Comments for Public Posting: This last election was disgusting. Too many people, particularly in the media, acted like Spencer Pratt had an actual chance of winning the mayoral race, and now we're seeing a similar phenomenon with claims that Nithya's late vote swing means the election was rigged. Ranked choice voting could have saved us this trouble.

Comments for Public Posting: I support advancing the Charter Reform Commission recommendations. The Civic Assembly process demonstrated that when residents are given information, time, and structured dialogue, they can provide thoughtful input on complex issues. As a mediator and peacebuilder, I believe public trust grows when residents have meaningful opportunities to participate in governance. I urge the Council to move these reforms forward and strengthen civic engagement in Los Angeles.
