Comments for Public Posting: I support this effort by City Planning to start preparation of an alternate plan for SB-79. The sections of the regulation regarding exemption for historic resources are complex and only by digging into the detail can one identify potential issues and formulate solutions before it is too late. I have attached a preliminary assessment that I conducted of the five Metro stations that serve the Hollywood area. I performed the assessment for HCMs and HPOZs as currently allowed by SB-79, as well as for State and Federal designated resources. I believe that the results clearly show that all historic resources can be granted exemption while still meeting the 10 percent limit provided the limit can be applied to the Metro Stations collectively. In performing this assessment, a number of factors stand out. The Historic Places Los Angeles website cannot be relied upon as the sole source of data for identifying historic resources. A comprehensive database needs to be built from HPLA as well as from other sources such as the State BERD and historic surveys. I was not able to utilize the zone mapping feature within HPLA because of a calculation error in setting distance. This error has recently been fixed, but it does not address the omission of many designated resources within HPLA. I am pleased to see that City Planning is now using the correct 2025 VHFH maps, such was not the case in prior reports issued by the department. I hope City Planning will reissue all of their draft planning documents in progress to account for this major change.
