference

Note that activities utilizing mortgage insurance through the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) should follow requirements of the relevant FHA guidance, e.g., Multifamily Accelerated Processing (MAP) Guide, or Section 232 Handbook.

Format

A Phase I ESA should be prepared in accordance with the requirements of ASTM E-1527 "Standard Practice for Environmental Site Assessments, Phase I Environmental Site Assessment Process." Additionally, HUD strongly recommends that Responsible Entities request that the Environmental Professional draft the report using ASTM E-1527 Appendix X4's "Recommended Table of Contents and Report Format." The use of Appendix X4 is beneficial as an organizational tool to ensure all requirements are included in the report and to facilitate an efficient substantive review.

II. Treatment of non-scope "Business Environmental Risk"

Non-Scope Items Related to Site Contamination, Health and Safety

As a standard that is closely aligned to issues of CERCLA liability, the Phase I primarily addresses releases of "hazardous substances"[13]; "pollutant[s] or contaminant[s],"[14] or petroleum products and their constituents. Some additional hazards that could affect human health and safety based upon the proposed end use of the property may be considered non-scope items for purposes of the standard practice, because they do not necessarily raise CERCLA liability concerns. These substances may include pesticides used in accordance with the label, asbestos and lead-based paint that are part of an existing structure, mold, and radon, among others.

On the other hand, the ASTM E1527 standard acknowledges that some users may have "business environmental risk" concerns that require investigation of environmental issues beyond the standard scope of the practice. "Business environmental risk" is defined in E1527 at Section 3.2.11:

> "business environmental risk—a risk which can have a material environmental or environmentally-driven impact on the business associated with the current or planned use of a parcel of commercial real estate, not necessarily limited to those environmental issues required to be investigated in this practice. Consideration of business environmental risk issues may involve addressing one or more non-scope considerations, some of which are identified in Section 13."

HUD uses the Phase I for an initial determination as part of the Department's overall environmental responsibilities pursuant to 24 CFR 50.3(i) and 58.5(i)(2). Therefore, HUD is concerned with the business environmental risk that site contamination – whether or not considered a release of hazardous substances under CERCLA or EPA guidance – may pose a health risk to future site occupants or conflict with the intended use of the property. For this reason, findings or opinions regarding potential non-scope sources of contamination – including but not limited to those listed in Section 13 of the Phase I standard and developed further in Appendix X5, "Summary of Common Non-Scope Issues" – should be discussed in the Phase I assessment.

For example, non-scope considerations in X5 that should be addressed in a Phase I prepared for HUD environmental review purposes include asbestos, radon, lead-based paint, regulatory health and safety compliance; continuing obligations or ongoing responsibilities, state and local compliance responsibilities related to toxic or hazardous substances, or corrective action relating to past noncompliance on the property; indoor air quality; and mold. In addition to the listed examples, other non-scope factors that should be discussed as relevant to the proposed activity and site include the potential for residual contamination from agricultural activities, such as the use of arsenical pesticides, even where such substances were used in accordance with the label.

[14] 42 USC § 9601(33).

Non-Scope Items Unrelated to Site Contamination

Other considerations listed in X5, such as wetlands and endangered species, are not recommended for inclusion in the Phase I assessment. The purpose of the Phase I in HUD environmental review, as noted above, is to address the requirements of 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i). Users seek the expertise of an EP to analyze factors that are related to toxic, hazardous, and radiological contamination on the site that may pose a risk to occupants.

Various other factors that must be addressed in a HUD environmental assessment, such as wetland protection under Executive Order 11990, Floodplain Management under Executive Order 11988, Historic Preservation under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, other authorities listed at 24 CFR 58.5 and 58.6, and various NEPA development factors described in HUD guidance available at https://hudexchange.info/environmental-review should be addressed in the appropriate HUD environmental assessment recommended format by an environmental review preparer who has the capacity and expertise to prepare such documents.

In part, this is recommended because the Phase I preparer may be unfamiliar with the treatment of these factors in HUD environmental review. For example, when wetlands are addressed as a non-scope item in Phase I ESAs for commercial property transactions not involving HUD or other federal funding, analysis may be focused on determining the presence of federal jurisdictional wetlands on the property that might trigger compliance with Clean Water Act Section 404 permit requirements in order to avoid related civil and criminal penalties. However, HUD's compliance with Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, encompasses a broader definition of wetlands and follows strict parameters that are laid out in regulations at 24 CFR Part 55 and in HUD guidance.

Of course, some Phase I preparers may have HUD-specific experience and may be contracted to assemble both the HUD Environmental Review Record (ERR) and the Phase I ESA. However, even when the same expert is relied on to complete both documents, the Phase I should be limited to analysis of issues related to site contamination, and non-contamination issues should be addressed separately in the ERR.

In summary, a HUD environmental assessment must be prepared by an experienced person with knowledge of HUD environmental review requirements. This person may contract with an EP to obtain a Phase I that addresses HUD requirements at 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i), but the EP should limit the scope of the Phase I to a contamination-related analysis.

III. Phase I "User" and "Preparer" Responsibilities

The Role of the User in Phase I ESA Preparation

The Phase I standard contemplates active participation by the HUD or RE user, both during contracting and defining the scope of the assessment, and during actual preparation of the assessment by the EP. The user's responsibilities include:

- During scoping, informing the EP that the Phase I must address HUD standards at 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i), including relevant non-scope contamination issues.
- Supplying the EP with a copy of any previously prepared Phase I ESA for the property.
- Supplying the EP with any information from previous title or record searches related to environmental liens, activity/use limitations, or institutional or engineering controls (e.g., deed restrictions, caps, slurry walls, etc.) in place on the property.
- Completing the user questionnaire.
- Arranging for the cooperation of the owner, seller, or property manager to ensure that the EP has full access to the site and the opportunity to interview parties with knowledge of the site.
- Communicating with the EP regarding the scope of investigation as new information comes to light.

Taking care to adequately fulfill this role can help to avoid data gaps[15] in the Phase I, which will result in a more useful and relevant report for the user.

Reading and Evaluating a Phase I ESA

Once the EP completes the Phase I, the RE or HUD user should review the report and discuss it with the preparer as soon as possible. When possible, the contract should require that the EP provide the user with a draft copy of the report for the user to make comments or suggestions to the EP prior to issuance of the final Phase I report. Including this step in the Phase I process has several advantages. It helps to ensure that the report serves the needs of the user, identifies any areas of the report that require clarification, and creates another opportunity for the user to provide the EP with additional information which may help to close data gaps in the Phase I.

When reviewing the draft or final Phase I, the user should consider the report as a whole, rather than limiting review to only those portions of the Summary or Evaluation sections where RECs are briefly listed. In general, the Phase I user should expect the report to provide a clear narrative discussion revealing the analysis and expert opinion that links investigative findings to conclusions about the presence of RECs and the status of 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) compliance.

[15] The term "Data Gap" is defined at section 12.7 of E1527, which requires that the Phase I include discussion of "significant" data gaps. A data gap example described in this section is the EP's inability to access a key portion of the site, underscoring the need for coordination by the user to ensure adequate EP access to the property.

The fact that a Phase I does not identify a REC is not necessarily a definitive determination that no further investigation or action should be considered. An EP may identify site conditions that are notable or initially concerning, but may determine that these conditions are not indicative of a "release" or material threat of release of toxic substances and therefore do not constitute a REC.[16] When this occurs, the EP must indicate the considerations underlying the determination that a condition does or does not constitute a REC in the Evaluation section of the Phase I.

If the user has any questions about findings described in the report that the EP determines do not constitute RECs, these should be discussed carefully with the EP. The user may determine that a finding merits further investigation in order to comply with HUD standards, even though the Phase I concludes that the finding does not constitute a REC. When this is the case, the EP should be able to suggest options for further investigation when requested by the HUD or RE user. Following are two examples of scenarios in which the user might determine that further investigation is necessary even though the Phase I identified no RECs.

Example 1: Vapor Condition That Cannot Be Ruled Out

The Phase I identifies a potential source of release of a chlorinated solvent into groundwater in proximity to the site, but at cross-gradient or down-gradient to the proposed site based on surface topography. Without additional information, the Phase I preparer cannot determine that a vapor encroachment condition is likely to exist on the subject property. At the same time, due to the variability of groundwater flow direction and the potential for unpredictable vapor migration through subsurface pathways such as utility corridors that have not been fully characterized, a vapor condition cannot be ruled out. The EP would be expected to complete file review of any records regarding the release that may be on file with the relevant oversight agency, but if these records do not provide enough information to fully characterize a potential groundwater plume or vapor migration zone, under ASTM 1527 it is at the EP's discretion to determine whether or not the known facts constitute a REC. However, even if the EP determines that there is not a REC, the user reviewing the findings and noting uncertainty with regard to vapor encroachment may request the EP's suggestions for further investigation, including vapor intrusion testing,[17] that would more definitively resolve the issue for purposes of 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) compliance. In this example, the fact that the relevant oversight agency has or has not identified an adjacent property owner as responsible party for the release should not influence the RE or HUD user's determination as to whether further investigation is needed. This is because in HUD environmental review the purpose of the Phase I is not limited to addressing liability concerns; an equally important purpose is to ensure that residents of the proposed development are protected from toxic hazards including vapor intrusion.

[16] The definition of "release" is provided at section 3.8.82 of the Phase I standard. The definition refers the reader to the definition of release in the CERCLA statute at 42 U.S.C. § 9601(22). Therefore, the determination of what constitutes a REC is rooted in the concept of CERCLA liability, which, as discussed extensively above, may be a narrower scope than that required by 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i).

[17] Generalized guidance on vapor intrusion is provided in ASTM E2600-10, Appendix X7.

Example 2: Non-Scope Historical Pesticide Use

The Phase I includes a finding related to a non-scope consideration such as historical use of pesticides on a site, which have been used in accordance with their labeling instructions. A proposed project might involve acquisition of agricultural land that was used for several decades in orchard cultivation, for conversion to residential multifamily property. Historically, orchard cultivation has been associated with the use of arsenical pesticides, and orchard properties may have soil arsenic levels above state remediation levels. Pesticides used in accordance with labeling instructions are generally not considered a release of a hazardous substance and would be identified as a non-scope consideration under the Phase I standard. However, the RE or HUD Phase I user would have communicated to the EP that such contamination-related non-scope considerations should be analyzed in the Phase I with reference to HUD requirements at 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i). The EP should therefore describe the historical use of the property as an orchard, and note the potential for residual arsenical pesticide soil contamination. Nevertheless, as a non-scope issue, it is at the discretion of the EP to determine whether or not to classify this historical use as a REC. Whether or not it is classified as a REC, upon reviewing the Phase I's findings and learning about the potential for arsenic in soil on the property, it is the responsibility of the RE or HUD user to discuss with the EP options for Phase II soil testing to determine whether arsenic levels exceed state action levels for residential development.

Verifying Appropriate Documentation of HRECs:

Sometimes a Phase I may document that a past release of a hazardous substance has occurred in connection with a property, but determine that the release has been addressed to the satisfaction of the applicable regulatory authority such that the property is not subject to any ongoing controls or use restrictions. In this case, the verified past release may be determined not to constitute a REC, but instead to constitute a "historical recognized environmental condition," or HREC. In such a case, the user should review the Phase I to ensure that the determination that the past release constitutes an HREC is supported by documentation that the process of remediation and closure of the release by the applicable regulatory would meet current standards for unrestricted use. If this is not clear from the Phase I's discussion of the HREC, the user should discuss the finding with the EP to determine whether further investigation is needed.

IV. Potential Action Following Phase I Determinations

Exploring Options and Obtaining Recommendations for Further Testing

When a Phase I identifies a REC the user should consult with the EP regarding options for further investigation or remediation to address the REC. Unless requested to do so, EPs may choose not include these recommendations for further testing and remediation within the Phase I, and ASTM E1527 does not require them to do so. Since they are not required, recommendations are often omitted from the Phase I in order to avoid limiting user options. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the user to determine how to address RECs that are identified, and the first step in this determination is seeking the input of the EP who prepared the Phase I. This discussion of options for further investigation, remediation, or other action can take place outside of the Phase I ESA document, but the RE or HUD preparer should document this discussion and its conclusions in the HUD Environmental Review Record for the activity.

RE or HUD users should also note that the scope of post-Phase I investigation differs from that of the Phase I itself. The Phase I ESA provides a standard practice for initial investigation that, while tailored by the EP to specific site conditions, is more or less general in applicability. By contrast, methods for further investigation, remediation or other action to address RECs or unresolved findings will be unique to the site and the issue that is identified.

For example, if a Phase I identifies a REC related to potential migration of groundwater contamination from an adjacent site where a release has occurred, a Phase II involving sampling and testing will have a scope and methodology that is defined by the contaminant of concern, soil and groundwater conditions, topography, and the nature and design of the proposed site development. When a Phase II is needed, REs are strongly encouraged to review the scope of work and discuss any questions or necessary revisions with the EP prior to authorizing the EP to move forward with the site investigation.

"Controlled recognized environmental conditions" (CRECs) are past releases of hazardous substances that have been addressed to the satisfaction of the applicable regulatory agency.[18] CRECs (which are RECs) will often be conditioned upon continued enforcement of institutional and engineering controls on the site. Where HUD-assisted development will occur on a site with a CREC, the development will need to involve the relevant local, state, tribal or federal oversight authority in approving the new design, including any modification to existing institutional or engineering controls. Therefore, when the Phase I identifies a CREC the user should seek the EP's guidance regarding next steps for coordinating development with the relevant oversight agency. This process must be documented as part of 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) compliance prior to completing HUD environmental review.

Responsibilities for complying with land use restrictions and not impeding the effectiveness of existing institutional or engineering controls fall under the spectrum of "continuing obligations" that must be satisfied, in addition to AAI, in order to qualify for CERCLA liability protections[19]. It is important to note that the purchaser must complete pre-acquisition due diligence through the ASTM 1527 and post-acquisition "continuing obligations," including but not limited to compliance with use restrictions and property controls, in order to maintain CERCLA LLP status.[20]

[18] CREC is defined at section 3.2.18 of E1527.

[19] "EPA notes that … persons conducting all appropriate inquiries in compliance with today's final rule are not entitled to the CERCLA liability protections provided for innocent landowners, bona fide prospective purchasers, and contiguous property owners, unless they also comply with all of the continuing obligations established under the statute." 70 Fed. Reg. at 66073.

20 ASTM now provides a standard which can be used specifically to determine continuing obligations associated with a property: ASTM E2790-11, Standard Guide for Identifying and Complying with Continuing Obligations. This voluntary standard goes beyond the Phase I's initial identification of use restrictions or institutional/engineering controls, and develops a plan for performing, documenting, and monitoring Continuing Obligations.

Conclusion

The Phase I ESA is an essential tool to demonstrate HUD 24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) and 50.3(i) compliance and complete a sufficient HUD environmental review for multifamily and non-residential acquisition and development activities. HUD or RE users should clearly communicate the HUD environmental review purpose to the EP early in the Phase I development process to maximize the usability and value of the document. To document this purpose, it is most helpful to reference the HUD standard in the Introduction section of the Phase I and discuss compliance with the HUD standard in the Evaluation section.

Determination of compliance with the HUD standards may overlap with issues defined in the Phase I standard as "business environmental risk" and discussed in Appendix X5, "Summary of Common Non-Scope Issues." HUD recommends that non-scope contamination-related issues be included in the Phase I, such as the likely presence of a potentially harmful substance that does not constitute a "release" under the standard, whether because the substance is naturally occurring (e.g., radon), because it was used in accordance with labeling (historical pesticide use), because it is currently secured in an intact structure (e.g., lead or asbestos), or for some other reason. However, HUD does not recommend including in the Phase I analysis of non-scope non-contamination environmental issues such as protection of wetlands, management of floodplains, impact on endangered species, or other environmental impact analyses such as those required by the National Environmental Policy Act. These issues are best addressed separately using the appropriate HUD recommended format.

Phase I reports should use the most current ASTM standard (E1527), and should utilize the recommended table of contents and report format (Appendix X4).

Like other aspects of the environmental review process, the analysis for potential site contamination should be completed as early as possible in the development process. Adequate time for preparing the Phase I should be incorporated in development timelines. Site conditions revealed through the Phase I assessment may indicate a need for further investigation, and adequate time for scoping and completing this further investigation – and site remediation if necessary – should also be built into the planning process.

The HUD or RE user has an important and active role to play during preparation of the Phase I by providing information and assistance (e.g., title search, records of property use, coordinating with owner for access to the property). This includes working with HUD to clarify any aspects of the HUD standards at 58.5(i)(2) or 50.3(i) with which the EP is unfamiliar. Once results of the assessment are available, the user has a responsibility to review the report fully and discuss any questions or concerns with the EP, including options for further investigation.

By following the recommendations in this memorandum, RE or HUD users of Phase I assessments can increase the value of the Phase I in the process of environmental review and project planning, avoid unnecessary delays, and most importantly, protect the health and safety of occupants of HUD-assisted developments.

FINDINGS

- Bothwell Ranch "exemplifies significant contributions to the broad cultural, economic or social history of the nation, state, city or community" as one of the last remaining commercial citrus groves in the San Fernando Valley, representing a significant remnant of the region's agricultural roots and a once-integral element of the local economy.

CRITERIA

The criterion is the Cultural Heritage Ordinance, which defines a historical or cultural monument as any site (including significant trees or other plant life located thereon), building or structure of particular historic or cultural significance to the City of Los Angeles if it meets at least one of the following criteria:

1. Is identified with important events of national, state, or local history, or exemplifies significant contributions to the broad cultural, economic or social history of the nation, state, city or community;
2. Is associated with the lives of historic personages important to national, state, city, or local history; or
3. Embodies the distinctive characteristics of a style, type, period, or method of construction; or represents a notable work of a master designer, builder, or architect whose individual genius influenced his or her age.

SUMMARY

Bothwell Ranch is a 13-acre citrus orchard located at 5300 North Oakdale Avenue in the Tarzana area of Los Angeles, within the San Fernando Valley. The orchard extends north and east from the corner of Collier Street and Oakdale Avenue, approximately one half mile south of Ventura Boulevard. The subject property, originally part of a 100-acre citrus orchard, was purchased by Lindley Bothwell (1901-1986) in 1926. At that time, the subject property was about six years old and covered 30 acres. However, over the years, it was subdivided and sections to the north of the current boundaries were sold for residential development. The subject property served as both a commercial orange grove and a home for Bothwell and his wife, Helen (known as Ann), until 2016, when Ann passed away.

In general, the orchard is characterized by gravel paths and rows of regularly planted orange trees. In addition, there are several buildings including a Minimal Ranch-style single-family dwelling, a packing shed, garage, worker housing, and other ancillary buildings, all associated with the orchard. No building permits were located for the property to identify construction dates, but the single-family dwelling, the storage building, and the garage and tool shop appear to have been built prior to 1947, and the train storage shed was erected between 1967 and 1989.

Although the San Fernando Valley is often thought of in terms of widespread, post-World War II suburban expansion, prior to the turn of the twentieth century, the area remained sparsely populated and predominantly agricultural, with an abundance of fruit and walnut orchards, grazing lands, and wheat fields. The first major developmental changes began in the 1910s in anticipation of the construction of the Owens Valley aqueduct in 1913, which brought water to Los Angeles via the San Fernando Valley, and the annexation of the area into the city of Los Angeles in 1915. With the arrival of the Aqueduct, artificially irrigated acreage in the region grew from about 3,000 acres in 1915 to more than 70,000 acres within ten years, with crops including walnuts, oranges, lemons, and sugar beets leading in production. However, at the same time, landowners in the San Fernando Valley began to plat and prepare for residential and commercial development in anticipation of the eventual real estate boom. Due to the area's exponential population growth and unprecedented demand for housing, particularly post-World War II, agricultural land was quickly converted into residential subdivisions, and land values skyrocketed. As a result, farmers could no longer make enough profit to cover rising property taxes and most were forced to downsize or sell.

Citrus was among the first crops in Los Angeles produced for widespread export. It was the highest-value crop produced in the region between 1890 and 1938, and imagery surrounding its production became instrumental in the marketing of Los Angeles to new residents. Sustained by the introduction of refrigerated boxcars in 1887 and, later, by the completion of the Owens River Aqueduct, citrus became Los Angeles' most important and long-lived export crop. Even as citrus groves were displaced from the center of the city, the Los Angeles County citrus industry grew in the 1870s and 1880s, from 25,000 citrus trees in 1865 to 500,000 in 1882, mainly in the areas south of the city. By the early 1920s, Los Angeles County devoted over 92,000 acres to citrus, constituting more than a third of state citrus acreage, and led all other U.S. counties in the value of its agricultural products. By this time, citrus farming had been displaced from the center of the city by urban expansion and had spread to areas of alluvial slopes and stream tributaries in the San Fernando Valley. Demand was spurred by the marketing of byproducts, such as juices and oils, and citrus continued to be a valuable cash crop in Southern California throughout the 20th century. However, production in the city of Los Angeles declined dramatically after World War II due to the loss of agricultural land for housing. Today, only a handful of orange groves remain in the San Fernando Valley, with Bothwell Ranch being the only one operating commercially, up until 2016.

The subject property was identified through the citywide historic resources survey, SurveyLA, as eligible for listing under the local, state, and national designation programs as one of the last remaining family-owned commercial citrus groves in the San Fernando Valley.

DISCUSSION

Bothwell Ranch meets one of the Historic-Cultural Monument Criteria: it "exemplifies significant contributions to the broad cultural, economic or social history of the nation, state, city or community" as one of the last remaining commercial citrus groves in the San Fernando Valley, representing a significant remnant of the region's agricultural roots and a once-integral element of the local economy.

Agriculture, particularly citrus growing, once dominated the San Fernando Valley and other parts of Los Angeles, and played a key role in Southern California's development and promotion in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The image of orange and lemon groves supported the branding of the region as a Mediterranean paradise. However, in the decades after the Second World War orchards and other farms in the Valley mostly gave way to development. Rising water costs and property taxes made farming less profitable than before, encouraging farmers to sell their lands to developers, as evidenced by the reduction of the original 30-acre Bothwell Ranch to its current size of 13 acres. Today, nearly all agricultural land in the San Fernando Valley has been replaced with residential neighborhoods.

Citrus in California are now largely grown in the Central Valley; although, some remnants of citrus farming still exist within the City of Los Angeles—a 12-acre orange grove at City-owned Orcutt Ranch (HCM #31), and 6 acres on the California State University Northridge campus.

Nevertheless, neither of these orange groves are for commercial consumption. Bothwell Ranch, in continuous operation from 1926 until 2016, is the last property of this type, which was essential to the development of the San Fernando Valley and the local economy.

CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT ("CEQA") FINDINGS

State of California CEQA Guidelines, Article 19, Section 15308, Class 8 "consists of actions taken by regulatory agencies, as authorized by state or local ordinance, to assure the maintenance, restoration, enhancement, or protection of the environment where the regulatory process involves procedures for protection of the environment."

State of California CEQA Guidelines Article 19, Section 15331, Class 31 "consists of projects limited to maintenance, repair, stabilization, rehabilitation, restoration, preservation, conservation or reconstruction of historical resources in a manner consistent with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties with Guidelines for Preserving, Rehabilitating, Restoring, and Reconstructing Historic buildings."

The designation of Bothwell Ranch as an Historic-Cultural Monument in accordance with Chapter 9, Article 1, of The City of Los Angeles Administrative Code ("LAAC") will ensure that future construction activities involving the subject property are regulated in accordance with Section 22.171.14 of the LAAC. The purpose of the designation is to prevent significant impacts to a Historic-Cultural Monument through the application of the standards set forth in the LAAC. Without the regulation imposed by way of the pending designation, the historic significance and integrity of the subject property could be lost through incompatible alterations and new construction and the demolition of an irreplaceable historic site/open space. The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation are expressly incorporated into the LAAC and provide standards concerning the historically appropriate construction activities which will ensure the continued preservation of the subject property.

The City of Los Angeles has determined based on the whole of the administrative record, that substantial evidence supports that the Project is exempt from CEQA pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section Article 19, Section 15308, Class 8 and Class 31, and none of the exceptions to a categorical exemption pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15300.2 applies. The project was found to be exempt based on the following:

> The use of Categorical Exemption Class 8 in connection with the proposed designation is consistent with the goals of maintaining, restoring, enhancing, and protecting the environment through the imposition of regulations designed to prevent the degradation of Historic-Cultural Monuments.
> The use of Categorical Exemption Class 31 in connection with the proposed designation is consistent with the goals relating to the preservation, rehabilitation, restoration and reconstruction of historic buildings and sites in a manner consistent with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties.

Categorical Exemption ENV-2019-5115-CE was prepared on August 12, 2019.

BACKGROUND

On August 8, 2019, a subcommittee of the Commission consisting of Commissioners Kanner and Kennard visited the property, accompanied by staff from the Office of Historic Resources. On August 14, 2019, the Los Angeles City Council, acting upon a motion introduced by Councilmember Bob Blumenfield, also initiated consideration of the subject property as an Historic-Cultural Monument. In accordance with LAAC 22.171.10, on September 6, 2019, the owner's representative requested up to a 60-day extension to the time for the Commission to act.

Bothwell Ranch, 5300 North Oakdale Avenue

Per Los Angeles Administrative Code Section 22.171.10 (a), I, as Director of Planning, hereby initiate consideration of the above referenced property as a proposed Historic-Cultural Monument worthy of preservation. The property located at 5300 North Oakdale Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 91364, known as the Bothwell Ranch, is an intact 13-acre citrus orchard straddling the neighborhoods of Tarzana and Woodland Hills. It is worthy of further consideration for Monument status by the Cultural Heritage Commission and the City Council, as it appears to be the last large commercial citrus orchard in the San Fernando Valley and may be significant in representing the Valley's once-vast agricultural character. It was identified as eligible for historic designation in the 2013 historic resources survey of the Encino-Tarzana Community Plan Area through SurveyLA, the citywide historic resources survey.

Attached is a copy of Section 22.171 through Section 22.171.18 of the Los Angeles Administrative Code so that you may be apprised of the procedures followed by the Cultural Heritage Commission in considering and declaring properties as Historic-Cultural Monuments. Please note that Section 22.171.12 provides for a temporary stay of demolition permits when the matter is under consideration by the City for designation as an historical or cultural monument and that no site, building, structure or significant feature on the property shall be demolished, substantially altered or removed, regardless of whether a permit exists, pending final determination of potential Monument status. Also, the owner of any site, building or structure under consideration is required to notify this Commission in writing whenever application is made for a permit to demolish, substantially alter or remove such site, building or structure.

A subcommittee of the Cultural Heritage Commission will conduct an inspection tour of the above referenced property in the coming weeks. Please contact Lambert Giessinger at (213) 847-3648 or Melissa Jones at (213) 847-3679 to further discuss the specifics of the inspection tour and the designation process. After the inspection tour, the matter will be placed on the agenda of a regular meeting for final review by the Commission and, if declared, will be heard by the City Council's Planning and Land Use Management Committee, which will make a recommendation to the City Council to confirm or deny the Commission's action.

MOTION

The San Fernando Valley has a rich and storied past that includes Indigenous groups, Spanish missions, Aerospace, and Agriculture. All of these groups and industries have helped to shape the character of the San Fernando Valley we know today. It is imperative that the City's historic-cultural treasures be celebrated, and foremost, that its historical sites be preserved for future generations.

The Bothwell Ranch was purchased in 1926 by Lindley Bothwell. At that time, the citrus orchard was about six years old and covered 100 acres. The period of significance for the ranch begins in 1926, the date of its initial purchase by the Bothwell family for commercial ranching purposes. Ann Bothwell continued to operate the ranch until she passed away in 2016. Lindley Bothwell, who received a degree in agriculture from Oregon State University in 1926, came to own or manage over 30 ranches across southern California. He also started a business that provided technical assistance to other growers, but research did not reveal the name of this company.

The property located at 5300 N. Oakdale Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 91364, Bothwell Ranch, is an intact 13-acre citrus orchard straddling the neighborhoods of Tarzana and Woodland Hills, and is the last large commercial citrus orchards in the San Fernando Valley, Bothwell Ranch is significant as representing the once vast agriculture nature of the San Fernando Valley. Other ranches were driven out of the area by rising land value during the housing boom after World War II. The importance of this site has previously been identified by Survey LA, the City's Historic Resources Survey.

Section 22.171.10 of the Administrative Code provides that the City Council, the Cultural Heritage Commission, or the Director of Planning, may initiate consideration of a proposed site, building, or structure as a Historical-Cultural Monument. The Cultural Heritage Commission, after reviewing and investigating any such Council-initiated designation, shall approve or disapprove in whole or in part the proposed inclusion and submit a report upon such action to the Council. In addition, Section 22.171.12 of the Administrative Code provides that there shall be a temporary stay of demolition, substantial alteration or removal of any such proposed location or structure pending designation.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the Council initiate consideration of the property located at 5300 N. Oakdale Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 91364, Bothwell Ranch, as a City Historic-Cultural Monument under the procedures of Section 22.171.10 of the Administrative Code, and instruct the Planning Department to prepare the Historic-Cultural Monument application for review and consideration by the Cultural Heritage Commission.

I FURTHER MOVE that after reviewing the application, the Cultural Heritage Commission submit its report and recommendation to the Council regarding the inclusion of the property located at 5300 N. Oakdale Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 91364, in the City's list of Historic-Cultural Monuments.

BOTHWELL RANCH
5300 Oakdale Avenue

A. Property Description

Site

Bothwell Ranch is a 13-acre citrus orchard located at 5300 N. Oakdale Avenue in the Tarzana area of Los Angeles. The orchard extends north and east from the corner of Collier Street and Oakdale Avenue, approximately one half mile south of Ventura Boulevard. The main entrance is off Oakdale Avenue, but there are also gates leading onto the property from Bothwell Road and Corbin Avenue. Within the boundaries of the ranch are gravel paths and rows of regularly-planted orange trees. In addition, there are several buildings including a single-family house, a packing shed, garage, worker housing, and other ancillary buildings.

Single-Family Dwelling and Ancillary Structures

There are a number of buildings associated with the orchard (see below image), but no building permits were located for the property to inform when they were constructed. However, in comparing historical aerial images, it appears that at least the single-family dwelling, the storage building, and the garage and tool shop were constructed prior to 1947, and the train storage shed was built between 1967 and 1989.

Constructed in the Minimal Ranch architectural style, the single-family dwelling is irregular in plan and comprises two main volumes—a one-story volume with a side-gabled roof and a two-story volume with a hipped roof. Both volumes have horizontal wood siding and composition roof shingles. Fenestration primarily consists of multi-lite wood casement windows and multi-lite wood doors. There is a brick chimney on the east-facing elevation of the two-story volume and there is a manicured garden with brick walkways at the front and rear of the dwelling. The front yard is bounded by a white picket fence on three sides.

The sheds, garage, tool shop, storage building, worker housing, and other ancillary structures are all utilitarian in nature. In general, they are rectangular in plan, of wood-frame construction clad in vertical wood siding or wood panels, and have side-gabled rooves with rolled roofing and/or corrugated metal panels. When present, fenestration consists of sliding and fixed windows.

The train storage shed is of wood-frame construction and is curved in plan to follow the rail line that it covers. The train station is of wood-frame construction with vertical wood siding, rectangular in plan, and has a side-gabled roof with rolled composition roofing. On the north-facing elevation, there is a large covered porch.

B. Statement of Significance

Bothwell Ranch meets one criteria under the Cultural Heritage Ordinance: it "exemplifies significant contributions to the broad, cultural, economic, or social history of the nation, state, city or community" as one of the last remaining commercial citrus groves in the San Fernando Valley, representing a significant remnant of the region's agricultural roots and a once-integral element of the local economy. Agriculture, particularly citrus growing, historically dominated the Valley and other parts of Los Angeles, and played a key role in Southern California's development and promotion.

The subject property, originally part of a 100-acre citrus orchard, was purchased by Lindley Bothwell in 1926. At that time, the subject property was about six years old and covered 30 acres. Over time, the property was subdivided and sections to the north of the current boundaries were sold for residential development: in 1965 (Santa Rita and Linnet Streets), 1978 (west side of Corbin Avenue), and 1988 (east side of Corbin Avenue and south side of Wellington Lane). The other portions of the original 100-acre orchard property, still in use for citrus farming in 1947, have been entirely replaced by single-family homes and retail, though some associated structures still exist.

In addition to being a working orange grove, Lindley Bothwell and his wife, Helen Ann resided at the property. Bothwell, who came to own or manage over 30 ranches across Southern California, ran a business managing and providing services for other citrus orchards in the area and served for over 60 years as the coach of the University of Southern California Song Girls and Yell Leaders. The Bothwells were also active in philanthropy and collected vintage cars, amassing a substantial and highly-regarded collection of early automobiles. In addition, Lindley Bothwell was a train aficionado and installed a rail line, train storage shed, and a train station on the grounds of the subject property to accompany an 1890s light rail locomotive and cars. Following Ann Bothwell's death in 2016, the property ceased commercial operation and is currently for sale.

The period of significance is 1926 until 2016, to reflect when the property was in operation as a commercial citrus orchard.

Bothwell Ranch was identified through the citywide historic resources survey, SurveyLA, as eligible for listing under the local, state, and national designation programs as one of the last remaining family-owned commercial citrus groves in the San Fernando Valley.

Agriculture in Los Angeles

Agriculture sustained settlement of the Pueblo of Los Angeles during the Spanish Colonial and Mexican era (1781–1849), promoted continued population growth after California statehood, and supported economic development with exports of cash crops across the country. Once a fertile agricultural center, the area produced citrus, grapes, olives, and flowers in large quantities, in addition to dairy, poultry, and beef products. Important agricultural subthemes that have affected the built environment include the export of cash crops, small-scale agricultural production for local markets, and ranching and dairies. Following multiple waves of population expansion starting in the 1870s, the vast majority of agricultural lands, industries, and related historic resources have vanished from the city. Remnants of the agricultural roots of the city remain in farm and ranch houses or collections of buildings associated with early farms or ranches; packing houses or cooperatives associations related to cash crop industries, particularly citrus; vernacular landscapes in the form of groves or orchards, poultry farms, and dairies.

Demand from the population boom of the 1870s combined with contemporaneous expansion and upgrade of the zanja and irrigation conduit system caused dramatic growth in agricultural acreage surrounding the city. Within a decade of the arrival of the Southern Pacific Railroad in 1877, the population of the city doubled. In 1849, farms occupied 1,500 acres in Los Angeles; by 1886, irrigation also had spread to 11,136 cultivated acres in the city and beyond, concentrated to the north, south, and east. The railroad also provided new opportunities for shipping produce east. This rapid increase in population and opening of new markets led to an emphasis on cash crops in the city's agriculture. Nearly half of the newly irrigated acres were devoted to fruit production with the remainder divided between vineyards and vegetable production.

With the arrival of the Los Angeles-Owens River Aqueduct in 1913, Los Angeles farms had a reliable and controlled water source to irrigate its crops year-round. Water from the Aqueduct enabled both increased agricultural activity and residential subdivision. In the San Fernando Valley, acreage irrigated through artificial means grew from about 3,000 acres in 1915 to more than 70,000 acres within ten years, with crops including walnuts, oranges, lemons, and sugar beets leading in production.

Citrus Farming

Citrus and grapes used for wine production were among the first crops in Los Angeles produced for widespread export. Citrus was the highest-value crop produced in the region between 1890 and 1938 and imagery surrounding its production became instrumental in the marketing of Los Angeles to new residents. Oranges were introduced to the region around 1804 at Mission San Gabriel, and Mission trees formed the basis of groves of several Los Angeles growers. The first orange grove in Los Angeles was laid out in 1834, when William Wolfskill planted 70 acres near present day Fourth and Alameda Streets. In the following two decades, much land south of Third Street was occupied by orange groves, soon to be replaced by urban development. Even as citrus groves were displaced from the center of the city, the Los Angeles County citrus industry grew in the 1870s and 1880s, from 25,000 citrus trees in 1865 to 500,000 in 1882, mainly in the areas south of the city.

Sustained by a controlled water source from the Los Angeles-Owens River Aqueduct, cash crops were primary drivers of Los Angeles' agricultural boom of the 1920s and 1930s. By 1922, Los Angeles County led all other U.S. counties in the value of its agricultural products, and citrus was Los Angeles' most important and long-lived cash crop for export. Before 1877, citrus was shipped in steamboats from San Pedro and Los Angeles harbors, with markets limited to northern California. In 1877, the Southern Pacific Railroad reached Southern California, and the first car of citrus was shipped east from California. With the introduction of ventilated and refrigerated boxcars in 1887, conditions for the successful shipment of citrus improved. The completion of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad in 1885 increased citrus shipments and fueled citrus planting. Shipments of citrus from Southern California surpassed one million boxes in 1887. In 1939, 51.4 million boxes were shipped.

In the early 1920s, Los Angeles County devoted over 92,000 acres to citrus, constituting more than a third of state citrus acreage. By this time, citrus that had been displaced from the center of the city and had spread to areas of alluvial slopes and stream tributaries in the north San Fernando Valley, including the City of San Fernando and the Los Angeles neighborhoods of Northridge, Granada Hills, and Chatsworth. Demand was spurred by the marketing of byproducts, such as juices and oils. Citrus continued to be a valuable cash crop in Southern California throughout the 20th century, and imagery surrounding the production of cash crops was key to marketing the bounty of Los Angeles produce to consumers nationwide. However, production in the city of Los Angeles declined dramatically after World War II due to the loss of agricultural land for housing.

Development of the San Fernando Valley and Tarzana

Although the San Fernando Valley is often thought of in terms of widespread, post-World War II suburban expansion, the south San Fernando Valley has a rich development history that spans the previous two centuries. The majority of the area was once part of the San Fernando Mission lands. In the mid-nineteenth century, the area was part of Rancho El Encino (sometimes called the Rancho Los Encinos), a 4,500 acre landholding situated between the Los Angeles River and the Santa Monica Mountains.

By the turn of the twentieth century, the area remained sparsely populated and predominantly agricultural, with an abundance of fruit and walnut orchards, grazing lands, and wheat fields. The first major developmental changes began in the 1910s in anticipation of the construction of the Owens Valley aqueduct in 1913, which brought water to Los Angeles via the San Fernando Valley, and the annexation of the area into the city of Los Angeles in 1915. Anticipating the eventual real estate boom in the San Fernando Valley, landowners began to plat and prepare for residential and commercial development. A syndicate represented by Harry Chandler, the son-in-law of Los Angeles Times owner Harrison Gray Otis, purchased 47,500 acres in 1909 that included most of the San Fernando Valley. The syndicate, known as the Los Angeles Suburban Home Company (LASHC), developed a “Board of Control” comprising five of the most prominent real estate developers in Los Angeles. Each Board member chose an area of the Valley for his own personal holding. To promote the sales of their land, syndicate member General Moses Sherman worked to establish a route of the Pacific Electric railway across the San Fernando Valley, connecting the remote region to Los Angeles. Otis later sold his acreage to Tarzan author Edgar Rice Burroughs in 1919, and he created the community of Tarzana out of this property.

The 1920s saw major road improvements in the Valley, including work on the Cahuenga Pass and, later, the Sepulveda Tunnel, which provided vehicular access between the San Fernando Valley and West Los Angeles. This coincided with the paving of Ventura Boulevard and the establishment of Mulholland Drive. Improved vehicular access spurred residential development in the southeast San Fernando Valley. However, despite this surge of residential development in the eastern communities, Tarzana and neighboring Encino remained somewhat rural due to their relatively remote location. As such, these areas became attractive to potential homeowners seeking large properties and a quiet, rustic lifestyle while remaining within Los Angeles city limits. Properties were used for country estates, hobby ranching, and farming, including the cultivation of lemons, oranges and walnuts.

The demand for housing following World War II was central to the development of Tarzana. In the five years between 1945 and 1950, the population of the San Fernando Valley doubled to just over 400,000. Anticipating postwar growth, the City initially planned for the development of the Valley to follow prevailing regional planning principles, with small urban employment centers and residential subdivisions surrounded by agricultural land. Two planning documents—a 1943 Master Plan and a 1944 Zoning Plan—called for the retention of agricultural zones around self-contained urban communities with designated industrial and commercial areas to supplement the agricultural economy and supply employment for present and future residents. However, due to the area's exponential growth and unprecedented demand for housing, agricultural land was quickly converted into residential subdivisions and the plans were never fully realized.

The postwar years brought tremendous change to the character of the area. Large residential subdivisions cropped up on both sides of Ventura Boulevard and, as the demand for housing grew, land value skyrocketed. Fragmented urban development encroached on orchards and ranches. As a result, farmers could no longer make enough profit to cover rising property taxes and most were forced to downsize or sell. Properties that formerly included multiple acres were subdivided. The opening of the 101 and 405 Freeways in the early 1960s further bolstered suburban growth, connecting the area to the downtown and Westside business districts in Los Angeles. Single-family residential development continued south into the foothills of the Santa Monica Mountains during the late 1950s through the 1970s.

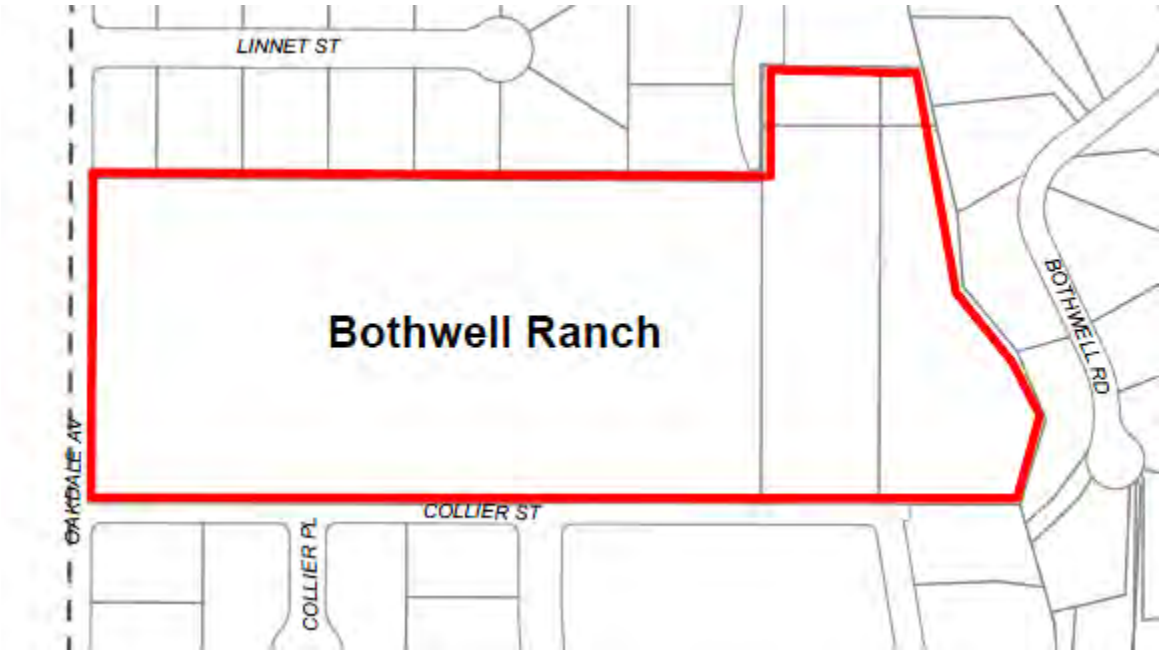
Name: Bothwell Ranch

Description:

Bothwell Ranch is intact 13-acre citrus orchard located in the Tarzana area of the San Fernando Valley. Its address is 5300 N. Oakdale Avenue. The orchard is located on the corner of Collier Street and Oakdale Avenue, across the street from the Collier Street Elementary School (recently re-named the CHIME Institute's Schwarzenegger Community School), approximately one half mile south of Ventura Boulevard.



Today, Bothwell Ranch covers approximately 13 acres of flat land, surrounded by high wire fencing. Within the boundaries of the ranch are gravel paths and rows of regularly-planted orange trees. There are several buildings within the orchard, including a house and what appear to be multiple garages or ancillary shed buildings. These buildings are not clearly visible or accessible from the public right of way.

Significance:

As one of the last remaining commercial citrus orchards in the San Fernando Valley, Bothwell Ranch is significant as representing the once vast agriculture of the San Fernando Valley. Other ranches were driven out of the area by rising land value during the housing boom after World War II. Without enough land to farm or raise livestock, farmers were unable to continue making a viable living.

The Bothwell Ranch was purchased in 1926 by Lindley Bothwell. At that time, the citrus orchard was about six years old and covered 100 acres. The period of significance for the ranch begins in 1926, the date of its initial purchase by the Bothwell family for commercial ranching purposes. Ann Bothwell continues to operate the ranch to the present day. Lindley Bothwell, who received a degree in agriculture from Oregon State University in 1926, came to own or manage over 30 ranches across southern California. He also started a business that provided technical assistance to other growers, but research did not reveal the name of this company.

Development History

Although the San Fernando Valley is often thought of in terms of widespread, post-World War II suburban expansion, the south San Fernando Valley (where Encino and Tarzana are located) has a rich development history that spans the previous two centuries. The majority of the Survey Area was once part of the San Fernando Mission lands. While there are no resources remaining from the Mission era within the Survey Area, the Spanish explorers and friars established El Camino Real, the path connecting the missions, generally along the route now occupied by Ventura Boulevard. This road in its many incarnations has operated as a major thoroughfare since the late eighteenth century and continues to serve as the dominant commercial artery of the south San Fernando Valley.

In the mid-nineteenth century, the area was part of the large Rancho El Encino (sometimes called the Rancho Los Encinos), a 4,500 acre landholding situated between the Los Angeles River and the Santa Monica Mountains. The name Encino, which persists today, was derived from the Spanish word for oak in reference to the native Valley Oak and Coastal Live Oak trees that thrived in the area. A cluster of buildings from Rancho El Encino, including the Vicente de la Osa adobe (built 1849) and the Garnier building and blacksmith shop (built circa 1870), are situated around a natural spring near the intersection of Ventura Boulevard and Balboa Avenue in what is now Los Encinos State Historic Park.[2]

By the turn of the twentieth century, the Survey Area remained sparsely populated and predominantly agricultural, with an abundance of fruit and walnut orchards, grazing lands and wheat fields. The first major developmental changes began in the 1910s in anticipation of the construction of the Owens Valley aqueduct in 1913, bringing water to Los Angeles via the San Fernando Valley, and the annexation of the area into the city of Los Angeles in 1915. Anticipating the eventual real estate boom of the San Fernando Valley, landowners began to plat and prepare for residential settlement and commercial development. The Los Angeles Suburban Homes Company, headed by Los Angeles Times publisher Harrison Gray Otis, purchased large tracts of land throughout the Survey Area and other newly annexed sections of the Valley. Before dividing the land, the partners of the company chose acreage for themselves. Otis later sold his acreage to Tarzan author Edgar Rice Burroughs in 1919. Burroughs created the community of Tarzana out of his property.[3]

The south San Fernando Valley felt the effects of the boom of the 1920s, which had a tremendous impact on the development of Los Angeles as a whole. The 1920s saw major road improvements in the Valley, including work on the Cahuenga Pass and, later, the Sepulveda Tunnel, which provided vehicular access between the San Fernando Valley and West Los Angeles. This coincided with the paving of Ventura Boulevard and the establishment of Mulholland Drive. Improved vehicular access spurred residential development in the southeast San Fernando Valley. Sherman Oaks Circle, which is located at the far eastern edge of the Survey Area, was subdivided in the 1920s. Though it was not entirely built out until the postwar era, the platting of Sherman Oaks Circle near the Sepulveda Tunnel and adjacent to Ventura Boulevard is indicative of the impact of these improvements on the development of the area.

Despite a surge of residential development in the eastern communities of the San Fernando Valley in the 1920s, Encino and Tarzana remained somewhat rural due to their relatively remote location. As such, these areas became attractive to potential homeowners seeking large properties and a quiet, rustic lifestyle while remaining within Los Angeles city limits. Melody Acres, a 1920s subdivision in Tarzana north of Ventura Boulevard, featured large lots with rows of citrus trees and equestrian zoning. The former Amestoy family ranch in Encino was also subdivided for residential development and called Encino Acres. This subdivision, which was located north of Ventura Boulevard between Balboa and White Oak Avenues, featured lots that ranged in size between two and 20 acres. Properties were used for country estates, hobby ranching, and farming, including the cultivation of lemons, oranges and walnuts. The residences and some ancillary buildings from these properties remain in the center of blocks that were later carved up into smaller lots, forming a distinctive pattern of parcels in the Encino Acres subdivision.

The rural and open character of Encino and Tarzana in the 1920s and 1930s also attracted the entertainment industry to the area. Film studios had begun to take advantage of the vast, undeveloped land in the San Fernando Valley starting in the 1910s in places such as Studio City and the city of Burbank. The RKO Studio Ranch came to Encino in 1929. In operation until 1953, the backlot covered approximately 100 acres and contained a variety of film sets. It's a Wonderful Life, filmed in 1946, was one of the most popular films made on the RKO Studio Ranch.[4] In 1955, the Marwill Corporation and architect Martin Stern designed a large subdivision of single-family homes called Encino Village on the former RKO property.

The adjacency to film studios and availability of land enticed a number of film stars to build large estates in Encino and Tarzana; Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, John Wayne and Al Jolson built large estates in the hills south of Ventura Boulevard. The area would continue to attract members of the entertainment community throughout the twentieth century.[5]

After floods ravaged the south San Fernando Valley in 1938, the city began channelizing the Los Angeles River and set aside the Sepulveda Basin in the northeast of the Survey Area as a flood control area. The Army Corps of Engineers designed the Sepulveda Dam, completed in 1941. A small golf course opened in the basin in 1941, but the area remained in the control of the Army for next decade. The flood control infrastructure greatly reduced the risk of catastrophic flooding in the San Fernando Valley and made the area more desirable for wide-spread residential development and federally-insured home loans.

The demand for housing following World War II was central to the development of Encino and Tarzana. In the five years between 1945 and 1950, the population of the San Fernando Valley doubled to just over 400,000. Anticipating postwar growth, the City initially planned for the development of the Valley to follow prevailing regional planning principles, with small urban employment centers and residential subdivisions surrounded by agricultural land. Two planning documents—a 1943 Master Plan and a 1944 Zoning Plan—called for the retention of agricultural zones around self-contained urban communities with designated industrial and commercial areas to supplement the agricultural economy and supply employment for present and future residents.[6] However, due to the area's exponential growth and unprecedented demand for housing, agricultural land was quickly converted into residential subdivisions and the plans were never fully realized.

The postwar boom brought tremendous change to the character of the Encino and Tarzana communities. Large residential subdivisions cropped up on both sides of Ventura Boulevard and, as the demand grew, land value skyrocketed. Fragmented urban development encroached on orchards and ranches. As a result, farmers could no longer make enough profit to cover rising property taxes and most were forced to downsize or sell. The opening of the 101 and 405 Freeways in the early 1960s further bolstered suburban growth, connecting the Survey Area to many of the downtown and Westside business districts in Los Angeles and relieving congestion on city streets. Single family residential development continued south into the hills of the Santa Monica Mountains during the late 1950s through the 1970s. As the engineering technology became available, significant architects, including Ray Kappe, Richard Dorman, Richard Neutra, Dion Neutra, Daniel Saxon Palmer and Edward Fickett designed residences that took advantage of the views from the steep lots of the Encino and Tarzana hills. Upscale subdivisions, including Royal Woods, Royal Oaks, and Castle in the Woods, define the residential character of the Encino Hills in the southeastern portion of the Survey Area and contain a notable concentration of architect-designed, Mid-Century Modern residences.

To meet the needs of the growing population of Encino and Tarzana in the postwar era, new institutional buildings and recreational facilities were built throughout the area. Bond issues in 1946, 1952, and 1955 addressed the need for expanding school facilities, an infusion of resources that resulted in the construction and expansion of numerous schools in the San Fernando Valley. Money went to construction, improvements to existing facilities, and the purchase of land for future construction. In 1951, the city obtained a lease for the Sepulveda Flood Control Basin from the Army and converted the area into a municipal recreation center, featuring areas for golf, tennis, archery, biking, baseball and hiking. A number of private recreational institutions developed in conjunction with postwar suburbanization, including the El Caballero and Braemar Country Clubs and the Lake Encino Racquet Club.

A long history of racially restrictive housing and ownership practices meant that most of the Valley remained "a thoroughly white domain" even through the post-World War II boom. Author Kevin Roderick observed that restrictive covenants had factored into patterns of town building and settlement going back to the Valley's earliest history.[7] With the exceptions of Pacoima and San Fernando in the northern Valley, which were relatively ethnically diverse from the early twentieth century, members of ethnic minorities who resided in the San Fernando Valley were generally confined to segregated areas. Beginning in 1922, any property sold in Tarzana had a restriction within the deed stating "that said premises or any part thereof shall not be leased, sold, or conveyed to or occupied by any person not of the Caucasian race."[8] Deed restrictions like these were common throughout the greater San Fernando Valley and were not effectively eliminated until well into the 1970s.[9]

Despite the prevalence of restrictive housing practices, many of the young families flocking to the Survey Area in the postwar period were Jewish. The Jewish population was more easily able to obtain housing in middle-class suburban neighborhoods than other "non-white" racial groups and in the decade following World War II the Jewish population of the San Fernando Valley doubled.[10] This influx led to the doubling or tripling in size of existing Valley congregations and the opening of new congregations, including Valley Beth Shalom on Ventura Boulevard in Encino.[11] Many of the Jewish residents of the Survey Area resisted the discrimination and isolation of Jewish communities in other parts of Los Angeles and sought to assimilate into the suburban American lifestyle. In 1956, Jewish businessman Bernard Shapiro purchased El Caballero Country Club in Tarzana and made it one of the first country clubs in Los Angeles to allow both Christian and Jewish members.[12]

Industrial Development, 1850-1980

Sub-Theme: Cash Crops for Export, 1870-1945

Both Encino and Tarzana have a rich agricultural history, with much of the land used for livestock grazing and crop production (including lima beans, sugar beets, walnuts, and citrus) in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. With the widespread residential development in the San Fernando Valley in the postwar years, nearly all agricultural land has been replaced with residential neighborhoods. In Tarzana, however, the 14-acre Bothwell Ranch has been in continuous operation since 1926. As the last remaining commercially-farmed citrus orchards in the south San Fernando Valley, it represents a significant remnant of the Valley's agricultural roots, once an integral element of the local economy.

HISTORIC CONTEXT

The establishment and growth of industry in Los Angeles is in some ways tied to the larger narrative of population growth during the 19th and 20th centuries. Prior to the arrival of the transcontinental railroad in 1876, exports from the region comprised of agricultural goods produced by a small population of farmers, cattlemen, vintners, and horticulturalists, who traded their wares for a variety of manufactured goods they could not purchase locally. A rudimentary port at San Pedro facilitated international trade of these goods throughout the Spanish Colonial, Mexican, and early American eras of settlement. In the late 19th century, tens of thousands of new residents arrived by rail to the little pueblo, driving the population up exponentially, and in the process creating a viable local market for manufactured goods. Among these new residents were entrepreneurs, industrialists, and craftsmen, who were eager to establish and expand the region's burgeoning manufacturing sector beyond agriculture and cottage industry. Their efforts, combined with civic investments in port and freight infrastructure, an expanding pool of skilled workers, and the purchasing power of increasingly prosperous consumers, brought about a dramatic expansion of the industrial landscape of Los Angeles in the 20th century. Though it was widely known as the land of the "open shop," Los Angeles also possesses a rich labor history.[2] The struggles of workers and their treatment within the manufacturing sector played out dramatically within the overall context of industrial growth and development.

Over the course of the 20th century, Los Angeles County went from being known as the "Queen of the Cow Counties" to the epicenter of the Aerospace Industry. The greater Los Angeles area became a national hub for several key industries, including petroleum, steel, automotive, entertainment, aviation, and garment manufacturing. Furthermore, manufacturing flourished due to the city's own local demand for housing and household goods. The peak for most industry in Los Angeles came in the 1960s, at the height of the Post-World War II housing boom. Changing international trade policies, outside competition, and other factors caused a decline in manufacturing in the late 20th century, though the city's industrial sector remains important nationally. Los Angeles also continues to be a key international hub for freight and a worldwide leader in the entertainment industry.

The dynamic changes in industrial production and building technology that happened within less than a century's time created an equally dynamic landscape of factories, foundries, industrial plants, and freight infrastructure that today provides an important physical link to the past. Industrial properties can represent the economic importance of key industries through their historical use and association. They can represent the rise to prominence of an important product or brand name that had a lasting impact on social history. Their essential form and features can demonstrate the workings of a particular industry during an era of rapid technological change. And perhaps most tangibly, their physical and aesthetic character can convey the distinctive sense of place embodied by industrial buildings of the early 20th century, an era where issues such as lack of widespread electricity, less mechanization, and limited freight options dictated their design.

Agricultural Beginnings

Industry and commerce in Los Angeles have their roots in agriculture. The California Missions produced a variety of agricultural products for domestic consumption, including grain, livestock, citrus, and wine. During and after secularization, the Californios engaged in international trade of hides, beef, and tallow from cattle raised on their extensive ranchos. Severe drought, devastating floods, and the breakup of the ranchos brought an end the cattle industry in the 1860s. In the latter half of the 19th century, Americans began to settle in and around the Los Angeles pueblo, setting up vineyards along the Los Angeles River and dry-farming in outlying regions.

The earliest industries were related to processing agricultural produce. Flour mills, such as the Capitol Milling Company (Historic-Cultural Monument No. 82), were established in the 1870s and 80s to process local grain. Packing houses opened along historic rail alignments to prepare citrus and deciduous fruits, and during the late 19th century several local wineries fermented Los Angeles grapes. More detailed information is available in the "Agricultural Roots, 1850–1945" and the "Food Processing, 1831–1955" themes and sub-themes. Growers, exchange brokers, and investors took part in developing a distribution and sales structure for the bounty of Los Angeles produce. Farmers moved their cash crops from the fields to the packing houses, along the rails to the markets. Truck farmers sold their produce in roadside stands and in rented stalls at downtown grower's markets. This distribution and sales network is described in the "From Farm to Market, 1900–1960" subtheme.

Beyond Agriculture

Railroads were the most important catalyst for industrial growth in Los Angeles. The railroads provided an efficient means to transport goods throughout the region and to outside markets. A railroad between the city and the then-rudimentary harbor at San Pedro was completed by Phinneas Banning and John Downey in 1869. The arrival of the Southern Pacific railroad in 1876 provided Los Angeles with access to the transcontinental railroad via San Francisco, and the Santa Fe railroad provided a more direct route east in 1885. Until the rise of trucking and inter-modal shipping in the 1970s, the majority of manufactured goods and supplies were shipped through a busy network of railways. Los Angeles goods traveled from the factory on a spur to the main rail, then connected with similarly destined goods in classification yards, and were then sent out to distant markets on regional and transcontinental networks. The "Freight Rail Transportation, 1876–1920" theme discusses the increasingly rare remnants of this important freight infrastructure.

Even with the freight infrastructure provided by railroads, industrial growth remained weak due to the city's relatively small population. The rate war between the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads brought on the "boom of the eighties" with a significant influx of new residents and exuberant speculation throughout the region. Although a real estate bust in the 1890s followed the boom, by 1900, the population had grown to over 100,000 people from less than 6,000 in 1870. This growth required industrial support in the form of building materials, produce, and consumer goods, and in turn provided a steady pool of workers and industrialists who were familiar with manufacturing practices in the American Midwest and East. The construction industry that developed from the succession of population booms throughout the late 19th and 20th centuries is examined in the "Building the City, 1876–1965" theme.

In 1892, The Los Angeles Oil Field was discovered by prospectors Edward Doheny and Charles Canfield. Doheny and Canfield's discovery in the Elysian Park area set off the first oil boom in the region. By 1910, Los Angeles was producing 77 million barrels of oil per year.[3] Early exploitation of oil, natural gas, and hydroelectric power in the region ensured a steady local supply of electricity for factory equipment, and cheap power was one of many benefits civic boosters trumpeted in their intensifying efforts to expand industry in the region. The "Oil and other Petroleum Products, 1892–1965" theme explores further the impact of the oil industry on Los Angeles' built environment.

Manufacturing the Industrial Landscape

From 1870 through the turn of the twentieth century, industrial growth lagged far behind population growth, which civic boosters became determined to fix. The Chamber of Commerce organized in 1888 with a mission to increase the population and economic base of the city. In 1896, the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers Association formed with an initial focus on increasing exports and promoting the steel industry.[4] These two groups worked together to promote industrial growth in the region. Among their early tactics was creating publicity for "home products" which included all locally manufactured goods. The groups ran newspaper articles on buying locally and developed promotions like "Prosperity Week" aimed at raising awareness of local industries.[5] Early on, these promotions focused on agricultural products, but also included displays of silk, gas engines, electric lights, and other machinery. In a particularly memorable act of boosterism, Chamber Secretary Frank Wiggins commissioned a life-size elephant made of walnuts for display at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.[6]

The Los Angeles Times acted as an unabashed cheerleader for these efforts and provided support for industrial growth in both its editorials and reportage. The efforts of the Chamber and the Los Angeles Times were successful in bringing new industries to the area, and as their constituency grew, the pressure on the city to improve the Port of Los Angeles increased. In 1890, the Chamber introduced a resolution to the U.S. Congress to develop a deepwater port in San Pedro.[7]

After a long public battle with Collis Huntington over control of the port (Huntington had used all his political and economic influence to secure a Southern Pacific-controlled harbor in Santa Monica), the U.S. Congress passed an amended River and Harbor Bill of 1896. The bill stated that a $3 million appropriation would go to the development of a deepwater port in either San Pedro or Santa Monica, with the decision made by a board of engineers. Crucially, White's amendment stated that if Santa Monica won out, the Southern Pacific would be legally obligated to let any other railroad use the tracks and the port at a reasonable price. In 1897, the board of engineers decided on San Pedro, ending Santa Monica's bid. Los Angeles formally acquired the harbor and its facilities in 1906 by annexing a mile-wide strip of land running the 16 miles between the southern city boundary and the independent cities of Wilmington and San Pedro; by 1909 these cities were consolidated into Los Angeles. In 1907, the City Council created the Board of Harbor Commissioners and officially founded the Port of Los Angeles.[8] The "Port of Los Angeles, 1907–1980" theme provides a discussion of the Port.

Boosters also focused on labor, starting a massive branding campaign of Los Angeles as the bastion of the "open shop." One of their main intentions of the drive for an open shop was to undercut strong union cities, particularly San Francisco.[9] Los Angeles Times owner Harrison Gray Otis was relentless in producing anti-union editorials and news articles. When his own struggles with the newspaper's Typographical Union erupted in 1890, he compounded words with deeds and replaced his striking workers with nonunion workers from Kansas City. The workers retaliated with a boycott against the Los Angeles Times and its advertisers, and Otis shot back with calls to boycott any company that hired union labor.[10] Otis used the Times and his commanding role in the nascent Merchants and Manufacturer's Association to wage open war on unions in Los Angeles. Local industries, especially the steel industry, felt free to engage in many union-busting activities, and conflict spread between manufacturers and workers throughout the city. By the turn of the century, U.S. Steel had succeeded in driving out unions from their plants and affiliated plants, with the exception of the Iron Workers Union. In 1910, Iron Workers initiated a strike against iron manufacturers to gain a $0.50 per hour minimum wage. The Merchants and Manufacturer's Association raised millions of dollars to break the strike, and influenced court injunctions that severely limited their ability to picket. The fight turned deadly on October 1, 1910, when the Los Angeles Times building was destroyed by dynamite and a resulting natural gas explosion, killing 21 employees and injuring 100 more. The ensuing investigation, trial, and conviction of trade unionists John J. and James B. MacNamara for the bombing shocked the unionists and vindicated the open shop manufacturers. The labor movement in Los Angeles was set back significantly for several decades.[11]

With cheap power and labor secured for industry, the Chamber created a new Industrial Bureau in 1913, which focused on creating trade partnerships outside the area, developing a pro-industry environment, and luring manufacturers from other parts of the country.[12] That same year, the Owens Valley Aqueduct opened, providing the city with a heretofore unimaginable abundance of water. The opening of the Panama Canal in 1914 cut the trade route between the east and west coasts of the U.S. in half, making it easier for Los Angeles exports to reach Eastern and European markets. The Port of Los Angeles had a favorable strategic position among the west coast ports due to its proximity to the canal, and the port became a key port-of-call for trans-Pacific shipments.

The Chamber printed pamphlets and flyers boasting of this and other benefits of doing business in Los Angeles. One that was published in 1934 ran down a complete list of amenities:

> Many strong factors are drawing manufacturers and distributors here: Industrial freedom; low overhead; all-year working climate; cheap power, water and natural gas; local and imported raw materials; vast system of rail, water and truck transportation; dense, close-in market of 2,500,000 and a western tributary market of 11,000,000 people. This combination of factors makes Los Angeles County the Industrial Magnet of the West.[13]

Not content to spread around pamphlets and flyers, the Industrial Bureau also wrote to leading manufacturers, inviting them to come to Los Angeles and see for themselves.

While successful booster campaigns brought in new industries, the contentious issue of where to site the new industries remained. Residents and real estate investors, who sought to preserve the value (and peace) of their new suburbs, protested heavy industries near them and pushed for exclusive "residential districts" in the late 19th century. The conflict was especially pointed with the oil industry, where a discovery on one lot could trigger exuberant well-building throughout a neighborhood.[14] Deed restrictions were an early way for residents to put a barrier between themselves and heavy industry, but as more manufacturers moved in and residential development spread beyond established residential areas, residents and manufacturers sought a broader solution to the issue. As early as 1892, the Los Angeles Times was running editorials in favor of creating "industrial districts" where factories could be built without brooking complaints.[15] In 1906, the City established the first industrial district in the city. The district was located in a likely strip of land that paralleled the Salt Lake, Southern Pacific, and Santa Fe Railroads east of Downtown.[16] The rise of "industrial suburbs" outside Los Angeles city limits such as Vernon and Commerce also attracted industries with low taxes and dedicated infrastructure. The built legacy of manufacturing in Los Angeles in general is described in the sub-context, "Manufacturing for the Masses, 1887–1965," while specific industries are discussed as themes.

Boom of the Twenties

A post-World War I economic boom led to the rapid expansion of industry along with commerce and residential development. The Chamber's first notable success in attracting eastern manufacturers to Los Angeles came with the arrival of Goodyear Tire Company in 1919.[17] A related industrial tract at Slauson and Avalon followed, as well as a nearby housing tract called "Goodyear Gardens." Other new manufacturers moved in and started up at a rate beyond the Chamber's wildest dreams.[18]

The year 1923 turned out to be a watershed year in the growth of the city. Among reports of staggering residential and commercial growth, the industrial sector saw record-setting growth. In early 1924, the Chamber reported to the Los Angeles Times that, "With bank clearings approximately $7 billion, building permits valued at more than $200 million, postal receipts more than $7 million, the city population reaching 1 million and with a total of more than 5100 industrial plants in the metropolitan area, the year 1923 has established a record for Los Angeles."[19] The factories that developed at this time took advantage of available daylight and ventilation through expansive industrial sash panels and distinctive rooflines. Their visual character now serves as a window into the relatively brief but pivotal time where even the most technologically-advanced plants were tied to their environment through design. See the "Industrial Design and Engineering, 1910–1970" theme for more information about daylight factories and other industrial building types.

A second, larger wave of oil field discoveries in the early 1920s (Huntington Beach 1920, Santa Fe Springs 1920, and Signal Hill/Long Beach 1921) led to an explosion in oil production and made the Los Angeles Basin the largest oil exporting region in the world in the mid-1920s. This led to the construction of thousands of wells, scores of refineries, tank farms, and processing sites, and produced immense wealth that financed the construction of lavish mansions and "height limit" commercial buildings.

In 1922, a large syndicate of Chicago-based industrialists established the Central Manufacturing District, a tract of 300 acres of land just outside Los Angeles City limits. Bounded by the Los Angeles River on the north and east, Downey Avenue on the west, and Fruitland Avenue on the south, the area became the focal point of industrial development.[20] Around the same time, the City of Vernon rededicated itself as an all-industrial city and in the process attracted a large chunk of the region's industrial growth. In 1926, the Central Manufacturing District was annexed to the City of Vernon, which over the course of the decade became completely built-out with heavy industry, over an area of five square miles.[21]

Though it began in the late 19th century with Jewish and Italian immigrant tailors and a few textile-makers, the garment industry grew into a major industry during the boom of the 1920s. Access to inexpensive wool (and eventually cotton) from western fields and ranches helped Los Angeles textile mills gain a competitive foothold against the big Eastern mills. Chamber-funded trade schools for sewing and continuing immigration from the northeast also helped to spur the growth of the industry, which was concentrated mainly in the southeast section of Downtown. By 1928, the Los Angeles garment industry ranked second only to New York in garment manufacturing. For a detailed narrative on the rise of the garment industry and the physical character of this industrial area in Los Angeles, see the theme "Garments and Textiles, 1896–1980."

The rise of the entertainment industry, particularly the movie industry, in the 1920s influenced the growth of manufacturing in general, as the industry required building materials for sets, cameras and film, and fashionable garments. According to historian Robert Fogelson, early movie producers settled in Los Angeles more "by coincidence than design" and saw the geographic isolation of the region less problematic than other industries because they could draw all the resources they needed to make films locally and inexpensively ship them all over the world. By 1930, 52 movie studios operated in Los Angeles, employing 15,000 people, and producing $129.3 million in movies.[22] Due to its central importance to the city's identity, the Entertainment Industry has been developed as a separate context.

Several major automakers opened west coast factories in and around the city, including Willys Overland, Studebaker, General Motors (GM) and Chrysler, Ford, and Nash. Early auto and racing enthusiasts such as Offenhauser started up custom shops to create after-market parts and custom models. In addition to automobiles, Los Angeles became home to scores of auto parts manufacturers. And the rubber industry became especially prominent in the post-WWI era. After Goodyear opened in South Los Angeles in 1919, several other rubber companies moved in, including Goodrich, Firestone, U.S. Rubber, and Fisk. By 1930, Los Angeles "ranked not only first in the nation in movie production, but second in the making of automobile tires."[23] Although only one former automobile factory remains within city limits, the theme "Automobile Production, 1920–1965" describes the built legacy of auto parts manufacturers and custom automakers.

Seeing the potential for passenger and cargo flights, aviators started up aircraft manufacturing firms in the city, including American Aircraft, Aero Corporation, Lockheed, Bach, and others. By July 1928, there were 43 active airfields and airports in and around Los Angeles, including Mines Field (the earliest incarnation of LAX) and Van Nuys Airport (VNY). The "Aviation and Aerospace, 1911–1989" theme expands on the impact of aviation on the Los Angeles economy and landscape. [24]

The Great Depression

The stock market crash of 1929, and the Great Depression that followed, led to the closure of many Los Angeles businesses, including manufacturers. However, leading industries that had developed in the 1920s (especially movies and oil) helped keep the local economy stable relative to other parts of the country. Population growth likely also served to keep industry in expansion mode, albeit at a more modest pace. From 1920 to 1930, Census figures showed that Los Angeles had added 656,888 new residents, more than doubling in size. As colorfully illustrated by the Los Angeles Times, "Thus in ten years Los Angeles gained more population than any other western city had gained in its entire existence."[25] Furthermore, Los Angeles had become the west coast hub for many eastern manufacturers, effectively tied with San Francisco in number of branch facilities (167 versus 160, respectively).[26] This fueled mass immigration from devastated parts of the rural Midwest. Ultimately, many of these migrant workers did not stay in California, but those who did increased the local supply of labor. The construction industry was kept afloat by public works projects funded by the Federal Works Progress Administration and the Public Works Administration. In 1939, economist Clifford Zierer described the physical character of industrial Los Angeles thusly:

> "Industrial districts are likewise [compared to commercial districts] widely and irregularly placed in relation principally to transportation routes, harbor facilities, cheap lands, markets and labor supply... each satellite city or community tends to develop at least a small industrial district of its own. Such districts may have few genuinely important manufacturing plants, but may consist largely of servicing industries, such as laundries, public utility plants, retail lumber yards and associated mills and similar establishments."[27]

Historian Greg Hise provided an alternative view of industrial geography in the early 20th century, identifying three planned areas of industrial development that existed by the mid-20th century. These areas included a diverse eastside industrial district, several planned industrial suburbs interspersed with worker housing and dedicated to heavy manufacturing, and outlying satellite centers where growing film, aircraft, and oil industry firms established their new operations.[28] Both

World War II

World War II changed the face of Los Angeles industry, as wartime rationing dampened production of civilian goods. Manufacturers switched to wartime production, retooling shops to produce equipment and supplies for the military. Aircraft and shipbuilding industries expanded rapidly, producing new types of fighters and bombers, missiles, and tanks. At its high point, nearly 90,000 workers were employed simultaneously at the various shipbuilding yards at the Port of Los Angeles, and by the end of the war, Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company alone had constructed 24 U.S. Navy Destroyers.[29]

In addition to physical expansion to meet wartime needs, new realities changed the physical character of industry. Military contracts with large orders of more sophisticated products resulted in the consolidation of smaller defense contractors, and the development of large complexes to meet demand. Blackout orders led manufacturers to paint over existing industrial sash windows and rely more on electricity to light workspaces. New buildings tended to be windowless to avoid detection in anticipated air raids. A shortage of building materials a few years into the war meant that buildings constructed during wartime were often made of wood frame rather than steel. To protect workers and equipment from anticipated bomb blasts, wartime factories often used non-load bearing walls that could be blown away without compromising the underlying structural system.[30] These changes combined with developments in electricity and air conditioning created the controlled conditions factory, which replaced the daylight factory as the dominant industrial design in the latter half of the 20th century. The "Industrial Design and Engineering, 1910–1970" theme contains more information about the character of specific industrial building types in Los Angeles during the postwar period.

Postwar Prosperity

Returning GIs, defense workers, and other new residents created an intense demand for housing after the war, sparking a building boom throughout Southern California that lasted through the 1960s. All these new households fueled a resurgent consumer market, with the resources to purchase an unprecedented volume of material goods, including appliances, processed foods, clothing, cars, and furnishings. Industry responded with a commensurate expansion of production facilities, especially in the San Fernando Valley and near LAX.

Rather than declining in the post-World War II era, defense contracts continued to come to Los Angeles as the country shifted into the Cold War. Aircraft manufacturers continued to turn out new models of aircraft and aerospace firms emerged to research and develop ever more sophisticated propulsion, navigation, and missile technology for the Department of Defense. By the 1960s, more than half of all jobs in Los Angeles County were in aerospace.[31] The "Aerospace, 1946–1989" subtheme describes this key late 20th century industry in greater detail. Between 1942 and 1944, investment in new plants and expansions of existing plants in Los Angeles County totaled more than $303 million ($2 billion in 2009 dollars). The pace of construction continued upward through the post-World War II era, spreading out in all directions along train lines but particularly in the San Fernando Valley.

During this time, the San Fernando Valley transformed from an agricultural area to a suburban enclave. Just as commutes to jobs outside the Valley became longer, industrial land in the rest of the city was growing scarce and more expensive to establish. Developers and industrialists saw a solution to both problems by rezoning large swaths of Valley farmland for industry. In 1949, a group of these development interests joined with the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power to form the Industrial Association of the San Fernando Valley. The main objective of this group was to obtain industrial zoning along the Southern Pacific tracks in the western Valley within City limits. They succeeded in the 1950s in getting more than 7,000 acres rezoned, including a 1,400-acre special improvement district for industry in Canoga Park, bordered by Tampa Avenue to the east, Plummer Street to the north, De Soto Avenue to the west, and Nordhoff/Parthenia Streets to the south.[32] Industrial activity grew in the western San Fernando Valley in these industrial parks and along the Southern Pacific alignment throughout the 1960s and 70s, mostly in high-tech, defense, and construction-related industries. As well, the north Valley saw an increase in industrial zoning along the Southern Pacific tracks and San Fernando Road. Industrial parks were also established in west Los Angeles near Playa Del Rey and LAX around the same time, demonstrating the rising importance of air freight to industrial activity.

Late 20th Century Decline and Dispersal

Los Angeles industry began a gradual decline in the late 1960s due in part to the rising price of fuel and land, dispersal of manufacturers beyond city limits, and a trade deficit that reflected ever greater reliance on foreign imports in the consumer market. Oil discoveries in the Los Angeles Basin dwindled in the 1960s and 1970s and production declines in oil and natural gas led utilities in the area to import more of the fuel to feed the energy-hungry metropolitan area. In 1973, a fuel shock resulting from an oil embargo by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) caused intense inflation and helped to send the national economy into recession. A drought in 1977 decimated what remained of agriculture in the city, as farmers folded and sold their land for development. The drought also lowered water levels for power generation, adding to the energy woes of the state.[33]

The completion of the interstate highway system in the 1960s and 1970s contributed to the rise of truck transport, which further decentralized industry in the city. Manufacturers no longer needed to be near established rail lines, opening up cheaper land beyond city limits for industrial development. Many manufacturers moved their plants eastward, following Interstate 10 (I-10) to settle in communities in the San Gabriel Valley and western San Bernardino County. The buildings they left behind in Los Angeles often shifted to warehouse use within a growing network of importing and distribution businesses.

Automakers which had been manufacturing powerhouses in mid-century Los Angeles began to close in the late 20th century as more of their market share went to imports. At the time when Chrysler shut down their Commerce plant in 1971, about 41% of all sales in Los Angeles were for imported cars, a sharp increase from the 1960s. Eight years later, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant in South Los Angeles closed its doors. The plant had heralded an unprecedented wave of industrial growth just a little over five decades earlier when it was the first major manufacturer to open in the city. A few years after the Goodyear plant closed, nearly every automaker in California left as well, including the Ford plant in Pico Rivera (1980), the GM plant in South Gate (1982), and the GM plant in Van Nuys (1992). Thousands of jobs were lost, many of them in South Los Angeles among communities that were already beset with poverty.[34]

Some industries continued to flourish in the late 20th century, especially industries with defense contracts such as the Aviation and Aerospace industries. Jobs in aerospace firms provided stability to the thousands of workers who settled in the San Fernando Valley, and were a mainstay of the economy. However, the end of the Cold War in 1991 presaged steep cuts in military spending, and many leading firms scaled back operations in Los Angeles. Despite more recent losses, Los Angeles County remains number one in space and defense systems manufacturing.[35]

The city's manufacturing sector remains important on the national stage, ranking 4th overall among cities for number of manufacturing jobs.[36] Leading manufacturing sectors in the Los Angeles economy include computers and electronics, apparel, transportation equipment, fabricated metal products, and food products. However, due to increases in productivity, outsourcing, and technological changes, employment in manufacturing has declined by 50 percent since 1990.

Current uses of historic industrial buildings vary according to location and property type. Many industrial lofts close to Downtown have in the past decade been converted into residential housing. These conversions often meet the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and have been be certified by the federal government for Historic Preservation Tax Credits. More common conversions for one- and two-story factories are into warehouse space, which generally involves removal of unused equipment and sometimes the creation of new bays or loading docks. Smaller shops are often still used by small and medium sized-businesses for manufacturing, though many of the large manufacturers have consolidated or moved their factories overseas, leaving large, aging facilities that are more difficult to lease.

Although the vacancy rate of industrially-zoned properties in Los Angeles County is low (about 2%), many industrial properties contain older buildings that do not always meet current industry needs, and blocks of historic early and mid-20th century industrial buildings have been demolished for larger facilities with controlled conditions. Pressures to rezone and convert these properties to retail and housing has also had mixed results for historic industrial properties, with some property types (such as industrial lofts) considered suitable for adaptive reuse and other properties vulnerable to demolition due to contaminated conditions and size constraints.[37]

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT: THEMES AND ASSOCIATED PROPERTY TYPES

THEME: AGRICULTURAL ROOTS, 1850-1945

Agriculture sustained settlement of the Pueblo of Los Angeles during the Spanish Colonial and Mexican era (1781–1849), promoted continued population growth after California statehood, and supported economic development with exports of cash crops across the country. Once a fertile agricultural center, the area produced citrus, grapes, olives, and flowers in large quantities, in addition to dairy, poultry, and beef products. Important agricultural subthemes that have affected the built environment include the export of cash crops, small-scale agricultural production for local markets, and ranching and dairies. Following multiple waves of population expansion starting in the 1870s, the vast majority of agricultural lands, industries, and related historic resources have vanished from the city. Remnants of the agricultural roots of the city remain in farm and ranch houses or collections of buildings associated with early farms or ranches; packing houses or cooperatives associations related to cash crop industries, particularly citrus; vernacular landscapes in the form of groves or orchards, poultry farms, and dairies.

Establishing Agriculture In and Around the Pueblo

Settlers during the Spanish Colonial and Mexican era pursued agriculture in fields surrounding the Pueblo of Los Angeles, growing corn, beans, barley, and wheat in surplus quantities for export to the presidio at Santa Barbara.[38] The ability to control water sources through irrigation was, and continued throughout the 19th century to be, a major factor in the productivity of agricultural fields. Spanish and Mexican settlers were familiar with Southern California's Mediterranean-type climate with sporadic rainfall, and they used irrigation techniques brought from Sonora and Sinaloa, Mexico to increase agricultural productivity. Water was drawn from the Los Angeles River and the Zanja Madre (mother ditch), which was completed in 1781 and diverted water to fields west of the Los Angeles River.[39] Seven additional irrigation ditches were added over the next century, with numerous smaller channels dug by property owners whose land did not abut irrigation ditches.[40] Local Native Americans were hired by settlers to cultivate the fields and maintain irrigation ditches. Their work kept the Pueblo agriculturally productive throughout the Spanish Colonial and Mexican era. By 1844, more than half of Pueblo workers were engaged in agricultural pursuits.[41]

Viticulture along the Los Angeles River

Wines were among the earliest agricultural products produced for export in Los Angeles, creating the initial framework for cash crops that became a vital part of the area's economy. Viticulture began with small concentrations of grapevines planted at nearly every Spanish mission. As the population of the Pueblo of Los Angeles grew, vineyards followed, spreading north and south along

In the 1840s, numerous French immigrants transformed wine production with high-quality grapes into a large-scale industry. Jean Louis Vignes became one of the most successful wine producers in Los Angeles, laying out his El Aliso Vineyard with more than 40,000 vines in 1847. By 1859, there were over one hundred vineyards and 23 commercial wineries in Los Angeles County, which had become the country's leading producer of wine.[43] Early production of wine was consumed locally or shipped to Santa Barbara, Monterey, and San Francisco for sale.

By the late 19th century, California wines had reached the east coast of the United States. Vineyards and wineries declined in Los Angeles in the late 19th and early 20th century as northern California took the lead in wine production. Small wineries still could be found east of Downtown until the start of Prohibition in 1920, when local wine production slowed. Given the large amounts of land needed for commercial vineyards, there are few extant resources related to viticulture within the city of Los Angeles. Resources are limited to Mission San Fernando (Historic-Cultural Monument No.

Dry Farming in the San Fernando Valley

Dry farming in the Valley was pursued to a relatively limited degree in the 19th century. Due to the City of Los Angeles's exclusive rights, Los Angeles River water was off limits to the Valley. Irrigation came from mountain springs and underground sources, and by 1888, less than 6,000 acres in the Valley (one-tenth of total land area) was irrigated by tapping subterranean sources.[44] The Valley became the site of large-scale wheat farming when, in the 1870s, Isaac Lankershim abandoned sheepherding in favor of cultivation of wheat. With partner Isaac Van Nuys, he utilized winter rains to grow the grain, which does not require extensive irrigation. Wheat cultivation dominated the southern half of the Valley until 1910, when Isaac Van Nuys sold his 47,500 acres to Harry Chandler for development.[45]

Lankershim Ranch (Historic-Cultural Monument No. 978, 10940 N. Sepulveda Boulevard, relocated from the original ranch to Andres Pico Adobe Park) also cultivated 6,000 acres of fruit trees and other crops along the river in present-day North Hollywood and Toluca, where alluvial loam[46] and a shallow water table created favorable conditions. In the 1880s, James B. Lankershim (son of Isaac Lankershim) subdivided the land into 40-acre ranchettes for viticulture and orchards.[47] Alfalfa, used as feed for livestock, was also cultivated in the San Fernando Valley in the late 19th century and early 20th century.[48] Other resources related to dry farming include Shadow Ranch (Historic-Cultural Monument No. 9, 22633 Van Owen Street, Canoga Park) and Pierce College (6201 Winnetka Avenue, Woodland Hills).[49]

Fruit and Vegetable Cultivation

Cultivation on land in the city included a wide variety of fruit, vegetables, root vegetables, and legumes.[50] The banks of the Los Angeles River were dominated by vineyards and cornfields. Demand from the population boom of the 1870s combined with contemporaneous expansion and upgrade of the zanja and irrigation conduit system caused dramatic growth in agricultural acreage surrounding the city. Within a decade of the arrival of the Southern Pacific Railroad in 1877, the population of the city doubled.[51] In 1849, farms occupied 1,500 acres in Los Angeles; by 1886, irrigation also had spread to 11,136 cultivated acres in the city and beyond, concentrated to the north, south, and east.[52] The railroad also provided new opportunities for shipping produce east. It was now possible to reach Kansas City or St. Louis within a single day, creating new, large-scale markets for Los Angeles cash crops. This rapid increase in population and opening of new markets led to an emphasis on cash crops in the city's agriculture. Nearly half of the newly irrigated acres were devoted to fruit production with the remainder divided between vineyards and vegetable production.[53]

With the arrival of the Los Angeles-Owens River Aqueduct in 1913, Los Angeles farms had a reliable and controlled water source to irrigate its crops year-round. Water from the Aqueduct enabled both increased agricultural activity and residential subdivision. In the San Fernando Valley, acreage irrigated through artificial means grew from about 3,000 acres in 1915 to more than 70,000 acres within ten years, with crops including walnuts, oranges, lemons, and sugar beets leading in production.[54] Alfalfa, barley, and wheat fields continued to be cultivated in the San Fernando Valley, supplying feed for local dairies.[55] Following the arrival of the Aqueduct, numerous small (1 to 5 acres) family farms were established in the Valley by factory and professional workers for subsistence and secondary income.[56] Prior to World War II, much of West Los Angeles was planted in walnut groves as well.

One of the larger producers was Jue Joe Ranch (16600-16602 Vanowen Street), established by Chinese immigrant Jue Joe in West Van Nuys in 1919. With the help of a white friend that assisted with buying 100 acres of land, Jue established his home ranch where he initially grew potatoes and later asparagus. By 1934, Jue Joe was referred to as the "Asparagus King," owning over 700 acres of farmland in Van Nuys and other parts of Southern California. Rare remnants of the once-much larger ranch property survive as a reminder of the Valley's historic agricultural industry.

Citrus and grapes used for wine production were among the first crops in Los Angeles produced for widespread export. Citrus was the highest valued crop produced in the region between 1890 and 1938[57] and imagery surrounding its production became instrumental in the marketing of Los Angeles to new residents.[58] Oranges were introduced to the region around 1804 at Mission San Gabriel, and Mission trees formed the basis of groves of several Los Angeles growers. The first orange grove in Los Angeles was laid out in 1834, when William Wolfskill planted 70 acres near present day Fourth and Alameda Streets. Wolfskill was later reported to own more than two-thirds of California's orange groves.[59] Another grove planted by Jean Louis Vignes, already a successful wine producer, was located adjacent to his El Aliso Vineyard between present-day Aliso and Alameda Streets.[60] In the following two decades, much land south of Third Street was occupied by orange groves,[61] soon to be replaced by urban development. Even as citrus groves were displaced from the center of the city, the Los Angeles County citrus industry grew in the 1870s and 1880s, from 25,000 citrus trees in 1865 to 500,000 in 1882, mainly in the areas south of the city.

Sustained by a controlled water source from the Los Angeles-Owens River Aqueduct, cash crops were primary drivers of Los Angeles' agricultural boom of the 1920s and 1930s. By 1922, Los Angeles County led all other U.S. counties in the value of its agricultural products, and citrus was Los Angeles' most important and long-lived cash crop for export. [62] Before 1877, citrus was shipped in steamboats from San Pedro and Los Angeles harbors, with markets limited to northern California. In 1877, the Southern Pacific Railroad reached Southern California, and the first car of citrus was shipped east from California. With the introduction of ventilated and refrigerated boxcars in 1887,[63] conditions for the successful shipment of citrus improved. The completion of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad in 1885 increased citrus shipments and fueled citrus planting.[64] Shipments of citrus from Southern California surpassed one million boxes in 1887. In 1939, 51.4 million boxes were shipped.[65]

Packing houses located along railroad tracks became a major part of the citrus cash crop system. Typically with wood-frame construction, wood siding, and sawtooth or monitor roofs, these buildings housed workers who received produce picked from nearby groves, packed the produce into crates, and distributed it along nearby transportation routes to local, regional, and national markets. In the early 1900s, it was common for railroad companies to construct packing houses along the tracks at their own expense, then leasing the facilities to packing firms.[66] Known resources

Growers' cooperative associations formed to manage numerous difficulties encountered by growers in the sale and marketing of citrus and other crops. These associations allowed local growers to band together to establish prices for their produce and facilitate large-scale shipments. In 1893, the Southern California Fruit Exchange (later Sunkist Growers, Inc.) was established and became an influential industry group that systematized local associations into districts and coordinated their activities.[67] Cooperative associations became involved in every aspect of production and distribution and gave growers more control over their product. By 1939, 85 percent of citrus produced in California and Arizona was controlled by cooperative associations, the largest of which was Sunkist, which managed 74 percent of total citrus production. Cooperative associations established local branches near major citrus packing and shipping centers to facilitate the exchange. These buildings, often constructed in the prevalent commercial architecture styles of the period, housed business operations for the associations and provided meeting spaces for local growers and distributors.

In the early 1920s, Los Angeles County devoted over 92,000 acres to citrus, constituting more than a third of state citrus acreage.[68] By this time, citrus that had been displaced from the center of the city had spread to areas of alluvial slopes and stream tributaries in the north San Fernando Valley including the City of San Fernando and Los Angeles neighborhoods of Northridge, Granada Hills, and Chatsworth. Demand was spurred by the marketing of byproducts, such as juices and oils. Citrus continued to be a valuable cash crop in Southern California throughout the 20th century. However, production in the city of Los Angeles declined dramatically after World War II due to the loss of agricultural land for housing.[69]

Olive cultivation and export followed a similar pattern to citrus. Olive cultivation was centered in the San Fernando Valley community of Sylmar, where the Sylmar Packing Corporation produced and packed olives for local and national distribution beginning in 1894, eventually cultivating 2,000 acres in an area described as the largest grove in the world under one management.[70] In addition to packing its own fruit, Sylmar Packing Corporation assumed control for the packing and marketing of most olives produced by the California Olive Growers Cooperative in 1927, packing between 1,000 and 1,200 tons annually.[71] Canned ripe olives (black rather than green) were cured in large brining tanks and vats and produced exclusively in California in the first half of the 20th century.[72] Olive cultivation was lucrative for producers, netting between $75 to $250 per ton in the 1920s, and the California olive industry was worth $25,000,000 in 1932. However, California producers consistently struggled with competition from abroad, where olive oil was produced more cheaply.[73] Decline of local olive production began with early subdivision of the Sylmar area in the late 1930s[74] and, by 1962, olive acreage in Sylmar had decreased to 900 acres.[75] Extant resources include packing houses and cooperative associations similar to those constructed for citrus. Other resources include olive tanks and vats, typically open concrete or wood tanks and vats used to store and cure olives. These were usually located near olives groves and packing houses. Most extant resources related to the olive industry will be located in the Sylmar area.

Flowers and bulbs were another Los Angeles cash crop that gained momentum in the first half of the 20th century. Beginning in the late 19th century, residential gardeners harvested blooms for sale to local florists.[76] Large-scale flower cultivation, with significant acreage and associated packing buildings, began in the 1920s, enabled by refrigeration. Japanese immigrants led the way in this industry, with specialty flower cultivation centered in west and South Los Angeles. Competition with foreign growers in combination with the housing boom signaled the end of local, industrial-scale cultivation, though the wholesale marketing of blooms in Los Angeles' Flower District (Wall Street between 7th and 8th Street) continued to flourish. Extant resources may include packing houses similar to those described above. Most other extant resources are related to the Farm to Market theme, including produce markets and cold storage facilities, given the importance of refrigeration for large-scale cultivation of flowers and bulbs.

The agricultural work force for cash crops consisted mostly of ethnic minorities, and shifted in composition over the years.[77] In the 1870s, Native Americans worked in cultivating, picking, and packing produce in many communities. Chinese laborers dominated the industry in the 1880s and early 1890s, but with exclusionary immigration legislation starting in 1882, their numbers diminished. In the early 1890s, Japanese workers entered the labor market and dominated until World War I.[78] Mexicans became dominant in the agricultural labor force after 1914 and their numbers continued to grow; they were two-thirds of the industry labor force by the 1940s. The Bracero Program, a Mexican contract worker program which began in 1942 and continued until 1964, further increased the numbers of Mexican agricultural workers in Southern California.[79] Koreans, East Asians, African Americans, and Jamaicans also pursued agricultural labor during early decades of the 20th century to a limited extent.[80] Although some of these laborers worked as migrant workers across the state, concentrated neighborhoods of ethnic minorities also developed around packing houses and other industrial agricultural properties. While the modest housing they occupied is long gone in most cases, historic archaeological deposits may remain on the site that could potentially contribute to research on their working conditions and lifestyles while laboring on Los Angeles farms and in packing houses.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA: AGRICULTURAL ROOTS - CASH CROPS FOR EXPORT, 1850-1945

Summary Statement of Significance: Resources evaluated under this theme may be significant in the area of Agriculture. Some resources may also be significant in the areas of Ethnic Heritage and/or Architecture. Cash crops, particularly citrus, were among the most important agricultural products cultivated in Los Angeles in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. With technological advancements in irrigation, shipping, and refrigeration, citrus became the highest valued crop produced in the region between 1890 and 1938, supplemented by olives and flowers and bulbs. Imagery surrounding the production of cash crops was key to marketing the bounty of Los Angeles produce to consumers nationwide. Cash crops are also associated with the history of many ethnic/cultural groups who worked in the fields, farms, and packing houses harvesting and packing fruits, vegetables, bulbs, and flowers. Extant resources related to cash crop industries are now rare and include packing houses, cooperative associations, remnants of groves or orchards, and olive vats and tanks.

Property Type #1: Packing House

Property Type Description: Packing houses are built for sorting, packing, and distributing cash crops, particularly citrus, to market. They are typically constructed with wood frame and cladding with sawtooth or monitor roofs to provide adequate interior illumination. Their location along transportation routes, particularly railways, facilitated shipments to market and may have loading docks along one or more sides.

Property Type Significance: Packing houses may be significant for their association with cash crop agricultural production in Los Angeles, which was of critical importance to the city's economy and early identity. Packing houses represent the historical management of produce from scores of farms, groves, and orchards, nearly all of which have disappeared from the landscape. They are also associated with the historical contributions of several ethnic/cultural groups who made up the agricultural workforce in Los Angeles throughout the 19th and 20th centuries. Very few packing houses remain in

Property Type #2:	Cooperative Association Office
Property Type Description:	Cooperative Association offices were dedicated to supporting the business operations of cooperative associations and providing meeting spaces for local growers and distributors. They were generally freestanding office buildings constructed in the prevalent architectural styles of the period. They may be located near packing houses, remnant groves, or other agricultural landscapes, and historical transportation routes.

They are the place where growers met for business activities and meetings during a key era in history when they banded together to regulate the price, distribution, and marketing of their produce in newly opened national markets. Cooperative association offices were often also notable examples of an architectural style from the period of significance, including Mission Revival, Classical Revival, and Craftsman. Very few cooperative associations remain in the city of Los Angeles, so any intact example may be considered eligible under this theme.

SUBTHEME: TRUCK FARMING AND LOCAL MARKETS, 1850-1945

Truck farming, or cultivation of produce for sale at local markets, was widespread in Los Angeles in the early 20th century, facilitated by the combination of abundant agricultural land and growing local demand. On farms ranging in size from 1 to 20 acres, truck farmers processed crops in portable field stations, then sent produce directly to local markets or sold products from street stands.[81] Many truck farmers rented rather than owned their land; approximately a quarter of agricultural land in the Valley in 1939 was rented.

Numerous poultry farms supplying local markets were established in the San Fernando Valley in the 1920s in the Van Nuys, Roscoe, and Reseda neighborhoods, including the utopian Charles Weeks Poultry Colony in present day Winnetka (between Owensmouth Avenue and Reseda Boulevard), which consisted of scores of acre-sized farms with long egg-laying houses at the rear.[82] Small farms and suburban homeowners produced eggs and other poultry products for sale at local markets and at roadside retail stands. With the Great Depression, the Winnetka community declined and by 1932, many of the poultry farms faced bankruptcy.[83] Some homeowners continued to sell eggs and poultry, an activity that persisted at roadside stands until at least the 1960s.[84] Additional research may reveal other farming colonies that were developed in a similar way to the Weeks Poultry Colony.

Extant resources related to truck farming are farm houses and out-buildings including egg-laying houses, barns, stables, and sheds. Most resources will be located in the San Fernando Valley including Winnetka, Chatsworth, Northridge, and West Hills. While acreage dedicated to truck farming decreased over course of the 20th century due to the housing boom, it was pursued as recently as the 1960s, relegated to the west and southwest edges of the Valley including Chatsworth, West Hills, and Hidden Hills.[85] Very limited truck farming still occurs on leased public land bordering the 101 Freeway in Encino, and nearby along the Sepulveda River flood basin.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA: AGRICULTURAL ROOTS - TRUCK FARMING AND LOCAL MARKETS, 1850-1945

Summary Statement of Significance: Resource evaluated under this theme may be significant in the area of Agriculture. Some may also be significant in the areas of Ethnic History and/or Architecture. Truck farming was an important part of agricultural production in Los Angeles, particularly for local markets. It provided a livelihood for thousands of small farmers in rural parts of the city, including farmers from a variety of ethnic and cultural backgrounds. Their contributions when viewed in aggregate were critical the local economy. Furthermore, some truck farms represent a notable movement within early 20th century residential development to provide self-sufficient acreage in a systematic way to newcomers who wanted a rural lifestyle.

Property Type #1: Industrial – Agricultural - Farm House

Property Type Description: There is little if any clear difference between the design of a farm house and a non-farm residence from the same era of development. Farm houses may be significant within this theme when they can visibly convey their historic use through the presence of an associated vernacular agricultural landscape. Due to their relative rarity, intact farm houses constructed prior to 1900 may have the smallest suggestion of its former setting (a larger lot, landscaped with fruit trees and/or vegetable gardens) and still be eligible under this theme, particularly under local criteria. Properties from the 20th century are somewhat more common and may require a more expansive historic landscape with some additional agricultural features, such as one or more outbuildings, related structures such as canals, standpipes, corrals, and tanks, agricultural land, or a related grove/orchard. Farm houses may reflect architectural styles popular during the period of significance.

Property Type Significance: Intact farm houses are rare and may be significant remnants of a once expansive agricultural landscape within the city. They represent truck farming for the local market, which was once a critical component of the agricultural economy of Los Angeles. Farm houses are the properties that are most intimately associated with the farmers themselves, and some may reflect the agricultural traditions of farmers from a variety of ethnic/cultural backgrounds. They may also be significant examples of architectural styles from the period of construction.

Geographic Location:	Citywide but primarily in the San Fernando Valley, especially Winnetka, Canoga Park, Chatsworth, Granada Hills, Sylmar, Shadow Hills, and Verdugo Hills south of Hansen Dam.
Period of Significance:	1850-1945
Period of Significance Justification:	Dates coincide with the era of significant agricultural production in the city.
Areas of Significance:	Agriculture; Ethnic Heritage; Architecture
Criteria:	NR: A/C CR: 1/3 Local: 1/3

Eligibility Standards:

- Was constructed as a farm house between 1850 and 1945
- Conveys historic use through an associated historic vernacular landscape
- Because of their rarity, pre-1900 examples may have minimal associated agricultural landscape feature, particularly under local criteria

Character Defining/Associative Features:

- Retains most of the essential character defining features from the period of significance
- Wood-framed single family residence
- Often designed in prevalent architectural styles of the period
  - May also be a significant example of an architectural style from the period of significance
- Associated historic vernacular landscape features may include barns or stables, corrals, irrigation features, standpipes, tanks, farm land, and or a grove/orchard
- May have played a significant role in agricultural development for local and/or regional/national markets
- May be associated with ethnic/cultural history of the area in which it is located
- May be part of a former farming colony developed during the period of significance

Integrity Considerations:

- Should retain integrity of Setting, Materials, Design, Feeling , and Association
- Under local criteria setting may have changed

Property Type #2:	Industrial – Agricultural - Barn/Stable
Property Type Description:	Barns and stables may be part of a vernacular agricultural landscape that includes other agricultural features such as farm houses, other outbuildings, related structures such as canals, standpipes, corrals, and tanks, agricultural land, or a related grove/orchard. On their own, barns and stables are not sufficiently representative of truck farming or ranching to be eligible under this theme, particularly for the National and California Registers. However, barns and/or stables that are excellent examples of the type, possess high artistic value, or are excellent examples of architectural styles (such as Dutch Colonial Revival, American Colonial Revival, or Craftsman) as applied to an agricultural building may be eligible under themes within the Architecture and Engineering context.

Property Type Significance:	Intact barns and stables may be significant components of a once expansive agricultural landscape within the city. They represent truck farming for the local market, both of which were once critical components of the agricultural economy of Los Angeles.
Geographic Location:	San Fernando Valley, especially Winnetka, Canoga Park, Chatsworth, Granada Hills, Sylmar, Shadow Hills, and Verdugo Hills south of Hansen Dam.
Period of Significance:	1850-1945
Period of Significance Justification:	Dates coincide with the era of significant agricultural production in the city.
Areas of Significance:	Agriculture; Architecture
Criteria:	NR: A/C CR: 1/C Local: 1/C

Eligibility Standards:

- Is a rare and/or excellent example of the property type
- Constructed between 1850 and 1945

Character Defining/Associative Features:

- Retains most of the essential character defining features from the period of significance
- Wood frame and cladding; double height construction with double doors on side or end elevations
- Typically associated with at least one additional agricultural building or landscape feature
- Exceptional examples of the property type may have minimal associated agricultural buildings or landscape features
- May be associated with ethnic/cultural history of the area in which it is located
- May also be a significant example of an architectural style from the period of significance

Integrity Considerations:

- Should retain integrity of Location, Materials, Design, and Feeling
- Setting may have changed

Property Type #3:	Industrial – Agricultural - Vernacular Agricultural Landscape
Property Type Description:	Historic vernacular landscapes depict agricultural activity from the late 19th or early 20th centuries. They generally include at least one agricultural building that serves as a focal point of agricultural activity (generally a barn or stable) and adjacent agricultural land. Excellent examples will also include related structures for a full range of farming activity such as irrigation, harvesting, storage, or livestock containment. Typically organized around a farm house, the landscape may be located on a larger lot and be visibly older than surrounding development.
Property Type Significance:	Vernacular agricultural landscapes may be significant remnants of a once expansive agricultural landscape within the city. They represent truck farming and/or ranching for the local market, both of which were once critical components of the agricultural economy of Los Angeles. Of all potentially eligible property types, the vernacular agricultural landscape has the strongest historical associations through the retention of several related features. This more complete and expansive property type allows for the fullest understanding of historical agricultural practice and conveys a more all-encompassing sense of place.
Geographic Location:	San Fernando Valley, especially Winnetka, Canoga Park, Chatsworth, Granada Hills, Sylmar, Shadow Hills, and Verdugo Hills south of Hansen Dam.
Period of Significance:	1850-1945
Period of Significance Justification:	Dates coincide with the era of significant agricultural production in the city.
Areas of Significance:	Agriculture; Ethnic Heritage
Criteria:	NR: A CR: 1 Local: 1

Eligibility standards:

- Established between 1850 and 1945

Character Defining/Associative Features:

- Open landscape with agricultural features that may include a farm house, farm land, orchard/grove, agricultural outbuildings and related features such as corrals, irrigation systems, standpipes, and tanks.

- Retains most of the essential character defining features from the period of significance
- May be associated with ethnic/cultural history of the area in which it is located
- May have played a significant role in agricultural development for local and/or regional/national markets

Integrity Considerations:

- Should retain integrity of Location, Setting, Materials, and Feeling
- Relationships between buildings/structures and landscape features should be retained

A Southern California Without Orange Groves? One of the Last Could Soon Be Gone

The owners of Bothwell Ranch have sought to sell it to housing developers. Others want it preserved as a historic site.

By Jose A. Del Real and Nicholas Bogel-Burroughs

July 11, 2019

LOS ANGELES — Drive through the San Fernando Valley and it is easy to spot the hallmarks of suburban Southern California: streets lined with palm trees, carefully sheared hedges and red-tiled roofs, a blur of tidy development.

But turn a corner in one neighborhood and a 12-acre orange grove comes brightly into view.

Bothwell Ranch is one of the last remaining orange groves in the San Fernando Valley, a vestige of the long-evaporated citrus industry. The grove, with its tightly packed rows of orange trees, calls to mind another time, before relentless development transformed this rural agricultural area into endless sprawl.

The ranch is at the center of a growing dispute between its owners, who have sought to sell it to luxury housing developers, and community members who believe it should remain an orchard. The Los Angeles City Council is currently considering a proposal to give the site a historic designation to preserve at least part of the orchard.

Whether or not the family sells the property is still to be seen.

“At this point, they’re just trying to figure out what to do because there has been so much interest,” said Ciara Trujillo, a senior vice president with the real estate firm Colliers International. A lawyer representing the family did not respond to a request for comment.

[Sign up for our daily newsletter on California here.]

But for many, regardless of the family’s decision, the orchard has become a symbol of the ways that development in Los Angeles County has run amok. Decades of population growth, rising property values and the spread of single-family homes have transformed the landscape. At the same time, the shortage of affordable housing in the region has intensified questions about where to build and how to retain the character of neighborhoods as they grow.

Critics of the Bothwell Ranch sale have largely appealed to nostalgia, which has resonated with longtime valley residents.

Paul Ayers, a lawyer and amateur archivist who grew up in the valley, said he worries that the region's rural history may be forgotten. He recalled the transformation of the area since the mid-20th century, when manufacturing took off and groves were razed in favor of houses, pushing the citrus industry north. His father worked in citrus, and he has studied how the industry declined because of the joint pressures of rising land prices and corresponding spikes in property taxes.

For many families living on San Fernando Valley farmlands, Mr. Ayers said, selling to developers and moving to cheaper, more agriculturally prosperous regions like Tulare County, where more than 40 percent of citrus fruits are now produced, just made sense.

“California was built on the ideal of Spanish-themed orange groves under the moon,” he said. “That’s how it was sold. That brought a lot of people to California.”

“There’s nostalgia, there’s regret about what has happened to Los Angeles with the uncontrolled growth,” he added. “People can only hold on to that image as long as there’s something out there to hold on to.”

Councilman Bob Blumenfield, who represents the San Fernando Valley, last week put forward a motion to designate the ranch a historic monument. Though the ranch is private property, the motion immediately puts a halt on any potential demolition permits, he said, and may discourage buyers who are wary of dealing with a property that has historic designation.

The goal of the motion, Mr. Blumenfield said, was to slow the process down "so that other uses that are more compatible with our history and community can be considered."

"This is the last bit of our agricultural history in the San Fernando Valley and it could potentially be lost forever," he added, noting that the current patch of about a dozen acres was "the last vestige" of what was once a 100-acre ranch. "Everything else has been turned into housing."

Orange groves covered 41,000 acres of Los Angeles County in 1950, when it was the most prosperous agricultural county in America, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Now, just 76 acres of orange groves remain, even as the state remains responsible for more than a third of America's oranges.

"There are more orange trees in backyards than in commercial operations" in the valley, said Casey Creamer, president of California Citrus Mutual, an advocacy group.

"Land values for development are far more lucrative than commercial farming operations in Southern California," Mr. Creamer said. "The need for housing in these population centers far outweighs any sort of revenue stream you can get out of farming in California."

Just 76 acres of orange groves remain in Los Angeles County. Jenna Schoenefeld for The New York Times

The Bothwell family took over the orchard in the 1920s when Lindley Bothwell, a cheerleading coach at the University of Southern California and a vintage car collector, bought the ranch. When Mr. Bothwell died in 1986, his wife, Helen Ann Bothwell, managed the ranch until her death in 2016.

“It brings me up short when I think of it every once in a while, that it’s the last of its kind,” Ms. Bothwell said in 1998. “But somebody has to be first, and somebody has to be last.”

When the Bothwells began managing the grove in the 1920s, there were fewer than 75,000 people living in the valley. The population grew rapidly over the next few decades, transforming the region, which now is home to more than 1.85 million people.

Lou Ann Cowsill grew up in nearby Chatsworth and recalled getting lost among one grove’s silky leaves when she took a wrong turn walking home from her first day of elementary school.

Years later, she watched the groves get cut down for housing, again and again.

“It happened so quickly in the ’60s. It’s sad,” said Ms. Cowsill, 64, a pharmacy technician who now lives on a hay farm in Oregon.

Los Angeles County today has a severe housing shortage, in part fueled by a resistance to building more, cheaper homes. But development on the Bothwell property — which is nestled between the Woodland Hills and Tarzana neighborhoods — would most likely not have much of an effect on access to affordable housing. The homes that border the property reach easily into seven-figures and feature expansive grounds, outdoor pools and tennis courts, according to property records and satellite images.

Todd Pratt, a managing partner at Evolution Strategic, a Los Angeles development company, said: “It’s completely unfeasible today to expect it to remain as a viable farmed property when you have tons and tons of acres of farmland available a very short distance away.”

Mr. Pratt, whose company primarily works on developing large, mixed-use buildings, added, “The city needs to grow and evolve. There is no reason that should be retained as a historic farm. Maybe you keep a half-acre with some orange groves on it as a small park, but the rest of it should be developed.”

For now, the historic designation is uncertain, though Mr. Blumenfield says he is confident his colleagues on the City Council will cooperate. He noted the council’s powers are limited when it comes to deciding the future of the ranch, but said the designation would at least give the city leverage to request some of the grove be preserved and perhaps opened to the public for educational and historical purposes.

“We’re often looking at situations where we’re saving the last of the Art Deco houses, the last of this, the last of that,” he said.

Jeff Ward is the fourth-generation owner of E. Waldo Ward & Son, a shop that sells jams and marmalades in Sierra Madre, 30 miles east of Bothwell Ranch. Long before Mr. Ward took over the store, the family citrus farm was about 30 acres, but it’s now less than a tenth the size, only about an acre of which is made up of oranges.

Mr. Ward says he’s seen too many nearby groves turn from branches to buildings.

“Things change,” he said.

Jose A. Del Real reported from Los Angeles and Nicholas Bogel-Burroughs from New York.

Urbanization Takes Over, Moves North

"Once upon a time, the San Fernando Valley was God's gift to agriculture," said Paul Engler, Los Angeles County commissioner of agriculture. "Climate. soil. water—it had it all."

But now, he said, farming there is all but finished. "The next few years ought to be about it."

To the north, over the Golden State Freeway, is the Santa Clarita Valley—Newhall, Saugus, Valencia—and its thousands of acres still in agriculture.

"Look out there," Ken Groefsema said, gesturing through his Valencia office window to the stretches of clear flatland and gently rolling hills beyond. "The San Fernando Valley once looked like that."

Tall and lean like the farmer he once was, Groefsema is senior vice president in charge of agriculture, one of four commercial activities of the giant Newhall Land and Farming Co.

When will the urbanization that swept the San Fernando Valley hit the still pleasantly rural Santa Clarita Valley?

"It continues to come," he said. "It's coming every day."

Any story about agriculture in an urban area such as Los Angeles

'It was a matter of milking the last few drops out of the property.'

County implicitly involves land development, since such development is the seemingly inevitable extension of the use of farming acreage.

The question then becomes how best to execute that transition, both from the standpoint of encouraging thoughtful development and a gradual phaseout of agriculture.

Engler said he was "very disappointed" that that did not happen in the San Fernando Valley but believes it will in the North County area.

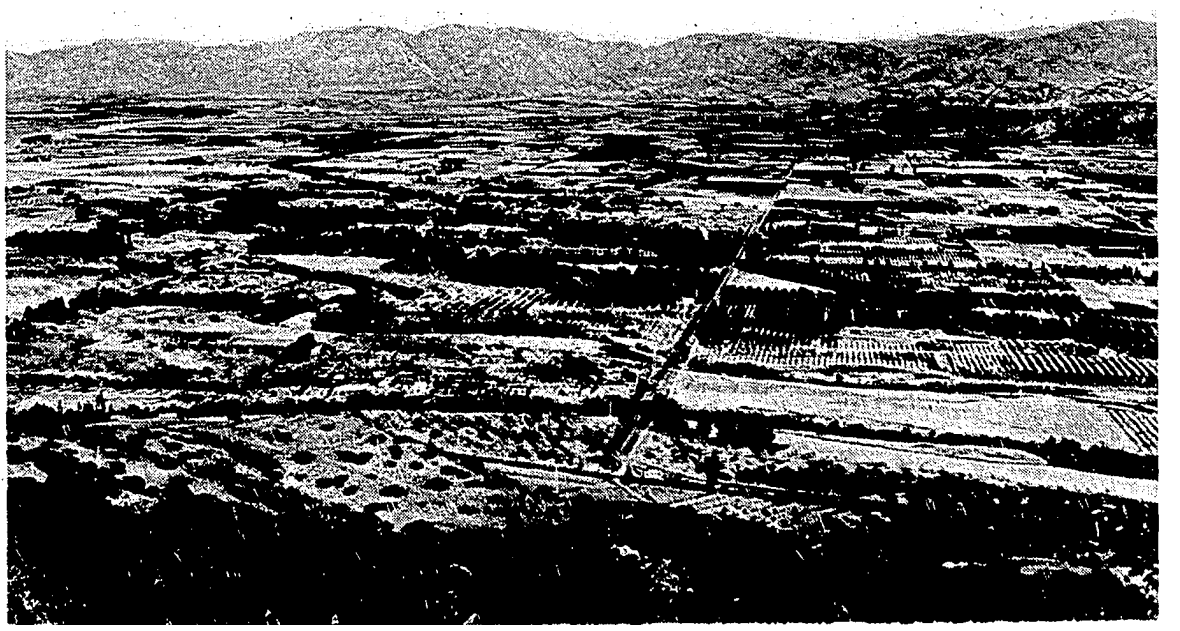
It may come as a surprise to some to know that agriculture has long been a major industry in Los Angeles County. At one time, the county led the nation in the dollar value of its agriculture.

The peak was reached in 1951, when the gross market value of agriculture was almost $248 million. And even today the county produces more than $200 million worth on considerably less acreage as a result of more intensive production methods (a figure that shrinks by comparison when inflationary factors are considered).

In the San Fernando and Santa Clarita Valleys in 1953, there was $16.2 million worth of crops grown on 40,480 acres. In 1977, crop production on 53,996 acres totaled $21.4 million, reflecting both inflation and a shift of bearing acreage from the San Fernando Valley to the North County area.

Since post-World War II days, Engler has watched the development of houses, businesses and industry in the valley and says such growth was inevitable to accommodate Los Angeles' burgeoning population. But the way it happened, he said—the way development overtook agriculture, fragmenting the farm land—was "very disappointing."

Building was here and there, he said. Wherever someone got the best buy on a parcel of land, that's where the next housing tract went.



With that kind of leapfrogging and fragmentation of the land, said Engler, farmers next to a new development would have their taxes raised on the "highest and best use" principle, driving them out of agriculture.

Vandalism and theft then plagued the remaining farmers as their acreage became isolated amid housing tracts.

Some became "slum farms," a name Engler applied to those farms acquired by speculators and leased to growers until increasing prices justified their sale.

Forgotten were pest controls and basic agricultural techniques, maintenance of equipment, and even fence repairs, Engler said.

"It was a matter of milking the last few drops out of the property," he said.

How could this transition from agriculture to an urban community have been better achieved? By maintaining a "front line" of new development, Engler said, allowing the urban part to fully develop before moving the line farther into the agricultural area.

The end result would have been the same today, with the Valley's development much as it is, but during that 30-year transition the agricultural area could have been contained and been more productive, Engler said.

That, he hopes, is what will happen in the Santa Clarita Valley, and he is optimistic, chiefly because the large acreages are held by a few owners.

The largest single land owner is Newhall Land and Farming, once a family operated enterprise but now a public corporation. Besides its agricultural division, the firm is involved in oil and gas, real estate and recreation, including Magic Mountain.

The firm owns 37,000 acres in Los Angeles and Ventura counties, 145,000 acres statewide, "and we farm all of the land that is flat enough and where water is available," said Groefsema.

It runs from 5,000 to 7,000 head of cattle on the land not suitable for growing.

"We lease some land to specialty crop growers, but by and large we farm our own land," he said.

Those specialty growers—most of whom sell at roadside stands as well as wholesale—generally produce green onions, radishes, sweet corn, carrots, barley, and, for the first time this year, Christmas trees.

Groefsema anticipates more growers will be seeking leased land in the Santa Clarita Valley as acreage in the metropolitan area diminishes.

The company itself largely grows oranges, grapefruit, avocados and English walnuts.

It gets most of its water from company-owned wells.

Newhall Land and Farming's income from agriculture in 1977 was $4.6 million, down from $7.4 million the year before. Company officials blame reduced crop yields due to unfavorable weather, and lower prices received on many farm products.

The firm's annual report for 1977 says, "Newhall's fundamental objective is to convert the company's land resources into income producing assets."

So far as its agricultural land is concerned, said Groefsema, economics determines when a given acreage is worth more for housing and industrial use than it is for farming.

Valencia Corp., Newhall's home building subsidiary, is developing Valencia under a company master plan. Escrows on 250 homes there were closed in fiscal 1977. Another 5,000 residential units are to be built and sold in Valencia.

"Additionally, Newhall will build, own and lease many of the new commercial properties in the community, in addition to selling raw land to others," the company's annual report states.

Six miles north of Valencia, on Bouquet Canyon Road, Robert Lombardi, 33, a third generation farmer, grows a variety of specialty crops and operates a roadside stand with the help of his wife and four children.

His father Robert, 69, who came to the Santa Clarita Valley in 1934, is retired, "although he still gives me advice," said the younger Lombardi.

On land he owns and on additional land he leases, Lombardi grows cantalopes, sweet corn, tomatoes and green onions.

The relatively short distance to the downtown Los Angeles produce center is an important factor in his wholesale operation because of the high cost of shipping produce, particularly melons.

Lombardi begins the year's planting as soon after March 15 as weather permits and harvests through November.

Smog, worse this year than ever before, Lombardi said, takes its toll on the produce, particularly watermelons, which he no longer grows.

Farmer's complaint: 'My biggest headache is vandalism.'

He irrigates with water from his own well. A private water company line ends two miles from his property.

Farming, said Lombardi, is far from dull. "It seems like every season is different."

The hardest part of his work, he said, is operating the roadside stand, open from July to December. The public, he said, can be difficult at times.

Lombardi says the time will come when the land will become too valuable for farming. When that time comes, he doesn't plan to quit farming, he said. He'll just move. "Santa Maria has a good climate," Lombardi said.

Perhaps the person most knowledgable about agriculture in the San Fernando Valley is not a grower but E. Deming Williams, senior district inspector in the Valley for the county Agricultural Commission.

William is a man totally absorbed in his occupation, even to turning down promotions, he said, that would have taken him to the downtown office.

Instead, he has remained in the Valley for the 38 years he has been with the commission. Since 1962, he has taught a class in pest control at Pierce College and says the class is among the first to fill with students. He is also a lecturer and consultant in pest control work.

He has watched significant changes in Valley agriculture since the 1950s, "when $3,000 for an acre of land was a handsome price," he said.

"In those years the Valley was producing about a thousand acres of tomatoes and several thousand acres of banana squash'" Williams recalled.

And there were thousands of acres of grain between Canoga Park and Calabasas.

"Green onions were a big crop then and cabbage only a little less so," he said.

The Valley did not grow much sweet corn then, but now it is a major crop, Williams said. "I expect this year we'll have as much as 2,000 acres in the San Fernando and Santa Clarita Valleys," He said it's a "great sweet corn," popular at roadside produce stands.

The sweetness of corn, often lost in long shipments, is "a very fragile part of the flavor but a very important part to consumers," Williams said.

Williams makes no bones about how he feels about Valley farmers. Referring to one as "a great guy," he went on, "All of my farmers are great. They're terrific people."

And he is sympathetic toward their problems the scarcity of leasable land and the high cost of water.

"Water in the Valley is expensive, and they keep raising the prices," Williams said. "And people start screaming about the lower water rates farmers pay, but they forget the farmer's hands are tied.

"If they keep increasing the price of water, they're going to run the farmers here right out of business."

He calls farmers in the Valley "a valuable asset," pointing out their contributions to the economy and the esthetics of the community.

"What could be a nicer greenbelt in a metropolitan area than a farm?" he asked.

Dennis Whitney, rate manager for the Los Angeles City Department of Water and Power, said water for agricultural use costs 15.4 cents for 100 cubic feet (748 gallons) plus $27.80, based on a 4-inch pipe.

Included in that latter figure is a $7 recurrent charge for every 24-hour period the water is on and $20.80 for each time someone is sent out to turn it on and, later, to turn it off.

Residential users pay 30% more and business and commercial users 45% more, said Whitney.

The agricultural water rate was increased 35% in 1975 and 34% last year. Another rate increase may come in 1981, when the Metropolitan Water District increases its wholesale rates to DWP, according to Whitney.

Unlike the Santa Clarita Valley, farmers in the San Fernando Valley may not dig a well on property they own since all water rights in the city are municipally owned.

Typical perhaps of in-town farmers and the problems they face are Tom and Marguerite Nunn of Van Nuys, who farm 200 acres and operate a roadside stand on Balboa Blvd. just off the Ventura Freeway.

Marguerite's parents and grandparents were farmers and, for the last seven years, Tom also has been a farmer, learning the business on the job.

An earthquake in 1857 slowed the influx of easterners.

From February to November they grow corn, tomatoes, squash, pumpkins and melons on two sites—one behind Sepulveda Dam, leased from the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers, and another from a private lessor on Victory Blvd.

Nunn, who left a military career to take up farming, talked about his work as he sat near a squash patch a hundred yards from the busy freeway.

"My biggest headache is vandalism," he said. "Every night each piece of equipment has to be returned to the enclosed yard where we have guard dogs.

"Otherwise, nothing's going to run in the morning because kids will break it."

Next to vandalism, he said, his big problem is birds, particularly blackbirds and sparrows, that peck out just enough kernels on an ear of corn to prevent its being sold.

Since private parties may not fire a gun in the city limits, Nunn must rely on a county Agricultural Commission inspector to thin out the flocks of birds.

"He used to shoot two or three times a week, but since Proposition 13 (and its financial cutbacks in government) he hasn't been around," said Nunn.

Water is expensive, he said ($2,200 a month for a 35-acre section), and so is equipment. Nunn estimates the replacement value of the equipment is "close to $500,000."

Smog is generally not a great problem for the Nunns, although a combination of intense smog and heat that struck the Valley earlier this year caused havoc. They lost 32,000 out of 40,000 newly planted tomato plants.

Nunn's labor force runs from three to 10 men, depending on the time of year, and he relies largely on Mexican workers. He said they had three brothers who had been with them and his wife's family for years until they returned to Mexico, and since then there has been a high labor turnover.

American young people, Nunn said, "don't seem to want to do farm labor, working in the fields and corn patches, especially in the hot, humid months."

The Nunns spend the winter months farming on acreage they have in Paso Robles, looking to the day when land in the San Fernando Valley is no longer available. Nunn is keenly aware, for example, that the Sepulveda Basin may not be available for farming if plans for the 1984 Olympic facilities or other recreational uses go ahead. He said there is very little other land suitable for farming available in the Valley.

Farming is a good life, the Nunns agree, although you don't get rich at it. "All the farmers we know who are rich never made it farming; they made it on the land," said Marguerite Nunn.

When Jose Maria Verdugo, a corporal in the Spanish army, acquired a 36,403-acre land grant in 1784, encompassing what is now Glendale, Burbank and parts of surrounding communities, the only "residents" were cactus, sagebrush, greasewood, and mesquite.

But the land was flat enough for tilling, the soil was fertile and there was water from the Los Angeles River to the west and the Arroyo Seco to the east.

As required by his Spanish grant, Verdugo put the land to use and by 1817 was growing grain, grapes, red peppers, pomegranates, figs, peaches, pears, apples, oranges and limes.

His livestock included 1,900 head of cattle, 670 head of horses and 70 mules—50 wild and 20 gentle, historians say.

Mary Jane Strickland of the Burbank city public information office, whose parents settled in the city in the early 1900s, is one of the founders and past president of the Burbank Historical Society and knows about the area's past.

Her father is a former Burbank police chief and U.S. marshal and her grandfather was a schoolteacher there.

Mrs. Strickland said that by 1849, with the Gold Rush in full swing in Northern California and the state's population increasing, farmers here saw cattle as a good investment and increased their herds.

But an earthquake in 1857 slowed the influx of easterners and a severe drought the next year took its toll on the herds, causing some farmers to turn to sheep raising.

With the 1880s came a real estate boom that resulted from several factors.

The land was safe and civilized yet still abounded with opportunities. It had a generally warm year-round climate and a number of books being published in the East cited the advantages of living in Southern California, as did newspaper advertisements by land speculators.

And if nothing else would attract people here, enticing railroad fares would. A rate war between Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads caused fares to drop from $125 to, briefly, $1.

'What could be nicer greenbelt . . . than a farm?'

As rail fares were leveling out to a modest amount, land values were going up appreciably. One buyer in Glendale paid $6,000 for 70 acres there in 1883 and sold it for $15,300 three years later, according to the book "Glendale Area History" by C. Caswell Perry and Carroll W. Parcher.

Orchardists in Glendale were growing peaches, apricots and prunes, primarily, and in 1894 they tried shipping dried fruit to the Midwest. The produce, however, yielded only 5 to 7 cents a pound in that depression era and many growers gave up.

Dr. David Burbank, a New Hampshire dentist, who gave his name to the city when he came west started a sheep ranch in Burbank, but a drought in 1886 ended that venture. He leased the land for farms, Mrs. Strickland said.

Despite the building boom of the '80s, truck farming on small acreages got such a foothold that one eastern publication in 1887 dubbed Burbank "The Center for Small Farm Lands."

Life was not without its problems for the farmers then, however. Mrs. Strickland said history documents a major "jackrabbit roundup" in Burbank when the hares' appetite threatened the crops.

Almost as unpopular as the jackrabbits was a garlic factory that opened in Burbank in the early 1900s. City officials persuaded the owner to relocate.

By about 1910, Mrs. Strickland said, it became clear that Burbank property was becoming too expensive for farm land and there began a breakup of the larger ranches.

Properties were still large enough, however, to accommodate the increasing number of poultry ranches, then importing the popular white leghorns from the east.

One historian has noted that in 1914 in Burbank, 12,000 hens laid 360,000 dozen eggs. He also said about 15 dairies were still in the city.

Harold J. Ryan, Los Angeles agricultural commissioner from 1918 to 1962, now retired and living in South Pasadena, said his recollection of Burbank in those early years was one of many chicken ranches—"mostly one-man operations."

Glendale had a name identification problem for a time. In 1883 its citizens chose the name of Glen Dale for their community, but in 1886 the U.S. Post Office Department opened an office there and called it Mason, although no one now seems to know why.

The school district then was called Sepulveda and Southern Pacific Railroad opened a station and called it Tropico, which later became the name of a community to the south. In 1894, postal officials relented and accepted the name Glendale, then one word.

In the 1920s, the agricultural era in both communities had about ended as Glendale set a course as a residential and commercial city and Burbank as an industrial center.

Lindley Bothwell, 77, acquired 20 acres of orange trees in 1926 in Woodland Hills. They were part of a 100-acre grove that was then six years old.

The other 80 acres are gone now, turned into housing tracts, but he's still tending his trees. In fact, he has started a replanting program that will replace all of the trees within the next five years.

While he wholesales some of the oranges (he also has some grapefruit and avocado trees), much of what he grows is used in a fancy fruit pack business he's had since the 1930s.

Just out of the Oregon State University with a degree in soil (he had earlier earned a bachelor's and master's degree at USC in history and geology), he went into the citrus business. At the same time, however, he had his own soil and bacteriological laboratory, providing pruning, spraying and other technical assistance to some 40 ranches from San Francisco to the Mexican border.

What was the Valley like in the '20s? There were about 4,000 acres in oranges and the rest in grain, barley oats and some wheat, Bothwell recalled.

"And there were vast expanses of hay land," he said.

To get to downtown Los Angeles one would drive two-lane Ventura Blvd., he said. "There wasn't a blamed thing until you got to the gas station at Reseda Blvd.

"Encino had had a subdivision since 1910, but after that there was nothing until Van Nuys Blvd., and nothing between there and Laurel Canyon Road.

"I remember my dad and mother coming out to visit me, and we'd go over to what is now Northridge for lunch at a little drug store and watch the noon train go through."

The coldest year he remembers was 1937, when the temperature got down to 16 degrees above zero. He smudged ("We call it orchard heating, not smudging") and saved his grove, although others in the area suffered.

He said neighbors have complained about smoke from the orchard heating, but Bothwell insists it is minimal, being closely monitored by the city.

Vandalism to his fenced-in grove has been no problem for the last 35 or 40 years, he said, since he started using German shepherds as guard dogs.

Plant, Hansen, Maxwell—those were some of the more than 300 dairies in the San Fernando Valley which, with dairies elsewhere in the county, made it a major industry.

It survived a serious setback in 1924, when an epidemic of hoof-and-mouth disease broke out in the herds, necessitating the killing of thousands of head of cattle.

Many of the dairies closed or moved about the time World War II ended and the housing boom began, sending land values up. Several, however, hung on until recent years.

Countywide, the agricultural commissioner's office reported there were 106,500 cows in 343 herds in 1965, dropping to 13,500 in 25 herds in 1976.

Hogs were a significant livestock in the valley with as many as a thousand head on some ranches. Poultry and egg production was another important business in the Valley's early days.

Like cows, however, hogs and poultry were moved out as people began occupying the new housing tracts.

The only livestock to survive in any number were horses. In the early 1920s, before motorized trucks began appearing, horses pulled the wagons and farm implements.

While their number is down now, Engler, the county agricultural commissioner, estimates there are between 50,000 and 75,000 horses "out there," mostly in backyards.

A surprising figure, he said, is the 4,200 new head of horses produced in the county in 1977. Worth about $450 each, they totaled $1.9 million in value.

John Boething, a self-described failing writer and cartoonist, moved on to 30 acres of family-owned land in Woodland Hills in 1953 to start Boething Treeland Nursery.

Living in a one-room structure on the property, he remembers it was to be a part-time job that would allow him to go on writing. Today, the company has 250 employes at 10 locations throughout the state. He doesn't write now but he hopes to someday.

He credits the success of the business to the post-war building boom and the public's growing concern about the environment.

Plants and other vegetation are the only positive addition man can give to the environment, he pointed out. "They give us good air, modify wind and heat, provide a haven for wildlife and increase beautification."

Boething had no formal education in agriculture but learned from scratch, he said. "I didn't know what I was doing so I went around asking questions of everyone in the business, and they were tremendously kind and helpful."

Reflecting a thought expressed by others in agriculture, Boething said, "I think farmers have a feeling of cooperation among themselves that is rare in business. They're friendly with one another and, I think, with most people."

Boething gave a 14-year-old high school dropout part-time work some years ago and today he has his own business. Since then, Boething has given employment to local junior and senior high school students and to senior citizens, all of whom, he said, find the work enjoyable and the pay helpful.

His one-room house has expanded through the years as he married and as four daughters came along. His wife Susan handles personnel matters for the company, and one daughter is active full time while the others, still in school, work part time.

Boething says he sees a very strong future for the nursery business in Southern California. Landscaping has become basic to new construction and to older homes when a new family moves in, he said.

"And young people today, sensitive to their environment, are looking for a natural life-style. distaining the plastic," he said.

Fire Destroys Antique Autos Used in Films

Lindley F. Bothwell yesterday set his loss at $50,000 to $75,000 when fire destroyed 32 antique automobiles, streetcars, fire engines and a covered wagon Thursday on his ranch at 5300 Oakdale Ave., Woodland Hills.

The fire started in the bunkhouse housing boys caring for Bothwell's citrus crops, according to Roy J. Rading, ranch foreman. Flames quickly enveloped the barns containing the antiques. Only one horse-drawn streetcar was saved before the heat made further salvage attempts impossible, he added.

Bothwell said the fire destroyed the only two-cylinder Packard, a 1903 model, in existence. An equally valuable 1905 American Mercedes was demolished. Also lost were a San Francisco cable car, several horse-drawn streetcars and a horse-drawn fire wagon.

Bothwell began his hobby collection 25 years ago. Since then many of his prize pieces have been used in films and many school children, Boy Scouts and other youth groups have visited his barn museums.

Lindley Bothwell

USC's 'Mr. B,' Yell, Song Girl Coach, Dies

By EDWARD J. BOYER,
Times Staff Writer

Lindley Bothwell, revered as "Mr. B" by generations of song girls and yell leaders at USC where he was their volunteer coach for the past 60 years, died Thursday in Sherman Oaks after a long illness. He was 84.

A successful Woodland Hills citrus rancher, former Indianapolis 500 racer, pioneer surfer and collector of vintage cars, Bothwell was USC's first yell leader as an undergraduate in 1919. Then USC football coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson dubbed him "the worst yell leader I've ever seen."

Decades later, Bothwell chuckled at that evaluation, explaining that "I was leading yells when the quarterback was trying to call audibles."

He was a good enough baseball player to be offered a-then lucrative $10,000 signing bonus by Pittsburgh in 1923, but he turned it down on the advice of a coach to "get all the education you can. Nobody can take that away from you."

Kept Busy

In nine years, he completed undergraduate and master's degrees at USC and a bachelor's degree in agriculture at Oregon State University, where he was also a yell leader for three years.

In 1921, he started the first rotating card stunts in cheering sections at USC football games—the first being performed by 500 men, all wearing white shirts and seated at the 50-yard line in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Under his guidance, the USC Song Girls were named the best song-leading team in the United States in 1972 and again in 1974 by the International Cheerleading Foundation.

Bothwell's grandfather, Dr. Walter Lindley, was the first dean of the USC School of Medicine, and two of his aunts founded the university's chapter of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Bothwell, in turn, founded USC's chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity in 1926.

"I just never wanted to go any place else," he once said. "We lived over on 29th Street, and we could hear the yelling and screaming when there was a football game."

'Honest and Open'

He clearly enjoyed his association with young people, explaining in a 1980 interview that "the thing I like about the kids is that they kid you—if they like you, that is. They're very honest and open.

"But I'm their grandfather, not their father. Their father has to pay all their bills."

He is survived by his wife, Ann; a son, Lindley Jr.; a daughter, Bonnie; one brother, Douglas Bothwell, and a sister, Mary Low Fisher of New York City.

Funeral services are scheduled for Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at Old North Church in Forest Lawn Memorial-Park, Hollywood Hills. The family has suggested that donations may be made to the USC Song Girls/Yell Leaders Foundation or the USC School of Social Work's Crittenton Scholarship Fund.

Los Angeles Unified School District

In 2014 California's education system began transitioning to a new testing system and a shift to a new accountability system. As a result the previous API system of reporting was removed. Parents can now access each school's School Accountability Report Card (SARC) to review school's strengths and weaknesses. Although there is great variation in the design of school report cards, they generally begin with a profile that provides background information about the school and its students. The profile usually summarizes the school's mission, goals, and accomplishments. State law requires that the SARC contain all of the following: Demographic data, School safety and climate for learning information, Academic data, School completion rates, Class sizes, Teacher and staff information, Curriculum and instruction descriptions, Postsecondary preparation information Fiscal and expenditure data. The SARC can be found at http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/ac/sa/

Spec House Story Stirs Memories

Your article in The Times (March 18) regarding Spec Houses Big Business brought back memories of my early childhood in the San Fernando Valley.

The Bothwell property upon which Danny Howard is building expensive homes was sold to Bothwell in 1926 by my grandfather Henry R. Bristol, who along with my father Henry R. Bristol Jr. were the real pioneers on that property.

In 1914, my grandfather bought 82 acres with about one fourth mile frontage on Ventura Blvd. The property extended about one mile southward from there to Wells Drive. Grandfather and my father, in a partnership, planted 82 acres of orange trees shortly after buying the property.

At the planting time there was no irrigation water on the property. It was necessary to have water in a horse drawn tank wagon from Marion (now Reseda) to water the young trees. A year later the Owens Valley Aqueduct was completed to the ranch area and flood irrigation was installed.

My father and grandfather tended the ranch from 1914 until 1924 when my parents sold the 12 acres which was their share of the partnership. The 12 acres, including the house where we lived when I was born in 1916, was sold to Paul Howard of the Howard Nursery Co. for $25,000.

Two years later, my grandfather, in 1926, subdivided his 70 acres and sold part of the ranch to Lindley Bothwell. I think Bothwell had 20 or 30 acres, I'm not sure which. The 70 acres sold for an average of $3,000 per acre which was a good price for those days considering that my grandfather had paid an average of $300 per acre for the land in 1914.

When we left our 12 acres at my age of 8, farm houses were a mile apart. Now the ranch area is hardly recognizable. It was a lot nicer in 1924.

REMNANTS OF VALLEY'S CITRUS PAST STILL GROWING

Elizabeth Smilor\ Correspondent . Daily News ; Los Angeles, Calif. [Los Angeles, Calif]31 July 2004: U12.

ProQuest document link

ABSTRACT (ABSTRACT)

Ann Bothwell, whose husband Lindley started the ranch in 1923 with his parents, still lives there. Of the original 30 acres, 14 remain with about 1,900 trees. Twelve acres of Valencia orange trees are cultivated. About a third of the trees are from the 1920s, she says. Bothwell belongs to a Sunkist packing house in Oxnard that sends a crew down to pick the oranges. They're marketed as Sunkist oranges, she says.

[Karen Lenker]'s father, Homer Halverson, helped to plant the grove in 1929 on his uncle Olaf Halvorson's property along with his father, Ole Halverson. (The brothers spelled their surnames differently.) In his memoir, which he wrote for his family and CSUN prior to his death at age 99 last November, Homer Halverson recalls planting the Valencia orange trees.

"The Dodge truck was the delivery vehicle bringing the young trees from the nursery at Cascade Ranch, near the north end of Balboa Boulevard and the foothills," he wrote, adding that the ranch is now part of Granada Hills. "After delivery of the trees, alignment of rows about 12 feet apart was established. Next was digging holes to specified depth and matching distances apart with that of the rows, followed by delivery of the trees to the hole, setting them in place and back filling."

HOME\ Related story: Grow your own oranges

It is easy to be overwhelmed by the sights and sounds of the bustling San Fernando Valley of today, but for many years it was the scent of the Valley's citrus groves that left a lasting impression.

"You'd drive through there and smell the orange trees," says Karen Lenker, of the Central Coast town of Nipomo, whose grandfather and great-uncle owned farm land now comprising California State University, Northridge.

The citrus industry flourished here from the late 1800s into the mid- 1900s. In 1915, it was called the Valley's greatest industry, according to newspaper accounts of the day. By 1921, 3,000 employees worked at four citrus packing houses that exported 1.5 million boxes of oranges, lemons and grapefruit a year.

Following World War II, residential developments began rising and the groves falling. The citrus industry moved north to Ventura County and Central California, according to the Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner's office. Today there are two commercial groves left in Los Angeles County, said Deputy Agricultural Commissioner Richard Sokulsky - one at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, and the other at Bothwell Ranch in Woodland Hills.

Ann Bothwell, whose husband Lindley started the ranch in 1923 with his parents, still lives there. Of the original 30 acres, 14 remain with about 1,900 trees. Twelve acres of Valencia orange trees are cultivated. About a third of the trees are from the 1920s, she says. Bothwell belongs to a Sunkist packing house in Oxnard that sends a crew down to pick the oranges. They're marketed as Sunkist oranges, she says.

When asked why she's kept the ranch, Bothwell replied simply, "My home is here. I like it here. It has been my home for more than 50 years." She says every time the real-estate market heats up, her phone rings, but the land is not for sale.

She remembers a time when Ventura Boulevard was a two-lane road and groves covered most of the Valley. Then builders came, and the Ventura Freeway was extended, and slowly the groves disappeared.

"To those of us who lived here, it seemed like it was happening too fast," Bothwell says. "It's a shame to see part of the Valley's history go out. It would be nice if there were more green areas."

Bothwell's land is private, but there are groves in the Valley open to the public.

Orcutt Ranch Park in West Hills, a historical site owned by the Los Angeles Recreation and Parks Department, allows visitors to pick Valencia oranges and grapefruit during select times of the year. Built in 1921 as a vacation home for Union Oil executive William Orcutt and his wife, Mary, the 24-acre ranch is now primarily used for weddings and other special events. Earlier this month, the ranch held a public fruit pick and will do so again in the fall - late October or early November - depending on the harvest and staff availability. For more information, call the ranch at (818) 883- 6641. Admission is free, but a grocery bag full of citrus costs $2, and a box of fruit is $5.

A smaller grove is also open to the public near the southeast corner of the CSUN campus at Nordhoff Street and Zelzah Avenue. The six-acre grove with about 500 trees is all that's left of the land once owned by Lenker's ancestors.

The public is welcome to walk among the trees but is discouraged from eating the oranges.

"The grove is not maintained for that purpose," says Tom Brown, director of the university's physical plant. "We don't know if the fruit is viable."

Lenker's father, Homer Halverson, helped to plant the grove in 1929 on his uncle Olaf Halvorson's property along with his father, Ole Halverson. (The brothers spelled their surnames differently.) In his memoir, which he wrote for his family and CSUN prior to his death at age 99 last November, Homer Halverson recalls planting the Valencia orange trees.

"The Dodge truck was the delivery vehicle bringing the young trees from the nursery at Cascade Ranch, near the north end of Balboa Boulevard and the foothills," he wrote, adding that the ranch is now part of Granada Hills. "After delivery of the trees, alignment of rows about 12 feet apart was established. Next was digging holes to specified depth and matching distances apart with that of the rows, followed by delivery of the trees to the hole, setting them in place and back filling."

He also wrote about how they wrapped the young trees with tulle or cattail stems to protect them from frost in the winter. He then goes on to tell how they planted Milo maize, which was used for animal food, in the space between the rows of trees for about five years.

Descendants of Olaf Halvorson sold their land in the 1950s for the establishment of San Fernando Valley State College (later renamed CSUN) in 1958.

"It was with a bit of sadness that I witnessed the transformation of the orange groves into parking lots for the multitudes of students blessed with vehicles," Homer Halverson wrote.

It would not be long before the college needed more land and would buy the Halverson farm. Ole Halverson's wife, Laura, continued to live in the family house until her death in 1965.

"However, when she learned that her continued living there until the land was actually needed was subject to rental payments, she bitterly complained that this was the first time in her life she had to pay rent for a place to live," Halverson wrote.

CSUN students and staff have fought to keep the remaining six acres going.

"I just think it's important to preserve this relic of the Valley's agricultural past," says Robert Gohstand, professor emeritus in geography at CSUN. Gohstand has led an effort to preserve the grove since the early 1990s, when there was talk of putting a parking lot in its place.

The grove was rededicated in 1993, and money was raised for a new sprinkler system. There are about 500 orange trees, but not all of them are originals, he says. "Orange trees have a finite life span," Gohstand explains. So, as trees die, they are replaced with new ones.

Lenker and her sister, Gail Carson of La Canada Flintridge, would love to see the oranges harvested.

"I'd really like to explore ways to make use of the oranges," Carson says. She suggested making orange marmalade like that made from a historic grove at the Huntington Library, Art Collections and Botanical Gardens in San Marino.

Santa's Workers Sweat in Valley Orange Groves

CITRUS GIFTS—Lindley F. Bothwell is shown here busy packing Yule baskets made up of oranges and grapefruit grown on one of the last ranches in the Valley.

Santa's Workers Sweat in Valley Orange Groves

WOODLAND HILLS—There's nothing like a California Christmas tree.

It's loaded with round, heavy ornaments that taste as good as they smell.

It's an orange tree, of course, and a veteran citrus grower, Lindley F. Bothwell, is one of those growers who are busy right now packing their fragrant crops into gaily-wrapped Christmas packages to be sold all over Southern California.

Bothwell's Rancho Rinconada, located off Ventura Blvd., is so geared for Christmas that it looks like a Santa Claus workshop transplanted to the tropics. Fortifying this impression are the old railroad cars, Stutz Bearcats and steam tractors which Bothwell likes to collect and then leave standing around in his orchards.

Knows His Business

Plump grapefruit hang from branches growing out of the windows of decaying Toonerville trolleys which rest on trackless stretches of plowed fields.

But it isn't a gift from Santa that keeps this citrus ranch, which is located in a wealthy residential district, operating so profitably that its owner is able to ignore the offers of land-hungry subdividers.

The reason is Bothwell—a man who knows his business. He's been at it for 31 years on his 55 tree-studded acres in Woodland Hills.

The Christmas Market

Long ago he determined that the Valencia orange, when grown in the soil and climate of the San Fernando Valley, stayed on the trees longer than other oranges. This enabled its grower to hit the late market—the Christmas market.

By developing a year-round operation, he solved many of the problems which plague and often defeat other farmers who must work soil on the fringes of expanding cities. While other citrus growers have trouble getting labor to tend the trees and pick the fruit, Bothwell has a permanent crew of loyal men.

Make the Rounds

When there isn't enough work on his own ranch, Bothwell and his boys climb into their trucks and make the rounds of other groves all over the Valley. And between citrus seasons there's always Rancho Rinconada's tomato and hay crops which must be planted and harvested.

But right now they are sweating in the sunshine preparing the gifts of fancy San Fernando Valley oranges for Santa to bring down chimneys near and far come this Dec. 25.

SPEC HOUSES BIG BUSINESS

Gambling on Large Homes Southland Phenomenon

BY DAVID M. KINCHEN
Times Staff Writer

"I got a place in Bel-Air that cost ninety grand and I already spent more than that to fix it up . . . My wife's got a hundred and fifty grand in rocks and another seventy-five in furs and clothes . . . I got a Bentley, two Cadillacs, a Chrysler station wagon . . ."
—Raymond Chandler, "The Long Goodbye," 1953

A lot of escrows have closed in the quarter century since that novel was published and prices have skyrocketed in Bel Air and everywhere else, but the desire for large houses hasn't abated.

In fact, the desire has increased in the last few years to the point builders and developers are constructing speculative houses priced from about $250,000 to more than $1 million all over the Southland.

It is a phenomenon that may be unique to California, this building of expensive spec houses: Builders and lenders everywhere else are too conservative—and they have memories of past building depressions.

Since building recovered in the Southland in 1976, many persons have decided that building and marketing one or more expensive spec houses is the road to fame and fortune. Some have discovered it is the road to bankruptcy and lawsuits.

Spec house builders include business opportunity brokers and architects as well as real estate brokers and builders.

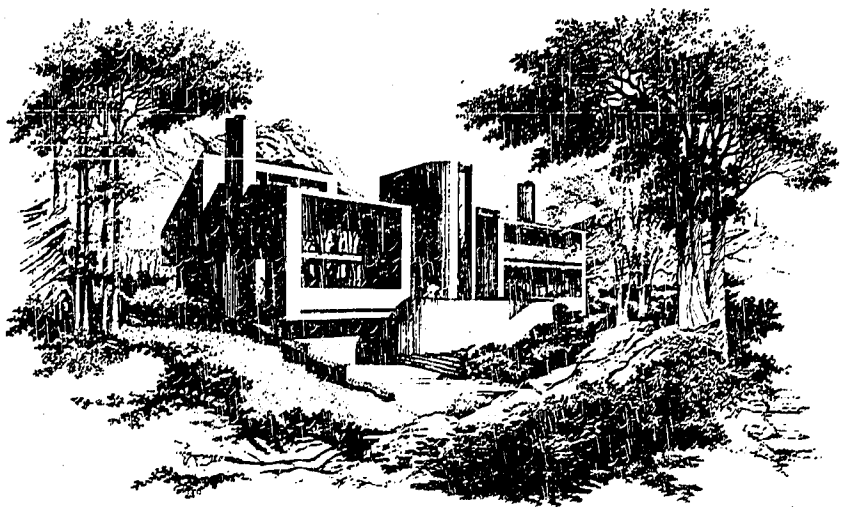
Danny Howard, president of Beverly Development Co., 3924 Wilshire Blvd., was a business opportunities broker before he became a builder three years ago. He began with apartments and is currently building five spec houses in the 5400 block of Cordin Ave.

The English Tudor-styled houses range in size from about 4,500 to 10,000 square feet and are priced from $440,000 to about $800,000. Howard is saving the biggest house for himself.

"There really are only two markets for housing in Southern California or anywhere else," he said on the site of his development. "The low end for those who need shelter and the high end for those who want to display their affluence. I'm building for the high end."

The high-end market in Tarzana, according to Howard, has the houses placed south of Ventura Blvd., on large enough lots for swimming pools or tennis courts.

His houses have lots at least a half acre in size, with room for north-south tennis courts. R.G. Firestone of Encino designed the houses with plenty of wood trim and wood-framed casement windows.



"People who buy big-bucks houses want a lot of wood, a lot of fireplaces and a lot of space," Howard said. "They're generally self-employed or professional people who don't have to worry about financing."

Howard's houses are on property purchased from the Bothwell family, one of the pioneers in the San Fernando Valley—a family honored with a street named after them (Bothwell Road).

The site was once an orange grove and mature orange trees border the houses to the east.

Why do persons in the high income category buy spec homes, rather than hiring an architect to design them a custom house?

"We're talking about people in a hurry," Howard said. "They made their money in a hurry and they want the house now, not a year or two down the road. They've heard about building delays, so they don't want to go through the hassles of custom building."

BELL CANYON—Rendering shows contemporary speculative house for guarded community.

Bogidar M. Bernkopf, like Howard, is in his 30s. He comes from Bulgaria, was educated at Charles University in Prague, Czechoslovakia, where he studied engineering, and was graduated from USC's School of Architecture and Fine Arts. With a French mother and a Turkish father, he looks like the man in the Camel cigarette ads.

He is president of the Woodland Hills-based Bernkopf Designs, an architectural and engineering firm, formerly known as Design +. Most of his work is in the West San Fernando Valley, including the gate-guarded community of Bell Canyon.

What makes Bernkopf's houses unusual, if not unique, is that they are contemporary speculative houses. What is even more surprising, according to Libby Warren, Bernkopf's exclusive sales agent, is that the houses sell quickly.

"It's been my experience that Bouje's (hardly anyone calls him Bogidar) houses sell within 30 days of the carpeting being put down," Ms. Warren said. She works out of the Encino office of Jerry Berns and Associates. "Our buyer profile tends to favor people in the creative arts who are confident enough in their tastes to want something more than the standard English Tudor."

Bernkopf is proud of the fact that the buyer of one of his Bell Canyon houses is Kennetn Butts, a fellow architect.

His homes are priced much more reasonably than most spec houses, being concentrated in the $140,000 to $270,000 range. He has designed and built eight houses and has three more under way.

"When I started designing and building the houses three years ago, my friends told me that contemporary houses wouldn't sell," he said. "I proved that I could build them competitively in cost with tract houses and I found a market."

Like most architects, Bernkopf doesn't care much for architectural review boards, including the one that operates in Bell Canyon. He has resisted the pressure from that particular board to steer him into the kind of Palos Verdes Peninsula Spanish and ranch houses that are found throughout the boulder-strewn development.

"I'm not interested in designing houses like that," he says simply.

Ron Abrams, vice president and manager of the Sunset/West Hollywood office of Harleigh Sandler Realtors, spends a good ideal of his waking hours looking for the next Trousdale or Bel Air.

Benedict Hills, south of Mulholland Drive and east of Benedict Canyon Drive, is his latest nomination. Centering around Hutton Drive, the area has a Beverly Hills post office (but Los Angeles schools) and has attracted Lynda (Wonder Woman) Carter, record executive Michael O'Martian and Wally Ganzi, owner of the Palm restaurant.

Standing in front of Ganzi's mansard-roofed house, Abrams said that four or five years ago, the area was dead in the water as far as homebuyers were concerned.

"Today, the entire Mulholland corridor—particularly Benedict Hills—is highly desirable," he said. "It's pastoral, quiet, picturesque, but it's just up the hill from Beverly Hills, Hollywood, the entire West Side and it's close to the studios in the San Fernando Valley."

Benedict Hills began to flourish several years ago when Richard Weiss and Larry Field acquired land there and entered into joint ventures with several major builders, Abrams said.

Among the builders are Canyon Crest Estates (Max Medvin and Roy Norris), Herb Fond and Sanford Spielman, Ed Blanchard, Barry Dean and Beverlyview (Jona Goldrich and Sol Kest).

The houses range in price from about $400,000 to more than $800,000 and have at least 4,000 square feet, he said.

"A home with a tennis court, or space for one, will bring between $100,000 and $200,000 more than one without," he added. "The appreciation of property in the area has been amazing. I participated in the sale of a home with a tennis court for $383,000 in January, 1977. One year later the same home sold for $615,000. Today it's probably worth $850,000."

Not far from Benedict Hills, at 14810 and 14820 Mulholland Drive in Bel Air, two spec houses are being completed by SWC Properties, 241 S. Robertson Blvd., Beverly Hills. The Spanish design at 14820 is priced at $675,000 and the redwood contemporary next door is priced at $625,000.

"We're looking for people who bought a house in Brentwood for $20,000 20 years ago and who are cashing in on an equity of $200,000 or more," said Richard Perri, vice president of SWC's brokerage division.

"This buyer is often a salaried person taking advantage of his equity," he said. "The other type of buyer is a young —mid-30s or so—self-employed person with a large income who wants to live in Bel Air with a large house, a pool, a tennis court."

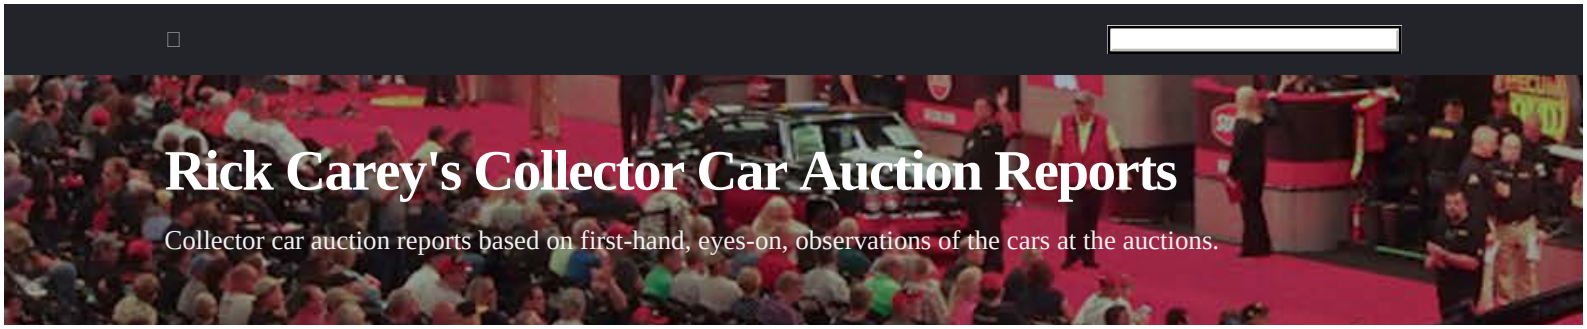
Designed by architect Michael Terauchi of Beverly Hills, the two-story Spanish-style house and the five-level contemporary both have solar hot water, provided by well concealed rooftop collector panels.

SWC is headed by Samuel W. Chew, who said that a third category of buyer for expensive spec houses is transferred executives.

"If the executives is high enough up in the corporate structure, his company will pay for his home in the Los Angeles area," Chew said. "Otherwise they will lose people from back East who can't afford to transfer out here."

Anything Los Angeles County can do, Orange County can do as expensively, and custom spec homes are no exception.

Take a new 5,775-square-foot Spanish-style villa in the Tustin Hills, for instance. But only if you have $1.2 million, the asking price for the house built by James J. Birmingham and Greg Johnson and designed by Gared Smith AIA of Newport Beach.



The house has five bedrooms, six baths, a game room with a walk-in cantina and wine cellar, two staircases, tiled decks offering views of neighboring houses and the lights of Newport Center, and elaborate master suites, according to John Miller of the custom homes division of Donald M. Bird Association, the sales agent.

Those whose turf is the West Side may not realize it, but the hills of Orange County are alive with the sound of money, not to mention Mercedes Benzes and Rolls Royces.

The Auction Weekend at the Bothwell Ranch

NOVEMBER 17, 2017 · AUCTION REPORT · 6 COMMENTS

Lindley and Ann Bothwell's Bothwell Ranch is a fabled, quiet collection of automobiles secreted away among million dollar houses at Woodland Hills in the San Fernando Valley west of Los Angeles.

Citrus groves once covered the Valley, but they are no more. Only the Bothwell Ranch remains, a carefully nurtured and preserved few acre oasis of California history.

Lindley Bothwell died in 1986. Ann preserved this small remnant of his husbandry which once comprised thousands of acres of owned and managed groves. She died a year ago and on November 11 Bonhams dispersed (most of) Lindley and Ann Bothwell's automotive, railroad and collecting legacy at the Ranch.

It was an epic event that will be included among similar dispositions of collections by Harrah's, Edward Gordon Thompson's Gleneagles Collection, Judge Roy Hofheinz, Cohn, Rick Carroll, Ben Moser, Philip Wichard, A.K. Miller and Richard C. Paine. These milestones are getting steadily more rare as the legacies of early collectors are dispersed.

Lindley Bothwell was a man of many accomplishments but it is as an early car collector – he acquired his first 'collector car' before 1930 – that he is best remembered. And more than a collector, Bothwell used his cars enthusiastically.

In the years after WWII he organized what are probably the first vintage car races including on Santa Catalina island and a re-creation of the Santa Monica road race. Sanctioned by AAA, the entries were drawn from his personal collection and driven by friends and acquaintances among the pre-war racing community.

The Bothwell collection became almost mythical as, except for annual visits by the Fabulous Fifties club that ended a few years ago, it was largely inaccessible since his death.

Its disposition became an event, a chance to view the legendary Bothwell cars in their native habitat, the last orange grove in the San Fernando Valley. People like me, who knew of, and wondered about, it made the pilgrimage to Woodland Hills to see it for the first and last time. Others came back, relating their experiences of twenty, thirty and even forty years ago when they came to the Bothwell Ranch for the first time.

Gooding & Company's David Gooding was there to bid on one of the cars and said, 'If it weren't for Lindley Bothwell I probably would not be doing what I do today. My father saw one of his events and became enthralled by his Pope-Hartford [the car in today's sale]. He loved the sound, relished the experience and made up his mind to own one, which he eventually did. That started my experience with old cars.'

Bonhams seized the opportunity to disperse a single-owner collection of legendary stature by holding the sale at the Bothwell Ranch and did a masterful job of organizing and presenting some 400 lots of tools, automobilia, railroadiana and model trains that took five hours to sell.

The cars were spread out on the property, some in their garages and barns, others arrayed along the roads backed by the ranch's citrus trees, a few in high visibility display in or near the auction marquee. The layout encouraged exploring the ranch making it an adventure that rewarded casting about with discovery of an Autocar, a Model T or Clement-Panhard tucked away, like sitting down with a kid to scour a Richard Scarrey book finding Lowly Worm.

Bonhams, Greenwich Concours,

The water bottles and cocktail cups had the 1914 Peugeot L45's picture on them.

The setting was perfect with the citrus trees, a few roses and old wood framed metal sheathed, corrugated roof buildings and Quonset huts painted a uniform shade of weathered emerald green which, for the sake of uniformity in the individual vehicle descriptions will be called 'Bothwell Ranch Green.'

Mecum Auctions, Spring Classic State Fairgrounds, Indianapolis, May 15-19, 2019 Part I: AM General through Ford Mustang

Bonhams' Evan Ide managed to get a few of the cars to run (Chandler, Pope Hartford, Stearns, Mercedes-Simplex) and strategically made a series of demonstrations before the auction. Particularly during the automobilia sale their engines' reverberations added character to the static objects and built anticipation for the cars to come.

Most of the cars were aged; only the Peugeot L45, Prinz-Heinrich Benz and Mercedes-Simplex had recent cosmetic and mechanical attention. Some could be mechanically freshened and used as-is but most were restoration projects. Many had Bothwell-built runabout bodies, far removed from their original coachwork. But only one of them should ever be 'restored' with facsimiles of their original coachwork (the Prinz-Heinrich Benz which begs for a reproduction of the bodywork as driven by Barney Oldfield that was lost in the Bothwell collection fire in the late-40's): These were cars that excited souls with their demonstrations, that appeared in movies and have Lindley Bothwell provenance. Re-clothed as a sedan, touring car or roadster they would lose the connection with their most important history in the Bothwell collection.

The sale itself was a major success and here are the numbers:

Year	Cars Sold/ Offered	Sale %	Sold < Low Est	Sold > High Est	Average Sale	Median Sale	Total $
2017	48/48	100%	22.9%	47.9%	$272,530	$41,800 [15.3%]	$13,081,420

The hammer bids were 177.3% of the pre-sale low estimates, an unprecedented achievement. The Peugeot alone sold on the hammer ($6.6 million) for nearly as much as the entire pre-sale estimate for the entire car consignment ($6.7 million.) The Median/Average ratio isn't a comment on Bonhams estimates; rather it is a function of the 'Bothwell Premium' which cars from this collection brought and Bonhams highly effective marketing and promotion of it.

It was a magical weekend in Woodland Hills, right up there with Christie's A.K. Miller auction in East Orange, Vermont twenty years ago.

Bonhams placement of the cars in the run order is important so in contrast to recent auction reports these are in their auction run order. All the car lots (and Kalakaua the steam locomotive) are here, even the ones not evaluated on-site.

I hope you enjoy this report as much as I enjoyed the weekend in Woodland Hills.

Lot # 363 1897 Baldwin 0-4-2 Locomotive and cars; Black, Red cab, Silver; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Older restoration, 4- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $170,455 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $187,501 April 1927 replacement boiler, wooden cow catcher, includes two coaches, three other cars and a handcar. – Built for service in Hawaii where it was christened Kalakaua, brought to the mainland later and bought by Lindley Bothwell in 1964. Once used, according to people at the sale who had seen it, to steam down to the rails' terminus at Ventura Blvd loaded with Bothwell fruit to sell on weekends. Seized up and not working. Sheared fasteners on the boiler. Drive gear disconnected. Complete rejuvenation required. The new owner can probably have as much light track as can be leveraged up from the site. – Successful hammer bid was $150,000 plus commission of 25%. This is a monster project to get steaming again but that didn't deter enthusiastic bidding and it is when restored a complete, running railroad for passengers and freight. 'Light Rail' from the 1890's.

Lot # 400 1981 Honda GL1100 Gold Wing Motorcycle Custom; S/N 1HFSC020XBA121098; Estimate $5,000 – $6,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $5,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $5,500 – Built for the 1995 Disney movie 'Tall Tale: The Unbelievable Adventures of Pecos Bill' as the ride for its antagonist, J.P. Stiles. The disc brakes are incongruous. Not used for many years. –

Lot # 401 1916 Henderson V-Twin Motorcycle Combination; S/N Engine No.

75558; Engine # 75558; Estimate $20,000 – $25,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $17,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $18,700.

Lot # 402 1901 Clement-Panhard Type VCP 4 1/2hp Voiture Legere Vis-a Vis; S/N 313; Engine # 313; Yellow, Black fenders and running gear/Black leather; No top; Estimate $40,000 – $50,000; Older restoration, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $55,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $60,500 RHD. Wheel steering, single Solar self-generating headlight, 20th Century sidelights, single cylinder Panhard engine, double chain drive. – In the Bothwell collection since the early 40's. Aged, chipped old restoration, grimy, dirty chassis. Sound upholstery. Largely complete but tired. – One of the best things about this Clement-Panhard is that it is simple and its re-restoration is unlikely to encounter any serious obstacles. Brighton Run eligible, it isn't fast, but is solid and reliable, attributes that are reflected in its over-estimate price.

Lot # 403 1926 Rolls-Royce Silver Ghost 40/50hp Pickup; S/N S248PK; Engine # 21214; Burgundy,/Black; Estimate $50,000 – $70,000; Modified restoration, 3-condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $145,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $159,500 Bausch & Lomb drum headlights and cowl lights, dual sidemounts, body color wire wheels, windshield visor, varnished wood bed, brass radiator grille, chrome lights. – Originally a Tilbury Sedan, attractively cut down and completed in pickup configuration with quality bodywork and good wood bed. Sound and in decent, practical condition. Thick old repaint, weak bright trim. Road grimy chassis. – The temptation to re-create the Tilbury body would completely miss the point of this Bothwell Silver Ghost which embodies Lindley Bothwell's appreciation for quality mechanics and a whimsical willingness to put them to practical use. It deserves to stay exactly the way it is. It is one of the best examples of the soul of the Bothwell collection, respect for quality and performance, but willingness to put them to practical application. The exceptional price paid for it indicates that the new owner 'got it'.

Lot # 404 1929 Ford Model AA Paddy Wagon; S/N AA874782; Engine # R421105M; Estimate $10,000 – $15,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $7,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $8,250.

Lot # 405 1923 Ford Model T Stake truck; S/N Engine No. 7492003; Engine # 7492003; Black, Bothwell Ranch Green bed/Black leatherette; Estimate $10,000 – $15,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $15,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $17,050 An open cab trunk with an added C-Cab roof – Usable paint and interior, old probably unrestored engine and chassis. A usable farm truck with many film credits including Titanic, Roots, The Aviator and even a Beverly Hillbillies reunion commercial. Not run in a long time but easily brought back to running, driving condition. – It is impossible not to like this truck, despite its age, a sentiment displayed by the bidders with this superior price.

Lot # 406 1925 Ford Model T Speedster; S/N Engine No. 12233544; Engine # 12233544; Estimate $3,000 – $4,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $6,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $6,600.

Lot # 407 1924 Ford Model T Coupe; S/N Engine No. 12675376; Engine # 12675376; Estimate $4,000 – $5,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $10,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $11,550.

Lot # 408 1914 Peugeot L45 Grand Prix; S/N 1; Engine # 1; Dark Blue/Red leather; Estimate $3,000,000 – $5,000,000; Competition restoration, 3+ condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $6,600,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $7,260,000 RHD. Crankcase stamped B 3.622 S 6 19/32. Timing tower stamped 1. 4-speed, with reverse, odd pattern. 4-wheel brakes, centerlock wire wheels. Exposed valve springs. Jones 2,650 rpm tach, red line at 1,200 rpm (one at 1,400 has been removed.) Pointed tail with spare tire hump and tapered tail top as-raced in the U.S. Friction shocks. 32×4 1/2 Dunlop tires, black wire wheels. Miller barrel throttle valve updraft carb, spare damaged crankcase and the original Peugeot carburetor included. – Tail panels are probably original. Hood panels are clean but the ribs look much older and old repairs suggest the hood is original, too. Old woodrim steering wheel on an aluminum 4-spoke rim. Good older paint, some edge chips, good upholstery. Done like a racecar and used, including Goodwood Festival 2003 and 2011. The founding creation for dual overhead camshaft engines and the last of the Peugeot 'Charlatans' cycle that began in 1911. The spare Peugeot at the 1914 Lyon GP, third at Indianapolis in 1916 driven by Ralph Mulford. Raced at Indianapolis in 1919 by Art Klein (dnf, oil line) then by Klein at Elgin, Uniontown, NJ, Sheepshead Bay (Brooklyn, NY) and Cincinnati and Beverly Hills in 1920 before being retired by Klein in favor of a Frontenac. Joe Boyer picked up the Peugeot for the 1923 season when he drove it to second in the AAA dirt championship. Acquired from Art Klein in 1949 by Lindley Bothwell, he quickly registered it with AAA, took it to the Brickyard and set a qualifying run average of 103.24 mph, more than Johnny Aitken's fastest 1916 Peugeot qualifying speed of 96.7 mph. Other than its shiny paint and intact upholstery it is as-raced over a century ago, with its original body panels, engine and chassis, the foundation of every high performance dual overhead camshaft engine today, the only surviving GP Peugeot and one of only two similar cars, the other being a 3-liter voiturette built for sports car races. Its history is abundantly documented with photos and a series of AAA race car registration plates beginning in 1919 and 1949-1952 while owned by Lindley Bothwell. – Disclosure: I cataloged the Peugeot for Bonhams, a rare and special privilege. This Peugeot bristles with innovation, even beyond the dual overhead camshaft engine to include things like dry sump lubrication and centerlock wheels. All but one of the other Peugeot dohc cars were raced into oblivion making this one of the most important cars to come to auction in years. Its historical significance is reinforced by amazing originality and a continuous ownership history from Peugeot through Lutcher Brown, Frank Book, Ralph Mulford, Art Klein and Lindley Bothwell. It is impossible to overstate the importance and originality of this Peugeot and it could easily have brought even more than this over-estimate price without being unreasonable. There is no aspect of the car that isn't wonderful. Sold to a Florida collector where it will be in good hands.

Lot # 409 1913 Fiat Model 56 45hp 7-Passehger Touring; S/N S10601; Dark Red, Black fenders/Black leather; Beige cloth top; Estimate $70,000 – $90,000; Unrestored original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $55,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $60,500 RHD. 522 cid 45 NACC hp, 4-speed, 55,595 miles on a dash mounted Warner speedometer, 30,284 miles on a floor-mounted FIAT speedometer, jump seats, dual right side spare wheel mounts, body color wood spoke wheels, Westinghouse spring shackle shocks. – Superficial old repaint over old paint, tattered old front seat upholstery but sound old rear and jump seat upholstery Torn, sun rotted old top. Old, crusty road grime and oil underneath. Bodged old dashboard wiring. A complete and handsomely bodied restoration project. – This is one of the better values in the Bothwell sale, a particularly good looking high horsepower Brass Era giant that is largely original. Restoration will not be inexpensive but all the important bits and bobs are here to aid the restorer in doing it accurately and it is certainly possible to make it run and drive without compromising its impressive originality giving the new owner the opportunity to enjoy its originality before committing to restoration.

Lot # 410 1915 National Six Series AA Coupe; S/N 10250; Engine # 6076; Red, Black fenders and roof/Burgundy cloth; Estimate $30,000 – $40,000; Cosmetic restoration, 3- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $38,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $41,800 364/34 NACC hp six, 3-speed, Rear-facing right front jump seat, body color wood spoke wheels, opening windshield, dual rear-mounted spares, pullup side and rear windows, C.M. Hall bell electric headlights, Warner speedometer, bud vases. – Elegant but tall, erect coachwork with curved front quarter windows. Quick old repaint with overspray. Badly peeling paint on the upper body wood. Pitted trim chrome and aged instruments. Grimy engine and chassis. Sound old upholstery. A wonderful basis for restoration. – The style of this 4-place coupe is striking, with a tall greenhouse (taller from the window sill to the roof than it is from the window sill to the bottom of the doors), abundant glass and a tiny turtle style rear deck. It has a commanding presence and has been reasonably well maintained to go with its several movie cameos.

Lot # 411 1915 Studebaker Model 5 Hearse; S/N 4039383; Engine # 4c44459; Estimate $8,000 – $12,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $14,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $15,400 192/19.6 ALAM hp, 3-speed, carved wood box sides..

Lot # 412 1922 Ford Model TT Fire truck; S/N Engine No. 6085079; Engine # 6085079; Estimate $14,000 – $16,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $9,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $10,450.

Big horsepower lined up at the Bothwell Ranch.

Lot # 413 1929 Locomobile 48 Series 7 Open Front Town Car, Body by C.P. Kimball; S/N 18009; Dark Blue, Black composite roof/Black leather, Beige cloth; Estimate $50,000 – $70,000; Unrestored original, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $47,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $51,700 Dual rear-mounted spares, rollup division, jump seats, vanity and smoker's kits, opera lights, wood spoke wheels, drum headlights, tool roll. – Given a preservative coat of paint long ago, otherwise original and very tired but not compromised. Cracked leather, torn and peeling roof covering. Sound old rear compartment upholstery, trim and wood. A majestic restoration project. – A magnificent automobile with power from a 525 cubic inch T-head six, the potential for this car is exceptional, even with the rather erect formal coachwork by a rarely seen but recognized coachbuilder in Chicago. C.P. Kimball closed down in 1929 and this must have been one of its last jobs. It is a sound value at this price even if this is only the beginning of the process and expense.

Lot # 414 1910 Winton Model 48 Model 17A 7-Passenger Touring; S/N 9464;

Engine # 9464; Primrose,/Red vinyl; White vinyl top; Estimate $125,000 – $150,000; Unrestored original, 4 condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $146,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $160,600 RHD. 477/48.6 ALAM hp, 4-speed, Stromberg carburetor, Gray & Davis 119 acetylene headlights, Atwood-Castle kerosene taillight, kerosene sidelights, dual right side spare wheel mounts, jump seats, varnished wood spoke wheels, compressed air starter. – Acquired from the L.A. County Museum in the early 50's and apparently untouched since. It has preservation-quality paint that's done its job. Dull brass, stiff upholstery and top. Movie and television history in Roots, The Great Race, Fantasy Island and East of Eden. Sound, complete and ready to restore. – Wintons are known both for their quality and for somewhat quirky design details. This example doesn't disappoint on either point and while aged and unused in years is substantially complete which should make resuscitation or restoration a reasonable project. It's one of many cars in the Bothwell collection that could make up a whole Preservation class. The bidders appreciated its design, quality and preservation and paid a price that is fair to both the Bothwell family and the new owner.

Lot # 415 1911 Mitchell Model R Runabout; S/N R18474; Engine # 17094; Red, L.A.F.D./Black leather; Estimate $15,000 – $20,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $25,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $27,500 RHD. Warner speedometer, cylindrical bolster tank, hand crank siren, Rushmore acetylene headlights, folded trumpet bulb horn, Gray & Davis kerosene sidelights, no taillight, red lens Rushmore searchlight, dash clock, body color wood spoke wheels, Prest-o-Lite tank. – Liveried as an LAFD Chief's fast response vehicle, but no known history before it was acquired by Lindley Bothwell some eight decades ago. Dull old paint and brass Sound but aged, stiff and dirty upholstery. Road grimy engine, driveline and chassis. Sound and complete but done to mediocre museum display standards and in need of complete restoration. – This is a rare marque (despite there being two of them in the Bothwell auction) with a big, powerful 4-cylinder engine and it caught the attention of the bidders today, bringing a healthy price.

Lot # 416 1915 Ford Model TT Open-side van; S/N Engine No. 8572187; Engine #

Lot # 417 1902 Packard Model G Surrey; S/N Engine No. 2; Engine # 2; Burgundy,/Black leather; Estimate $250,000 – $350,000; Older restoration, 3-condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $385,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $423,500 RHD. 368/28.8hp opposed twin, two carburetors, 3-speed sliding gear transmission, rear entrance tonneau with a fixed surrey roof, wood-framed windshield, wicker pannier baskets, electric starter. – Believed to be the sole surviving Packard Twin, bought by Lindley Bothwell seven decades ago. Damaged in the 1949 fire and accurately restored to its original configuration after. An old restoration showing its age, sound and usable but in need of much work and some new upholstery in the rear where critters lived. – One of the stars of the Bothwell collection and an important milestone in the development of the automobile in America it deserves and no doubt will receive a comprehensive restoration in its new owner's hands but first might be gone through mechanically and subjected to the judgment of the VCC Dating Committee in anticipation of a turn at the LBVCR in 2018 where its presentation would be acclaimed. While it is expensive there is no denying its value and significance.

Lot # 418 1912 Cadillac Model 30 2-seat Race Car; S/N Engine No. 65002; Engine # 65002; Dark Green,/Black vinyl; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Modified for competition during restoration 3 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $58,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $63,800 RHD. Platform rear suspension, electric headlights, varnished wood spoke wheels, single rear spare. – Later 2-seat runabout body. Sound paint and upholstery, dull brass. Dusty but not grimy running gear. Sound and usable as is. – One of the better presented cars in the Bothwell collection and said to have been running and driving recently, this is a huge price for a made-up car.

Lot # 419 1930 Ford Model AA Flatbed; S/N Engine No. A3185843; Engine # A3185843; Dark Green, Black fenders/Black leatherette; Estimate $8,000 – $10,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $9,200 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $10,120 Steel spoke wheels, dual rear wheels, windshield visor. – A typical farm truck older restoration, good enough to use and presentable at 20 feet. Probably too good to do over but aged and dirty. – This is just a fun old truck that will fit right in at a ranch, farm, vineyard or stable and carry its weight in produce or feed while attracting the attention of passersby. It is a sound value at this price.

Lot # 420 1908 Benz Prinz-Heinrich 75-105hp Raceabout; S/N Engine No. 5691; Engine # 5691; White,/Black leather; Estimate $1,000,000 – $1,500,000; Competition restoration, 2- condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $1,700,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $1,870,000 RHD. 7,272/105hp overhead valve 4-cylinder with four 45-degree inclined valves per cylinder, side-mounted camshafts, pushrods and rocker arms. H-pattern 4-speed, shaft drive, cylindrical oil and fuel tank, dual rear spares, Firestone 34×4 1/2 tires, demountable rims, wood spoke artillery wheels. – Acquired by Lindley Bothwell from Eddie Maier of the Maier Brewing Company in Los Angeles, a longtime Barney Oldfield sponsor, it had been owned and used by Oldfield for Firestone promotions as well as in the Mack Sennett Keystone Kops short 'Race for a Life'. Its original road equipped body was taken off and stored on the Bothwell Ranch in favor of a simple two-seat runabout, but the original body was consumed in the ranch fire in 1949 and this reproduction was built in 2006 when the car was invited to the Goodwood Revival. Its current condition reflects the 2005-6 restoration with sound cosmetics and lightly used engine and chassis. – The appeal of this Benz would be significantly enhanced with the addition of lighting, fenders, road equipment and luggage rack as it was used by the 'Speed King of the World' and photographed in many period pictures. Its engine designed by Hans Nibel and Georg Diehl is technically and historically significant, a predecessor to 'The Charlatans' dohc Peugeot. This result isn't a bargain, but the Benz needs little to be a real standout on tours and a potential winner at historic races. It might even rescue the 'damsel in distress' tied to the railroad tracks as Barney Oldfield and Mack Sennett did a hundred years ago.

Lot # 421 1912 Austro-Daimler Touring Victoria; S/N Engine No. 230; Engine # 230; Burgundy,/Black leather; Black leatherette cape top; Estimate $120,000 – $140,000; Unrestored original, 3- condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $160,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $176,000 CAV electric headlights, E&J kerosene sidelights, kerosene taillight, 727 cubic inch/52.9 ALAM hp Wisconsin T-head four cylinder engine, Austro Daimler gearbox, dual right side spare mounts. – Apparently one of few British-built 'Austrian Daimler' cars based upon its radiator badge. Superficial old preservation quality repaint. Tattered front seat leather, much better rear compartment. Impressively solid body with doors that close crisply. Dirty engine and chassis, dull brass. Used in the 1992 movie Chaplin and in Titanic. Needs restoration. – This Austrian Daimler (according to its radiator badge) with its cape top is deal for touring a garden on a bright British summer's day. It is remarkably sound and its old Wisconsin T-head four will give it plenty of performance, even for its size and weight. Its condition is better than many of the Bothwell car, but hardly ready for showing, an elegant and rare high horsepower conveyance that personifies style and distinction, bought at a realistic price for its stature and Bothwell provenance.

Lot # 422 1907 Mitchell Model F Touring; S/N Engine No. 1550; Engine # 1550; Maroon,/Black leather; Black vinyl top; Estimate $35,000 – $50,000; Older restoration, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $65,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $71,500 RHD. 318cid four with overhead exhaust valves, Solar self-generating headlights, Solar kerosene sidelights, 3-speed sequential gearbox, varnished wood spoke wheels. – Dirty, tired, cracked, chipped old restoration. Sound and largely complete but needs to be done over. Surprisingly original and sound, a solid and rare restoration project. – This is an intriguing old ride with L-head intake, overhead exhaust and exposed valve gear, commodious coachwork and surprising originality despite its old restoration. An early California registration tag indicates it's always been in this dry and benign climate, an inference also drawn from its solid condition. Generous, but not irrational.

Lot # 423 1948 Ford Super Deluxe Station Wagon; S/N 899A2051506; Pheasant Red, Black composite roof/Saddle vinyl; Estimate $30,000 – $50,000; Older restoration, 3- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $46,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $50,600 3-speed, radio, hubcaps, trim rings, whitewalls, 2-row seating, no heater, enclosed rear spare, fog lights. – Sound older paint, interior and chrome. Stainless trim has a few small nearly buffed out dents. The wood is varnished over old shrinkage cracks, joints have some water stains and the varnish on the left front door panel is peeling. The underbody has been restored but long ago. Far from pristine but good enough to drive before redoing the restoration. – Not messed up, just kept in good condition and suffering only from a few years' static storage, this '48 Ford woodie is a solid value, as solid as the car and its wood is.

Lot # 424 2005 Cadillac DeVille 4-Dr. Sedan; S/N 1G6KD64Y45U122342; Engine #; Estimate $5,000 – $7,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $5,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $5,500. Ann Bothwell's daily driver.

Lot # 425 1913 Ford Model T C-Cab Delivery; S/N; Engine #; Estimate $8,000 – $12,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $9,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $10,450.

Lot # 426 1914 Packard 1-38 Dominant Six Runabout; S/N 39054; Engine # 39188; White,/Red leather; Beige top; Estimate $80,000 – $120,000; Unrestored original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $130,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $143,000 415/65hp six, 3-speed, Warner speedometer, Solar kerosene taillights, kerosene sidelights, McKee electric headlights, steering column mounted Bosch 'control center', mother-in-law seat, beveled glass oval quarter windows, varnished wood spoke wheels. – Short 115 1/2 inch wheelbase. In the Bothwell collection since the 1940's. Superficial old preservation paint. Cracked and torn old upholstery. Sound but aged old paint. Dull brass. Scurrilous old undercarriage with peeling old exterior paint. A sound and complete Packard, but a restoration project. – With the top up this is a funky early car, almost a caricature. With the top down it is sleek and sporting. Have it both ways with your sweetie by your side (and her mother in the back), it has style and sporting appeal and is a car that would be ideal to refresh mechanically and drive. It won't impress a Pebble Beach judge, but the rest of the world will think it's sweet.

Lot # 427 1908 Mercedes-Simplex 45hp Raceabout, Body by J.M. Quinby; S/N Engine No. 9367; Engine # 9367; Yellow,/Black leather; Estimate $900,000 – $1,200,000; Competition restoration, 3- condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $975,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $1,072,500 RHD. 576cid T-Head four, Zenith carburetor, reverse pattern 4-speed, right foot throttle outside the body with no heel rest, rear wheel brakes, double chain drive, G. Zimmermann, Stuttgart acetylene headlights, 36×4 1/2 Firestone tires, demountable rim wood spoke artillery wheels, cycle style fenders. – Sound fairly recent paint with some fisheyes, unevenly masked black accents, tired but largely sound old upholstery, newer driver's seat cushion. Dull old aluminum. Engine painted old flat black. Daimler Mercedes Unterturkheim wheel nuts. Mercedes Simplex engine tag #9367, N. No. 708, M No. 41. Grungy but maintained engine and chassis. Driven by Jesus Sanchez in the 1951 Lindley Bothwell's 'First Annual Avalon to Isthmus Road Race' on Santa Catalina island's dirt roads. Fired up and demonstrated on the Bothwell Ranch's roads leading up to the auction. – Described by Bothwell as a 65hp, examination on-site showed the bore to be that of the original 45hp engine. The bodywork is later, but that's of no account given this Mercedes-Simplex's history with Lindley Bothwell. A legendary automobile with an attached legendary ownership and history with Lindley Bothwell. It's worth what the Bothwell Ranch bidders determined and the new owner should not be disappointed at paying this much.

Lot # 428 1921 Ford Model T Runabout; S/N Engine No. 4907449; Engine # 4907449; Yellow, Black frame/Black leather; Estimate $10,000 – $15,000; Modified for competition during restoration 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $17,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $18,700 Frontenac ohv head, Winfield carburetor, Ruckstell 2-speed rear axle, bucket seats. – Sound but crude paint, sound upholstery. Not running. – History has it that Lindley Bothwell sometimes vanquished all of his more prestigious racing and semi-racing cars with this Frontenac-head Model T 'Stinger', an apocryphal history that may very well be true given its light weight and the power of the modified engine. The combination of performance and Lindley Bothwell provenance makes this a major value even a little over the high estimate.

Lot # 429 1931 Ford Model A Roadster; S/N CA499299; Engine # A3625789; Cream, Beige fenders/Tan vinyl; Beige cloth top; Estimate $5,000 – $10,000; Older restoration, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $16,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $17,600 Rumble seat, quail radiator mascot, body color wire wheels, whitewalls, dual sidemounts. – Chipped, cracked old paint, dull chrome, cracked and torn interior. Orderly, older restored but very aged undercarriage, undercoated fenders. A re-restoration project but all there. – This price is generous for the equipment and condition but not so much for its Bothwell collection provenance.

Lot # 430 1926 Chandler Six Indy Car; S/N; Yellow, Black frame/Tan; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Competition car, original as-raced, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $55,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $60,500 346 cid Chandler six, three Winfield barrel throttle carbs, Eddie Miller exhaust header, four wheel brakes, friction shocks, tape-wrapped steering wheel. – Crude, scratched paint, dry rotted tires. Runs, and sounds marvelous. No history. – Fired up several times, this Chandler exudes period performance. The sound of its triple carbureted six more than makes up for its aged condition. Let loose on the freeway it would scatter traffic like a snowplow, it's that cool.

Lot # 431 1920 Hudson Super Six 2-seat Race Car; S/N Engine No. 94807; Engine # 94807; Light Yellow, 'Gilmore'/Red vinyl; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Competition car, original as-raced, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $82,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $90,200 289 side valve six, 3-speed, Black wire wheels, rear wheel brakes, friction shocks, single Stromberg carb, header exhaust – Rusty, dull, chipped old paint. Bought from 20th Century Fox studios in 1961. Cameo appearance in 'Seabiscuit'. Needs attention but not restoration. – This Hudson looks every bit the race car and should perform like it looks despite the single carburetor. It's style caught the Bothwell Ranch bidders' attention and brought a superior price.

Lot # 432 1912 Buick Model 43 2-seat Race Car; S/N Engine No. 1299; Engine # 1299; Red, Black running gear/Black vinyl; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Modified for competition during restoration 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $82,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $90,200 RHD. 315cid OHV Four with exposed valve gear, Zenith updraft carb, 3-speed, rear mounted spares, stub exhausts. – An old racecar conversion with layers of paint on the simple bodywork, chassis and engine. A long term Bothwell car frequently used in years gone by in exhibitions and events. Featured in the movie Seabiscuit and raced at Pebble Beach in 1950. – Wow. This is a generous result for a cobbled up old Buick race car, but it has an abundance of provenance with Lindley Bothwell, going back more than half a century and that is the only factor that could conceivably contribute to this price.

Lot # 433 1910 Pope-Hartford Model W 50hp 2-seat Race Car; S/N 8098; Engine # 8098; Green, Black running gear/Black vinyl; Estimate $80,000 – $100,000; Modified for competition during restoration 3- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $240,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $264,000 RHD. Overhead valve dual ignition four, Pope carburetor, dual rear spares, cylinder bolster tank. – Decent paint, sound upholstery, converted to this configuration years ago and enthusiastically driven by Lindley Bothwell and others including at the Pebble Beach road races and Bothwell's invitational event on Santa Catalina island. Runs and drives with wonderful noises, demonstrated several times at the auction. – While this is a generous price for a modified road Pope-Hartford, it isn't unprecedented for the marque, which is held in deserved high esteem. Its extensive Bothwell history contributes significantly to its value and even at this result is a sound value for the money.

Lot # 434 1905 Ford Model F Tonneau; S/N Engine No. F2686; Engine # F2686; Blue, Red Running Gear/Black vinyl; Estimate $25,000 – $35,000; Older restoration, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $37,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $40,700 RHD. 127/16hp opposed twin, 20th Century cowl-mounted spotlight, Gray & Davis kerosene spotlights and taillight. – Henry Ford's final 2-cylinder model, 4-seat side entrance tonneau body. Originally delivered in California and probably there ever since. Sound but mediocre quality old restoration that can be used as is but really deserves to be done over. – A semi-historic Ford in complete but aged older restored condition that will display well at any horseless carriage event and help complete the timeline in a Ford collection. It brought a generous price for its aged condition, however.

Lot # 435 1923 Henderson Midget Race Car; S/N; Engine #; Estimate $15,000 – $25,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $20,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $22,000.

Lot # 436 1910 Stearns Model 15/30 2-seat race car; S/N Engine No. 132; Engine # 132; Green,/Cream vinyl; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Modified for competition during restoration 3- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $60,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $66,000 RHD. 294/32.4 ALAM hp four, 3-speed, FIAT style radiator shell. Running on a Stromberg carb but the lot includes an original Stearns carburetor – Tired but generally sound old paint, stained and faded upholstery. Grimy. Good older racecar bodywork with many professional quality details and fabrication, probably not a home-built. Another car with an identifiable role in Seabiscuit the movie. Runs, drives and demonstrated on-site. – It won't take much to get this Stearns back into condition for tours and on track events, which is a good thing because it brought a generous price largely attributable to its Bothwell history.

Lot # 437 1912 Rolls-Royce Silver Ghost 40/50hp Open Drive Landaulette, Body by Muhlbacher; S/N 2169; Engine # 71C; Royal Blue,/Black leather, Beige cloth;

Black leather top; Estimate $450,000 – $600,000; Older restoration, 4+ condition; With Reserve; Hammered Sold at $350,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $385,000 RHD. Nickel trim, electric Bleriot bell headlights and kerosene style sidelights, pullup division and side windows, jump seats, single right side spare, bulb horn. – Rare coachwork from Muhlbacher et Fils in Paris. Delightful history from new into the Thirties and at one point allegedly owned by Tsar Nicholas II, an attribution refuted by Rolls-Royce records that put it firmly in the New World into the 1930s. Featured in the movie My Fair Lady. Old paint over older paint, dull brightwork, scarred wood. Aged rear compartment upholstery. Dirty chassis and engine. Recently used and possibly usable but really a restoration project with a colorful history (even without the Tsar.) – This is the only car that stalled on the block during the auction, necessitating a hurried consultation among the estate trustees before cutting it loose, a timely and appropriate decision to accept this realistic price.

Lot # 438 1914 Ford Model T Touring; S/N Engine No. 614017; Engine # 614017; Maroon,/Black leather; Black leatherette top; Estimate $15,000 – $20,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $8,500 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $9,350 Ford Model 66 E&J acetylene headlights, kerosene sidelights, E&J kerosene taillight, 2-speed axle, 1915 California license tag.

– Sound paint over old paint, stiff and worn but generally sound and probably original upholstery, floppy but complete old top. Dull brass. Grungy original engine and chassis. Sound and complete. A tired T, once a driver but now ready for a straightforward restoration. – It was possible to get Model T ennui at the Bothwell sale, there were so many of them. This is a sound, practical example bought for a realistic price that reflects its configuration and condition.

Lot # 439 1912 Ford Model T Roadster; S/N Engine No. 122153; Engine # 122153; Black,/Black leather; Black leatherette top; Estimate $15,000 – $20,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $8,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $8,800 Red wire wheels, left side spare, electric headlights, kerosene sidelights and taillight, belt driven water pump, two-speed axle. – 1915 roadster style body. Dull, shrinking old paint, dull brass, tattered horsehair stuffed upholstery, sound but very old top. Grimy engine and chassis. A sound and largely complete basis for a straightforward restoration. – While this is a reasonable price for a brass radiator Model T Roadster it carries with it the Bothwell provenance and that may well convey more value than its modest price indicates.

Lot # 440 1917 Smith Flyer Buckboard; S/N; Engine #; Estimate $8,000 – $12,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $8,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $8,800.

Lot # 441 1906 REO Model B 8hp Runabout; S/N 5073; Engine # 4564; Maroon, Black hood and fenders/Red vinyl; No top; Estimate $20,000 – $25,000; Unrestored original, 4 condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $16,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $17,600 RHD. Varnished wood spoke wheels, kerosene headlights, wheel steering, rear seat, no taillight. – Cracked wood and paint, dull brass, stiff and faded upholstery, grungy engine, drivetrain and chassis. Sound and complete, a realistic and reasonably simple restoration project. – The big cars were gone by now but the crowd remained in Bonhams marquee even if their bidding enthusiasm had waned so that a steady bidder (who took at least 15 of the cars back to his Oregon collection) was able to add it to his collection.

Lot # 442 1911 Sears Model P 4-passenger Highwheeler; S/N Engine No. 3936; Engine # 3936; Black,/Black; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $9,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $9,900 Tiller steering, red wood wheels shod with steel, kerosene headlights, fixed surrey top, double chain drive. – Rusty, dry old drivetrain, cracked and chipped old paint, stiff upholstery. Appears to be all here, but aged, neglected and in need of everything. – Highwheelers were not the weekend's favorites at the Bothwell Ranch. Interest was heavily weighted to the race cars. That showed in this result, a particularly good value in a steel-shod (an option) Sears.

Lot # 443 1911 Maxwell Model AB 14hp Runabout; S/N Engine No. AB14058; Engine # AB14058; Black,/Tan vinyl; Black leatherette top; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Unrestored original, 4- condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $22,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $24,200 RHD. 101/12.8 ALAM hp twin, 2-speed, Maxwell No. 27 headlights, Sunrise kerosene sidelights, wheel steering, unmarked kerosene taillight. – Chipped and dull ancient paint, dull brass, discolored upholstery, stiff old top, grungy chassis and running gear. Largely complete but a restoration project. In the Bothwell collection since 1943. – What was Jack Benny's car? It was a Maxwell, and if you're old enough to remember Jack Benny the name Maxwell is firmly implanted in the depths of your synapses. That may have had some effect here among the television and movie cars of the Bothwell collection but even at that this isn't unreasonable for this sound if aged 2-cylinder example.

Lot # 444 1905 Holsman 10hp Highwheeler; S/N Engine No. 1596M; Engine # 1596M; Black, Black leather fenders/Red leather; Estimate $35,000 – $50,000; Visually maintained, largely original, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $16,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $17,600 RHD. Tiller steering, red wood spoke wheels, Solar kerosene spotlight and headlights, Atwood acetylene generator, cloth covered chain drive. – Cracked, chipped and peeling old paint. Stiff, cracked old upholstery with pulled seams on the front seat cushion. Flat spotted solid rubber tires. Dirty engine and driveline. A relic that deserves restoration. – Highwheelers, of which Holsman, Sears and International are best known, were practical conveyances in the early days of the last century when their traditional carriage appearance, solid tires and high ground clearance were familiar in the vast middle of America and practical on the deeply rutted tracks that passed for roads. A sound and easily restored Holsman, this is a sound value in a marque that has enjoyed recent appeal.

Lot # 445 1901 Crestmobile Model B 3 1/2hp Runabout; S/N Engine No. 129; Engine # 129; Estimate $30,000 – $40,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $36,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $39,600.

Lot # 446 1913 AC Delivery; S/N Engine No. 1519; Engine # 1519; Estimate $15,000 – $25,000; Not evaluated; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $17,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $18,700.

Lot # 447 1906 Autocar Type 10 Runabout; S/N 7445; Engine # 7450; Blue, Grey coachline, Red accent/Red leather; Black leatherette top; Estimate $20,000 – $30,000; Older restoration, 4+ condition; No Reserve; Hammered Sold at $44,000 plus commission of 10.00%; Final Price $48,400 RHD. 12 ALAM hp 2-cylinder engine, 3-speed sliding gear transmission, Sterling Model 53 headlights, Rushmore cowl-mounted spotlight, Solar kerosene sidelights, Westchester No. 2 taillight, Black wood spoke wheels. – Believed to have been bought by Lindley Bothwell in 1928. Sound but cracked and chipped old paint, stiff but largely sound upholstery but for a large tear on the right seatback. Dented left sidelight. Surprisingly good and supple top. This is an Autocar that could be used as is but is probably ready for restoration. – This is a sweet little old Autocar that has been loved and cared for over eight decades in the Bothwell collection. Never neglected but treated only to what it needed without ever being fully restored it exudes the care and attention Lindley Bothwell and his family gave their cars and is fittingly the last car in the sale, a bookmark to the Bothwell family's legacy to car collectors. It brought a superior price, but one fully deserved by its condition and preservation.

Lot # 448 1929 Ford Model A Coupe 5-window; S/N Engine No. A13887431; Engine # A13887431; Cream, Beige fenders/Brown cloth; Visually maintained, largely original, 4- condition; Withdrawn – Rumble seat, rear-mounted spare, body color wire wheels, blackwall tires. – Quick, poorly masked old repaint, tired old upholstery. Cosmetically redone years ago and untouched for years. Better than a parts car, but not by much. – Withdrawn.

On Saturday while writing up the Sears Highwheeler I spied a Bothwell Ranch lemon on the ground. It was bright yellow and succulent. Into a pocket of my vest it went, coming out later in the evening at the hotel's bar where it garnished a Bombay Sapphire Martini cocktail in a small toast to Lindley and Ann Bothwell, their family, the collection and Bonhams presentation.

Slaintha, Lindley and Ann Bothwell.

Vestige of Idyllic Life Still Bears Fruit

By JAMES RICCI
AUG. 29, 1998 | 12 AM
TIMES STAFF WRITER

WOODLAND HILLS — The sun is drying away the morning haze, giving itself a clear view of Ann Bothwell's bit of living history. It's burnishing the dark green leaves of the 1,987 trees and settling in the pores of the hard infant fruit.

Thus begins another day in what is believed to be the last commercial orange grove in the San Fernando Valley.

Two-thirds of a century ago, citrus groves covered 15,000 acres of the Valley. Since then, population movements and economics have conspired to make Valley land too dear to be farmed when it might be converted to housing, shopping centers and freeways.

The robust Valley orange industry thus has dwindled to the 80-year-old widow and her 14-acre Bothwell Ranch south of Ventura Boulevard, the final one-thousandth of the once grand totality.

"It brings me up short when I think of it every once in awhile, that it's the last of its kind," Bothwell says. "But somebody has to be first, and somebody has to be last."

Other orange groves exist in the Valley. Cal State Northridge, for instance, maintains an eight-acre grove on Nordhoff Avenue, and the Los Angeles Recreation and Parks Department keeps a grove of about 12 acres at its Orcutt Ranch grove. Similarly, a 1.5-acre orange-and-lemon grove is part of the grounds of Alemany High School, adjacent to San Fernando Mission in Mission Hills.

None of these, however, is commercially farmed. Typically, the fruit is harvested by the public on a pick-your-own basis, or by nonprofit community organizations. Alemany High makes use of its fruit in its own cafeteria.

Private Valley growers who've tried to continue raising oranges for profit have succumbed to rising costs. Water, which must be given in abundance to orange trees, became more expensive in the mid-1980s when the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power discontinued its bargain agricultural rate for Valley farms. Each watering of Ann Bothwell's complete grove now costs about $1,200.

In addition, growers found over the years that increased labor costs made packing houses less and less willing to pick and haul fruit from small groves.

"The last time I had my oranges picked, it cost me money," says Joseph Newman of Chatsworth, whose four-acre grove on Winnetka Avenue in Monteria Estates hasn't been farmed commercially for five years. "Labor costs now are prohibitive for such a small grove."

Despite the unfavorable economics, Ann Bothwell has persevered, in no small part out of love.

Bothwell Ranch is a pristine place of weedless rows of Valencia orange trees, tidily graveled roads and shining, grove-green outbuildings trimmed in white. In aspect and feel, it is completely aberrant to the upscale suburban Woodland Hills neighborhood that has surrounded it.

This is the slow time of year in the grove. Bothwell's two full-time workers can do only some minimal trimming, discourage weeds, and monitor the irrigation system, which is critical in the season of high heat. The tight green fruit, the size of pingpong balls, won't be ready for harvesting till next July, when 25 or 30 pickers from a packing company will descend on the grove.

Bothwell came to live in the grove in 1948, after marrying its owner, agriculturist Lindley Bothwell. Her husband also owned a company that cared for groves from Santa Barbara to San Diego. As groves throughout Southern California disappeared beneath the onslaught of new population, the Bothwells began concentrating on mail-order business. They shipped gift packs of fruit throughout the United States under the "Bothwell Ranch" label. That endeavor lasted till 1985, the year before Lindley Bothwell's death.

Through it all, the orange grove endured, serving as the family's idyllic homestead.

It survived an attack of airborne virus that necessitated the replacement of half of its trees.

It survived frigid winter nights when the Bothwells used to light by hand smudge pots, one for each tree, to maintain a viable temperature in the grove. "We'd listen to the weather report on the radio at night, and whenever we'd hear it was going down to 28 degrees, we knew we were in for a sleepless night," Bothwell recalls.

The groves that used to abut the Bothwell place are long gone; their only remnants are the orange trees that stand in unhappy-looking isolation in the frontyards of nearby suburban houses. Gone is the Canoga Citrus Assn., a group of local growers.

Ventura Boulevard as a two-lane road, and unbroken vistas stretching across the Valley are gone, too, replaced by the privacy walls of housing developments and the staccato sameness of tract-home neighborhoods.

"We're overrun," Bothwell sighs. "But you can't stand in the middle of Ventura Boulevard and say, 'Stop!' "

The sheltering trees of the orange grove, however, ensure that within the boundaries of the Bothwell Ranch an earlier way of Valley life abides. It is a life still there for the tasting by the 12 Bothwell great-grandchildren, who come to ride the tractors and play with Klondike, the resident German shepherd. Bothwell says imparting a sense of history to the young ones is a principal reason she holds on.

Of course, other reasons exist, too. The early morning walks among the orange trees, watching Klondike chase the abundant rabbits of the place, for one. For another, the exceptional quiet, a result of the natural soundproofing the orange trees provide.

It's a curious thing. In the orange grove, you have to strain to hear the present-day Valley, though it runs up to the very borders of the place. Much more easily heard is the sound of a Valley that, really, no longer exists.

"Every once in a while on the front porch, if it's still, we can hear the freeway," Bothwell says. "It depends on the wind drift. Once in a while we can hear the Southern Pacific above Nordhoff, if it's very, very quiet at night. Other than that, you don't hear a thing. An occasional owl. An occasional coyote."

Phase 2 Environmental Site Assessment FAQs

What is a Phase II ESA?

A Phase II Environmental Site Assessment (ESA) is the second step in the environmental due diligence process. The first step is a Phase I ESA. A Phase II ESA addresses recognized environmental conditions (RECs) identified in a Phase I ESA to determine if contamination is or is not present. A Phase II ESA can include soil, soil vapor, and/or groundwater sampling, which will help determine if there is a presence or absence of hazardous substances and petroleum products on the site in soil or groundwater. Findings of the Phase II can also be used in negotiating the property value or require the owner to remediate when contamination is found which is a Phase III. Many sites will never require a Phase II ESA, because the Phase I would not have found any areas to investigate.

You can't skip over a Phase I and jump into a Phase II because the Phase I outlines where and what to test for. Jumping into a Phase II without the Phase I road map means you are guessing and hoping you have all your bases covered.

When are Phase II ESAs performed?

Phase II ESAs are typically conducted prior to purchase or transfer of a property but may also be conducted for an existing owner. That way, if environmental contamination is identified, the purchaser can make an informed decision regarding their willingness to manage identified risks associated with the property.

What field work is typical for a Phase II ESA?

There is no "typical" Phase II ESA because no two sites are exactly the same. Phase II ESA scopes of work are specific to the site and the site history and operations. Former farm land (orchards) would trigger historical pesticide and herbicide testing, where this would not be required on sites that never had historical agricultural operations. Some common contaminants for commercial and industrial sites include volatile organic compounds, semi-volatile organic compounds, PCBs, and metals.

Some common Phase II tasks can include Geophysical Surveys (Ground Penetrating Radar) to look for undisclosed buried tanks.

You may also be tasked with soil and groundwater sampling for a Phase II.

Number and location of samples collected will depend on the size of the property, the area(s) of known or suspected contamination, geology of the property, and other property characteristics.

Sampling equipment requirements will be affected by the geology of the property and project (future use) objectives. For example, the type of drill rig used for collecting soil and groundwater samples is dependent on the type of underlying soil and/or rock. Alternatively, a drill rig may not be needed if only surface or shallow soil samples are being collected.

Indoor air and/or sub-slab vapor sampling will be performed if greater insight into vapor intrusion and indoor air quality is needed. This has become more common with a recent focus on indoor air quality.

Additional assessments will be included when necessary. For example, a geophysical survey may be conducted to determine if underground tanks or other buried features are present. Some purchasers may also request surveys for asbestos containing materials, lead-based paint, or a wetlands assessment.

That used property you are buying has a history. Every property has a past, and sometimes that past includes environmental contamination, which was legally caused if it happened before environmental regulations. The 1970's gave us Love Boat, Disco and the EPA. Environmental due diligence is an essential part of any real estate purchase. Buyers need to find out if there contamination on the site caused by a former owner or prior use of the site. Former industrial sites that are being repurposed for residential use, requiring developers to assess the property for contamination before people can live there.

What is the 1st step in Environmental Due Diligence?

The 1st step in environmental due diligence is historical and regulatory research along with a visual environmental site assessment to ascertain if there are what are called 'Recognized Environmental Conditions' on site." This is what a Phase I ESA is meant to encompass.

Why would something as exhaustive as a Phase I require a Phase II?

Sometimes a Phase I ESA finds the need to do more than research and more than a visual assessment of a property. A Phase II is the testing that can confirm or deny the presence of contamination. Curren was contracted to perform a Phase I for a medical office building. A physician owned the property and was selling the building and practice. Out Phase I found out the site was a gas station in the past The owner (dr) had no record of the former operations. So Curren was tasked with performing a geophysical of the property to locate any UST. Multiple USTs were found, which required additional Phase II work which was soil borings and yes, we found gasoline contamination.

What Is a Phase 2 Environmental Site Assessment

Where Phase I ESAs involve record searches, and visual site inspections, Phase II assessments are more intensive evaluation of a site. In our previous example you could use Ground Penetrating Radar to locate suspect buried storage tanks. Also like this previous example, the collection of soil and groundwater samples from the site would be a very typical Phase II task.

A Phase I Site Assessments follow a standard procedure (ASTM), where a Phase II ESAs are designed for the unique attributes of the property. The Phase II testing could include surficial and sub-surficial soil analysis, groundwater analysis, or installing monitoring wells, or indoor air sampling, mold sampling, asbestos sampling, lead sampling, radon."

Phase II Questions?

Ask the Experts

888-301-1050

When Is a Phase II ESA Required?

A Phase II ESA is required when the results of a Phase I determine the likelihood of potential environmental contaminants on the property or possible from an offsite source.

There are also high-risk properties where a Phase II would be considered SOP, these sites include former agriculture, dry cleaning or retail gasoline outlet

Who Performs a Phase II ESA?

An Environmental Professional from an engineering and environmental firm would perform the Phase II ESA. The professional should have at least one of these qualifications:

1. A federal, state or tribal-issued certification or license (Professional Geologist, Professional Engineer or other certification to perform environmental inquiries) and three years of relevant full-time experience
2. A Baccalaureate degree or higher in science or engineering and five years of relevant full-time work experience
3. 10 years of relevant full-time work experience

Who Pays for a Phase 2 Environmental Site Assessment?

Typically, the buyer performs the Phase II, many times the cost is split between buyer and seller.

How Long Does a Phase 2 Environmental Assessment Take?

Duration tends to be based on how extensive the scope of work is being performed. 4 to 6 weeks is a good average but it can also extend months.

How Long Is a Phase II good for?

As long as the risk of contamination from the investigated area is no longer present. Case in point, a dry cleaner would require a Phase II, but lets say the dry cleaner closes and the space becomes retail. The risk of future dry cleaning compounds end when the dry cleaner ceases operation and chemicals and equipment are removed from the site.

Much Does a Phase 2 Environmental Assessment Cost?

Well if no Phase II is required nothing. But since we are talking about sites where a Phase II is required expect a small Phase II to cost under $10,000. More complex sites with multiple areas to test, well expect maybe $20,000.00

Is there a Phase III

Yes, a Phase III is very much a thing and entails addressing any problems found in the Phase II. You may need to remediate or institute controls to manage the contamination.

When do you do a Phase I or Phase II.

Due diligence can be performed by owner or buyer. In practice most due diligence say 80% is done by the buyer and may be required by their bank or lending institution. The most prudent timing for due diligence is to start early, plan for the worst and hope for the best.

Why is a Phase II more expensive than a Phase I?

A Phase II is more complex on average than a Phase I. Since a Phase II is testing, you will need specialized equipment to acquire samples. You will also need an environmental professional to oversee the investigation. This environmental professional could have performed the Phase I but is not returning with $120,000 worth of drilling equipment to collect soil and groundwater samples. You can spend thousands of dollars in soil and water testing, then you need the sample data reviewed, interpreted, samples listed on a map and then an opinion regarding what the findings mean.

Phase II are extremely important as they confirm problems BEFORE the property is transferred. Many companies will pitch low-cost Phase I reports to get the more lucrative Phase II work. The photo below shows contamination found during a Phase II, a Phase II, remediation was required and cost about $90,000 to remediate.

Your next question is what does a Phase II cost?

That depends on what you are testing and where. Recent Phase II projects Curren has worked on had costs in the $7,000.00 to $37,000.00 range. Be aware when a Phase II is required the costs is significantly more than a Phase I cost.

At Curren we own and operate equipment necessary in Phase II investigations. We perform Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR) surveys, drilling and excavation with in house equipment and personnel. This leads to cost 20% or more below firms that subcontract these services.

What is a Phase III Environmental Site Assessment?

A Phase I is research and visual Inspection of a property, that looks for Recognized Environmental Conditions (RECs)

A Phase II investigates the REC to see if an issue is present. So maybe a site was a dry cleaner, a Phase II would complete soil & groundwater.

A Phase III, well if the Recognized Environmental Condition is confirmed, a Phase III would fix the problem.

Recap

Where a Phase I is research on a property and a Phase II is testing completed on a property, a Phase III is the physical remediation or an installed and managed engineering control of a problem identified by either a Phase I or Phase II. A Phase III could consist of removing an underground storage tank (UST) found on a site, the remediation of soil or groundwater contamination or establishing a deed restriction due to contamination left on site.

What does a Phase II cost?

A Phase II could be some simple testing costing just a few thousand dollars or a more complex site the Phase II could run tens of thousands of dollars.

What can a Phase II Entail?

Determine the extent of environmental contaminants found.

Determining the amount of soil and groundwater impacted by environmental contaminants.

When contamination is found, reporting requirements kick in so you will be notifying the State environmental agency to report the found contamination.

What Does a Phase III cost?

Since Phase III is repair or remediation it is typically the most expensive aspect of your due diligence when purchasing real estate. Depending how large or how many problems you encounter $50,000 is not unusual nor is spending Norh of $100,000. The worst case scenario for a Phase III is that the Phase III costs more than the value of the property.

What Can a Phase III Entail?

A Phase III will take into account the findings of the Phase II testing and evaluate options to address the problem. Clearly you would want the contamination cleaned up, which is typically the most expensive to perform, but clean is a relative term. A Phase III may evaluate permitting the contamination is place as remediation to state standards maybe too expensive or simple unachievable in a reasonable time frame. For example, most groundwater contamination never gets cleaned per se. You typically define the extent of the groundwater contamination or plume and test it over 2 years to establish a defendable option that groundwater is not getting worse and will degrade over a set period of time. It is not out of the question to study and problem when groundwater is involved and determine that say in 20 years contamination will degrade to below regulatory limits in 20 years. It is also not out of line to say i will never be clean, so your time frame is indeterminant.

A Phase III will provide options and costs to evaluate.

After the Phase III work is completed the area may still need additional testing (long term monitoring) to confirm that the property has been properly cleaned up. The ultimate goal of a Phase III is to either rid the property of any potentially harmful environmental contamination or remove the risk of contamination impacting the environment further or threatening human health. Completing a Phase III can mean that the problem is remediated or defined and encapsulated and allowed to remain on site. Variable cost calculations can be used to recalculate property values when contamination is left in place. So a Phase III could in theory burying contamination on a site under a protective cap, in short entombing the contamination. This approach would deed restrict a site, potentially lower the value and trigger the owner to obtain a tax reassessment to lower taxes on the site.

Phase III's can be long and expensive and require experience guidance.

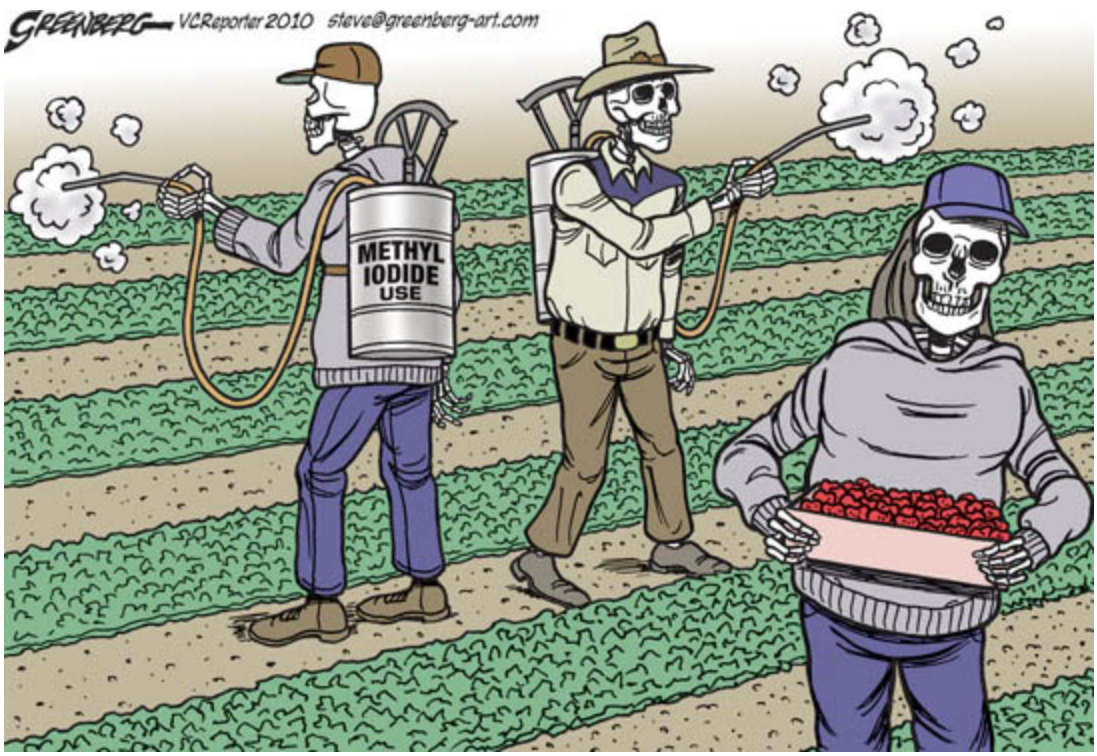
Pesticides and human health:

Pesticides can cause short-term adverse health effects, called acute effects, as well as chronic adverse effects that can occur months or years after exposure. Examples of acute health effects include stinging eyes, rashes, blisters, blindness, nausea, dizziness, diarrhea and death. Examples of known chronic effects are cancers, birth defects, reproductive harm, immunotoxicity, neurological and developmental toxicity, and disruption of the endocrine system.



Some people are more vulnerable than others to pesticide impacts. For example, infants and young children are known to be more susceptible than adults to the toxic effects of pesticides. Farm workers and pesticide applicators are also more vulnerable because they receive greater exposures.

For more information about the effects of specific chemicals or pesticide products, see Pesticide Action Network's Pesticide Database. For a survey of scientific studies linking pesticides to specific diseases, see Beyond Pesticides' Pesticide-induced diseases database.

Acute (Immediate) Health Effects

Immediate health effects from pesticide exposure includes irritation of the nose, throat, and skin causing burning, stinging and itching as well as rashes and blisters. Nausea, dizziness a[En español »]so common. People with asthma may have very severe reactions to some pesticides, particularly pyrethrin/pyrethroid, organophosphate and carbamate pesticides.

In many cases, symptoms of pesticide poisoning mimic symptoms of colds or the flu. Since pesticide-related illnesses appear similar or identical to other illnesses, pesticide poisonings are often misdiagnosed and under-reported. Immediate symptoms may not be severe enough to prompt an individual to seek medical attention, or a doctor might not even think to ask about pesticide exposure. Still, seek medical attention immediately if you think you may have been poisoned by pesticides.

Chronic (Long-term) Health Effects

Chronic health effects include cancer and other tumors; brain and nervous system damage; birth defects; infertility and other reproductive problems; and damage to the liver, kidneys, lungs and other body organs. Chronic effects may not appear for weeks, months or even years after exposure, making it difficult to link health impacts to pesticides.

En español »

Pesticides have been implicated in the development of leukemia, lymphoma and cancers of the brain, breasts, prostate, testes and ovaries. Reproductive harm from pesticides includes birth defects, still birth, spontaneous abortion, sterility and infertility.

Endocrine disruptors are chemicals that — often at extremely low doses — interfere with important bodily functions by mimicking or blocking hormones (the chemical messengers that circulate in blood and regulate many body processes including metabolism, brain development, the sleep cycle and stress response). Some pesticides act as endocrine disruptors and have been shown to cause serious harm to animals, including cancer, sterility and developmental problems. Similar impacts have been associated with human exposure to these chemicals.

Children are More Vulnerable to Pesticide Exposure

Children are not simply "little adults." Children are more vulnerable to pesticide exposure because their organs, nervous systems and immune systems are still developing. Children are also less able to detoxify and excrete pesticides. Exposure during certain early development periods can cause permanent damage.

In addition to being more vulnerable to pesticide toxicity, children's behavior and physiology make them more likely to receive greater pesticide exposure than adults. Most pesticide exposure occurs through the skin and children have more skin surface for their size than adults. Children have a higher respiratory rate and so inhale airborne pesticides at a faster rate than adults. Children also consume proportionately more food and water — and pesticide residues — than adults. With their increased contact with floors, lawns and playgrounds, children's behavior also increases their exposure to pesticides.

Health Effects of Certain Classes of Pesticides

Organophosphates & Carbamates: These pesticides are like nerve gas: they attack the brain and nervous system, interfering with nerve signal transmission.

En español »

Symptoms include headaches, [illegible]vomiting, chest pain, diarrhea, muscle pain and confusion. In severe poisoning incidents, symptoms can include convulsions, difficulty breathing, involuntary urination, coma and death. Acute poisoning of the nervous system by these pesticides affects hundreds of thousands of people around the world each year.

Soil Fumigants: These pesticides are applied to soil, forming a gas that is toxic to nematodes, fungi, bacteria, insects, and plants in the soil. Because they are gases, they move from the soil into the air and expose people living or working nearby. Commonly used soil fumigants in California include 1,3-dichloropropene, chlorpicrin, metam sodium, and metam potassium. Symptoms of fumigant exposure include irritation of skin, eyes, and lungs (dichloropropene and chloropicrin), and extremely irritating to eyes and lungs (metam sodium and metam potassium). Dichloropropene, metam sodium, and metam potassium are all cancer causing chemicals and metam sodium causes reproductive harm. In counties where fumigant use is high, premature birth is more common than in counties with low fumigant use.

Pyrethroids: These insecticides are synthetic chemicals that are structurally similar to botanical compounds but have been designed to be more persistent. They are toxic to the nervous system, and there is concern that during pregnancy a fetus is not able to efficiently break down these chemicals. Symptoms of pyrethroid poisoning include tremors, salivation, headache, fatigue, vomiting, stinging and itching skin, and involuntary twitching.

Many pyrethroids also cause long term health problems. For example, resmethrin causes both cancer and reproductive harm. Cypermethrin, fenvalerate, and deltamethrin all cause genetic damage and reproductive harm. Data from the Center for Disease Control and Prevention's national biomonitoring program links pyrethroid exposure to heart disease.

Human Health Issues Related to Pesticides

Pesticides are designed to (in most cases) kill pests. Many pesticides can also pose risks to people. Generally, however, people are likely to be exposed to only very small amounts of a pesticides – too small to pose a risk.

To determine risk, one must consider both the toxicity or hazard of the pesticide and the likelihood of exposure. A low level of exposure to a very toxic pesticide may be no more dangerous than a high level of exposure to a relatively low toxicity pesticide, for example.

What are the potential health effects of pesticides?

The health effects of pesticides depend on the type of pesticide. Some, such as the organophosphates and carbamates, affect the nervous system. Others may irritate the skin or eyes. Some pesticides may be carcinogens. Others may affect the hormone or endocrine system in the body.

EPA's human health risk assessments for many pesticides are available via Chemical Search <https://epa.gov/ingredients-used-pesticide-products/how-search-information-about-pesticide-ingredients-and-labels>. Search for the pesticide of interest and look in the regulatory actions or docket tabs.

How does EPA determine what the effects of pesticides on humans are and whether they are acceptable?

A major consideration in approving pesticides for use is whether they pose an unreasonable risk to humans. EPA assesses risks associated with individual pesticide active ingredients, as well as with groups of pesticides that have a common toxic effect. This latter assessment is called cumulative risk assessment and is designed to evaluate the risk associated with exposure at one time to multiple pesticides that act the same way in the body.

Part of EPA's assessment of health risks of pesticides is a determination that there is "reasonable certainty of no harm" posed by pesticide residues allowed to remain on food. Before approving a pesticide, EPA sets limits on how the pesticide may be used, how often it may be used, what protective clothing or equipment must be used, and so on. These limits are designed to protect human health and the environment.

Where can I get information on health risks of pesticides I have in my home?

EPA has a cooperative agreement with Oregon State University, which operates The National Pesticide Information Center (NPIC). This center provides objective, science-based information about a variety of pesticide-related subjects, including pesticide products, recognition and management of pesticide poisonings, toxicology, and environmental chemistry. NPIC also lists state pesticide regulatory agencies, and provides links to their Web sites NPIC can be contacted at: 1-800-858-7378 or by email at npic@ace.orst.edu. For more information, visit the NPIC website <http://npic.orst.edu/>.

How does EPA use information on toxicity and health effects of pesticides?

Beyond the basic approval process for pesticides, which requires pesticides to meet a standard for safety to humans and the environment, the degree of toxicity determines what precautions must appear on the pesticide label. These include, for example:

- the use of protective clothing
- the "signal word" (caution, warning, danger)
- the first aid statements, and
- whether the pesticide may be used only by specially trained and certified applicators (restricted use pesticides)

The pesticide toxicity categories are determined by the effects caused if the pesticide is consumed, inhaled, or placed in contact with the skin.

What other information is there?

EPA has developed a table of human health benchmarks for approximately 350 pesticides that are currently registered to be used on food crops. These human health benchmarks for pesticides are levels of certain pesticides in water at or below which adverse health effects are not anticipated from one-day or lifetime exposures. The benchmarks are for pesticides for which the agency has not issued a drinking water health advisory or set an enforceable federal drinking water standard.

Exposure to Pesticides, Herbicides, & Insecticides: Human Health Effects

PRACTITIONER | Reading Time: 4 minutes | Written on: July 5, 2024

Pesticides and a wide variety of other chemicals persist in the environment and make their way into our everyday lives. Researchers have learned a great deal in recent years about how these toxicants affect the human population, where they originate, and how to improve our ability to detoxify in a toxic world. How can clinicians help patients manage the health risks of exposure to these ubiquitous substances?

Pesticides

Pesticide use is steadily increasing worldwide. Estimates suggest that global pesticide use grew 20% over the last decade and by 153% in low-income countries, specifically.[1] Organophosphate pesticides are one of the most extensively applied insecticides in the field of agriculture.[2] Approximately 40% of all pesticides produced and used commercially belong to this category.[2] Pesticides have been associated with short- and long-term effects on human health, including elevated cancer risks[3] and potential disruption of the body's metabolic functioning[4] as well as the reproductive, immune, and nervous systems.[5-7] A 2022 systematic review and meta-analysis suggests that pesticide exposure is a major risk factor for metabolic syndrome.[4] The analysis included 12 studies for a total of 6,789 participants, in which 1,981 (29.1%) had metabolic syndrome; overall exposure to pesticides and their contaminants increased the risk of metabolic syndrome by 30%.[4]

Exposure to pesticides predominantly comes from dermal absorption or through ingestion,[2] particularly through food—either on or within fruits and vegetables or in the tissues of fish and other animals we eat—through contaminated drinking water, or in the air we breathe.[8] Respiratory pathologies may be related to occupational exposure to pesticides, including asthma, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), and lung cancer.[9]

Insecticides & Herbicides

Neonicotinoid pesticides are a class of chemicals used as insecticides in agricultural settings and to target ticks and fleas on domestic pets. They have been detected in water, soil, dust, various crops, birds, and humans.[10] Exposure routes for humans may include dietary and water intake as well as dust and pollen inhalation, and recent research indicates neonicotinoids and their metabolites may have adverse health effects such as oxidative stress, neurological symptoms, osteoporosis, and cancer.[10]

Organophosphates (carbon- and phosphate-containing molecules) are commonly used components of insecticides and herbicides in the US in all market sectors (i.e., agriculture, home and garden, industrial, commercial, and government).[11] Increased cancer risk has been associated with several organophosphate insecticides in epidemiological studies in the US, Canada, and Italy.[11,12] In addition to cancer, studies suggest that organophosphates may be tied to a wide variety of other negative health effects, including ADHD,[11] muscle weakness, and numbness.[13]

GLYPHOSATE

Use of the herbicide glyphosate began in the 1970s, and the chemical swiftly attained widespread use in modern agriculture, becoming the most commercially successful and widely used herbicide of all time as of 2016.[13] Levels of glyphosate and its primary metabolite have been detected in the air, soil, water, and food.[14]

A formal review of glyphosate by the Department of Health and Human Services and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry was published in 2020, finding some statistically significant links to some cancers like non-Hodgkin's lymphoma.[15] In addition, studies suggest that glyphosate may be associated with increased breast cancer risk.[16,17] In 2020, Bayer, the company behind Roundup weed killer, which contains glyphosate, settled most of the current and possible future lawsuits brought against it by plaintiffs alleging that glyphosate causes cancer.[18] However, glyphosate continues to be used around the world, and the US Environmental Protection Agency continues to indicate that glyphosate products pose no risks of concern to human health when used according to label directions.[19]

Clinical Considerations

A large part of reducing a patient's total toxic burden is through education—bringing the patient into a level of awareness regarding different sources of toxicants so they can avoid potential exposures. From here, many functional medicine strategies for detoxification have a nutritional focus to support the body's natural processes for mobilization, biotransformation, and elimination of toxic compounds.

Optimizing a patient's nutritional status, ensuring adequate fiber and water intake, eating more phytonutrient-dense and diverse foods, and supporting liver function through targeted, nutrient-dense diets are all treatment approaches within the functional medicine model that may be part of a patient's personalized therapeutic strategy.

At IFM's Environmental Health Advanced Practice Module (APM), learn more about how your patients' physical environment and toxicant exposure levels may impact their health outcomes and what lifestyle-based tools may benefit their wellness path.

01 - Tentative Subdivisions

Revised on 09-16-2024

Authority and Procedures

History of the Subdivision Map Act

With the enactment of the first map act near the turn of the century, the State of California began regulating the recording of subdivisions and the conveying of subdivided lands. Until 1929, there was no effective control of filing of subdivision maps in the State of California. The coordination of land development by subdivision with the overall comprehensive community development was nonexistent.

As a result, the Map Filing Act of 1929 was enacted, and was superseded by what is currently known as the State Subdivision Map Act. The Subdivision Map Act is contained in California Government Code Section 66410, et. seq. It enables cities and counties to pass ordinances regulating subdivisions so an orderly and proper development expressing the needs and goals of the community can be achieved. The Subdivision regulations constitute one of the major administrative tools for developing land in harmony with the general plan.

LGD staff should be aware that laws governing the sale of subdivided lands, known as the California Real Estate Law, enacted in 1933, is still administered by the State Real Estate Commissioner. The basic objective is to protect the purchasers of property in new subdivisions from fraud, misrepresentation, and deceit in the marketing of subdivided lots and air space in the State of California, specifically as it relates to the sale of condominiums. Most subdivisions cannot be offered for sale in California until the Commissioner has issued a subdivision public report.

Division of Land Regulations - Tracts

The Division of Land Regulations for tract maps is contained in LAMC Chapter 1, Article 7, Section 17 (multiple sections). The list below includes some of the major features of Article 7.

1. Designation of the Director of Planning as the Advisory Agency and prescribing its authority and duties (Additional information can be found in the Advisory Agency Section of this document). (LAMC 17.03)
2. Establishment of the composition of the Subdivision Committee, which includes the City Engineer. (LAMC 17.04)
3. Establishment of procedures and design standards for tentative and final tract maps. (LAMC 17.05)
4. Establishment of design standards for dedication and improvements of streets, alleys, easements, and other engineering requirements. (LAMC 17.05.D-G)
5. Coordination of the requirements for subdivisions in concert with the Grading Regulations, also established in 1962. (LAMC 17.05.L)
6. Establishment of special standards for lots created under subdivisions, i.e., H-hillside zoning, lot averaging, minimum lot widths in commercial zones. (LAMC 17.05.H)
7. Establishment of authority and payments for drainage districts and Recreation and Park Fees. (LAMC 17.05.P-Q)
8. Protected Tree Regulations (LAMC 17.05.R)
9. Establishment of implementation requirements for special specific plans such as the Mulholland Scenic Parkway and the Valley Circle - Plummer Street Scenic Corridor (Specific Plans can be found at the City Planning website) (LAMC 17.05.S-T)
10. Preliminary Soils Report, prepared by a licensed Civil Engineer, may be required with the tentative map of any subdivision unless waived by the Advisory Agency. (LAMC 17.05.U)

Division of Land Maps (Lot Splits)

On July 30, 1962, the City of Los Angeles Lot Split Ordinance became effective. Since tract maps were required for divisions of five or more parcels, this ordinance provided for land divisions of four or less parcels. The City required dedications and improvements and generally monitored and controlled the division of land. When all of the conditions of approval were met, an official Division of Land Map was certified by the Deputy Advisory Agency. After certification, sale, lease and other conveyances by metes and bounds descriptions were permitted over the parcels.

The certified maps were not recorded, but were stored in the Division of Land files maintained by the Planning Department, City Clerk, City Engineer's Office and the Department of Building and Safety.

The Lot Split Ordinance was superseded on September 20, 1965, by the Parcel Map Regulations.

Division of Land Regulations - Parcel

In 1965, the State of California passed legislation amending the Subdivision Map Act to enable the division of land, generally for four or less parcels to be permitted under parcel maps. At the same time, the City of Los Angeles passed its Parcel Map Regulations under LAMC 17.50.

Condominiums

Originally created in 1963, the California Condominium Law was enacted. Currently, Condominiums are defined as a "common Interest Development" and can be found under Section 4000, et seq., of the California Civil Code. Section 11535 of the California Business and Professions Code, the Subdivision Map Act at that time, amended the definition of subdivision to include condominiums (condos) of five or more units. In 1975, the Subdivision Map Act was moved to the Government Code and redefined a subdivision as any division of a parcel. This means that a two-lot division of land or a two-unit condo constitutes a subdivision. A tract map may be required for five or more condo units. However, if the number of lots or condo units being created is four or less, a parcel map may be utilized.

The City of Los Angeles has chosen to limit its responsibility for condominium subdivision maps to the plat of the surface of the land. The division of air space and the administration therefore is regulated under the Subdivided Lands Act and enforced by the California Department of Real Estate.

Condominium is defined in Section 4125 of the California Civil Code as an estate in real property consisting of an undivided interest in common in a portion of a parcel of real property together with a separate interest in space in a residential, industrial or commercial building on such real property, such as an apartment, office or store. A condominium may include, in addition, a separate interest in other portions of such real property.

The condominium concept recognizes air apace as real property, thereby enabling rights established within a volume of air space to be equivalent to those rights traditionally established on a plat of the surface of the land, i.e., ownership, equity, taxes, leaseholds, rentals, etc. Condominiums cover not only residential development, but also commercial, agricultural and industrial developments.

Conceptually, residential condominiums should have strong demarcations of units, providing as much individualism (like single family dwellings) as possible. Double walls between units, acoustical treatment, individual utility meters, individual accesses, etc., serve to accomplish this. The land and the public areas of the building are owned as undivided interests by all owners.

Not long after the enactment of the Condominium Law, developers began to develop not only new condo units but converted existing apartments into condominiums.

The Condo Conversion Ordinance (Ordinance 153024) was first enacted in the City of Los Angeles in 1978. It provides, in part, that all requirements under subdivision proceedings be met before a condo conversion can be approved. The recording of a subdivision map constitutes approval by the City of the development as a condo conversion project. Thereafter, as in other subdivisions, many more procedural steps are required by the State Real Estate Commissioner before the condo units can be sold.

Tenancy in Common/Tenants in Common (TIC)

Tenancy in Common refers to arrangements under which two or more people co-own a parcel of real estate without a “right of survivorship”. This type of co-ownership allows each co-owner to choose who will inherit her ownership interest upon death. TIC owners own percentages rather than particular units or apartments. The right of a particular owner to use a particular dwelling comes from a written contract signed by all co-owners (TIC Agreement), not from a deed, map or other document recorded in County records. The California Department of Real Estate has issued a TIC Guidelines. Currently, BOE staff have no involvement with this process.

TIC Versus Condominium

The difference between physical division of ownership in county records (like a condominium) and an unrecorded contract allocating usage rights (like a TIC) is significant from a regulatory standpoint. California appellate courts have recognized a distinction between recorded and unrecorded documents assigning usage rights, and this distinction means that local laws restricting or prohibiting the conversion of apartment buildings into legal subdivisions such as condominiums do not apply to the creation of a tenancy in common arrangements. TIC also doesn't require any filing or approval with local governmental agencies. TIC formation only requires the approval of the California Department of Real Estate if the property to be co-owned and occupied by the group contains five or more residential units.

Small Lot Subdivisions

In 1999, the City Council established the Housing Crisis Task Force in response to a severe affordable housing shortage. The task force recommended increasing the availability of affordable housing through innovative land use strategies, including the small lot program. Under this small lot program, the City would allow lot to be subdivides within existing multifamily and commercial zones to develop fee-simple, detached townhomes that would not be required to be part of a homeowner's association. In addition to the housing crisis, the development/construction community showed concerns regarding construction defects in a condominium type development, so the City worked with the industry to identify a new form of housing type which minimized the impact of construction defects to only the area where the defect was present.

On December 16, 2004, the City Council passed Ordinance 176354 amending LAMC 12.03, 12.09, 12.21.1, 12.21 and 12.22 to permit detached for-sale small lot subdivisions in commercial and multi-family residential zones. City Planning has also established Small Lot Design Guidelines for development of small lot homes. The guidelines outline site organization and urban form, parking and driveways, building design and materials, and landscaping and access.

Private Streets

The Private Street Regulations contained in LAMC Section 18.00-18.12 et. seq. were added by Ordinance effective May 19, 1951.

Originally, many parcels were created with legal frontages on public streets without provisions for vehicular access over the frontages. In the early years, enforcement of the private street regulations was not consistent, and interpretations of the regulations were often confusing.

The City Attorney, on September 6, 1961, declared that whenever vehicular access to a parcel of land was not coincidental with the legal frontage, a private street approval from the City was required prior to issuance of a building permit.

Private street applications are usually filed to seek approval for access to an existing single parcel of land using a private road easement. The following is an overview of the private street application process.

1. When a property owner applies for a Building Permit for a parcel that is NOT fronting a public street, LADBS will refer the Applicant to City Planning for a Private Street Determination
2. If City Planning determines a Private Street Process is required, the following items apply:
   A. The Private Engineer or Land Surveyor obtains a private street number from the LA County Department of Public Works in the same manner that tract numbers are obtained (See "The Tentative Subdivision Map" Section of this document).
   B. The engineer or surveyor then prepares a map and makes an application to the City Planning Department.
   C. The map is processed in a manner similar to tentative tract maps (See "District Office Early Submittal Tract/Parcel Maps Expedited Processing" Section of this document).
   D. A hearing is held before the Advisory Agency who may approve or disapprove the private street with conditions.
   E. City Planning would issue a Letter of Determination, including appropriate conditions for the Applicant to comply with. City Planning is the agency that monitors the clearance of conditions (different than the Final Map Process)
   F. Once all conditions have been met, City Planning will notify the Department of Building & Safety to issue the building permit under the normal permit process (Clearance Summary Worksheet Process).

Under a private street application where a parcel or land is being divided into four or less parcels, a final parcel map shall also be required. Where five or more parcels are being created with private street access, a tentative and final tract map is usually required.

When a private street application is made for a legally created single parcel and no further division of land is proposed, a Final Parcel Map is not required. There is currently no City requirements that a private street map be recorded (the end product of the Private Street Process is document in "F above).

Private Streets -vs- Public Streets

On numerous occasions, approval of private streets in lieu of public streets are sought in Subdivisions. This occurs where homes are being developed proposing full privacy by utilizing a private street system for access, with guard gates at entrances.

The City Engineer's office does not object to private streets provided three basic criteria are met:

1. The private street does not represent a circulating street needed to serve the community or the region, i.e., collector streets, highways.
2. In General, private street improvements are constructed in accordance with the City Engineer's specifications for public streets, both in dimension and structural section (as shown in in the 2035 Mobility Plan). However, engineering judgement shall be used to determine if strict enforcement of public standards is necessary since the public will not use the street.
3. The private street is to be maintained privately.

Private Road Easements

Private road easements, in themselves, do not entitle the easement owner the right to obtain building permits. (See Final Private Street Approval within this document. Also, see Private Street Variations). Private street approvals involve access over parcels owned by others. An easement for road purposes granting the right of vehicular ingress, egress, maintenance, and utilities is required.

LAMC 18.01 describes a private road easement as a parcel of land not dedicated as a public street over which a private easement for road purposes is proposed to be or has been granted to the owners of property contiguous or adjacent thereto which intersects or connects with a public street, or a private street; in each instance the instrument creating such easement shall be or shall have been duly recorded.Private Street Improvements

If a private street is created in conjunction with a Subdivision Tract or parcel map, BOE would normally apply public street standards to this type of private streets. However, for private streets created under LAMC 18.01 (would have a private street case Number such as PS 1200), engineering judgement would be utilized to determine the actual requirements for the roadway involved. Often, this roadway already existed and other property owners are using the roadway for ingress/egress which will make upgrading the roadway to public standards extremely difficult.

In certain cases, a minimum 20-foot roadway within a 24' easement with either a vee or crown section is permitted. Public facilities such as water, power and sewer lines may be permitted within dedicated public easements in the private street. All private streets are required to be posted with signs, delineating the name of the private street, if named, and designating that it is not dedicated for public use or maintained by the City. The reason for the City's insistence for public street standards and improvements on private streets is to protect future buyers, reduce maintenance costs, and provide for their acceptance as public streets should local community pressure demand it.

Private Street Maintenance and Enforcement

Per LAMC Chapter VI, Article 5, 65.00, all private streets shall be maintained by persons having ownership thereof and by the owners of property contiguous or adjacent thereto in such a manner that adequate access by vehicular traffic is provided at all times so that fire, police, health and sanitation, and public utility vehicles can serve the properties contiguous or adjacent thereto, and so that said vehicles will have adequate turning areas. The City has no responsibility for such maintenance.

Prior to January 6, 1971 (passing of Ordinance 141,406, now LAMC Chapter VI, Article 5, Section 65), there was no procedure for the enforcement of the maintenance of private streets or easements. LAMC 65.05 - LAMC 65.5 - Order to Repair – Persons Entitled to Copy provides for the Director of Street Maintenance (now called the Director of Street Services) to issue an order to correct the hazardous condition of any hazardous private street. The order shall include the following:

1. The street address and legal description, sufficient for identification of the parcel or parcels constituting the private street.
2. A brief statement specifying the defects causing the street to be a hazardous private street and their location.
3. A statement of the work required to be done in order to correct said defects and place the street in a reasonable state of repair in light of its original construction and that no work shall be commenced without first obtaining a written permit pursuant to LAMC 62.106 - LAMC 62.111.
4. The time in which the work required to be done must be commenced, which shall not be later than 60 days following the issuance of the order, and shall further specify a reasonable time within which the work shall be completed.

Final Private Street Approval

The final private street approval occurs when the City Planning Director determines that access is adequate, a private road easement has been duly recorded, and all conditions of the approval of the private street application have been met. The Planning Director then issues a clearance to LADBS for issuance of building permits.

Private Street Variations

Effective May 1, 2001, the Planning Director issued variances for Private Street Regulations in the form of General Variations Nos. 2001-1 and 2001-2, Community Driveways. These two standard polices modify the Private Street Regulations and the authority for these modifications is found in LAMC 18.12. These policies were developed in collaboration with the LADBS to clarify the number of lots which could be served by common driveways.

There are two policies.

1. "Private Street Regulations, General Variation 2001-1", applies to the use of common driveway facilities for single family residential uses. The revised policy will permit a common driveway to serve no more than two single family residential uses.
2. "Private Street Regulations, General Variation 2001-2", addresses the use of the community driveway for Industrial, Commercial, and Multi-Family Uses.

The parcels must be served with a roadway and easement not less than 15 feet wide and not over 300 feet in length from the nearest public street or approved private street. If the length of the private roadway is over 300 feet in length, an adequate turning area is required. The easement shall not serve more than two single-family dwellings and will be located entirely on the subject lots.

Upon verification of these requirements, LADBS can issue a building permit without further approval by the Planning Director.

Common Driveways (Community Driveway per LADBS) for Single Family Uses

General Variation 2001-1 applies to lots zoned RW-1 or more restrictive containing single-family residential uses except that both lots may be vacant. For other than single family properties, see the Private Street Variation Section of this document.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Planning Director by provisions of LAMC 18.12, Chapter 1, Article 8, relating to the issuance of building permits for two existing lots, the Planning Director grants the following variation to permit common driveway facilities without further approval, subject to the following conditions:

1. The lots are separate legal parcels of record prior to July 30, 1962, with required street frontage or are separate parcels or lots shown on a recorded Parcel Map or recorded Tract Map; or have recorded Certificate of Compliance; and
2. The driveway shall not cross more than one lot and shall not serve more than two (2) existing single family residential lots; and
3. The driveway within such easement is improved to a width in conformance with the Fire Department's fire access standards as stated in LAMC 57.09.03, but in no event less than 20 feet; and
4. Ingress and egress easements in the common driveway have been recorded in favor of the involved owners in a manner satisfactory to the Department of Building and Safety; and
5. The unobstructed distance – from the ground to the sky – between buildings located on either side of said driveway is no less than 20 feet and otherwise meets all other setback and yard requirements of the LAMC.

This variation supersedes the previous General Variations dated February 1, 1996, March 28, 1974 and June 23, 1967.

Common Driveway for Industrial, Commercial and Multi-Family Uses

General Variation 2001-2 does not apply to lots zoned RW-1 or more restrictive containing single-family residential uses except that both lots may be vacant. See the Private Street Variation section of this document.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Director of Planning by provisions of Section 18.12, Article 8, Chapter I of the Los Angeles Municipal Code, relating to the issuance of building permits for two existing lot, the Director grants the following variation to permit common driveway facilities without further approval by the Director of Planning, subject to the following conditions:

1. The lots are separate legal parcels of record prior to July 30, 1962, with required street frontage or are separate parcels or lots shown on a recorded Parcel Map or recorded Tract Map; or have recorded Certificate of Compliance; and
2. Notwithstanding LAMC 12.21-A. A driveway within such easement is permitted over one or more lots to serve another lot(s). The driveway shall be located and maintained on property which is in a more restrictive zone than that of the property on which the building(s) served is (are) located; except that where a lot is partly in the P Zone and partly a C or M Zone, any P Zone may be used. A driveway may also be located in a more restrictive zone than the zone of the lot where any of the building(s) is (are) located provided that the uses are permitted in the more restrictive zone; and
3. The driveway within such easement is improved to a width in conformance with the Fire Department's fire access standards as stated in LAMC 57.09.03(can not find these numbers) , but in no event less than 20 feet; and

4. Ingress and egress easements in the common driveway have been recorded in favor of the involved owners in a manner satisfactory to the Department of Building and Safety
5. The unobstructed distance – from the ground to the sky – between buildings located on either side of said driveway is no less than 20 feet and otherwise meets all other setback and yard requirements of the LAMC.

This variation supersedes the previous General Variations dated February 1, 1996, March 28, 1974 and June 23, 1967.

SUBDIVISION DEFINITION

Section 66424 of the California Government Code defines a subdivision as the division by any sub divider, of any unit or units of improved or unimproved land, or any portion thereof, shown on the latest county assessment roll as a unit or as contiguous units, for the purpose of sale, lease or financing, whether immediate or future, except for leases of agricultural land for agricultural purposes. Subdivision includes a condominium project, and in certain instances, a community apartment project or the conversion of five or more existing dwelling units to a stock cooperative.

CONCEPT OF SUBDIVISIONS (TRACT MAPS)

The general concept in processing tract maps in the City of Los Angeles is when the City permits a tract map to record, the subsequent development will experience minimal future obligations for public improvements, fees, and encumbrances. To accomplish this, all required public works (streets, sewers, drains, etc.) are provided within public easements at the subdivider's expense and no additional work is anticipated. In some cases, the subdivider can shift the cost of the public improvements to the home buyers by creating a Mello-Roos Assessment District (See Mello-Roos Act and Special District Financing for additional information). In addition, other future fees, such as those for recreation and parks or sewer and drainage purposes will be paid, leaving as little burden as possible on future owners.

Before a final tract map can be recorded the following must take place:

1. All outstanding assessment liens and taxes are paid
2. All required public improvements are either installed or guaranteed to be installed
3. All lots meet the area and width requirements of the zoning code
4. All parties necessary to sign the final map have done so and have consented to the recordation of the tract map
5. A survey is completed and monumentation of the tract boundaries is completed or guaranteed

The final product of a completed tract map should provide assurance to the ultimate purchaser that each lot or parcel being conveyed has undergone a full review by the City of Los Angeles. The purchaser should feel secure that, to the extent possible, all considerations for health, safety and welfare of the general public, as well as compliance with the provisions of local and State laws and the City's General Plan, have been satisfied.

ILLEGALLY CREATED PARCELS

Unless a Division of Land Map has been approved, those lots created by metes and bounds descriptions under deeds recorded after July 30, 1962, the date of enactment of the City's Lot Split Ordinance, are deemed illegally created, even if they meet the zoning regulations.

Those lots similarly created between 1946 and July 29, 1962 are deemed legal lots provided they meet the zoning regulations in effect at the time of creation of the lots and otherwise met the definition of Lot under LAMC 12.03. Sales of parcels created in violation of the Subdivision Map Act are voidable by the purchaser within one year from the date of discovery of the violation.

LEGALIZATION OF PARCELS

Legalization of questionable or illegally created parcels can take place in numerous ways under City and State regulations. The methods include:

1. Record a tract map or parcel map
2. Record a Certificate of Compliance administered by City Planning
3. Obtain a letter of verification by City Planning that the lot was legally created by deed prior to July 30, 1962, or prior to 1946 if the lot does not comply with the zoning

Reasons for Subdivision Maps

The main reasons for subdivision maps include:

1. Division of Land: A tract or parcel map shall be required to divide any parcel of land. If there are five or more parcels being created, tract maps are required, with some exceptions (Section 66426 of the Subdivision Map Act).
2. Facilitate Street Vacation: A tract or parcel map may be required in connection with City Council approval of a request to vacate street, alley or walk easements if it is determined a map would:
   A. Facilitate dedications and improvement of streets, alleys and other public rights of way.
   B. Provide a simple legal description to consolidate the vacated area with adjoining properties and to eliminate an existing difficult or complicated metes and bounds legal description.
   C. Verify legal access to applicants or owners of adjoining parcels, where vacation of a street would cause land locking, resulting in a need for a private street or subdivision approval.
3. Reversion to Acreage and Merger: Sections 66499.11 to 66499.20, inclusive, of the California Government Code, outline the procedures and requirements relating to reversion to acreage of subdivided lots and the abandonment of public easements not shown on the final map. Section 66499.20.1 and 66499.20.2 of the California Government Code permits merging of subdivided lands and re-subdivision to be accomplished by a single map. The process is termed "merger".

   Although the merger procedure does not specifically require it, findings by the legislative body should be made in the same manner as prescribed in the Reversion to Acreage Sections 66499.15 and 66499.16 and proper notification must be given by the Advisory Agency on the tentative map hearing. The Council's findings are necessary for the final map because public rights to easements are being relinquished. For a subdivision project in which the subdivision or the proposed street merger is an issue of controversy, LGD staff should recommend the Advisory Agency not approve the merger and accept the street vacation be processed for City Council approval.

   Reversion to acreage or merger shall be effective upon recording the final map and shall also constitute abandonment of all streets and easements not shown on the map. The final map checker and district design office should exercise extreme care when reviewing final maps undergoing reversion to acreage or merger, to verify all needed public easements are shown on the map.
4. Zone Change: In many instances when a zone change is approved by the City, the requirement to file and record a Subdivision map is included in the conditions of approval. In some instances the development of the property would have normally required a subdivision map, such as a zone change to a single family zone to permit one larger parcel to be further subdivided. However, if a number of other situations exist which would make it desirable to have a subdivision over a particular parcel of land, a tract or parcel map will be required.
5. Other Instances: In order to facilitate the following, maps can be utilized:
   A. Extensive sewer facilities are required (LAMC 64.11.2 provides for offsite sewers under tract map applications)
   B. Extensive and complicated dedications and improvements of public streets are required
   C. Extensive drainage facilities are needed
   D. Restriction or control of vehicular access is required
   E. The parcel is described by complicated metes and bounds descriptions and a simple description afforded by a new recorded map is deemed necessary
   F. A survey is necessary to properly define the parcel
   G. A proper tract layout study is needed to provide access to adjoining un-subdivided property

STREETS STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Per LAMC 17.05 - Design and Standards, the Streets Standards Committee is composed of the Director of Planning as Chairman, the City Engineer and the General Manager of the Department of Transportation. The Committee shall recommend to the Planning Commission the minimum widths of rights of way and roadway improvement standards for all classes of public and private streets and alleys. The present Standard Street Dimensions (Standard Plan S-470-1 - Standard Street Dimensions) was created by the Streets Standards Committee and was adopted by the Planning Commission in May 13, 1999.

CONFORM TO GENERAL, COMMUNITY, AND SPECIFIC PLANS

Each subdivision approved must contain a finding that it conforms to both the General, Community, and Specific Plans. It must conform to land use, zoning, circulation, drainage, housing and every other element of the General Plan and/or Specific Plan(s). In addition, any Specific Plans such as the Warner Ranch, Mulholland Scenic Parkway, etc., must be considered and the terms or conditions of subdivision approval must reflect the spirit and intent of the Specific Plans.

One example where elements of a Community Plan would impact development is Slope Density. In various hillside areas of the City with Minimum, Very Low and Low Density land use designations in the General Plan and wherever the average natural slope of a lot is 15% or more, Minimum Density Housing shall apply. Although the slope density regulations often involve the determination and calculation of natural slopes, the process is entirely within the jurisdiction of the City Planning Department. LGD staff should refer all questions on this issue from developers and private engineers to the City Planning.

CITY ENGINEER'S STANDARDS

All streets and highways (classified as Boulevards, Avenues, Collectors, and Locals) must conform in alignment and grade to the City Engineer's design specifications. The street widths should conform to Standard Plan S-470-1 - Standard Street Dimensions. The maximum grade for streets should be based on the criteria under the Street Design Manual, Sections E 321.1 and Section E 531.111. The horizontal alignments for all streets should be designed in accordance with the Street Design Manual, Part E.

SCOPE OF STREET IMPROVEMENTS

Where a proposed subdivision adjoins one side of an existing street, full dedication and improvement for at least one half the ultimate street width shall be required of the subdivision.

WIDENING OF EXISTING SUBSTANDARD ROADWAYS

Street Designations and Standard Roadway Dimensions

Each of the City's arterial streets included in the General Plan Circulation System Maps (found in the 2035 Mobility Plan) have been re-designated from the 1999 Transportation Element to reflect the new arterial types included in the Street Standard Plan S-470-1. S-470-1 includes five arterial road types (Boulevard I, II, Avenue I, II, III) whereas the previous S-470-0 had only three (Major Highway Class I, II, Secondary Highway). The expanded range of dimensions more accurately reflect the range of street dimensions that exist today and acknowledges there are many arterial streets that are, and should remain, narrower than their current designation would permit. In a majority of instances, today's arterial streets have not yet been expanded to reflect the full dimension envisioned by the current designation, as physical changes to the roadway are not made until adjacent parcels are redeveloped.

Per the 2035 Mobility Plan, the following table is the street designations and standard roadway dimensions for all streets in the City of Los Angeles, unless modified by Specific Plans or other legislation.

Street Designations and Standard Roadway Dimensions

Dedication and Improvement Requirements

Dedication should be required in accordance with the current standards in effect (Special Order 010-0900 and the Street Design Manual). Additional information regarding Highway Dedication Processing can be found in Administrative Requirements Section under 12.37 Highway Dedication Processing.

In the hillside terrain area, deviations from the standard required right of way widths may occur. The primary concern is whether the required roadway and right of way widths are determined to be sufficient to perform the minimum functions for the classification of the street being considered.

When an incremental roadway widening is determined to be necessary, Special Order 010-0900 and engineering judgement should be used on whether a physical widening of the roadway can be feasibly accomplished. If not, the possibility of an option for cash payment in lieu of construction can be explored (if approved by District Engineer or LGD Division Engineer) and the following considerations should be made for this determination:

1. Probability of further land development in the block within 10 years
2. Capital Improvement Projects or Assessment Projects covering the adjacent frontages within 5 years
3. Drainage
4. Existing buildings, terrain or other physical constraints would reduce the parkway width to less than 5 feet
5. Condition of existing improvements
6. Street frontage to be widened is sufficient for suitable transitions on both ends of the widening
7. Street trees
8. Traffic hazards created by incremental widening
9. Any historical features

Certificate of Occupancy: Per Ordinance No. 165,081, the Department of Building and Safety will not issue the Certificate of Occupancy until LGD staff have confirmed all required public improvements have been completed. Per LAMC 91.109.3 - Issuance of Certificates. (Amended by Ord. No. 185,587, Eff. 7/16/18.) When required by LAMC 91.109.1, after the receipt and approval of the final inspection report from each of the divisions of the Department, and after the City Engineer has reported that all required public improvements have been completed, the Superintendent of Building shall issue a Certificate of Occupancy, without charge, to the owner of the building. Duplicates of the certificate may be secured upon the payment of the duplication fee required by ordinance.

Advisory Agency

AUTHORITY AND ACTIONS

Authority

The Los Angeles City Charter (rewritten in 2000) Section 553 allows the Planning Director to make investigations and reports on all proposed subdivisions of land. Administration of the provisions of the State Subdivision Map Act and the LAMC on land development in the City of Los Angeles is vested with Planning Director who is designated as the Advisory Agency. The Director appoints a Deputy Advisory Agency who is empowered to conduct public hearings on Subdivisions, make determinations and render decisions in behalf of the Director.

Actions by the Advisory Agency

The Advisory Agency conducts public hearings with the Subdivision Committee which makes recommendations on all tentative tract and private street maps and other matters before the Advisory Agency. The Advisory Agency conducts regular meetings and all such meetings are open to the public.

The Advisory Agency is required to approve, conditionally approve, or disapprove a tentative tract map application. The Advisory Agency must make a finding that the proposed subdivision is consistent with applicable general or specific plans. This means that provisions in the district plans and all other elements of the General Plan must be satisfied. He or she must also find that the tentative map satisfies the seven (7) findings in Section 66474.61 of the California Government Code (Subdivision Map Act). In addition, the provisions in the specific plan, i.e., zoning codes and ordinances, and other, special specific plans adopted by ordinance such as Warner Ranch, Mulholland Scenic Parkway, etc., must also be satisfied.

In making any such action, the Advisory Agency is authorized to include or omit in whole or in part the reports or recommendations of the City Engineer, except the Advisory Agency may not omit any mandatory requirements relating to public health or safety recommended by the City Engineer in the exercise of his/her duties prescribed by law. Before approving the omission of a report or recommendation made by the City Engineer, the Advisory Agency shall submit the matter to the members of the Subdivision Committee for consideration at a regular meeting. The Advisory Agency must certify the environmental assessment before acting on a tentative tract map. The environmental assessment can range from a general exemption to a full Environmental Impact Report.

The Advisory Agency must also make other findings including conformance with the Flood Hazard Management Specific Plan, California Water Code, etc.

Actions by the Advisory Agency are in writing so that proper documentation is available in the files. Initial tract approval letters by the Advisory Agency include, in part, the Standard Conditions S-1, S-2 and S-3 contained the Bureau of Engineering's Standard Conditions. (G. Vanergriff is updating these conditions as of 2/5/20)

Appeal of Advisory Agency Decision

The applicant can appeal a decision from the Advisory Agency to the City or Area Planning Commission and then to the City Council. This appeals process is totally administered by the City Planning Department. During the appeal process, BOE may be requested by City Planning to provide additional information on the case in question. Both the Area Planning Commission and/or the City Council can supersede the decision of the Advisory Agency. Actions by City or Area Planning Commission and ultimately the City Council, will be the final decision of the application.

Other Actions by the Advisory Agency

Extensions of Time

The initial approval of a tentative subdivision map is for a duration of 36 months. Additional extensions of time up to 6 years may be granted by the Advisory Agency. The final map must be submitted to the City Engineer for certification before the expiration of the time limit. The date of initial action on the tentative tract map can be other than the Advisory Agency's action date if there was an appeal to the City or Area Planning Commission, and further to City Council. The last action date will be the initiation of the first 36-month period.

Time extensions are granted by the Advisory Agency if such time extensions are requested in writing before the previous period expires. In the event of any confusion over the time limit, the Applicant should be referred to the Advisory Agency for an official determination.

Modifications

In general, no material changes to the conditions of approval shall be authorized without a prior Planning Department approval. If changes are originated from LGD, LGD staff will coordinate with Planning for the revision of project conditions. If changes are initiated from the Applicant and agreed upon by LGD, and:

1. If the project requirements are specifically identified and listed in the Planning Department approval document, the Applicant shall be advised to initiate official revisions to the project conditions with Planning. LGD staff will submit a formal response back to City Planning when the revision is referred to LGD for comment. LGD staff will collect the appropriate fee to process the modification request per the BOE Standard Fee List. LGD shall not on its own modify any part of the project conditions during plan check or construction if those conditions are specifically listed and identified in the Letter of Determination (approval document).
2. If the requirements are not specifically identified and a general condition such as "Dedicate and improve the street satisfactory to the City Engineer" is shown on the Planning approval document, LGD will prepare a revised report to Planning to document the revision, if necessary.

Tentative Tract Maps

After an initial action on a tentative map, any of the conditions may be modified, if approved by the Advisory Agency. The reasons for the modification can vary from hardship to a change in circumstances. The modification request and fee is submitted to the Planning Department and the request is referred to all involved departments for recommendations:

LGD will determine if the modification needs to be forwarded to the District office for consideration or comment.

Modifications to Recorded Final Tract or Parcel Maps

Section 66472.1 of the California Government Code (Subdivision Map Act) provides for amendments of recorded tract and parcel map conditions with a certificate of correction. LAMC Section 17.14 (Amended by Ordinance 164,845, Eff.6/17/89)enables the Advisory Agency to process requests to amend conditions of recorded tract and parcel maps. These requests will be handled by the Advisory Agency substantially in the same manner as modification requests, except that notification for the public hearing is mandatory, Section 66451.3 of the Subdivision Map Act. Merger of an existing public easement in general is not permissible under this amending of the final map process unless it is approved by Planning under special circumstances.

SUBDIVISION COMMITTEE

The Subdivision Committee is composed of the following:

1. City Engineer
2. General Manager, Department of Building and Safety
3. General Manager, Department of Transportation
4. Chief Engineer of the Department of Fire
5. General Manager, Department of General Services
6. Chief Engineer and General Manager of the Department of Water and Power
7. General Manager, Department of Recreation and Parks
8. Director of the Bureau of Street Lighting

It is the duty of each Subdivision Committee Member to report on each Tentative Subdivision map application and to provide qualified representatives to weekly public hearings. These representatives should be fully empowered to act on behalf of their departments at the hearings.

CITY ENGINEER

The City Engineer has the responsibility of performing the required civil engineering necessary in the prosecution of work in the public right of way. The City Engineer is responsible for making an investigation, research, analysis and a formal engineering report on all tentative tract and parcel maps filed in the City of Los Angeles. The City Engineer appoints a list of representatives who are authorized to represent him or her at public hearings on subdivision matters. During these hearings, these representatives are expected to explain the City Engineer's formal report for each subdivision and answer questions that may come up during the public hearing. They are also authorized to negotiate, and on occasion, revise the formal recommendations if information not previously considered is deemed to be important.

At this time, LGD staff are performing this duty on behalf of the City Engineer.

TENTATIVE TRACT REPORTS

LGD is responsible for preparing comprehensive Engineering Reports on every new tentative tract map filed in the City of Los Angeles. These reports are submitted to the City Engineer for review and signature, and become a public record of the recommendations of the City Engineer.

The objectives of these reports is to establish consistent street standards and confirm public improvements are implemented. LGD staff will prepare these reports in a consistent and standard format.

Section 66452 et. seq. of the California Government Code (Subdivision Map Act), requires the Advisory Agency act on the tentative map within 50 days after the map has been filed, and that they shall approve, conditionally approve, or disapprove the map. The Subdivision Map Act further provides that the time limit for acting and reporting on the tentative map may be extended by mutual consent of the subdivider and governing body or advisory agency. If no action is taken within these time limits, the tentative map as filed shall be deemed to be approved, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the governing body to certify the approval.

Per LAMC 17.06 - Tentative Map and Appeals (Los Angeles City Subdivision Ordinance) requires the City Engineer to report within 39 calendar days of the filing date of the tentative map or within such additional time as the Advisory Agency may approve. Currently, the 39 day time limit is based on the latest date of one of the following, but both must be received:

1. Date LGD receives the referral from Planning
2. Date that payment of the BOE processing fee was received

Prompt action is an important factor in the preparation of the City Engineer's Report. Delay by the City Engineer in reporting on the map can result in automatic approvals of subdivisions which could be unsatisfactory in many respects.

FUNCTION OF THE LAND DEVELOPMENT AND GIS DIVISION (LGD)

The function of LGD is primarily one of coordination, verification, and clearance of tract map conditions. Specific engineering and technical recommendations originate in the District offices. Consistent with the General Plan requirements, LGD is responsible for combining these recommendations into an integrated comprehensive report.

If any inconsistencies or discrepancies are discovered during the preparation of the report, or the engineer feels that certain changes are necessary after studying all available information, the matter should be discussed with the District office submitting the recommendation. If there is disagreement with between LGD and the District office, LGD staff should escalate the matter to a supervisory level.

Under no circumstances should LGD arbitrarily change the recommendations of other Divisions or Bureaus. LGD should respectfully communicate and collaborate with the involved Division or Bureau prior to finalization of the report. LGD's primary role in this process shall be one of coordination.

THE TENTATIVE SUBDIVISION MAP

A Registered Civil Engineer or Licensed Land Surveyor may prepare a tentative subdivision map. A tract number is first obtained from the County Engineer. The private engineer is allowed to utilize the tract number until either a final map is recorded or the number is forfeited due to passage of time with a lack of activity toward recordation or expiration after three years.

EARLY SUBMITTAL TRACT / PARCEL MAP EXPEDITED PROCESS

This procedure describes the process and method for payment of fees to LGD for the early submittal of tentative tract/private street maps and preliminary parcel maps as performed at District Office Public Counter. This process is generally used because Applicant's want to speed up the process with Planning. Currently, Planning with not accept expedited applications unless the Applicant also requests and expedited BOE process.

In order to start an expedited process, the Applicant will be required to submit their package to LGD (tract map number must have been assigned by Planning) before Planning provides the package to LGD . By submitting packages directly to LGD 's Public Counter this will allow LGD to get an early start in the review of the application.

This procedure is MANDATORY for all "Expedited Processing Cases." Applicants who elect to hand carry the submittal package to LGD must also pay LGD 's investigation and report fee per LAMC 19.02 - Filing Fess - Division of Land and Private Street Maps and Appeals and LAMC 61.16 (Expedited Permit Surcharge). Applicants will be given a "Proof of Payment" form as evidence the fee(s) was paid and the required materials were submitted. Partial submittals will NOT be accepted.

Public Counter Expedited Process Procedures (Expedited Process)

The below processes are specific to when an Applicant is to utilize an expedited process. The expedited process will require the Applicant to provide copies of many of the documents that would normally be provided by City Planning. BOE staff will check the Applicant's submitted package for completeness prior to acceptance, because partial submittals are not accepted. Once all the following requirements have been met, LGD Staff will create a hard copy file for the Early Submittal Parcel/Tract Map application package.

Filing the Tentative Map (Expedited Process)

Before a Tentative Map is accepted by the Division of Land Section of City Planning will require the Applicant to submit various documents. City Planning has developed a handout for Applicants called "Instructions for Filing Tentative Tract Maps". In addition, BOE developed a "Filing the Tentative Map Flow Chart", which can provide additional information.

Hillside Areas (Expedited Process)

In the Hillside Grading Areas, the tentative map and Geology and Soils Engineering Reports are reviewed by LADBS Grading Division. If the application is satisfactory, LADBS will approve the filing of the tentative map and distribute one set of the Soils Engineering and Geology Report to the Geotechnical Engineering Division (Geotech). Upon review by Geotech, additional information may be requested if sufficient documentation of facts is missing or the report is incomplete. Geotech shall notify the Private Engineer and outline the deficiencies, and inform him/her that a time extension may be needed. Geotech shall also contact the LGD staff to discuss the particular subdivision and the likelihood of the required information being obtained from the Private Engineer in a timely manner. If there is a possibility the missing information could delay the City Engineer's report to Planning beyond the time limit detailed in the Tentative Tract Report section of this document, As an option, LGD can consider sending a report to Planning recommending the subdivision not be approved.

Existing Street Culture and Improvements (Expedited Process)

The requirements for photos that are submitted to Planning will supplement the analysis and investigation for the site and will reduce City time spent on research and field visits. When necessary, field trips will be made, but in urbanized areas, the frequency of field visits by the LGD is minimal. Requirements for photos are listed above in under each process type.

PROCESSING TENTATIVE TRACT MAPS

The following is the Land Development distribution list for copies of the Tentative Map (must be stamp dated by the City Planning Department to verify authenticity of formal submittals):

1. Three (3) copies of the Tentative Map to the appropriate District Office. One additional copy will be required when the tract area is 50 acres or more. See the Drainage section of this page for additional information.
2. One (1) copy to Geotechnical Engineering Group
3. Two (2) copies to Caltrans if in, or adjacent to, their right of way
4. One (1) copy stays with the Land Development Group, Tentative Subdivision Section
5. One (1) copy for the LGD "Yellow Back" file
6. One (1) copy to Survey Division

Fees

As soon as the Applicant is referred to the Land Development Group by City Planning, a fee letter should be sent to the Applicant requesting payment. LGD charges fees for processing, reviewing, investigating and reporting on all land use applications, such as subdivision maps, zone changes, zone variances and conditional use permits (LAMC 19.02 and LAMC 61.15). Click here for the most current version of the City's Standard Fee List.

Applications will be reviewed and processed once the Applicant has submitted the proper fee payment. No final report on an Application shall be issued to City Planning until all required fees have been paid. There may be instances where special circumstances exist, and in this case, the Division Engineer shall be consulted. In addition, no individual within BOE has the authority to waive fees on any land use application, only the City Council by ordinance can waive fees. Fees are also required to be paid by other City Department/Agencies as well as other municipalities. LGD staff should advise any Applicant seeking a fee waiver that the request must go through the City Council.

When other entitlements, such as a zone change, are filed incidental to a subdivion, it is not necessary to charge the Applicant for all of the fees. The fee with the highest amount should be charged for processing of all the Applications.

Map Status Tracking System Log-in and Establish Priority List

All tentative subdivision maps are logged into the LGD computer system called "Map Status Tracking System" by Land Development Group staff. Submittals will be reviewed in the order for which they are received. This practice is necessary in order meet the 39-day requirement established by the Subdivision Map Act. The following pertinent information is processed.

1. Login to Map Status Tracking System
   A. "Filed with City Planning" - Date the tentative map was filed with City Planning
   B. "Received by Engineering" - Date the case file was received by LGD
   C. "Tentative Fee Paid date" - Date the Tentative fee was paid
   D. "Tentative Fee Amount" - Fee amount charged to the applicant
   E. "To District Office" - Date the case was sent to the District office for a field investigation
   F. "District Office Report" - Date the District Office Report was received by LGD
   G. "Date Sent" - Date the report was sent to City Planning by LGD
   H. "Report Prepared By": Name of the LGD staff member who prepared the report to City Planning
   I. "Revised report to Planning (date)": Date the revised report was sent to City Planning by LGD staff
   J. "Proposed Hearing Date": Proposed public hearing date set by City Planning staff
   K. "Planning Action": Date the Letter of Determination/Conditions of Approval from City Planning
   L. "Received by C.E." - Date the case file was received by LGD
2. Check-off list for distribution of Tentative Maps
3. By accurately logging the information from item 1A-L above, the system will generate a list of current reports ready to be processed for the report to Planning. The list will show the status of recommendations received from other offices and the readiness of each tract for reporting. In addition to the Executive Dashboard, the “Constituent Services Report” module shows the estimated public hearing date and total LGD processing days from date of fee payment. LGD staff will work on the preparation of the BOE Report to Planning using this list.

Preparing the Location Sketch, Computerized Subdivision Status Page, the Official File, and the Land Development Group File

At the time of the Final Map approval by City Council, an electronic file is transmitted to the City Clerk through NovisAgenda. This electronic file will become the ultimatly serve as the Council File Record.

MapNotes on NavigateLA

Upon receipt of the tentative map, LGD staff shall use the “MapNotes” function in Navigate LA. Items to include in the MapNotes are:

1. Tract or private street number
2. Date of filing
3. Address
4. Brief project description

Geocoding Tentative Maps

LGD staff to Geocode the location of the subject project per the Geocoding guidelines contained in this manual.

COLLECTION OF REPORTS

District Office Report

The respective District office should report back to the Land Development Group on the tentative tract map within 30-days from the filing date. The basic engineering recommendations regarding street dedications and improvements, including realignments, storm drains, sewers, and street trees should be included in the report. Other pertinent information to consider, includes:

1. Location of sewers
2. Sewer revenue report - Sewerage Facilities Charge, Bonded Sewer Fees, or Outlet Sewer Charges previously paid
3. Location of drainage outlets (drainage issues)
4. Drainage districts
5. Grading, mudflow
6. Flood Hazard Management Specific Plan Findings Sheet
   A. The linked Standard District Office Report form should be used (Need the most current form). Any revision of this form must be coordinated with the Land Development Group so that uniformity is maintained. This sheet should be filled out by District staff and signed by the District Engineer and may include a Flood Hazard Study that must be signed by a Private Engineer who is a Registered Civil Engineer.

If applicable, this study will be submitted with each tract map application located within a designated flood hazard area. The Findings Sheet must be completed for every tract map application whether or not the subdivision is located within a designated flood hazard area.

Geotechnical Engineering Division (GEOTECH)

Whenever a Geology and Soils Engineering report is required under a subdivision application, a copy of the Private Engineer's report is submitted to Geotech for review and comment. Geotech will analyze the Private Engineer's evaluation and recommendations dealing with geology and stability of the grading proposed on the tentative map and complete a Geotechnical Engineering Division Report within 14 days of receipt of the Tentative Map. LADBS, Grading Division is normally the lead agency in this process and will be responsible for sharing their reports with the Geotechnical Engineering Division.

Mudflow must be addressed in the Private Engineer's geology and soils engineering report for all hillside subdivisions. Geotech will make copies of the mudflow statement in the report and transmit it to the appropriate District Office and LGD, with a statement addressing the adequacy of mitigation measures. If applicable, LGD will add a special condition requiring the Applicant to meet specific Geotechnical concerns.

Environmental Impact Report (EIR)

The Environmental Review Committee of the Planning Department will review each application with respect to compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and render one of the following determinations:

1. General Exemption
2. Categorical Exemption (CE)
3. Negative Declaration (ND)
4. Mitigated Negative Declaration (MND)
5. Focus EIR
6. Full EIR

When a full EIR is required, the City Engineer has an opportunity during the course of the EIR procedure to report on environmental impacts and mitigation measures affecting the public right of way. These reports should be studied and coordinated with the comments in the tentative tract reports. It would be prudent to await the publication of the Final EIR before the City Engineer finalizes the tentative tract report to the Advisory Agency in order to include all proposed mitigation measures in the project conditions.

Miscellaneous Background Information

Haul Route Approval

Whenever import or export of earth over 1,000 cubic yards is required in connection with a subdivision development, the Applicant may request approval of a haul route from the Advisory Agency (City Planning). In general, the City Engineer is only asked to provide support for Bond Processing, however the City Engineer may be requested to provide review of the effects of the hauling proposal upon the public streets. The City Engineer may also be asked to assess the capability of the public streets to accommodate the hauling operations and furnish an estimate for a surety or cash bond to guarantee repair of any damaged pavement. Consultation with BSS and LADOT will be necessary.

Drainage Districts

Drainage Districts are not always applicable to subdivision and private street applications and are reviewed by District office staff. In the 1960's, 15 drainage districts were formally established by ordinance, of which a few are still active today. An acreage fee, based on the estimated cost of major drainage facilities to serve a given district, was established for each drainage district. If a subdivision lies within a drainage district, a sub divider can either pay the acreage fee or, in lieu, construct major drains at least equivalent to the cash value of the drainage district fees.

If an area of land lies outside of a drainage district's boundaries, but is graded to drain into the district, a fee shall be charged there over. Conversely, if an area is situated within the district boundaries but is graded to drain out of the district, a fee shall not be collected. Such diversions of runoff must first be approved by the appropriate District office.

Legal documents relevant to this section include:

- Valley District Drainage Maps
- LAMC 17.10.5 - Maps - Local Drainage Districts – Exemption From Fees
- Subdivision Map Act Section 66483

- Ordinance 148,331

RESEARCH AND ANALYSIS

Before actual writing of the report begins, LGD Staff must carefully analyze all available data relating to the tract. This includes a review of:

1. Information received from the District office
2. Field notes
3. Field meetings
4. Conference notes
5. Plans and profiles
6. Topographic maps
7. Photographs
8. Applicable Subdivision Map Act regulations

LGD staff are responsible for coordinating the information received from the District office, other City Departments (LADOT, BSS, BSL, etc.), developers, and others as appropriate into an accurate and consistent report. LGD staff will also be responsible for reviewing the map and how it affects other uses of land in the City (engineering judgement). The following section (Land Development Information) discuss items that may be investigated in reporting on most subdivisions.

LAND DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

Former Tentative Maps Covering the Area

LGD staff should check the "Planning Case Tracking System (PCTS)" and/or ZIMAS to verify if tentative tracts had been previously submitted for the subject property. If it is determine a previous map was submitted, LGD staff would:

1. Examine the files of former tracts for pertinent information
2. Combine old files with new files wherever possible
3. Examine the files of other tentative tracts in the vicinity for consistency with applicable City Engineer's recommendations
4. Verify if the existing subdivision filed on the property is expired (two cases can't be open on the same property. If there are two open cases, the valid subdivision application can be withdrawn.)

Land Use

A review of the Community Plan and the proposed zoning for the development will reveal available land use options. In the case of a multiple-residential development, the number of units must conform to the density allowed by the Zoning Code, the same as if a building permit were being applied for. The net lot area (after street and alley dedications) shall be used to determine the number of units, except in some cases where the zoning code permits inclusion of the alley area(s) adjoining the development. Any deviation from the allowable unit count will require a zoning variance from City Planning.

The type of land use permitted for the project and the street classification will dictate the street dimensions needed to serve the project. See Standard Plan S-470-1 for the assignment of street widths associated with land use.

Zoning

Per City Planning's Generalized Summary of Zoning Regulations, the existing or proposed zone for the property must conform to the land use indicated on the Community Plan. LGD will determine the zone in which the tract is located and find out from City Planning (or examine Planning Case Tracking System (PCTS), ZIMAS, or NavigateLA) if a zone change has been requested as well as the status of the request. If City Council has approved a zone change, either obtain a copy of the Council Action or review the City Planning Case file (Letter of Determination issued by various Area Planning Commission(s)).

Zone changes are often approved either by a separate application to Planning or as part of a Subdivision Application and are subject to certain restrictive conditions (i.e, T conditions) which may have an important bearing on the engineering report on the tract. Such conditions may include:

1. Sequence of tract or unit recordation
2. What areas must be included in the tentative map
3. Special public works improvements or other departmental requirements
4. Restriction of vehicular access
5. Payment of certain fees

All basic zoning is established by Ordinance. The various type of zoning procedures include:

1. Straight zone change by publishing a rezoning ordinance. This occurs when there are no conditions for dedications, improvements or other departmental requirements. A straight zone change also occurs when a City-initiated down zoning is placed over property which is not in harmony with the Community Plan.
2. (T) Zones (Tentative Zone) are a special zoning classification for rezoning. The Council's instructions on the zone change approval will indicate which of the three ways the (T) Zone change is to be implemented. The (T) tentative designation will be removed after either Item A, B, or C is accomplished or the rezoning is effective immediately upon removal of the (T). In general, there is a specific time limit associated with a (T) Zone approval and if the Applicant doesn't full the requirements as outlined in 1-3 below, the zone change will expire. (T) Zones are subject to one of the following:
    1. Recording of a tract map
    2. Recording of a parcel map
    3. Providing dedications and improvements without recording a map
3. (Q) Zones are subject to conditions usually limiting a development from the full utilization of the new zone; such conditions shall be met prior to issuance of a building permit. The types of (Q) conditions can require special aesthetic or functional requirements such as height, reduced density, extra parking spaces, landscaping, etc.

   (Q) Zones may also be combined with (T) Zones. (T) Zone ordinances published prior to March 26, 1973, have no time limits except the City Council may restore original zoning if recommended by the City Planning Commission after two and a half (2.5) years have elapsed since publication of the ordinance. (Q) and (T) Zone ordinances published on or after March 26, 1973 have a total possible duration of six (6) years. The zone change applicant must request time extensions with City Planning in a timely manner in order to sustain the duration of the actions.
4. Zone Change Incidental To Subdivision - This procedure may be utilized by the Advisory Agency when its determined the Specific Plan (zoning) is not in harmony with the General Plan (land use indicated on community plan). Zone changes incidental to subdivisions now permit rezoning to either a more or less restrictive zone.
5. [T] and [Q] Zones - The brackets [ ] denote that a permanent T and/or Q classification will not have time limits in which to effectuate the zone change; the zoning will not revert back to the underlying zone. [T] and [Q] zones will usually occur when rezoning is proposed to a more restrictive zone, such as a zoning roll back.

Other Land Use Applications

Planning maintains a history of zoning and previous land use application over an individual parcel of land. This information is available on NavigateLA (under Parcel Profile Reports) and will include the the case number of the land use activity. If necessary, LGD staff can review NavigateLA for background information.

Zone variances and conditional use grants should be reviewed as to how they affect the subdivision. Some of the entitlement requests considered "Other Land Use Applications" include:

1. Zone Variances
2. Yard Variances
3. Conditional Use
4. Coastal Development Permit
5. Site Plan Review
6. Density Bonus
7. Specific Plan Project Compliance
8. Specific Plan Project Exception
9. General Plan Amendment
10. Development Agreement
11. Zoning Administrator Adjustment

12. Zoning Administrator Determination
13. Height District
14. Certificate of Compliance

WORK IN CALTRANS RIGHT-OF-WAY (ROW)

Review the memorandum from Caltrans. If the Caltrans ROW lies within or adjacent to the tract, give particular attention to how Caltrans ROW alignment affects the tract layout. If a subdivision is adjacent or abutting the Caltrans ROW, a condition shall be imposed for the Applicant to submit and obtain Caltrans approval to verify the Caltrans ROW alignment. The reason the Applicant is responsible for coordinating directly with Caltrans is because the City may not have the most current alignment information of the Caltrans ROW.

SUBDIVISION LAYOUT

This is a broad item which may cover a number of different problems. The most important steps are:

1. Review the tentative subdivision map submitted by the developer
2. Review the District Office Report in which the tract lies
3. Study the surrounding area to get a better understanding of the general area

Subdivision Layout Evaluation

LGD to determine what comments should be included in the report to Planning. Comments should take into consideration if the layout meets City standards (street alignment, legal lot frontage, common access, required dedications, legal lot size, access to sanitary sewers, drainage, etc.). Typical questions to consider:

1. Does the layout create any landlocked parcels on-site and off-site (legal frontage)?
2. Is there a sanitary sewer available and/or required?
3. Are there existing easements for storm drains or sewers or easements that will be necessary during construction?
4. Does the layout leave property out of the tract which is the same ownership? This is done in order to consider the legality of the land not within the subdivision area.
5. Does the layout restrict future alley widenings or extensions?
6. Does the layout restrict or require future street or alleys?
7. Does the layout account for adequate provisions for future development of adjoining unsubdivided property?
8. Is the layout consistent with the zoning in which the subdivision lies or with the proposed zoning in the event a zone change has been requested or approved?
9. Does the subdivision lie adjacent to any substandard street? If so, consider adding a provision(s) for the necessary street widening and for a restriction of access to such streets in the event the property is in a residential zone?
10. Are provisions being made for ADA accessibility for right of way passage?
11. Are the street alignments satisfactory and do they include minimum centerline radii and tangent sections between reverse curves? For example, if a new dead-end street in being created with a distance of at least 700" to meet emergency access requirements
12. Are turning circles provided at the termini of permanent dead-end streets?
13. Does the tract layout propose or necessitate the vacation/merger of any streets, alleys, and/or easements?
14. Is the subdivision situated in an area where bikeways, hiking trails, or equestrian ways are required? If so, are adequate provisions being made for rights of way and construction for those purposes? Planning may play a role in this determination.
15. Does the subdivision require a restriction of access by imposing a 1-foot future street easement at the interim terminus of the street? Since this is no longer a standard practice under the final map checking process, if a special circumstance warrants the 1-foot future street, it should be included as a special numbered condition.

Prior Recordation of Other Tracts

In order to provide an orderly development, prior recordation of other tracts in this area may be needed in order for LGD staff to answer the following questions.

1. Is the prior recordation of another subdivision necessary in order to provide satisfactory public street access, sewers, or drainage outlets?
   A. If yes, what is the status of the other subdivision?
2. Is there an existing valid subdivision on the same site of the proposed subdivision?

A. If yes, Should it be withdrawn prior to the recordation of the new subdivision?

3. Has the final map been submitted?
4. Is the time limit for recording nearing expiration?

A. If yes, Applicant should work with City Planning to get an extension o submit to BOE a valid extension

FIRE PROTECTION

Although Fire Protection is not under the jurisdiction of BOE, LGD may raise the issue of Fire Protection in the report to City Planning on such issue. City Planning may seek advise or recommendations from the Fire Department. Typical concerns LGD staff would consider include:

1. Does the tract propose long dead-end streets or alleys, or physical access to building sites by means of public/private easements?
2. Does the subdivision propose relocation or removal of any existing fire road?

If either of the questions above are answered in the affirmative, approval by the Fire Department of the final map will be required.

TRAFFIC

In the event the subdivision proposes realignment of the public streets by merger or other mechanisms, LGD staff should consider obtaining comments from LADOT prior to the finalization of the report to City Planning. since LADOT is responsible for City traffic operations, BOE's role is to work with LADOT to implement any change in the traffic circulation and access in conjunction with the subdivision.

GEOLOGY AND SOILS

LGD staff will review the report from the Geotechnical Engineering Division on all tracts in hillside areas and incorporate their recommendations into the report as they affect public streets, easements, or watercourses.

In the event the Geotechnical Divisoin indicates a detailed report being prepared but not yet received by LGD, if necesasy LGD staff should include a general condition to comply with any necessary geotechincal issues identified.

DRAINAGE AND SEWERS

Drainage

Each District tract report should contain a Flood Hazard Management Findings Sheet signed by the District Engineer. Investigation should be made of the following items:

1. Tract is Adjacent to an LA County Flood Control Channel: If the tract lies adjacent to a major channel under jurisdiction of the LA County Department of Public Works, Flood Control District (LACFCD), LGD should include in the report a condition requiring the Applicant submit and obtain LACFCD approval to verify the alignment. The reason the Applicant is responsible for coordinating directly with LACFCD is because the City may not have the most current alignment information.
2. Tract is in the Flood Hazard Management Specific Plan: If all or a portion of tract lie in the Flood Hazard Management Specific Plan (Original Ordinance 154,405 and Amended by Ordinance 172,081), LGD staff will determine what remedial measures should be included. LGD should reference the LADBS Flood Hazard Management Specific Plan Guidelines document for additional information.
3. Required Drainage Facility: The District Office report should identify drainage issues in the area. In order for LGD to write the appropriate condition(s), which are included in the BOE Report to City Planning, LGD staff should work closely with District staff to write the necessary conditions, including drainage reports and any required construction of drainage facilities (storm drains, catch basins, channel improvements or retention and debris basins).
4. Required Debris Basin: In the event a public debris basin in necessary, LGD to write the appropriate condition(s), which are included in the BOE Report to City Planning, addressing future maintenance and cleaning operation of such basins. In the event the basins are private basins, LGD to write the appropriate condition(s), which are included in the BOE Report to City Planning, addressing future maintenance and cleaning operations of such basins by the Developer.
5. Tract Within a Drainage District Established by City Ordinance: If the tract lies in a drainage district it will require a drainage fee. This should also be explained for subdivider's benefit.
6. Items Identified in the Flood Hazard Management Study: District Office staff should review the Flood Hazard Management Study provided by the Private Engineer and provide appropriate recommendations. Any recommendation from the District Office shall be included in the form of a condition(s) in the BOE Report to City Planning. For example, the Applicant may be required to construct the finished floor elevation of the subdivision above the identified base flood level.

Sewers

LGD staff should review the District report to obtain information regarding location and availability of sewers. The District Office report should identify sewer issues in the area. In order for LGD to write the appropriate condition(s), which are included in the BOE Report to City Planning, LGD staff should work closely with District staff to write the necessary conditions, including and required construction of sewer facilities.

LGD should also confirm the tract complies with the provisions of LAMC 64.11.2 - Sewage Facility Charge for New Tracts which governs the construction of offsite sewers and the payment of the Sewerage Facilities Charge (SFC) by new subdivisions.

ADDITIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

Additional investigations may be necessary if the project warrants. Some of elements of a project which may warrant additional investigation include:

1. Railroad grade crossings
2. Restriction of access to streets
3. Acceptance of adjoining future streets or future alleys
4. Removal of existing trees
5. Planting of parkway trees
6. Street lighting facilities
7. Portions of the tract lying in another City or unincorporated County territory

Currently, the Advisory Agency imposes a set of Standard City Engineer Conditions (S-1, S-2, and S-3) on all subdivison approval.

PREPARING THE REPORT

After making a thorough analysis and investigation of all available reports and data regarding the subdivision, LGD staff shall prepare the report to City Planning. The City Engineer has the prime responsibility for monitoring and processing the final map. The City Engineer is responsible for determining if a final map is technically correct and all the conditions of approval have been satisfied prior to certification of the final map. The report shall be factual, complete, and as clear as possible. A thorough Tentative Tract Report is essential for the efficient processing of the Final Map.

EXHIBIT 21

PRIVATE STREET NO. 1437 (Map stamped dated December 26, 2017)

HEARING DATE: May 24, 2018

PLANNING DEPARTMENT STAFF REPORT

PURSUANT TO ORDINANCE 164,845, IF A CERTIFICATE OF POSTING HAS NOT BEEN SUBMITTED BEFORE THE DATE OF THE PUBLIC HEARING, IT MUST BE PRESENTED AT THE HEARING, OR THE CASE MUST BE CONTINUED.

REQUEST:

A Private Street approval to provide legal frontage and access for a new single-family dwelling on an existing lot located at 1830 North Blue Heights Drive.

ADDRESS:
1830 North Blue Heights Drive

ON-SITE:

Case No. ZA-2017-3057-ZAD-ZAA – On August 8, 2017, the Applicant filed for Zoning Administrator Determinations to allow construction of eight (8) retaining walls, to allow one (1) retaining wall with a maximum height of 10 feet, and to allow a five-foot front yard setback. The Applicant also filed for Zoning Administrator Adjustments to allow a 2-foot, 7-inch northwesterly side yard setback to accommodate the construction of a driveway bridge, and to allow an over-in-height railing with a maximum height of 26 feet, as measured from natural grade adjacent thereto, in conjunction with a driveway bridge located within the required front and northwesterly side yard setbacks.

Case No. PS-185 – On April 14, 1955 the City Planning Commission conditionally approved a Private Street to provide legal frontage and access for a new single-family dwelling at 1850 North Blue Heights. However, in a memo dated December 13, 1961, the project did not clear the Private Street conditions which lead to the later filing of Case No. PS-185-A.

Case No. PS-185-A – On April 17, 1962 the Director of Planning denied a Private Street to provide legal frontage and access for a new single-family dwelling at 1850 North Blue Heights Drive, on the basis of inadequate access and unavailability of public sanitary sewers. The case was appealed and on May 10, 1962 the City Planning Commission conditionally approved the appeal upon consideration of a 10-foot improved roadway within the Private Street and installation of private sewage disposal on the subject site.

Case No. PS-185-B – On June 12, 1963 the Deputy for the Director of Planning conditionally approved a Private Street to provide legal frontage and access for new single-family dwellings at 1803, 1807, 1811 and 1817 North Blue Heights Drive.

OFF-SITE:

There are no previous or existing cases relevant to this subdivision.

PUBLIC RESPONSES:

Two support letters from the public were received at the time of writing the staff report. Both cited preference for a developed site instead of a vacant site that attracted unwanted activities.

One opposition letter was received at the time of writing the staff report, citing concern over the access through the substandard street, proposed number and heights of the retaining walls, grading amounts, amount of soil export, yard setbacks, driveway bridge and the lack of an entitlement request for the proposed soil nail wall. The letter also proposed that a neighborhood park be built at 1849 North Blue Heights Drive.

GENERAL COMMENTS:

The Private Street map proposes to establish legal frontage and access for a new single-family dwelling on a vacant, downsloping lot located at 1830 North Blue Heights Drive. The subject property has a land use designation of Very Low II Residential and Low II Residential in the Hollywood Community Plan and is zoned as RE11-1. The Project Site includes approximately 44,767.50 square feet of gross lot area (1.03 acres). The Project Site is located within a Hillside Area, within a Very High Fire Hazard Severity Zone, within the Hollywood Fault Zone, within a Landslide Hazard Zone, and within a Bureau of Engineering (BOE) Special Grading Area.

The properties directly surrounding the Project Site include vacant land and single-family residences. The adjacent properties located to the north, east, and west are zoned RE11-1, with an existing single-family residence located in the property directly east. Properties located south of the Project Site along Viewmont Drive (a Standard Local Street) and Sunset Plaza Drive (a Collector Street) are zoned R1-1 and are currently developed with single-family residences.

The subject property currently takes vehicular access through a Private Road Easement on the existing Private Street, Blue Heights Drive. The Private Road Easement measures 30 feet in width and will be improved with a 20-foot wide minimum roadway width from the frontage of the 1830 North Blue Heights Drive parcel to the intersection with Sunset Plaza Drive.

The proposed Project includes construction of a new two-story, single-family residence with an attached four-car garage, two-car carport and two basement areas. The proposed Residential Floor Area, per the Baseline Hillside Ordinance (Ordinance No. 179,883), would be 11,478 square feet.

In addition, the Geotechnical Report dated August 20, 2017, analyzed the slope stability of the 1849 North Blue Heights Drive parcel and recommended a soil nail impact wall to stabilize the parcel. The wall, measuring 430 feet in length and a maximum height of 35 feet, is proposed to be constructed within the Private Road Easement and along the southerly side yard of the property located at 1849 North Blue Heights Drive.

The Project involves hillside grading of approximately 9,600 cubic yards of soil and removal from the property located at 1830 North Blue Heights Drive, and approximately 100 cubic yards of remedial grading and soil export from the property located at 1849 North Blue Heights Drive, for a total export of approximately 9,700 cubic yards. The Haul Route permit requires separate approval by the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners.

The Project Site contains 12 on-site trees. The Project proposes the removal of two (2) protected trees (Black Walnut) and seven (7) non-protected but significant trees (various species). All other existing trees will be retained.

ENVIRONMENTAL CLEARANCE

A Mitigated Negative Declaration, Case No. ENV-2016-4327-MND, was prepared for and published on April 12, 2018 and the public commenting period ended on May 14, 2018. On the basis of the whole of the record before the lead agency including any comments received, the lead agency finds that, with imposition of the mitigation measures described in the MND (and incorporated into the Conditions of Approval herein), there is no substantial evidence that the proposed project will have a significant effect on the environment. See Draft Tentative Tract Report with Conditions.

i. No construction equipment or material shall be permitted to be stored within the public right-of-way or within the private street Blue Heights Drive.

ii. During the Excavation and Grading phases, only one truck hauler shall be allowed on the site at any one time.

iii. On substandard hillside streets, including the private street Blue Heights Drive, only one hauling truck shall be allowed on the street at any time.

iv. Delivery drivers for construction materials shall be required to follow the designated travel plan or approved Haul Route.

v. Truck traffic directed to the project site for the purpose of delivering materials, construction-machinery, or removal of graded soil shall be limited to off-peak traffic hours, Monday through Friday only. No truck deliveries shall be permitted on Saturdays, Sundays, or City Holidays.

vi. All deliveries during construction shall be coordinated so that only one vendor/delivery vehicle is at the site at one time, and that a construction supervisor is present at such time.

vii. A radio operator shall be on-site to coordinate the movement of material and personnel, in order to keep the roads open for emergency vehicles, their apparatus, and neighbors.

viii. A minimum of two flag persons are required. One flag person is required at the entrance to the project site and one flag person at the first intersection of Blue Heights Drive and the public street along the haul route.

ix. Truck crossing signs are required within 300 feet of the exit of the project site in each direction.

x. The owner or contractor shall keep the construction area sufficiently dampened to control dust caused by grading and hauling, and at all times shall provide reasonable control of dust caused by wind.

xi. Loads shall be secured by trimming and watering or may be covered to prevent the spilling or blowing of the earth material.

xii. Trucks and loads are to be cleaned at the export site to prevent blowing dirt and spilling of loose earth.

xiii. No person shall perform grading within areas designated "hillside" unless a copy of the permit is in the possession of a responsible person and available at the site for display upon request.

xiv. Soil import and export activity shall be performed under the continuous inspection of a Registered Deputy Grading Inspector.

xv. 48-hours prior to start of import or export of soil material, a Registered Deputy Grading Inspector shall notify the LADBS haul route monitoring inspector and provide him with the construction schedule and approved travel route.

xvi. The Registered Deputy Grading Inspector shall be required to keep a log book noting the dates of hauling, the number of trips (i.e. trucks) per day, approved travel route, and operation hours. The inspector shall note loads of import or export soil or demolition material where appropriate. Failure to maintain a log book or discrepancies in the log book may result in suspension or revocation of license of the Registered Deputy Inspector.

xvii. A log documenting the dates of hauling and the number of trips (i.e. trucks) per day shall be available on the job site at all times.

xviii. The applicant shall identify a construction manager and provide a telephone number for any inquiries or complaints from residents regarding construction activities. The telephone number shall be posted at the site readily visible to any interested party during site preparation, grading and construction.

b. The Construction Parking Plan shall identify where all contractor, subcontractor, and laborers will park their vehicles so as to prevent blockage of two-way traffic on streets, both public and private, in the vicinity of the construction site.

c. During all phases of site development, all construction vehicle parking and queuing related to the project shall be in substantial compliance with the approved Construction Staging and Parking Plans, to the satisfaction of the Department of Building and Safety and the Department of Transportation.

CM-4 Transportation (Haul Route)

a. The developer shall install appropriate traffic signs around the site to ensure pedestrian and vehicle safety.

b. Projects involving the import/export of 1,000 cubic yards or more of dirt shall obtain haul route approval by the Department of Building and Safety.

c. All haul route hours shall be determined by the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners.

d. The Department of Transportation shall recommend to the Building and Safety Commission Office the appropriate size of trucks allowed for hauling, best route of travel, the appropriate number of flag people.

e. The Department of Building and Safety shall stagger haul trucks based upon a specific area's capacity, as determined by the Department of Transportation, and the amount of soil proposed to be hauled to minimize cumulative traffic and congestion impacts.

f. The applicant shall be limited to no more than two trucks at any given time within the site's staging area, or as otherwise approved by the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners.

CM-5 Pedestrian Safety

a. Applicant shall plan construction and construction staging as to maintain pedestrian access on adjacent sidewalks throughout all construction phases. This requires the applicant to maintain adequate and safe pedestrian protection, including physical separation (including utilization of barriers such as K-Rails or scaffolding, etc.) from work space and vehicular traffic and overhead protection, due to sidewalk closure or blockage, at all times.

b. Temporary pedestrian facilities shall be adjacent to the project site and provide safe, accessible routes that replicate as nearly as practical the most desirable characteristics of the existing facility.

c. Covered walkways shall be provided where pedestrians are exposed to potential injury from falling objects.

d. Applicant shall keep sidewalk open during construction until only when it is absolutely required to close or block sidewalk for construction staging. Sidewalk shall be reopened as soon as reasonably feasible taking construction and construction staging into account.

CM-6 Inadequate Emergency Access

a. No parking shall be permitted on the street during Red Flag Days in compliance with the "Los Angeles Fire Department Red Flag No Parking" program.

b. All demolition and construction materials shall be stored on-site and not within the public right-of-way nor the private street during demolition, hauling, and construction operations.

NOTE:

The private street approval shall be void unless all conditions of approval are completed or fulfilled within three (3) years from the date of approval, except that grading and improvement condition shall be considered as fulfilled if the required work is begun during that time limit and diligently carried on to completion. The time limit for completing or fulfilling the conditions of approval may be extended by the Director or, upon appeal, by the Board for a period not exceeding three (3) years.

FINDINGS OF FACT (CEQA)

A Mitigated Negative Declaration, Case No. ENV-2016-4327-MND, was prepared for the proposed project on April 12, 2018. The proposed project and potential impacts were analyzed in accordance with the City's Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines and the City's L.A. CEQA Thresholds Guide. These two documents establish guidelines and thresholds of significant impact, and provide the data for determining whether or not the impacts of a proposed Project reach or exceed those thresholds. On the basis of the whole of the record before the lead agency including any comments received, the lead agency finds that, with imposition of the mitigation measures described in the MND (and incorporated into the Conditions of Approval herein), there is no substantial evidence that the proposed project will have a significant effect on the environment.

The Deputy Advisory Agency, certifies that Mitigated Negative Declaration No. ENV-2016-4327-MND reflects the independent judgment of the lead agency and determined that this project would not have a significant effect upon the environment provided the potential impacts identified above are mitigated to a less than significant level through implementation of Condition Nos. 21 and 22 of the Private Street's approval. Other identified potential impacts not mitigated by these conditions are mandatorily subject to existing City ordinances, (Sewer Ordinance, Grading Ordinance, Flood Plain Management Specific Plan, Xeriscape Ordinance, Stormwater Ordinance, etc.) which are specifically intended to mitigate such potential impacts on all projects.

In accordance with Section 21081.6 of the Public Resources Code (AB3180), the Deputy Advisory Agency has assured that the above identified mitigation measures will be implemented by requiring reporting and monitoring as specified in Condition No. 20.

FINDINGS OF FACT (LAMC)

In connection with the approval of Private Street No. 1437, the Advisory Agency of the City of Los Angeles, pursuant to Section 18.02 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code (Private Street Regulations), makes the prescribed findings as follows:

(a) THERE EXISTS ADEQUATE AND SAFE VEHICULAR ACCESS TO THE PROPERTY FROM A PUBLIC STREET OVER A PRIVATE STREET FOR POLICE, FIRE, SANITATION AND PUBLIC SERVICE VEHICLES.

The proposed private street has been reviewed by the Bureau of Engineering, the Department of Building and Safety, and the Fire Department. The Bureau of Engineering is requiring that the private street (Blue Heights Drive) be improved, from adjoining the 1830 Blue Heights Drive parcel to the existing improvements in the public street (Sunset Plaza Drive), by the construction of suitable surfacing to provide a minimum 20-foot roadway within the private easement. The Fire Department is requiring that the width of the private roadway for general access use and fire lane shall not be less than 20 feet. Adequate and safe vehicular access to the property from a public street will exist through the conditional approval of the private street by the Bureau of Engineering and the Fire Department.

(b) AN ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY IS AVAILABLE TO THE PREMISES FOR DOMESTIC AND FIRE FIGHTING PURPOSES.

The Department of Water and Power and the Fire Department have reviewed the project and deemed the water supply adequate provided their conditions of approval are satisfied.

(c) AN APPROVED METHOD OF SEWER DISPOSAL IS AVAILABLE.

Per the Bureau of Engineering comment letter dated February 1, 2018, the parcel will connect to an existing public sanitary sewer available southwesterly of the 1830 Blue Heights Drive parcel boundary within the public sewer easement, as shown on the Private Street map. The Wastewater Collection Systems Division of the Bureau of Sanitation has inspected the sewer/storm drain lines serving the subject area and found easements within the subject property. Any proposed development in close proximity to the easements must secure Department of Public Works approval. The project will not result in violation of the California Water Code.

(d) THE LOT OR BUILDING SITE IS OR WILL BE GRADED AND ENGINEERED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE GRADING REGULATIONS OF THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES AS SET FORTH IN ARTICLE I OF CHAPTER 3 OF THIS CODE.

Condition Nos. 7 and 9 have been imposed to assure that the site is graded in conformance with the recommendation of the Geotechnical Section of the Bureau of Engineering and the Grading Division of the Department of Building and Safety.

(e) ANY PROPOSED NAME OF A PRIVATE STREET HAS BEEN OR SHALL BE APPROVED BY THE CITY ENGINEER APPLYING THE STANDARDS SET FORTH IN SUBDIVISION 6 OF SUBSECTION A OF SECTION 17.52 OF THIS CODE.

The private street is an existing private street named Blue Heights Drive. If a change to the name of the street is proposed, Condition No. 6 of this approval requires that prior to release by the Director of Planning, proposed names for the private street shall be approved by the City Engineer. Any street name that would create confusion, be misleading, be unduly long or carry connotations offensive to good taste and decency shall be disapproved.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA)

CEQA is a statute that requires State and local agencies to identify significant environmental impacts of their actions, and to avoid or mitigate those impacts, if feasible. DSC Staff will recommend CEQA documentation at the time of filing; however, the project planner who is assigned to the case will ultimately determine the appropriate environmental review in accordance with CEQA regulations. Consult with Planning staff to determine which type of clearance is needed. If the project requires an Environmental Assessment Form, additional processing time may be needed. If there are any protected trees on the property or street trees within the public right-of-way, please disclose as part of the project description for the environmental clearance.

Statutory Exemption (SE)

☐ Statutory Exemptions apply to projects the State Legislature has determined to be excluded from CEQA consideration (e.g., emergency projects such as emergency repairs to publicly or privately owned service facilities necessary to maintain services essential to public health, safety, or welfare).

Categorical Exemption (CE)

☐ CEQA Guidelines include a list of classes of projects which have been determined to not have a significant effect on the environment, also known as Categorical Exemptions (CEs). If your project falls within one of these classes, a Notice of Exemption (NOE) will be completed by DSC Staff at the time of filing (excluding Class 32 - Urban Infill CE). The initial determination that the project is categorically exempt must be subsequently accepted by the Project Planner assigned to the case.
