Comments for Public Posting: I support this bill and its review of the proposed housing which has excluded any parking. That's absurd. You'd be changing the scope of the neighborhood even further by tearing down vintage style apartments to put up generic units at 6x the density. The current residences on this street and the adjoining ones (including Aqua Vista) are already med-high density, with parking at a premium in its current form. There are not enough spots for tenants, let alone friends, to easily visit. This pushes having to park on Vineland or pushing further into the single-home neighborhood. It's incredibly stressful and at times dangerous for a women to have to walk far to get home, and this proposed unit-zero-parking situation is incredible careless. What is their cited reasoning, keep costs down? Underground parking for large complex' is standard these days - if you can't afford adding reasonable comfort and safety to why take on this project.
