Comments for Public Posting: As a 7-year resident of LA, I'm not happy at the prospect of our public property being given over to private interest. Open spaces for anyone to use is one of this city's greatest attributes, and we can't give up what we have. I first lived in Echo Park and know from experience it's not hard to get to Dodger Stadium; anyone can walk up or take Metro transit (there are plenty of express lines from Union Station--same neighborhood as LA State Historic Park!), any time. Slicing off a piece of the quiet, green space that keeps us sane and helps our family & community bond, in favor of a corporate eyesore, is not an option.
