Comments for Public Posting: Emergency vehicle access should not be compromised by proposed bike lanes on high traffic roads in the current COLA mobility plan across the San Fernando Valley (SFV). 1) Going to drop your kids off for soccer practice, you're not going to do it on a bike in the SFV. 2) Going to drop your kids off at school, you're not going to do it on a bike in the SFV. 3) Going to work, many are not going to be able to do it on a bike in the SFV. 4) Going shopping for your family, not going to do it on a bike in the SFV. 5) Going to drop your elder parents at a senior center. you're not going to do it on a bike in the SFV. Contrary to what the Bike Lobby will tell you, bike lanes are not a good fit for all of our communities in the greater Los Angeles area. Bike lanes in DTLA, possible. Bike lanes on the Westside, maybe. Bike Lanes in the more spread out and intemperante San Fernando Valley, not a good idea!
