Comments for Public Posting: A chilling effect has been sent through the streets of Los Angeles, causing worry among community members about their safety and future here. That is no way for anyone, regardless of status, to live in our city. As a community-based organization, Asian Americans Advancing Justice Southern California (AJSOCAL) firmly believes in every Angelenos right live with dignity. We also believe in the strength of the community to protect our most marginalized and targeted community members when the city has failed to ensure our city's safety, and this includes protecting community members' data and preventing it from being shared with federal agencies. As an organization, we demand full accountability and transparency from federal agencies especially when force and violence is being used as a means of enforcing laws.
